WAR CLAIMS AGAINST THE UNITED STATES.

The Hon. Richard Crowley, State Agent of War Claims, died at Oleott Beach, town of Newfane, Niagara county, N. Y., on July 22, 1908, after a long life of usefulness to his State and nation. He was born in Lockport, December 14, 1836; began the study of law in 1857, and was admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court in 1865. He was city attorney coincident with the incorporation of the city of Lockport in 1865, and was elected to the State Senate in the same year, being re-elected in 1867. In 1871 he was appointed to be U. S. District Attorney for Northern District of New York by President Grant, and was reappointed to the same office in 1875, in which he served with great distinction until 1879, when he resigned. He was elected to Congress from the 31st district in November, 1878. He retired in 1883 but again engaged in the contest for Congress in 1888, in which he was unsuccessful at the polls. In January, 1896, he was appointed by Governor Morton as State Agent of War Claims, which position he held up to the time of his death. A report on the work done by Mr. Crowley as State Agent of War Claims, since the date of his last report, December 28, 1907, has been kindly furnished by his son, Mr. Edward C. Crowley of New York City, and is printed below.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., December 31, 1908.

To the Honorable Nelson H. Henry, Adjutant-General of the State of New York, Albany, New York:

SIR.—In response to your request for a statement of the work done by the Hon. Richard Crowley, late State Agent for the Prosecution of State War Claims against the United States, since his annual report dated December 28, 1907, and down to the time of his death in July, 1908, I submit as follows:

In April, 1908, a bill was prepared by Mr. Crowley and introduced into the House of Representatives by Congressman Peter A. Porter, to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to pay to the State of New York the sum of $42,796.87, being the sum paid by the said State of New York as duties on arms imported by said

State in eighteen hundred and sixty-three, to arm State troops organized to aid in suppressing the then existing insurrection against the United States, said duties having been paid under protest and a claim made against the United States but the Statute of Limitations of two years forbade the United States authorities from auditing and paying the same and necessitating the application to Congress for relief.

In April, 1908, Mr. Crowley also prepared a bill and Congressman Peter A. Porter introduced the same in the House of Representatives to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to refund to the State of New York the sum of fourteen thousand five hundred dollars, being the balance due to the State of New York for arming and equipping naval militia of said State, and furnishing and arming and manning vessels, and preparing and mining the harbor of New York against threatened invasion in the late war with Spain.

Both of said bills were referred to the Committee on War Claims and ordered to be printed. They have not been reported out of said committee.

The matters referred to in said bills and the claims growing out of the war of eighteen hundred and twelve referred to in said report of December 28, 1907, constitute the principal claim presented to Mr. Crowley for collection, which remain to be collected.

If there is any further information in connection with these matters which you may desire from me, I shall be pleased to furnish it if possible.

Respectfully yours,

E. C. CROWLEY.

2. Letter from Chief, 2d (Mil. Inf.) Division, War Department, inclosing invoice of publications, dated June 23, 1908, states that charge against allotment is $18 instead of $34 as charge in above statement under date of June 26, 1908 (Req. of Feb. 29, 1908), which charge of $34 is used in this statement to agree with itemized statement received from Division of Military Affairs, War Department under date of July 1, 1908.

3. The fiscal year of the War Department closes June 30th for which the above account is rendered; that for the State of New York closes September 30th. To this account on July 1st was credited $114,860.81. On July 20th $10,000 was requisitioned for by the Governor for the account of the Disbursing Officer of the State of New York. The unexpended balance on hand October 1, 1908, was $101,130.13.

4. To this account there will be credited on July 1, 1909, the apportionment made by the War Department, approximately $114,000. The policy recommended by the War Department and adopted by the State is to utilize this fund as far as is practicable for camp purposes and field instruction. Should the organizations be ordered for field service in the ensuing year in accordance with the service of 1907 it is estimated that a charge may be made against this fund to the amount of $133,410, expended as follows: For pay, $64,560; for transportation, $29,000; for subsistence, $17,350; for other expenses authorized by the Militia Act, $22,500.

NOTES.—1. Under the instructions relative to the use of this appropriation provided by Act of Congress published in Circular No. 9, Division of Militia Affairs, War Department, Washington, September 30, 1908, the allotment for the State of New York based upon the reported enlisted strength of 13,800 men was $269,641.85; apportioned for "Supplies," $189,506.07; for "Allowance for ammunition, 50% of the annual allowance of ammunition for the Regular Army," $80,135.78. On November 16, 1908, the following communication was received from the Division of Militia Affairs, War Department, fixing the clothing allowance:

WAR DEPARTMENT, DIVISION OF MILITIA AFFAIRS,

The Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany:

SIR.—I am directed by the Assistant Secretary of War to inform you that, from the reports of inspection of the organized militia of the State of New York, which was made in January-April, 1908, by officers of the Army detailed under the provision of section 14 of the Militia Law, it appears that the organized militia of the State is uniformed as contemplated by section 13 of the Militia Law as amended, and the Secretary of War does therefore fix a clothing allowance for New York as provided for by said section. The Governor is hereby authorized to drop from his annual return of quartermaster's stores for the year ending December 31, 1908, articles of clothing to the value of \$115,000, which sum for the current calendar year and for the year 1909 is based on the allowance of \$8.33 $\frac{1}{3}$ a man of the organized enlisted strength of the State troops, shown by the reports of inspection to be 13,800.

For the purpose of preparing a proper voucher for the dropping of the articles of clothing from the annual return of the Governor, there have been sent to you under separate cover eight copies of Form No. 27, Militia, which should be carefully filled out and attached to the return.

Very respectfully,

E. M. WEAVER,
Lieut.-Col., General Staff Corps, Chief of Division.

2. This action provided a reapportionment of the above allotment as follows: Clothing allowance, $115,000; ammunition and promotion of rifle practice, $80,135.78; for other supplies, $74,506.07. Immediate action was taken by this office and, in accordance with the provision of the Act, the Governor transmitted necessary requisitions for clothing and for other property. The estimated balance of the clothing account on December 30th. was $26,657.04; the estimated balance for the allotment for other supplies on the same date was $3,623.80. Requisition for the annual supply of ammunition will be transmitted in January to the money value of $52,000.

THE STATE OF NEW YORK, IN ACCOUNT WITH THE UNITED STATES, UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF THE GENERAL APPROPRIATION ACT OF CONGRESS FOR THE SUPPORT OF THE NAVAL SERVICE AND FOR ARMING AND EQUIPPING THE NAVAL MILITIA.

NOTES.—1. The fiscal year of the Navy Department closes June 30th. The following communications from the Secretary of Navy indicate approximately the charges against this appropriation and the available balance at the commencement of the fiscal year of the State:

NAVY DEPARTMENT.

WASHINGTON, September 15, 1908.

SIR.—You are respectfully informed that of the $100,00 appropriated for Naval Militia for the current fiscal year, $60,000 has been allotted, the per capita share of the State of New York being $7,682.74. The State's debit being deducted from this leaves a balance of $4,968.98 to the credit of the State.

Respectfully,

V. H. METCALF,

Secretary.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York,
Albany, N. Y.

NAVY DEPARTMENT.

WASHINGTON, September 24, 1908.

SIR.—In reply to your letter of the 10th instant, inquiring relative to appropriations for the maintenance of Naval Militia for the present fiscal year, you are informed that on September 2, 1908, the balance to the credit of the State of New York from appropriation "Arming & Equipping Naval Militia" was $4,968.98, which balance includes the State's allotment for the present fiscal year.

In addition to the regular appropriation for arming and equipping the Naval Militia, a total amount of $200,000 was this year appropriated for repairing vessels loaned to Naval Militia, and the Department hopes that this sum will be sufficient to cover the cost of all necessary work on such vessels. Should such be the case, the State's allotment of appropriation "Arming & Equipping Naval Militia" could be used exclusively for the purchase of uniforms, ammunition, equipment, etc.

Very respectfully,

V. H. METCALF,

Secretary.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York,

NAVY DEPARTMENT.

WASHINGTON, October 10, 1908.

SIR.—Replying to your letter of the 24th instant, relative to the amount to the State's credit from appropriation "Arming & Equipping Naval Militia," the Department incloses herewith a statement showing expenditures from July 1st to date, according to which the present balance is $4,968.98.

Referring to your inquiry regarding the item of $2,000 deducted from the State's allotment in January last for the "reserve fund," you are informed that the expenditures from said fund on account of the State of New York amount to $2,678.48, for repairs to the Aileen, etc.

Very respectfully,

V. H. METCALF,

Secretary.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York,
Albany, N. Y.

5. In order to obtain a clear comprehension relative to the last paragraph in the communication of The Secretary of the Navy of September 24th, reference should be made to Circulars No. 15 and 16, November 22, 1907, Adjutant-General's Office, containing circular letters from the Acting Secretary of the Navy. The following are extracts from:

6. Report No. 1398, House of Representatives, 60th Congress, 1st Session, upon Naval Appropriation Bill.

"Bureau of Equipment"—

"In this appropriation is included an item of $35,000 to cover necessary work to be done on vessels loaned or to be loaned to the States for the use of Naval Militia."

"Bureau of Construction and Repair"—

"The appropriations for this Bureau are substantially the same as last year, an increase of $100,000 being recommended under the appropriation 'Construction and repair of vessels,' to be used for vessels loaned to the Naval Militia of the various States."

"Bureau of Steam Engineering"—

"The appropriations for this Bureau are practically the same as last year, with the exception of an increase of $250,000 under 'Steam machinery' and $250,000 for the preservation of machinery tools in navy-yards and stations and the handling and preservation of all machinery stores and running yard engines. This increase is due to the fact that the Navy is larger and more ships are in commission. Also $65,000 is recommended for the care of the machinery of the vessels loaned to the Naval Militia of the various States."

7. It will be observed that while the respective bureau items have been increased, that the appropriation bill does not specifically allot these amounts to be used for the repairs and betterments of the vessels loaned to the States.

PAY REFUND, SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR.

Chapter 647.—An Act to reimburse the governors of the States and Territories for expenses incurred by them in aiding the United States to raise and organize, and supply and equip the Volunteer Army of the United States in the existing war with Spain.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby, directed, out of any money in the Treasury, not otherwise appropriated, to pay to the governor of any State or Territory, or to his duly authorized agents, the reasonable costs, charges and expenses that have been incurred by him in aiding the United States to raise the Volunteer Army in the existing war with Spain, by subsisting, clothing, supplying, equipping, paying, and transporting men of his State or Territory who were afterwards accepted into the Volunteer Army of the United States:

Provided, That the transportation paid for shall be only the transportation of such men from the place of their enrollment for service in the Volunteer Army of the United States to the place of their acceptance into the same by the United States mustering officer, and that the names of the men transported shall appear on the muster rolls of the Volunteer Army of the United States;

And provided further, That, such claims shall be settled upon proper vouchers to be filed and passed upon by the proper accounting officers of the Treasury;

And provided further, That, in cases where the money to pay said costs, charges and expenses has been, or may hereafter, be borrowed by the governors or their respective States or Territories, and interest is paid, or may hereafter be paid, on the same, by the governors of their States or Territories, from the time it was or may be so borrowed to the time of its refundment by the United States, or thereafter, such interest shall not be refunded by the United States; nor shall any interest be paid the governors of their States or Territories on the amounts paid out by them, nor any other amount refunded or paid than is in this Act expressly mentioned.

Approved July 8, 1898 (30 Stat. 730).

PAY REFUND, SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR.

Chapter 445.—An Act to amend an Act entitled “An Act to reimburse the governors of States and Territories for expenses incurred by them in aiding the United States to raise and organize and supply and equip the Volunteer Army of the United States in the existing War with Spain,” approved July eighth, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

That the act entitled “An act to reimburse the governors of States and Territories for expenses incurred by them in aiding the United States to raise and organize and supply and equip the Volunteer Army of the United States in the existing war with Spain," approved July eight, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, be so amended that the Secretary of the Treasury shall be, and is hereby, authorized to allow, in the settlement of the claims of the governors of States and Territories for reimbursement under the provisions of the said act, expenses incurred after as well as before July eighth, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight:

Provided, That no reimbursement shall be made for services of members of the National Guard, or organized militia, or naval reserves of any State or Territory who were not accepted into the Volunteer Army of the United States, and no reimbursement shall be allowed for payments made to any person in excess of the pay and allowances authorized by the laws of the State or Territory for the grade in which he was accepted into the Volunteer Army of the United States. That the compensation allowed by the laws of the States and Territories to officers and men of the National Guard, or militia, or naval reserves of said States and Territories shall be allowed to the States and Territories, or the governors of the States and Territories, as pay for such officers and men of said National Guard, or militia, or naval reserves as appeared and remained at the place of muster, and who were afterwards received into the service of the United States for the period between the date of assembly at the rendezvous and the date they were mustered into the United States service;

Provided, however, That in all States and Territories where no laws exist for the payment of the officers and men of the National Guard, or militia, or naval reserves, there shall be allowed to said States and Territories, or the governors of said States and Territories, for the officers the same pay as allowed officers in the Regular Army holding the same rank, and for the men, one dollar per day, for such officers and men as appeared and remained at the place of muster and were afterwards received into the service of the United States for the period between the date of assembly at the rendezvous and the date they were mustered into the service of the United States;

Provided, further, That for all officers and men of the National Guard, or militia, or naval reserves of the States and Territories, who appeared at the rendezvous for muster, and were rejected by the medical examiner or mustering officer, pay shall be allowed for the same to the States and Territories or the governors of the States and Territories, at the several rates as fixed as aforesaid from the date of assembly to the date of their rejection;

Provided, further, That where States and Territories have not paid amounts to the officers and men or any part thereof the pay allowed them by this act, the same shall be paid by the States and Territories direct to the officers and men, and no money allowed by this Act for officers and men shall be covered into the Treasury of the State or Territory.

Sec. 2. That under the appropriation made by said Act the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby authorized to reimburse the governor of any State or Territory for reasonable expenses incurred by him for the actual transportation of the members of organized militia, or National Guard, or naval reserve of his State from the place of company, battalion, or regimental rendezvous to the State rendezvous, or place designated for examination and acceptance of the members of such organization into the Volunteer Army of the United States, and the actual transportation from such State rendezvous, or such place designated for examination and acceptance, to their respective company, battalion, or regimental rendezvous of such men as were rejected by the medical examiner or mustering officer:

Provided, That no reimbursement shall be made for the transportation of any man who did not present himself for enrollment in the Volunteer Army of the United States, as provided by law:

And further, provided, That the provisions of this section shall apply also to payments made by the governor of any State or Territory for the actual transportation of individual volunteers who presented themselves for enrollment in the Volunteer Army of the United States and who were rejected by the medical examiner or mustering officer.

Sec. 3. That nothing in said Act of July eighth, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, shall be so construed as to prohibit the reimbursement of the governor of any State or Territory for reasonable expenses incurred for the subsistence of the members of any organization of the organized militia or National Guard, or naval reserves of his State or Territory after having been called out by the governor on or after April twenty-fifth, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight:

Provided, That such organization shall afterwards have been accepted into the Volunteer Army of the United States.

Sec. 4. That the expenses incurred by the governors of States or Territories in carrying out the provisions of this Act shall be paid to them, notwithstanding any unsettled accounts, claims, or indebtedness of the United States against their States, and without prejudice to such unsettled accounts:

Provided, That when such unsettled account is caused by a default in payment of principal or interest on any bonds or stock issued or guaranteed by any State, the ownership which is vested in the United States, the Secretary of the Treasury be, and he is hereby authorized, and directed to institute any act or proceeding which he may consider advisable against such State or its representatives to secure the payment of the principal and interest of said bonds or stocks:

And further provided, That, where the governor of any State or Territory, or any officer of the Army detailed as mustering officer of volunteers, or any commander of a company or companies, or troop and troops, or battery or battalion, or regiment, or brigade, has purchased or authorized the purchase of supplies or equipments, or incurred any necessary expense for the comfort of the men in camp or rendezvous, and said supplies were used and equipments were subsequently taken into the United States service by said volunteers, and no receipts given to such military officer, the certificate to that effect of the governor of the State or Territory to which the volunteers belonged, shall be held sufficient to authorize the settlement and payment of such account on investigation, if the Treasury Department shall be satisfied of the fact of such purchase of such equipment and supplies, or that such necessary expenses were incurred and such use of such supplies, or such taking of such equipments into the United States service, and the voucher or vouchers of said officers be produced by said governor.

Sec. 5. That the Secretary of the Treasury be, and is hereby, authorized to pay, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the just and proper account or claim of any railroad, transportation company, or person for transportation of men or troops from place of enrollment to point of rendezvous, furnished at the request of the Quartermaster-General of the Army or his agents, or at the request of any United States mustering officer or other officer authorized by the Secretary of War to enroll, muster or mobilize volunteers for the war with Spain; and also to pay just and proper accounts as may be presented for transportation back from point of rendezvous to place of enrollment of men who volunteered and were rejected by the medical examiner or mustering officer:

Provided, That the amount allowed and paid for such transportation shall not be in excess of the rates charged for transporting troops of the United States under like circumstances.

All claims under the provision of this Act must be filed in the office of the Auditor for the War Department, and must be supported by proper vouchers or other conclusive evidence of interest.

Sec. 6. That all claims for reimbursement under this Act or the Act of July eighth, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight, shall be presented in itemized form to the Treasury Department on or before January first, nineteen hundred and two, or be forever barred.

Approved March 3, 1899 (30 Stat. 1356).

The following quotations will furnish the reasons for the Adjutant-General's insistent effort with the Legislature to provide for a chief of coast artillery:

EXTRACT FROM
ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CHIEF OF ARTILLERY,
U. S. ARMY, 1906.

"1. The desirability of separation of coast and field artillery.—It is a sound military principle that only such arms of the service as have a fighting or tactical relation with each other should be combined for organization purposes. The Coast Artillery, organized solely for the proper handling of the two correlative elements of harbor defense—heavy guns in fixed emplacements and submarine mines fixed in position in channels to be defended—constitutes in reality a passive defensive force which has no tactical relation whatever with the active forces of infantry, cavalry, or field artillery, the three fighting elements of a mobile army.

“It is recommended, therefore, that in case any of the States contemplate at any time the organization of coast artillery reserves they be advised by the War Department to adopt the organization now provided for the United States Coast Artillery — namely, a corps organization of separate companies. This need not in any way interfere with the organization of these separate companies into battalions and regiments for administration purposes and for employment as infantry whenever desired by the States or the United States, as has been stated above in the second paragraph of the quotation from Mr. Root’s report.

“It is recommended, further, that each separate coast artillery reserve company of the militia be linked for instruction purposes in peace and for service in war with a company of regular coast artillery that is stationed conveniently to the home station of the former, and that the affiliation of the militia and regular companies be fostered in every way possible. In carrying out such a plan the officers and men of the regular coast artillery companies should act as the coaches to or instructors of the officers and men of the linked militia companies. The instruction to officers and gunners given at coast artillery posts should be opened to militia coast artillerymen. The senior officer of the coast artillery reserve of each State should be encouraged to consult with the commanding officers of adjacent coast artillery districts in regard to all matters pertaining to the training of the militia coast artillery. Finally, batteries of coast guns that are out of commission could be assigned in peace to the companies of militia and the latter encouraged to drill and have subcalibre and service practice at these batteries whenever possible. The batteries so assigned and used should, as far as practicable, be the batteries to which the militia companies should be assigned for service in war.”

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CHIEF OF ARTILLERY,
U. S. ARMY, 1907.

Personnel.

“Since the last annual report of the Chief of Artillery was submitted the artillery has been increased and reorganized, and its efficiency will be, it is believed, materially promoted in consequence thereof. The Coast and Field Artillery which, under the Act of February 2, 1901, was organized as a corps with a common chief, were completely separated by the Act of January 25, 1907, except as to the Chief of Artillery, who will continue to exercise supervision over both arms until July 1, 1908, and thereafter over the Coast Artillery only. By the latter act, also, the Coast Artillery was organized into a corps, its commissioned and enlisted strength increased to the equivalent of fourteen regiments of cavalry or infantry, and its maximum enlisted strength fixed at 19,321; the Field Artillery was increased from thirty batteries to thirty-six batteries, and its commissioned and enlisted strength increased to provide for the organization of six regiments of two battalions each, with three batteries to a battalion.

"A clear distinction should be drawn between a territorial military department composed solely of infantry, cavalry, and field artillery and one composed solely of coast artillery troops, in that the former is an administrative unit applicable normally to peace conditions only, and is abandoned in war, whereas the latter is a coast defense administrative unit that would continue to exist in war the same as in peace. At the outbreak of war the infantry, cavalry, and field artillery are withdrawn from their peace stations and mobilized into the brigades, divisions, and corps of the field army for duty in connection with the land operations of the field army. On the other hand, the Coast Artillery at the outbreak of war with any maritime power will simply continue the functions practiced during peace without any change of locality. The coast defenders are permanently located along the coast and cannot be taken from the coast fortifications until all danger of naval attack on coast cities and shipping has disappeared as a result of a decisive victory of our fleet over that of the enemy. All administrative functions pertaining to the territorial department must, therefore, continue in full force for coast artillery during war. It is, in fact, precisely at such a time that coast artillery equipment and personnel must be maintained at their highest efficiency since the coast line immediately becomes the threatened line of attack. This requires careful inspection by general officers who know how to examine in person minutely into the details of installation and drill and who are able to pass upon the condition of all coast defense material in a practical way and upon the standard of the drill of the personnel. Only through such inspections by such trained general officers will it be possible to insure an efficient defense by the Coast Artillery. It goes without saying, indeed, that general officers who have spent their professional life with infantry, cavalry, or field artillery, cannot properly make such inspections as are here indicated, either during peace or war. They lack the knowledge and experience to know what conditions should obtain both as to means and methods.

“As stated above, the maximum number of enlisted men now authorized for the gun defenses of the country is 14,351, and this is 4,080 short of one-half of one complete manning detail for the guns already mounted in the United States. The remaining half of one complete manning detail that would be required to place the coast defenses of all harbors of the United States on a proper war footing can be provided, it is believed, at comparatively small annual cost in time of peace if each of the coast States can be induced to organize a corps of militia coast artillery having the same organization as the regular coast artillery. The State coast artillery corps could be assigned to the batteries which are in excess of those manned by the regular Coast Artillery. This belief has been confirmed by recent performances of certain portions of the organized militia of the coast States which, as the result of an invitation extended to the governors of the States by the War Department, participated during the summer in joint coast defense exercises with the regular Coast Artillery. These exercises are referred to more fully hereinafter. From the excellent spirit, zeal, and desire to learn coast artillery gun work that has been exhibited by the militia in these maneuvers and from what has been said by officers and men of the organizations who have so far taken part in them, it is believed that many of the coast States are disposed to consider favorably a proposition to organize such State coast artillery corps for the purpose stated. Moreover, it is thought that a class of men would enter these organizations who could not in war undertake military duty with the mobile army owing to the prohibitive demands of business and family responsibilities.

“If the authorities of the coast States can be induced to organize such coast artillery reserve corps, and the corps in each State is given an opportunity to take part annually in coast artillery maneuvers with the regular Coast Artillery and to receive instruction in coast artillery gun work, it is believed, from what has already been done, that these corps would in a very few years be all that need be desired for coast artillery reserve purposes—that is, they would constitute a reserve which could be quickly called out and formed at the defenses they are to man, and they would be sufficiently well trained to handle effectively certain battery, fire and battle commands that could be assigned them. In case of sudden war such a body of coast artillery reserves would prove of incalculable value to the nation.

“Pursuant to instructions from the Assistant Secretary of War, the Chief of Artillery, in February, 1907, submitted a memorandum on this subject which presented a tentative definite scheme for the co-operation of the regular Coast Artillery and the organized militia in coast defense work. This memorandum was approved by the Secretary of War and published for the information and guidance of all concerned in Circular No. 17, War Department, 1907.”

“It is further recommended that an annual appropriation be made to provide for calling yearly the militia coast artillery reserves and the militia coast artillery supports to the colors in such joint army and militia coast defense exercises as have been conducted this year. It is estimated that an appropriation of $300,000 will be required for this purpose.”

There is included in the Army Appropriation bill for the ensuing year an item on page 59 which reads as follows:

“For the purchase of material, equipment, books of instruction, range finders and fire control equipment for the instruction and use of State coast artillery organizations, twenty-five thousand dollars (82);

Provided, That in time of war, or threatened war, such equipment may, in the discretion of the Secretary of War, be withdrawn from armories or other places where it is in use by the State coast artillery organizations, and may be used in the fortifications of the United States.”

Notwithstanding the strenuous opposition to the permissive proviso in the Military Law for the appointment of such officer, it is now conceded to be an advance and desirable step in the unanimous progression of National Guard of this State.

The appointment of Brigadier-General David E. Austen as Chief of Coast Artillery has resulted in stupendous strides toward the development of the homogeneous system planned for coast defense.

For the further consideration of the Commander-in-Chief, the Adjutant-General respectfully presents the following:

It is recommended that the latitude of the Militia Council be extended, making eligible to membership all commissioned officers of the line or staff not below the rank of captain.

This change is indorsed by the Militia Council and is in line with the attitude taken by the War Department regarding the composition of the General Staff.

We look to the younger element in the military service to constitute our student body; therefore, the progressive spirit is most often found among them and when an initiative movement is contemplated they are best prepared to undertake the experiment.

It is, therefore, believed that an officer representing this admirable class would be a valuable member of the council.

The law provides that each branch of the service in so far as is possible shall be represented in the council and that no member shall succeed himself; unless this provision is made, after one term, that important branch of the military, the field artillery, could have no representation for three years. A strict interpretation of the present law also precludes any representative from a staff department or corps of the service.

I would, therefore, suggest the law be so amended as to cover the points presented.

The wisdom of the law in creating this council has been amply verified by the benefits already derived from advice and co-operation in pursuing the military policy advocated by the Commander-in-Chief.

Respectfully submitted,

NELSON H. HENRY,

The Adjutant-General.

APPENDIX "A"

Report of Major-General Charles Francis Roe, Commanding Division, National Guard.

HEADQUARTERS DIVISION NATIONAL GUARD, STATE OF NEW YORK,

CAPITOL, ALBANY, November 20, 1908.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York:

SIR.— I have the honor to submit my annual report for the current year as commanding officer of the division National Guard, State of New York, for the information of the Commander-in-Chief.

ORGANIZATION.

Since September 30, 1907, the following changes have taken place in the organization and organizations of the National Guard:

Under the provisions of an act of the Legislature, approved by the Governor January 21, 1908, and General Orders No. 7, A. G. O., January 23, 1908, amending the Military Code of the State.

The National Guard was constituted a division and all organizations except the infantry were placed under the direct command of the major-general commanding the division;

Staff departments were organized and the officers and enlisted men thereof were detailed for duty with organizations of the National Guard;

The existing signal companies became part of the signal corps;

The engineer regiment became part of the corps of engineers, its battalions the First, Second and Third battalions of engineer troops, the whole forming a provisional regiment, the Twenty-second;

The First, Second and Third batteries were formed into a battalion of field artillery;

A coast artillery corps was formed of the Thirteenth Coast Artillery and the Ninth and Eighth regiments of infantry, their companies becoming the First to Twelfth, the Thirteenth to Twenty-second and the Twenty-fifth to Thirty-second companies of the coast artillery corps; the regiments becoming the Thirteenth, Ninth and Eighth artillery districts respectively.

The Governor approved chapter 231 of the Laws of the State, known as the Military Law of the State, May 7, 1908.

By this law the National Guard was reorganized to conform to the organization of the United States Army; this reorganization had however been practically effected as already shown; a number of regiments are, however, still short of the required number of companies.

On May 7, 1908, the Governor authorized the formation of a new company, from men of the existing companies, in the Forty-Seventh Regiment of Infantry.

STRENGTH OF THE NATIONAL GUARD.

On September 30, 1908, the latest report available for use here, the National Guard consisted of Commissioned officers.	Enlisted men.

Major-General	1
Brigadier-Generals	4
Departmental staff officers and aides serving with the general officers, except medical, engineer and signal officers	74
Post noncommissioned staff officers	71
Signal corps	9	166
Corps of engineers	51	680
Medical department	116	431
Cavalry	34	502
Field artillery	18	395
Coast artillery corps	115	2,323
Infantry	532	9,867
Total	954	14,435

Aggregate 15,389; the aggregate on September 30, 1907, was 14,947; the difference showing a gain since the latter date of 442.

The changes that took place in the personnel of the Guard from September 30, 1907, to September 30, 1908, were:

	Gain.	Loss.	Total changes.	Net gain
	3,742	3,300	7,042	442
	<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>

In the year closing September 30, 1907, the changes were

5,697	5,494	11,191	203
<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>	<hr/>

From this it follows that during the year ending September 30, 1908, the personnel of the Guard was of a more permanent character, which indicates a marked improvement. Stability being an essential for the success of military organizations.

The strength of individual organizations is set forth in the copy of the semi-annual return for September 30, 1908, attached to this report as Appendix 1.

SERVICE.

During the past year I am happy to say there has not been a call by the civil authorities of the State for the service of the National Guard.

The following organizations were detailed by the Governor for duty at the Camp of Instruction: The Twelfth and Sixty-ninth regiments of infantry; with United States troops at Pine Camp, near Watertown; Squadron "A," Troop "B," Squadron "C," Troop "D," First Battery Field Artillery and the Twenty-third Infantry; and with the United States Coast Artillery troops in the harbor of New York the coast artillery companies of the eighth, ninth and thirteenth districts, the Forty-seventh and Seventy-first regiments of infantry.

The reports of the commanding officers of the Twelfth and Sixty-ninth Regiments form part of the report of the commanding officer of the First Brigade, attached hereto, the reports of the commanding officers of the other organizations on this duty have already been forwarded to the Adjutant-General of the State; their reports showing their attendance are annexed to this report as Appendices 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14.

From what I know by personal observation and from reports of officers I believe that the service rendered and the duties performed by the organizations named above were satisfactory to those under whom they operated, and that all these organizations derived great benefit from this service. The duty of the Twelfth and Sixty-ninth Regiments under my personal supervision was more than satisfactory, and they are each to be commended for marked attention to all the details of the work required, and also showed an appreciative intelligence of the field problem. Their conduct and discipline was beyond reproach. The average attendance at these duties was 83 per cent., in itself a satisfactory showing.

A number of organizations had on their own initiation voluntary camp and field service for short periods.

Field Small Arms Practice.

The former range at Creedmoor, L. I., was not available for use this year and the organizations of the National Guard located in New York and Brooklyn were required to practice at the range at Sea Girt, N. J., the use of which was permitted by the authorities of the State of New Jersey. The distance of that range made practice somewhat expensive and the supplementary practice, that is practice by men who did not qualify or were not present at the general practice, was not as well attended as heretofore; the practice in sharpshooter, expert and distinguished expert classes was also effected by this. Yet the result of the practice of the season is very satisfactory indeed.

Qualifications for Decorations.

Nine thousand five hundred and thirty-two men qualified as marksmen; 1,538 as sharpshooters; 939 as experts; 535 as distinguished experts; making the total number of qualifications 12,544, the highest number so far obtained; in 1907 the number of marksmen were 9,233, sharpshooters 1,272, experts 995, distinguished experts 527, total qualifications 12,027.

This season's work shows a marked gain, and indicates improved instruction, zeal and interest.

General Figure of Merit of Organizations.

The figures of merit of the various companies, etc., of the Guard, show that improvement is constantly going on, and that commendable efforts are made to increase attendance, scores and the number of qualifications.

The highest figure of merit made this season by a subdivision was 89.80, season 1907 it was 71.20.

Of the organizations attached to the headquarters of the division, the following obtained the highest figures of merit, received the prizes authorized by the Military Law:

Company C, Twenty-second Regiment, Engineers; prize of $100; figure of merit, 89.06.

Troop D; prize of $50; figure of merit, 72.03.

Of the organizations of the First Brigade the following received the prizes:

Company E, Sixty-ninth Infantry; prize $50; figure of merit, 69.28.

Of the organizations of the Second Brigade:

Company D, Fourteenth Infantry; prize $50; figure of merit, 55.55.

Of the organization of the Third Brigade:

Company F, Second Infantry (Thirty-seventh Separate Company); prize $50; figure of merit, 79.89.

Of the organizations of the Fourth Brigade:

Company M, Third Infantry (Second Separate Company); prize $100; figure of merit, 89.80.

Company L, Third Infantry (Thirtieth Separate Company); prize $50; figure of merit, 68.50.

Matches for Prizes Awarded by the State.

Brigade Prizes.

A competition for the brigade prizes authorized by law was not held in the First and Second Brigades owing to the heavy expense it would entail.

The competition for the prize in the Third Brigade resulted in the team of the First Infantry winning the prize of $100 by a score of 1,176.

Fourth Brigade resulted in the team of the Third Infantry winning the prize of $100 by a score of 1,192.

State Prize.

A competition for this prize was not held this season, owing to the large expense it would cause.

Governor's and Other Matches.

The Governor's, Adjutant-General's and Major-General's matches were not held as they would have entailed on those who would have participated therein, considerable expense.

McAlpin and Dryden Trophies.

A team to represent the State in the matches for these trophies was authorized by the Governor. The shooting took place at Sea Girt, New Jersey, September 9th and 11th respectively. The team of this State was unsuccessful. The report on this subject has already been forwarded.*

* See Appendix "K," Adjutant-General's Report, pages 715 to 723.

National Trophy.

The Governor authorized the formation of a team for competition on the part of the State in this match. The shooting took place at Camp Perry, Ohio, August 24th, 25th and 26th, 1908, and the team of this State was not successful. The report of the Captain of the team has already been forwarded.*

Condition of the National Guard.

In the past year the National Guard has increased numerically; has shown more stability in its personnel; has continued improving in all directions; and is a very satisfactory body of citizen soldiery. It is practically uniformed armed and equipped for all purposes. Its steadiness desire and efforts for improvement, and its attention to duty greatly deserves commendation.

The reports of the commanding officers of the four brigades going more into details, also the General Orders and Circulars issued by me in 1908, are attached to this report as Appendices 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19.

Respectfully,

CHAS. F. ROE,

Major-General.

Annual Report of Brigadier-General George Moore Smith, Commanding First Brigade, and Reports on Tours of Service of the 12th and 69th Regiments, Infantry, at the Camp of Instruction, Peekskill, N. Y.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y., PARK AVENUE AND 34TH STREET,

NEW YORK, November 12, 1908.

*Adjutant-General Division, National Guard, New York, Capitol,
Albany, N. Y.:*

SIR.—In compliance with the requirements of the regulations, I have the honor to submit the following as my report of the operations of the brigade during the past year.

The period from October 1, 1907 to April 30, 1908, was devoted by the organizations of the brigade to the usual drills, schools of instruction for commissioned and non-commissioned officers and to armory small-arms practice.

The State rifle range at Creedmoor having been closed by an act of the Legislature, the annual small-arms practice was held at the rifle range of the State of New Jersey, at Sea Girt, during the month of May.

In pursuance of the provisions of S. O., 192, Headquarters Division, N. G., the brigade took part in the Memorial Day parade in the borough of Manhattan, on May 30, 1908.

The Seventy-first Regiment, in compliance with G. O., 8, Headquarters Division, N. G., participated in the joint army and militia coast defense exercises, at Forts Schuyler and Totten, N. Y., from June 13th to 20th. Report of the operations has already been forwarded by the regimental commander.

Under the provisions of G. O., No. 10, Headquarters Division, N. G., the Sixty-ninth Regiment performed a tour of field duty at the State Camp at Peekskill, New York, from June 13th to 20th, and the 12th Regiment from June 20th to 27th, under the supervision of the Division Commander.

Reports of the commanding officers of these regiments are enclosed.

By the reorganization of the brigades and other military units composing the National Guard, under the provisions of G. O. 7, A. G. O., January 23, 1908, the Eighth and Ninth Regiments of Infantry were made part of the Artillery Corps and ceased to be part of this brigade, thus reducing the brigade to one of four infantry regiments namely, the Seventh, Twelfth, Sixty-ninth and Seventy-first.

The strength of the brigade on September 30, 1908, was 187 officers and 3,183 enlisted men, aggregate 3,370.

Respectfully,

GEORGE MOORE SMITH,

Brigadier-General.

68 LEXINGTON AVENUE,

NEW YORK, September 7, 1908.

Adjutant-General, Division National Guard, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following report of the tour of field service of this command at the Camp of Instruction from June 13 to June 20, 1908.

Upon receipt of General Order No. 10, s., 1908, Headquarters Division National Guard, I issued the following order:

HEADQUARTERS SIXTY-NINTH REGIMENT, INFANTRY,
N. G., N. Y.

68 LEXINGTON AVENUE.

NEW YORK, June 4, 1908.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 16.

I. In accordance with the provisions of G. O. 26, A. G. O., and G. O. 10, N. G., the regiment will assemble at the armory on Saturday, June 13, 1908, and will proceed to the Camp of Instruction near Peekskill, N. Y., for a tour of field service ending June 20, 1908. Service uniform and hats, haversack, mess-kit, canteen and blanket-roll will be worn. Each man will provide himself with a change of underclothing, towels, and all necessary toilet articles.

First call 7:40 A. M.
 Assembly 8:00 A. M.

II. Baggage will be delivered to the Regimental Quartermaster at the armory before 10 o'clock A. M., on Friday, June 12th. Personal baggage of officers will be limited to a valise, or suit case, folding cot and bedding roll; that of enlisted men to what they can carry in their blanket rolls.

III. Pay-rolls will be prepared at once in quadruplicate and in accordance with G. O. 19, A. G. O., s. 1904. All signatures must be attached before leaving the home station, and pay-rolls must be turned into these headquarters for inspection not later than Thursday, June 11, 1908. Company commanders are directed to give their personal attention to the preparation of these rolls and will be held responsible for their correctness. Ration returns will be made in accordance with G. O. 13, A. G. O., s. 1906. The first ration return will be for two days and will be ready to be submitted to the Commissary on the arrival of the organization at camp.

IV. No officer or enlisted man will be excused from field service without authority from the Brigade Commander and then only for a valid excuse. Business reasons will not be accepted. Officers and enlisted men who miss drill or parade any day during the service, unless excused on account of sickness, will receive no pay for that day.

V. The general routine of camp service will be conducted in accordance with R. 419, 761, 762, 833 to 861, the provisions of G. O. 10, Division N. G., and S. O. 208, Division N. G. Cards showing the hours of service and calls will be distributed to the several subdivisions of the regiment on arrival in camp. When outside of their tents, officers and enlisted men will at all times appear in proper uniform. When the service coat is worn, it will invariably be buttoned throughout. It should be worn by officers at all times. Shirt sleeves must not be rolled up while in ranks.

VI. In addition to the regular old guard fatigue detail for camp limits other than company streets, each company under the supervision of a commissioned officer will at fatigue call, pass over the full extent of its allotted ground and with the necessary brooms, shovels, etc., make a thorough police. No company will be dismissed until so ordered by its battalion commander, after a careful inspection of the work performed.

VII. Neatness and order in camp are of great importance and must be maintained. A lack of care about the disposition of clothing, bedding and equipment in any part of a command invariably results in neglect of cleanliness of person and surroundings, with possible contamination of the entire command and will not be permitted. The interior of the tents will be maintained in a state of scrupulous cleanliness and will be thoroughly swept out and dusted daily.

Tent walls will be raised and all clothing, blankets and bedding will be exposed to the sunlight daily immediately after reveille when the weather permits. Tents will be dressed by nine o'clock. Walls will be left raised or the guy ropes loosened and the canvas wrapped around the center pole until recall from drill at 11 A. M.

The poncho must always be placed on the ground under the bedsack before the man goes to bed, and frequent inspections made to see that this is carried out.

VIII. Majors will be held to strict accountability for the discipline of their battalions.

IX. The waters of the Annsville creek having been declared unhealthful, bathing therein will not be allowed.

X. Every member of the command will be required to memorize general orders for sentinels on post. (Manual of Guard Duty, 215, 216.)

By order of Colonel Duffy,

JOHN J. PHELAN,

Adjutant.

In compliance with the foregoing order, the regiment assembled at the armory in the prescribed uniform and equipment on Saturday, June 13th. Guard was mounted at 7:35 A. M. and the regiment, preceded by the Guard, left the armory at 8:30 A. M., marching to the Thirtieth street station of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad, where it entrained in two sections at 9:10 and 9:15 A. M., respectively.

Upon arrival of the two sections at Roa Hook the regiment was formed and, leaving a Quartermaster's detail behind to unload and reload the camp equipage, it proceeded immediately to the camp, arriving at 11:30 A. M. The camp had already been laid out and streets staked off by a detail sent ahead for that purpose, so that as soon as the regiment arrived the companies were assigned to their respective streets and, the wagons coming up, tents were pitched without delay. By two o'clock mess had been served and the regiment settled in camp. Evening parade was held at 6 P. M.

On Sunday morning, June 14th, mass was celebrated for the regiment in the old mess hall by the Rev. David Ludlow of the Church of the Epiphany, New York city.

The drills and ceremonies scheduled for each day of the tour were carried out in strict accordance with the orders received from Division Headquarters. The nature of the drills varied each day and included instruction both in open and close order in the schools of the company, battalion, and regiment. Marked improvement was shown in the execution of movements and in minor details on each succeeding day.

On Thursday, June 18th, field maneuvers and problems in minor tactics were executed in territory without the camp limits. Marching out by different routes, the three battalions of the regiment acted as independent forces. Blank ammunition was supplied at the rate of five rounds for each man armed with a rifle. The problem in minor tactics to be executed, and which included instruction both in advance guard and outpost duties, was as follows: A strong army represented by the First Battalion is compelled to take a road strongly guarded by an opposing army, represented by the Second Battalion. The taking of this road and its possession is absolutely indispensable to the success of the advancing army, the loss of life, etc., being secondary. In order to succeed, two strong detachments, represented respectively by two companies and one company of the Third Battalion, were sent to march around the flanks of the defending force and take them on both flanks when the front attack was to be delivered.

The reports of the majors on the operations of their respective battalions during the field exercises of June 18th are attached hereto and made a part of this report.

The regiment having been directed to return to its home station on June 20th, the following order for breaking camp was promulgated:

HEADQUARTERS SIXTY-NINTH REGIMENT, N. G., N. Y.,

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., June 19, 1908.

FIELD ORDERS, }
No. 5.

I. Pursuant to Field Orders No. 4, Headquarters Division National Guard, the regiment will break camp and return to its home station on Saturday, June 20, 1908. A special train will leave Roa Hook in two sections at 10:05 and 10:10 respectively. All baggage must be loaded in the wagons in time sufficient to allow of its being reloaded on the south-bound platform at Roa Hook not later than 10 A. M. Each company will load the wagon assigned to it and have a detail march therewith to Roa Hook for the purpose of unloading on the platform.

II. The following property received from the Quartermaster must be delivered to him not later than 7 o'clock A. M., in order that he may turn the same in to the Depot Quartermaster. All camp stools, basins, lanterns (without oil), small tables, cots, and red blankets; also all board floors.

III. The regiment will break camp at 7:30 A. M. First call for the general, 7:15 A. M. This call will be sounded on the bugle. The general will be sounded at 7:30 A. M. At the first tap of the drum all ropes will be loosened from the pegs except the guy ropes. At the second tap of the drum all guy ropes will be loosened and held by four men for each tent. At the third tap of the drum tents will be dropped toward the right.

IV. The grounds occupied by each company must be thoroughly policed and all ditches filled in before leaving the camp grounds. Straw will be carried in the bed sacks to the lower end of the wagon sheds, and must not be emptied in any other place.

V. The following details will report as indicated below: One sergeant each from Companies D and I; one corporal each from Companies B and H, and four privates from each company will report to Lieutenant Nagle at the Adjutant's office at 6:45 A. M., for the purpose of loading train at Roa Hook. One sergeant each from Companies E and F; one corporal each from Companies G and K, and four privates from each company will report to Lieutenant Reynolds at the Adjutant's office at 6:45 A. M. to take down headquarters' tents. The old guard fatigue detail, under the supervision of the old officer of the guard, will police the grounds occupied by headquarters.

VI. All Commissary property, including ovens and cooking outfits, must be thoroughly scoured, cleaned, and packed in proper order. The mess tables and kitchen tables must be scrubbed and turned into the Quartermaster with the other property.

VII. The early morning drill and guard mounting will both be omitted on Saturday. The old guard will remain on duty until after the regiment has vacated the camp grounds.

By order of Colonel Duffy:

JOHN J. PHELAN,
Adjutant.

In accordance with the foregoing order, the regiment broke camp at 7:30 A. M., June 20th, all the tents being thrown down at the last note of the "General," after which the wagons were loaded and the camp thoroughly policed. The regiment was then formed and marched without delay to Roa Hook and awaited the arrival of the Twelfth Regiment. The latter having arrived and disembarked, the baggage of the Sixty-ninth was promptly loaded and the regiment entrained at 11:45 A. M., arriving at Thirtieth street and Eleventh avenue at 1:30 P. M., whence it marched to the armory, reaching there at 2:30 P. M.

Respectfully,
EDWARD DUFFY,
Colonel.

FIRST BATTALION, SIXTY-NINTH REGIMENT, N. G., N. Y.

NEW YORK, July 31, 1908.Adjutant, Sixty-ninth Regiment, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to make the following report on the operations of the First Battalion on June 18, 1908, at State Camp, near Peekskill, N. Y.

The Battalion was formed on the main drill ground in column of squads, Company A having been designated as Advance Guard.

At 9:10 A. M., the Battalion moved out in above formation, taking the road adjacent to Young Men's Christian Association headquarters.

On reaching Annsville Creek road the march was continued along that road in a northeasterly direction until in the vicinity of a bridge spanning the road, our advance party encountered an outpost of the enemy who fired on them—the fire being returned—causing the enemy's outpost to fall back on the main body.

Reinforcements consisting of the remainder of the advance guard were immediately sent forward, taking cover behind a wall on the westerly side of the road; the enemy being under cover of a wall on the opposite or easterly side, separated by 400 yards of open ground.

The second company advanced in column of files under cover of the fire of the advance guard, there being one pace distance between men in the ranks; when in the proper position, they executed by the right flank forming line of skirmishers and took cover under a wall on the easterly side of the road and commenced firing.

The other two companies of the main body advanced in double time, in the original formation—column of squads—keeping close to the wall on the easterly side of the road for cover.

When opposite the flank or a little in rear of the enemy's position, they changed direction to the right; the third company deploying to the left, threatening the enemy's flank and rear and commenced firing.

The fourth company who were in column squads, were about to be moved forward when the command cease firing was sounded.

The battalion was thereupon formed and marched back to quarters in good order, arriving there about 12:50 P. M.

Respectfully,

MICHAEL LYNCH,
Major, First Battalion.

HEADQUARTERS SIXTY-NINTH REGIMENT INFANTRY, N. G., N. Y.
68 LEXINGTON AVENUE.

NEW YORK, September 4, 1908.

Adjutant, Sixty-ninth Regiment, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to report the movements of my command in the problem Minor Tactics executed by the regiment on June 18, 1908:

We (Companies A, G and H), assembled on the parade ground at 10:10, men in light marching order, with canteens filled and 10 rounds of ammunition; officers without swords, Field and Staff dismounted. Colonel Chapin, Inspector-General, N. G., accompanied the column and supervised the movements.

Company H, under Captain Woods, reported to Captain Greer, aide to Major-General Roe, to take part in the movement against the flank of the enemy's position. Company G, under the command of Captain Cummings, and Company A, under the command of Lieutenant Stacom, formed in the order named, left camp in rear of Mess Hall and marched in column of squads along road, taking a northeasterly direction (dirt road, wide enough to march easily [see accompanying map]) to a point where the road branches out into three roads. Company G then formed advance guard and marched along center road in that formation for about one and one-half miles from camp, where road makes a turn east and west, where the command left the road and marched in a northeasterly direction through swamp land. The column closed upon the advance guard, flanks were drawn in and scouts sent forward to discover a path through marsh. The scouts reported such a path and the column proceeded in single file for about 600 feet, where the path opened into a road wide enough to march a column of squads, ground being level and both sides of road covered with bushes. Resumed advance guard formation (Company G) and advanced cautiously and in same order until we reached the Jack Road. Halted and scouts examined road. At this time several staff officers belonging to enemy's force rode along road, evidently reconnoitring. Advance guard remained concealed and allowed them to pass along the road, we being too close to risk giving the enemy notice of our presence. After a short halt the advance changed direction to the right and moved along, with flanks skirting Jack Road. Reserve and support then moved forward in extended order and formed line of skirmishers, keeping well under cover. Company A (Lieutenant Stacom) formed line of squads to the right, crossed a stone wall extending along the front, formed skirmish line and advanced on the right of Company G. The entire command moved forward in this order, crossed a small stream from six to twelve feet wide, and moved up the rising ground to the top of a hill which was adjacent to a road called the Post Road, and commanded the position of the enemy's defences. This hill was about fifty feet in height, heavily wooded and covered with bushes. Here we took up position—covering our rear and flanks with squads from A Company on the right and G Company on the left. The signal to attack being given, and the main column having delivered their attack, we opened fire on the enemy. At signal "Cease Firing" the command assembled, joined the regiment and marched to camp.

Annexed to the report is a map of the route of march, made by Sergeant Hinman and Private Banker, both of Company B, who were detailed for that purpose.

Respectfully,

PHILLIP E. REVILLE,
*Major, Commanding Third Battalion,
Sixty-ninth Regiment, N. G., N. Y.*

HEADQUARTERS TWELFTH REGIMENT INFANTRY, N. G., N. Y.
ARMORY, SIXTY-SECOND STREET AND COLUMBUS AVENUE.

NEW YORK, July 6, 1908.

Adjutant-General, Division N. G., Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—Pursuant to General Orders No. 10, Headquarters Division N. G., N. Y., the Twelfth Regiment assembled on Saturday morning, June 20th, and proceeded to West Sixtieth street and Eleventh avenue, where it entrained in two sections. The first section, consisting of headquarters and the First Battalion, in command of Lieutenant-Colonel Houston, left at 8:45; the second section, consisting of the Second and Third Battalions, in command of Major Burr, left at 9 o'clock. The first section arrived at Roa Hook at 10:03 o'clock. The baggage was unloaded from the first section by 10:40 o'clock, and immediately thereafter the train carrying the Second and Third Battalions drew in and the regiment proceeded to the camp ground where it pitched camp near the site vacated by the Sixty-ninth Regiment. The camp was pitched and entirely in order by 1:30 o'clock. Evening parade was held as usual that evening, and the regular routine of camp established. There being no regular schedule of drills ordered by Headquarters, after consultation with Colonels Chapin and Cleveland, the following schedule was agreed upon: That on Monday and Tuesday, both the morning and forenoon drills were to be in the school of the soldier and company in close order; on Wednesday morning the forenoon drills were to be in extended order. Thursday, under the supervision of General Roe, the regiment was subdivided into three parts; and manoeuvres were carried on, commencing at 8 o'clock and lasting until about 1. On Friday, both the morning and the forenoon drills were devoted to the regimental drill. On Saturday morning, at 6:15 o'clock, the "General" was sounded, and at about 9 o'clock, the regiment had broken camp, thoroughly policed the same, and was ready to entrain at Roa Hook.

The result of the week's work was most satisfactory in every way. Owing to the prevailing depression in business, a great many employers argued that, as they had been obliged to lay off a great many employees on account of lack of work, they would have to treat likewise all applicants for permission to go to camp. Therefore, the turnout of the regiment was not as large as it otherwise would have been, only 84 per cent. being present.

The guard duty of the regiment, both the ceremonial part and the sentry work, was especially well done. The policing of the camp and of the quarters, with few exceptions, was most creditably performed, and the surgeons had few causes for complaint. There was absolutely no sickness of any kind during the week, the only cases for the surgeons to look after consisting of minor accidents, occurring in the various routine work.

Every courtesy possible and help were extended to us by General Headquarters, and greatly facilitated the officers of the regiment in performing their duty so creditably.

In all the tours of duty that this regiment has made since I have been in command, I have never seen the officers work so hard or perform such satisfactory service as they did during this last tour of duty; and, as for the enlisted men, too much praise can not be given them for their willingness and the cheerfulness of their efforts to reflect credit upon the record of the regiment.

In former years I have urged the issuing of a thinner uniform for summer work of the troops, as the present service uniform is entirely too thick to permit the men to do their work to the best advantage. I have also urged that each regiment be given a tour of duty every summer; and I am sure that, for the amount of money expended in such service, the State would reap the benefits over and over again. As it is now, a regiment is no sooner put in first-class condition than it is sent home to be practically dismissed for another two years.

Upon the return of the regiment to the armory, it was reported to me that Private George Bruger, Company A, had been acting strangely. I therefore detailed Lieutenant-Colonel Huston, Captain and Assistant Surgeon Hanscom and Lieutenant Foley to in-investigate into the condition of the man as far as practicable; and they reported to me that they had examined the man in question, and that while he seemed slightly deranged mentally, they thought every indication pointed to his speedy recovery. I thereupon directed that he be escorted to his home by another member of the company, which was done.

Respectfully,

GEORGE R. DYER,

Colonel.

APPENDIX 16.

Annual Report of Brigadier-General John G. Eddy, Commanding Second Brigade.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BRIGADE NATIONAL GUARD, STATE OF NEW YORK.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 30, 1908.

Adjutant-General, Division N. G., N. Y., Capitol, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following report on the condition of this brigade to date:

I was appointed Brigadier-General to command this brigade by the Commander-in-Chief upon the recommendation of the Major-General Commanding National Guard, November 11, 1907, and assumed command in General Orders No. 4, Headquarters, Second Brigade, November 18, 1907.

After appointing a Staff I directed them to inspect their several departments and report on their condition and efficiency and found that while their different departments were well conducted and were highly commended by the State Inspector at the Annual Inspection, each regiment had its own method of conducting and transacting business. In this connection I would recommend that a set of books be issued by the Adjutant-General to each department with directions as to their keeping so that the system would be uniform in all organizations. A company property book is very much needed, as each company at present has its own system of keeping this book.

During the year the brigade paraded on the evening of May 1st to celebrate the opening of the new subway, and also with the other military organizations located in the Borough of Brooklyn on Memorial Day as escort to the Grand Army of the Republic in honor of the dead of the War of the Rebellion and the War with Spain.

The Twenty-third Regiment Infantry was detailed for Field Service and encamped at Felts Mills, N. Y., with other detachments of the National Guard and Regular Army from June 15th to 25th, with a percentage of attendance of 71.2 per cent., and was much benefited by their experience.

The Forty-seventh Regiment Infantry was detailed to act as infantry supports to the artillery at Forts Hamilton and Wadsworth and encamped there from June 13th to 20th, with a percentage of attendance of 72.6 per cent. During the week the operations consisted of reconnaissances, outpost duties, rear guard and extended order. The regiment returned to their home station very much improved in drill and discipline.

Reports of these tours of duty have been forwarded by the commanding officers of the regiments.

At the Annual Inspection a better percentage of attendance was shown by each organization, and quite a gain in the aggregate as follows:

	1907.			1908.
	Present.	Absent.	Aggregate.	Present.	Absent.	Aggregate.
Headquarters.....	9	9	12	12
14th Regiment.....	637	24	661	683	16	699
23d Regiment.....	776	8	784	734	7	741
47th Regiment.....	528	15	543	567	15	582
Total.....	1,950	47	1,997	1,996	38	2,034

Gain in present, 46; and in aggregate, 37.

I personally attended the inspection of each organization, and particularly noticed the discipline and equipment of the Fourteenth Regiment, and the officers are to be commended for the improvement in the regiment.

The Forty-seventh Regiment Infantry was given permission to organize a new company, making a nine company regiment, and this was done by transferring enough men from the other companies to form Company C. Another order has been issued making the regiment a three battalion organization which will be carried out by forming three battalions of three companies each, leaving one company blank. Upon completion of this order the three regiments of this brigade will be three battalion organizations.

In small arms practice the brigade shows quite a gain in qualifications, although compelled to practice at Sea Girt, N. J., on account of the closing of the Creedmoor range.

COMPARATIVE STATEMENT.

Headquarters.	8	13
Fourteenth Regiment.....	470	544
Twenty-third Regiment.....	695	685
Forty-seventh Regiment.....	450	487
Total	1623	1729	Gain 106

All of the regiments deserve considerable credit for this showing as they had only the regular practice day to make these qualifications.

The strength of this brigade has increased very much during the year as shown in the following tables:

Headquarters	9	13
Fourteenth Regiment.....	693	791
Twenty-third Regiment.....	774	731
Forty-seventh Regiment.....	572	676
Total	2048	2211	Gain 163

The armories of all the organizations are in good condition except that of the Forty-seventh Regiment whose Administration building is small and very much congested and entirely inadequate. The regiment is increasing in numbers and only needs a modern building to enable it to build up its roll to the maximum. A small appropriation has been obtained from the Board of Armory Commissioners of the City of New York, and will be expended in improving the armory. An appropriation from the same source has been obtained for the Fourteenth Regiment Armory, and will be devoted to the same purpose.

All of these armories are poorly equipped for the purpose of feeding troops in case of necessity and this matter will be taken up in the near future.

When I assumed command of the brigade the headquarters was in the Municipal building and entirely unfitted for a military organization, and upon the invitation of the commanding officer of the Twenty-third Regiment, I moved to his armory. I obtained an appropriation from the Armory Board and have fitted up the rooms in modern style so that business can be conducted in an expeditious and satisfactory manner.

Respectfully,

JOHN G. EDDY,
Brigadier-General.

APPENDIX 17.

Annual Report of Brigadier-General James H. Lloyd, Commanding 3rd Brigade.

HEADQUARTERS THIRD BRIGADE, N. G., N. Y.

ALBANY, September 30, 1908.

Adjutant-General, Division National Guard, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the annual report of the Third Brigade.

The strength of the brigade on September 30, 1907, was 2,954, while the present strength is 2,907, showing a net loss of 47.

No ordered field service was performed by any of the organizations in the brigade this year. A voluntary tour of service was performed by a number of companies of the First and Tenth Regiments at Kingston, May 30 to June 1, on the occasion of the reinterment of the remains of ex-Governor George Clinton and the celebration of the 250th anniversary of the founding of Kingston; a tour was also performed by Company L, Tenth Regiment (Forty-ninth Separate Company), at Rye Beach, September 5-7.

During the winter season armory small arms practice was carried on as provided in regulations with increased interest and satisfactory results. The competition for a trophy offered by Brigade Headquarters for armory practice was competed for by regiments of the brigade and was won by the Second Regiment with increased scores over the match of 1907.

The field practice of the brigade this season has been very satisfactory, showing increased percentages in figure of merit and increased interest in all commands which is very pleasing and commendable. A very handsome bronze trophy and pedestal was presented to the Second Regiment by Lieutenant-Colonel Hardin, U. S. A. (retired), Colonel of the Second New York Infantry in the Spanish-American War, to be competed for annually and serves to create additional interest in small arms practice. The unprecedented record of 100 per cent. sharpshooters by Company F, Second Regiment, and thus far about 75 per cent. experts deserves special mention and commendation.

A meeting of the colonels of the several regiments with the brigade commander was recently held when plans were discussed and adopted for vigorous work during the coming drill season, which it is hoped will result in increased efficiency in the brigade.

Respectfully,

JAMES H. LLOYD,
Brigadier-General.

The Adjutant-General, Division N. G., N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following as my annual report:

As the Fort Niagara range was not available for the Brigade Match this year, that contest was held at Jamestown, N. Y., on Saturday, September 19, 1908, with the following result:

Third Regiment, 1192; Seventy-fourth Regiment, 1180, and Sixty-fifth Regiment, 1154.

The first prize, $100 Figure of Merit, was won by Company II (Second Separate Company), Third Regiment, of Auburn, N. Y., with a percentage of 89.80. This organization has now won this prize for four consecutive years. The second prize, $75.00 Figure of Merit, was won by Company E (Thirteenth Separate Company), Sixty-fifth Regiment, with a percentage of 84.42. The third prize, $50.00, was won by Company L (Thirtieth Separate Company), Third Regiment, of Elmira, N. Y., with a percentage of 68.50. Last year this organization won the second prize for the third consecutive year.

Company D (Forty-eighth Separate Company), Third Regiment, have been drilling in their new armory since October 1st, the armory is still unfinished, however.

A site for a range for the practice of the Sixty-fifth and Seventy-fourth Regiments has been located which is within one-half hour's ride from the center of this city, a full description of which has been forwarded. With the location of such a convenient range, rifle practice should show a much greater improvement next year. The troops of this city have been greatly handicapped the past few years by the necessity of holding their practice at Fort Niagara, which is two hours distant.

Total strength of this brigade on September 30, 1908, was 143 officers and 2145 men.

There have been no disturbances of any nature within this brigade during the past year.

Respectfully,

LAUREN W. PETTEBONE,
Brigadier-General.

HEADQUARTERS NATIONAL GUARD STATE OF NEW YORK,

CAPITOL, ALBANY, *January 21, 1908.*GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 1.

For the information of the National Guard there is published herewith a tabulated statement showing the average attendance of its officers and enlisted men at the duties required of them during the year 1907.

The statement shows that, including these headquarters and those of brigades (61), the average strength of the National Guard during the year 1907 was 14,604; the average attendance at drills and parades 86 per cent; the average attendance at field S. A. P. 88 per cent; the average attendance at field service 83 per cent and the average attendance at service with U. S. troops 74 per cent.

Covering these duties and affecting attendance thereon the following notes must be considered and their effect allowed.

a. The small arms practice regulations require that each company practice in the armory once a month during the drill season and that men who have qualified need not practice on subsequent months; each company or subdivision is therefore entitled to credit for one drill at least and an attendance of 100 per cent.

b. The Governor, in Paragraph VIII, G. O. 19 A. G. O. 1907, directed that the men who could not go on the field for at least five days should not be taken on the duty; this order to some extent affected the attendance in many subdivisions.

c. For field small arms practice one day is appointed for the whole organization for general practice; subsequently opportunities are afforded to organizations to have supplementary practice; one day is credited here, but the attendance covers the men present at the general practice and those who qualified at supplementary practice.

d. Fractions less than one-half in averages are not credited; those of one-half and more are credited as a whole.

By Command of Major General Roe,

FRED PHISTERER,

Assistant Adjutant-General

69th Regiment, from June 13th to June 20.

12th Regiment, from June 20th to June 27th.

III. The Commanding Officer First Battalion, Field Artillery, will detail a corporal and four privates for duty at the Camp of Instruction from June 13th to 27th, to fire the morning and evening gun.

IV. Officers and enlisted men ordered on duty above will wear the service uniform, haversack, canteen and blanket roll. Khaki uniform may be worn if the whole command be equipped with it.

V. Each organization will take on its tour of duty only so much of its camp equipage as shall be absolutely necessary to pitch its own camp, and to do the cooking by company and other messes. The baggage of headquarters and companies will be limited to the necessary field desks, medical chests and authorized camp equipage. Large and unwieldy chests must not be taken. The personal baggage of officers will be limited to a valise or suit-case, folding cot and bedding roll; that of enlisted men, to what they can carry in the blanket roll.

VI. Organizations will be required to maintain their own field hospitals. There will not be a post hospital at the Camp of Instruction.

VII. Transportation to and from the Camp of Instruction will be procured from the Quartermaster Division National Guard, 280 Broadway, New York City, and requisitions therefor will be forwarded to him through the channel not later than June 5th. The transportation of baggage from armories to points of departure, and vice versa, will be provided by the Commanding Officers of organizations. Horses, water, wood, straw and forage required at the Camp of Instruction will be procured from the Depot Quartermaster there.

VIII. Subsistence during the time troops are at the Camp of Instruction, or en route therefrom, will be procured from the Depot Commissary at the Camp of Instruction. Ration returns will be presented to him, and rations drawn immediately upon the arrival of organizations at the camp. Commissaries, commissary sergeants and cooks may precede their organizations to camp to facilitate the drawing of rations.

IX. Pay-rolls will be prepared in triplicate for the Adjutant-General before the organizations leave their home stations in accordance with G. O. 19, s. 1904, A. G. O. Organizations which desire a retained copy should prepare the pay-roll in quadruplicate. Commanding Officers of regiments, battalions and companies are directed to give their personal attention to the preparation of these rolls, and will be held responsible for their correctness.

X. Bills for expenditures must be presented promptly. Accounts not made as prescribed in Regulations and Orders will not be accepted. The closest economy is necessary and must be practiced.

XII. It is desired that officers and enlisted men proceed to these duties with their respective organizations and remain with them until the return of the latter to their home stations. Those who may, for good reasons, not be able to attend the tour of duty, may be granted leave of absence or furloughs by the Brigade Commander and must promptly make application to be so excused.

XIII. Reports of operations will be made by the commanding officers through the channel within ten days after the close of the tour of field service. Reports of attendance on form 89 covering the whole tour of service will be forwarded to these headquarters at the close of the tour in duplicate.

III. GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 13.

I. Commanding officers of artillery districts, of regiments, squadrons, separate companies and troops not stationed at the headquarters of their district, regiment, battalion or squadron, of batteries of field artillery and companies of the signal corps will issue orders, after consultation with the senior medical officer serving with them, for the drill and instruction of the hospital corps on the subjects prescribed in G. O. 40, s. 1904, A. G. O. The drill shall be once a week during the drill season. On these occasions medical officers and hospital corps men shall not be subject to detail for other duty and recruits shall not be examined.

II. At each assembly, part of the time will be given to drill and not more than one-half hour to lectures and recitations. Exercises in cooking and in the application of bandages and dressings are not considered recitations.

III. Drills must be conducted by a medical officer, or by non-commissioned officers under the supervision of a medical officer.

IV. Drills will be progressive and cover sections 14 to 47, 60 to 190, 212 to 218, and 220 D. R., H. C., for all organizations. As soon as sufficiently competent, frequent exercises should be carried out with "tagged cases" in accordance with D. R., H. C., 156. Detachments serving with mounted organizations or provided with an ambulance will be drilled in D. R., H. C., 48, 49, 191 to 193, 199 to 210, and 219.

V. In active service hospital corps men may be armed with the revolver (D. R., H. C., 44) and should be drilled in its use, R. S. A. P. 24 and 25, and encouraged to practice with it on armory ranges.

VI. Hospital corps recruits may be assigned to squads of the organization until thoroughly instructed in the school of the soldier. When there are not enough men in the hospital corps for proper instruction in marching, they may be assigned for drill in marching, etc., to a squad, platoon or company of the organization.

VII. Practical instruction in the use and care of the means for the relief and transportation of the sick and of all the equipment will be given to all hospital corps men.

At least four practical exercises in mess and diet cooking shall be given to each detachment during the drill season unless excused on the recommendation of brigade or division surgeons by the commanding officers of brigades or of the division.

Expenditures for supplies for use in teaching the art of cooking to the hospital corps are proper charges against the military fund of the organization with which the detachment is serving.

VIII. Instruction in military correspondence, and the proper making of medical records and returns will be given to all junior medical officers, non-commissioned officers and to other members of the hospital corps detachments capable of profiting by it.

IX. As a rule diversified exercises at each assembly will produce the best results. Drill; instruction in Anatomy, Physiology, First Aid, Camp and Personal Hygiene, or other subjects; practical exercises in first aid, cooking or nursing, may succeed one another with advantage in holding the interest and attention of the men.

X. For instruction in First Aid to the Injured the basis will be D. R., H. C., 252-281, which may be supplemented by "The Handbook of First Aid to the Injured," published by the Society for Instruction in First Aid to the Injured, 105 East Twenty-second street, New York city, N. Y.

Instruction in cooking will be based on the ration and the Manual for Army Cooks.

For advanced work, Pilcher's "First Aid in Injury," and Woodhull's "Notes on Military Hygiene" may be used as text-books and the time given to lectures or recitations may exceed a half-hour.

XI. Attention of medical officers is called to R. 198, and to G. O. 40, s. 1904, A. G. O.

XII. Schools of instruction or correspondence schools for junior medical officers and hospital corps non-commissioned officers will be held at least twice a month during the drill season.

XIII. Medical officers serving with organizations in brigades or attached to division headquarters may be required by the respective brigade and division surgeons to attend schools or to join correspondence schools conducted by them.

Medical officers will report through the channel to brigade surgeons and to the division surgeon the days of the week selected for the examination of recruits and for the drill of the hospital corps detachments.

XIV. The course of instruction for officers and enlisted men of the Field Hospital shall be prepared by the commanding officer of the Field Hospital subject to the approval of the division commander.

By command of Major-General Roe,

FREDERICK PHISTERER,

Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, *September 12, 1908.*GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 14. }

I. Commanding officers of artillery districts, of regiments, battalions, squadrons and of separate companies and troops not stationed at the headquarters of their district, regiment, battalion or squadron, of batteries of field artillery, and companies of the signal corps, after consultation with the senior medical officer serving with them, will assign one night of each week, (but not the one selected for the drill and instruction of the hospital corps detachment,) which night shall be "headquarters night," for the examination of recruits and others required to pass a medical examination.

Commanding officers of all organizations will issue orders that the medical examination of these men shall be made at the armory of the organization and on only one night per week, except under exceptional circumstances. They will at once report in writing to brigade or division commanders, the reason for any examination made outside the armory.

Commanding officers of troops, batteries and companies shall detail competent clerks from the organization to a "recruiting party," who shall report with the recruits, etc., at Assembly on each recruiting night to the medical officer and assist him by performing all clerical work connected with the examination of recruits, or shall cause the company clerk of the company in which the recruit is to be enlisted to report with the recruit and perform the same duty.

Senior medical officers shall detail enough men of the hospital corps detachment to assist in the physical examination of the recruits, etc., (weighing, measuring, testing vision and hearing, etc.), and enough junior medical officers to conduct the examination thoroughly and rapidly.

II. The examination shall begin at the hour of Assembly and be stopped not later than Recall. Recruits, etc., who do not appear one-half hour before Recall shall not be examined that night unless there is good reason for their being late.

Recruits, etc., shall be weighed and examined stripped. In all cases the vision of each eye shall be recorded, and tested separately, at a distance of not less than twenty feet. The hearing of each ear shall be tested separately.

Men who are apparently under the influence of any drug or alcohol, or who have been drinking freely shall be rejected.

Men who are dirty in clothing or person when they appear for examination shall be rejected.

Company officers or representatives other than clerks on duty, and other unauthorized persons shall not be present at the examination of recruits.

Medical officers shall see that the record required by R. II, O. D. 66, is kept.

III. No one shall interfere with medical officers in the examination (R. 176), nor attempt in any way to influence their decisions. Company officers (other than commanding officers of detached separate troops, batteries and companies) shall not question any medical officer who has examined a man as to his action in the matter.

If a company officer thinks a man has been improperly rejected he may write a letter to his commanding officer, requesting a re-examination of the man and stating his reasons therefor. This communication shall be referred to the medical officer, who will in writing inform the commanding officer of the cause of rejection. If the cause of rejection is any disqualification stated under R. 178, the case shall not be re-examined, unless the cause is a removable one. In case of any difference of opinion as to the existence of the stated cause, all the papers in the case shall be forwarded to the brigade or division commander, who may cause the man to be re-examined by a medical officer attached to another organization than the one referring the papers, or by the brigade or division surgeon.

By command of Major General Roe,

FRED. PHISTERER.

Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, September 15, 1908.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 15. }

I. Drills, schools of instruction and armory small arms practice will be resumed October first. Commanding officers of brigades and commands attached to division headquarters will issue the necessary orders, but may, for good and sufficient reasons, authorize delay in resumption of drill, etc., until November.

II. Every company and subdivision of an organization must have at least twenty-four drills during the calendar year. Drills of less than one hour and one-half, or at which less than two-thirds of the membership of the command are present will not be accepted by the War Department, and therefore cannot be credited as one of the twenty-four drills required. Field and camp service and small arms practice, at which the attendance is less than 66% will not be accepted and credited.

III. Commanding officers and those charged with the instruction of enlisted men should prepare in advance a well-matured plan for each school and drill.

This work, well considered and laid out according to the needs and capacity of a command, should be progressive and include close and extended order, interior guard, advance and rear guard, outpost, patrols and reconnaissance duty, ceremonies, the use of field equipments and equipage, orders, marches and field administration. Particular attention should be given to formations, celerity always considered, and delays eradicated.

A general broadening or amplifying of the outline and scheme of instruction is necessary in view of field service requirements. "Drill Regulations" should be studied in conjunction with "Field Service Regulations." The application of prescribed rules should be simple and practical, clearly explained or demonstrated, and carefully executed. Unnecessary repetition should be eliminated.

Commands may be divided according to the progress made, if deemed advisable, but under no circumstances should progressive work be retarded.

IV. Engineer instruction will be under the supervision and advice of the engineer on the staff of the commanding officer of the division. Infantry drills for engineers will be as prescribed in Par. III of this order.

V. Drills and instruction of signal companies will be under the direction and advice of the signal officer on the staff of the commanding officer of the division.

VI. The drills and instruction of the coast artillery corps will be prescribed by commanding officers of districts, who will arrange the instruction of the units of their commands according to their proficiency and with a view to their assignments to batteries. Infantry drills will be in conformity with Par. III of this order, with such modifications as may be necessary.

VII. Field artillery and cavalry drills will be conducted in accordance with Paragraph III of this order.

VIII. The drills and instruction of hospital corps detachments and the arrangements for and conduct of medical examinations for enlistments, re-enlistments and of men taken up from dropped will be under the supervision and advice of the surgeon on the staff of the commanding officer of the division and in accordance with G. O. 13 and 14, these headquarters.

IX. Schools of instruction for officers and non-commissioned officers, as prescribed in drill regulations must be held regularly during the drill season. Lectures should be given by staff officers of organizations on subjects pertaining to their respective offices, returns, reports, books, records, military law, etc.

At least two lectures should be given by medical officers during the drill season upon the following subjects:

1. Emergencies and their treatment and the contents and use of the first aid packet.

2. Personal hygiene and camp sanitation, and the respective duties of line and medical officers in regard thereto and to the police of camp.

3. The status of the sick, excuse of men from duty on account of sickness, sick call, records of the sick including preparation of the company sick report book and the necessity of early discovery and removal of persons with communicable diseases.

X. Proper and careful instruction in small arms practice shall be given during the drill season. Men not actually firing should receive instruction in position and aiming. Interest in shooting must not be permitted to decline because of the limited opportunities for outdoor practice for commands heretofore using the Creedmoor range. Attention is called to R. S. A. P. I and II. The officers and enlisted men excused in accordance with R. S. A. P. I. will be omitted from the total strength of the organization or subdivision, so that the reports of practice will account for actual shooting strength only. Returns must show that those so excused are omitted from the number reported absent and the total strength given. Attached officers and enlisted men present at the practice should be so reported in red ink.

XI. Reports of attendance at drills and parades must promptly be forwarded by subdivisions at the close of each drill or parade; by battalions and regiments at the end of the week; the monthly reports of armory small arms practice on the last day of each month of the season. Delinquency returns must be rendered for each school of instruction for non-commissioned officers as well as for each drill, parade, etc., and delinquents promptly be brought before delinquency courts.

XII. The commanding officers of the First, Second, Third and Fourth Brigades are charged with responsibility for the proper execution of the foregoing, so far as their commands are concerned, and will supervise the drills of the organizations of their commands.

XIII. Lieut.-Colonel Benjamin Brandreth McAlpin, Inspector-General National Guard, having been assigned by the Governor to duty with this division and reported accordingly, is announced as Inspector-General of the division to date from September 4, 1908, vice Cleveland, retired.

By command of Major-General Roe,

FRED. PHISTERER,
Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, September 25, 1908.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 16. }

In conformity with G. O. No. 48, G. H. S. N. Y., A. G. O., Albany, August 31, 1908, the Major-General commanding the Division expresses his disapproval of the conduct of Sergeant Andrew S. Corbett, 71st Regiment Infantry, in his disrespect to his superiors. There can be no extenuating circumstance for such conduct as set forth in the specification. Sergeant Corbett has rendered valuable service to the State in the past and it is believed that his conduct in the future will restore him to the good opinion of his superiors.

By command of Major-General Roe,

FRED. PHISTERER,
Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, October 20, 1908.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 17. }

I. In consequence of the adoption of the hospital corps drill regulations of 1908, paragraph IV, G. O. 13, these headquarters, is amended to read:

IV. Drills will be progressive. Frequent exercises should be held in accordance with D. R. H. C. 154 and in carrying patients without and with litter.

II. Hospital corps corporals do not carry the emergency case, but a pouch, and in drills and formation should fall in as privates and not as file closers.

III. A hospital corps private first class may be graded as such by the senior medical officer of the detachment with which he is serving, when found qualified after examination in the drill regulations and in the outlines of first aid contained in the authorized D. R. H. C., provided that in any detachment the number of corporals and privates first class shall not exceed twice the number of privates.

IV. In any detachment of the hospital corps the number of sergeants first class and sergeants shall not exceed one for each four corporals, privates first class, and privates. Sergeants first class and sergeants already warranted need not be reduced, but appointments to these grades shall not be made if they would cause an excess of the proportion stated above.

By command of Major-General Roe,

FRED. PHISTERER,
Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, October 30, 1908.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 18. }

I. The annual muster and inspection, and the inspection by officers of the United States Army, of the organizations of the National Guard, will as heretofore take place between January 1 and April 30, 1909. The specific dates will be announced in future orders. Reviews will be omitted.

II. Engineers, coast artillery and infantry commands will be paraded under arms, without ammunition or rations, in service uniform, olive drab, schedule "C," dismounted, with blanket roll and field equipment as prescribed in U. R. sec. 67, pars. a, b and i (1). (G. O. 31, A. G. O.)

The blanket roll will contain blanket, bed sack and poncho and be made with shelter tent half and blanket roll strap.

The contents of the haversack, consisting of mess kit, tin cup, and small parts of haversack will be displayed for examination and verification when the blanket rolls are opened. (I. D. R. 486.)

Officers will be correspondingly uniformed and equipped as prescribed for field service. (U. R. Sec. 66.)

Majors of battalions composed of separate companies should be present when such commands are inspected.

The inspectors general of brigades may accompany the division inspectors in their respective brigades.

Medical officers and members of hospital corps detachments on duty with regiments composed of separate companies must be present at inspection and muster as provided in Paragraph V of this order.

III. Field artillery organizations will be paraded for inspection and muster, dismounted, in service uniform, olive drab, schedule "C," and field equipment as prescribed in U. R. Sec. 67-d, without ammunition or rations.

IV. Signal companies and cavalry organizations will be paraded for inspection and muster, dismounted, in service uniform, olive drab, schedule "C," armed with rifle and pistol without ammunition or rations, and with field equipment as provided in U. R. Sec. 67 "c."

V. Hospital corps detachments will be paraded for inspection in the service uniform, olive drab, schedule "C," dismounted, with blanket roll, and the complete field equipment prescribed in U. R. Par. 67, g.

Organizations or detachments inspected on tan bark floor will omit mess-kits, and blanket rolls, which will be inspected in lockers or storage.

Hospital corps detachments serving with the engineer, field and coast artillery and infantry commands will be inspected at the headquarters of such commands. In these organizations and in detachments serving with squadrons, all field material and equipment, including tentage, ambulances, and field range or stove, should be on the drill-room floor ready for inspection, and on intimation of the inspecting officer unpacked and arranged as for actual service, except that tentage will not be pitched where the character of the floor makes this impracticable.

The inspection should include exercises in application of dressings to tagged cases, carrying by various methods described in H. C. D. R., including loading and unloading of ambulance when available.

VI. Organizations to which two days are assigned will have their post, books, records and property inspected on the first day at 8 o'clock P. M., and the field, staff, noncommissioned staff, band and hospital corps detachment will be inspected and mustered on the same evening. The remainder of the troops will be inspected and mustered on the second day; the first battalion at 8 o'clock, the second battalion at 9:30 o'clock, and the third battalion immediately thereafter. A member of the command unavoidably prevented from being present with his organization can be mustered on any of the dates assigned on the request of his commanding officer.

VII. Organizations to which one day is assigned will have their posts, books, records and property inspected at such hour in the afternoon as the inspecting officer shall designate, and the troops will be inspected and mustered in the evening commencing at 8 o'clock.

VIII. The United States Army Officers detailed by the War Department require records of military property in the possession of the troops. These must be made in duplicate upon printed blanks furnished by such officers. (O. M. R. W. D. 147.) (Organized Militia Regulations, War Department.)

In order that the state may receive full credit for compliance with requirements, these reports must be prepared with great care, and all property on hand reported.

Requisitions must be made for all property not on hand required to bring the equipment up to that specified in G. O. 31, A. G. O., and the regulations providing for field equipment.

Commanding officers will personally ascertain what property and blank forms are needed in their command and see that requisitions therefor are made at once.

IX. Military property carried on the person will be worn as for field service. All other property will be displayed and arranged in the most convenient manner for thorough examination for condition, serviceability and verification with inventories in triplicate, (form 92) at date of inspection.

All books and records including the retained copy of the last property returns, with the required inventories, and the muster rolls, these in duplicate, will be submitted for examination at the hour set for the inspection. The responsible officers must be present at the inspection of books, records and property.

X. All unserviceable property will be presented to the inspecting officer in such manner (R. 109), that he can readily and expeditiously ascertain its condition; each article must be so marked that its unserviceability can easily be seen. The blank to be used is "Form 21" and a separate form must be used for each class of property and should be placed in the hands of the inspector direct and before the date of the inspection.

XI. Application must be made for a Board of Survey, for all public property known to be lost or destroyed (R. 361-362). This with a schedule of such losses should be forwarded in time to be referred to the inspecting officer. This request may be forwarded direct to the adjutant-general of the division, but so as to reach him at least five days before the date of the inspection.

All evidence must be in form of affidavit, and should be in hand when the application is made and ready to submit when the board meets. (G. O. 22, S. 1906, A. G. O.)

XII. Commanding officers will be held personally responsible for any shortages for which requisition has not been made, and for the accuracy of the property returns. They will see that the proper inventories are prepared in advance of the inspection by the proper officers. Commanding officers will also cause this order to be served upon their staff officers and the commanding officers of the separate companies of their command as soon as it is received, calling particular attention to this paragraph, and will report such action in writing to these headquarters.

Inspecting officers will endeavor to have the blanks delivered as soon as possible and will see that the method of filling them out is understood.

By command of Major-General Roe:

FRED. PHISTERER,

Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, *December 15, 1908.*GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 19. }

The result of the field small arms practice of this division for the season 1908 is published below for the information of all concerned.

The fact that the State does not possess a suitable range for the practice of the troops located in New York City and Brooklyn explains the loss, in the higher classes especially, of qualifications among those troops.

The number of qualifications nevertheless shows a handsome increase, indicating that better instruction is being imparted and that a greater interest is taken in this so important duty of a soldier. The total number of qualifications is the highest ever attained in the National Guard of the State.

The percentage of attendance is also affected by the fact that the New York and Brooklyn organizations were required to practice at Sea Girt, N. J., the use of the range there having kindly been offered by the authorities of the State of New Jersey. Still the percentage of attendance is satisfactory.

The highest figure of merit of companies has risen from 71.20 in 1907 to 89.90 in 1908 and there has been generally an improvement in this, this season.

Altogether the result of the season's work is satisfactory and creditable to the division, as well as to Lieutenant-Colonel N. B. Thurston and Major W. M. Kirby, ordnance officers of the division, under whose direct supervision this duty has been performed and whose zeal and energy are fully appreciated by the whole division. They were ably assisted by officers specially detailed for the purpose and by the ordnance officers of the brigades and regiments.

By command of Major-General Roe,

FRED. PHISTERER,
Adjutant-General.

Thurston, Ordnance Officer, Division, received orders, authority having been received from the Governor August 4, 1908, to organize a team to represent the State of New York in the McAlpin Trophy Match for a trophy known as the McAlpin shield, and in the Dryden Trophy Match for a trophy known as the Dryden Trophy, both being competed for annually, by teams of 8, representing the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and the National Guard of each State and the District of Columbia, ten shots each at 200, 600 and 1,000 yards; the team to be made up as far as possible from those who were eliminated from the competition in the National Trophy.

The above Matches were shot at Sea Girt, New Jersey, during the joint meeting of the New Jersey and New York State Rifle Associations, and were shot on September 9th and 11th, respectively.

The following officers and enlisted men were selected by Lieutenant-Colonel Thurston to represent the State in these Matches:

Lieutenant-Colonel N. B. Thurston, Ordnance Officer, Division, National Guard, N. Y. Captain.

Major Edward B. Bruch, 71st Regiment.

Captain A. E. Wells, 71st Regiment.

Captain George W. Corwin, Ordnance Department, 71st Regiment.

Lieutenant W. B. Short, Ordnance Department, 1st Battalion, F. A.

Post Ordnance Sergeant George E. Bryant, Ordnance Department, 23rd Regiment.

Post Ordnance Sergeant George H. Doyle, Ordnance Department, 71st Regiment.

First Sergeant F. X. O'Connor, Co. "C," 7th Regiment.

Private H. E. Crall, Co. "G," 7th Regiment.

The Team with the exception of Captains Wells and Corwin reported at the Beach House, Sea Girt, N. J., on Monday, September 7th and was quartered there until Saturday morning, September 12th, at which time it was disbanded.

The Team was unsuccessful in both Matches, principally owing to lack of practice with the new 1903 model rifle, with which they shot, and although the score in both Matches, made by the Team exceeded all previous records, the phenomenal shooting of all the teams with the new rifle caused them to be defeated.

The McAlpin Trophy was shot for on Wednesday, September 9th, the record being 1,023 points, and resulted as follows:

U. S. Infantry	1,074
U. S. Marine Corps	1,052
U. S. Cavalry	1,040
New York	1,026
New Jersey	1,011
District of Columbia	990

Although the New York Team exceeded all previous records by 3 points, as will be seen above, they finished fifth.

The Match for the Dryden Trophy, conditions of which were similar to the McAlpin Trophy Match, was shot for on Friday, September 11th. The record in this Match being 1,001 points and resulted as follows:

U. S. Marine Corps	1,089
U. S. Infantry	1,062
New Jersey	1,058
U. S. Cavalry	1,052
Maryland	1,048
New York	1,034
District of Columbia	990

Although the New York Team beat the previous record by 33 points, as will be seen above, they finished seventh.

MATCH FOR THE NATIONAL TROPHY.

The Governor authorized the formation of a team to represent the State in this Match in G. O. 14, A. G. O., 1908, and Lieutenant-

Colonel N. B. Thurston, Ordnance Officer, Division, was directed to organize and prepare a team for competition for the trophy known as the National Trophy, authorized by an Act of Congress to be for annual competition by teams of twelve of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and the National Guard of each State and the District of Columbia.

Owing to the fact that the range at Creedmoor was closed on October 8, 1907, no open competition for places on the Team could be held, and therefore there were selected the members of the 1907 Team and about 25 other officers and enlisted men, who were personally known to be good shots, invited to practice at Sea Girt, New Jersey, during the months of June and July. At the end of July there were selected the Officials, Team and Alternates, mentioned as follows:

Captain.

Lieutenant-Colonel N. B. Thurston, Ordnance Officer, Division, N. G., N. Y.

Adjutant and Range Officer.

Captain William H. Palmer, Ordnance Officer, 7th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

Coach.

Post Ordnance Sergeant George H. Doyle, 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

Spotter.

Captain Arthur E. Wells, Company "H," 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

Team and Alternates.

Captain Arthur Kemp, Company "H," 74th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

Second Lieutenant Damase J. Cadotte, Company "F," 74th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

First Lieutenant Lynn W. Thompson, Staff, 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

Private Daniel C. Meyer, Company "C," 7th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

Commissary Sergeant Francis J. Loughlin, N. C. S., 12th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

Battalion Sergeant Major Charles M. Smith, N. C. S., 12th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

Captain Robert E. Heun, Company "I," 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

First Sergeant Leo F. Knust, Company "E," 7th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

Sergeant C. B. Spies, Hospital Corps, 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

First Sergeant Francis X. O'Connor, Company "C," 7th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

Private John D. Thees, Jr., Company "B," 7th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

Captain William J. Underwood, Company "G," 7th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

First Lieutenant Julius T. Westermann, Company "K," 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

First Sergeant James F. Dowling, Company "F," 12th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

The fact that no range was available in the vicinity of Greater New York was a serious handicap to the Team, added to which was the fact that for the first time the men used the U. S. Magazine Rifle Model 1903 with 1906 ammunition.

Such practice as could be obtained at Sea Girt, N. J., was held after a long railroad ride in the morning, to a majority of the Team, and the practice had to close at 4 o'clock p. m. to enable the Team to return to New York.

Every facility was offered the Team by Brigadier-General Bird W. Spencer, General Inspector of Rifle Practice, State of New Jersey, Colonel Reid, Colonel Libbey, Major Price and the other officials connected with the Sea Girt Range.

The thanks of the Team are also due Captain Harlee and other members of the United States Marine Corps Team, who were encamped on the Sea Girt Range during the practice of the Team and who rendered every assistance in their power to the officers and enlisted men composing the Team.

The Officials and Team left New York for Camp Perry, Ohio, at 8 o'clock p. m. on Wednesday, August 19, 1908, over the West Shore Railroad in the private Pullman car Vermont, in which car the Team was quartered during its stay at Camp Perry, Ohio.

The New Jersey State Team left on the same train in the private Pullman car Rainbow and entertained the New York Team at breakfast on August 20th and supper on August 26th.

The Team arrived at Camp Perry, Ohio, on Thursday, August 20th, 1908, at 5 o'clock p. m. Lieutenant-Colonel N. B. Thurston reported the arrival of the Team and presented his credentials to Lieutenant-Colonel R. K. Evans, 5th Infantry, U. S. A., Executive Officer of the Match.

The Team obtained such practice as it could on the two preliminary days set aside for this purpose, Friday, August 21st, and Saturday, August 22d, and as a result of this practice the following were selected from the fifteen men composing the Team and Alternates to represent the State of New York in the competition.

The scores aggregate 2,773 and the Team finished twentieth.

Fifty teams competed, consisting of five service teams and representatives from forty-five States and Territories, embracing the entire Country.

180 APPENDIX "A;" ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S REPORT.

Taking into consideration the handicaps above mentioned, the Team did remarkably well under the circumstances.

III. The standard average attendance at drills expected of the National Guard of this State is not less than 80 per cent. The Division Commander has observed with pleasure that during the past drill season the attendance has steadily increased until in February and March it was 88 per cent. and in April 88.35 per cent. The zeal and spirit shown by the members of the guard is appreciated and greatly commended, and the Division Commander congratulates the whole guard on its attention to duty. Commanding officers of brigades will enquire into the reasons why some subdivisions still fall below 80 per cent. in the attendance at drills, etc., and report the result of their investigations.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF NEW YORK,
ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE.

ALBANY, October 13, 1908.

SIR.—I have the honor to draw attention to the fact that General Orders No. 11, s. 1901, from this office, prescribe method of preparing vouchers (22, 28, 33, 41, 113); also enjoins on commanding officers necessity of presenting vouchers (160) in proper shape for action of Board of Audit. The order referred to specifies various purposes (157) for which funds may be expended and prescribes (158) procedure in other cases.

In numerous instances it is found that care is not exercised by officers in preparing vouchers, covering disbursements, that proper explanation on dealers' bills is omitted, and that commanding officers fail to appreciate necessity of having vouchers in proper shape for submission to auditing board. Further, the practice appears to be growing of including unauthorized items and in this way obtain decision of reviewing authority, rather than procure authority in the prescribed manner.

By reason of the irregularities pointed out the work of this office is greatly increased, and action on mass of matter being daily presented, greatly retarded. It is therefore requested that vouchers accompanying Proceedings of Board of Audit be scrutinized with more care, and such as are not in every detail and respect correct and proper be rejected. Where such action is taken the Proceedings should be returned, and commanding officer informed that corrected abstract embracing approved items only should be prepared and submitted without alteration or erasure.

This office will appreciate your action in the matter.

Respectfully,

NELSON H. HENRY,
The Adjutant-General.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF NEW YORK,
ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE.

ALBANY, October 20, 1908.

SIR.—I have the honor to direct your attention to the requisitions for annual clothing allowance now being received at this office. It would appear that there is some misunderstanding with reference to the channel of transmission of these requisitions to The Adjutant-General of the State. Paragraph 14 of General Orders 56, requires that these requisitions shall be approved by the commanding officer. It was the intention of this office that this should mean commanding officers, regimental or commanding officers in case of separate independent units, and that it would not be necessary that such requisitions should be forwarded through Brigade or Division Headquarters, thereby saving much time and postage. Where such requisitions are within the amount of clothing allowance allowed it is contended that the Governor has in this order authorized such issue. I would therefore request you to notify your organizations accordingly.

The exception of this rule will be when organizations in reason, desire to exceed the limits placed upon the clothing allowance or to make request for any variation therefrom, in which case such communication or requisitions should be transmitted through the channel, Brigade and Division Headquarters. Requisitions for other stores and supplies will take the course as previously followed through the

The semi-annual return of the Division for September, 1908, shows the Division to consist of 955 commissioned officers and 14,435 enlisted men, the aggregate strength being 15,390, an increase of 259 over the strength of the Division March 31, 1908.

Semi-annual returns for March 31, 1908 were not returned for correction, where necessary, as it was supposed that the returns for September 30, would be correct, which they practically are, showing however that some matters were still not fully understood.

The following is therefore brought to the attention of those concerned:

1st. Company, troop and battery returns should be forwarded to next superior headquarters April and October 1st; battalion, squadron and regimental returns should be forwarded to next superior headquarters April and October 6th; brigade returns to these headquarters April and October 11th.

2d. Enlistment papers, being no longer required for requisitions, shall be forwarded with the semi-annual returns.

3d. Every officer and enlisted man who was a member of the organization at date of last return or became a member during the period of the return in question, must be accounted for; losses and gains by names, etc.

4th. Supernumerary officers still on duty as such with brigades, regiments, battalions, squadrons and companies (second lieutenants in the latter) will be considered as members of the organization until properly relieved. But in the space for remarks their names, positions and status shall be given.

5th. Departmental officers, post ordnance sergeants, post commissary sergeants, post quartermaster sergeants and hospital corps serving with organizations, except at headquarters of brigades, while not members of the organization for the purpose of returns are reported as if they were—in red ink—under the heads: ordnance, subsistence, quartermasters and medical departments, each by itself. The medical department includes the hospital corps; regimental and battalion quartermasters and commissaries are not departmental officers. Enlistment papers, gains and losses must be treated as if these officers and enlisted men were actual members of the organization. (See 2 and 3 above). The accounting set forth above applies also to reports of attendance.

6th. Careful attention should be paid to the making of the return; totals and aggregates should agree; and differences between aggregates must be fully explained. The last return should be used when making the new one. Compliance with this will save much delay and many annoyances.

By command of Major-General Roe,

FRED. PHISTERER,
Adjutant-General.

No. 246. }

I. Paragraph 383, Army Regulations, as amended by General Orders, No. 170, War Department, October 15, 1905, and paragraph 441, Army Regulations, as amended by General Orders No. 170, War Department, October 15, 1905, and by paragraph II, General Orders, No. 130, War Department, July 16, 1906, are further amended to read as follows:

383. Whenever "The Star Spangled Banner" is played by the band on a formal occasion at a military station, or at any place where persons belonging to the military service are present in their official capacity, all officers and enlisted men present will stand at attention, such position being retained until the last note of "The Star Spangled Banner." The same respect will be observed toward the national air of any other country when it is played as a compliment to official representatives of such country. Whenever "The Star Spangled Banner" is played under circumstances contemplated by this paragraph, the air will be played through once without repetition of any part, except such repetition as is called for by the musical score. [1285767, A. G. O.]

441. At every military post or station the flag will be hoisted at the sounding of the first note of the reveille, or of the first note of the march, if a march be played before the reveille. The flag will be lowered at the sounding of the last note of the retreat, and while the flag is being lowered the band will play "The Star Spangled Banner," or, if there be no band present, the field music will sound "to the color." When "to the color" is sounded by the field music while the flag is being lowered the same respect will be observed as when "The Star Spangled Banner" is played by the band, and in either case officers and enlisted men out of ranks will face toward the flag, stand at attention, and render the prescribed salute at the last note of the music. The national flag will be displayed at a sea coast or lake fort at the beginning of and during an action in which the fort may be engaged, whether by day or by night. [1285767, A. G. O.]

Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, January 8, 1908.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 3. }

The Court of Inquiry, of which Brigadier-General Lauren W. Pettebone, 4th Brigade, is president, convened pursuant to Special Orders No. 151, Adjutant-General's Office, September 20, 1907, at the request of Colonel George R. Dyer, 12th Regiment, N. G., N. Y., to inquire into the nature of certain imputations against that officer, having considered the evidence in connection with the case, has reported its findings, opinion and recommendations.

The opinion of the court is as follows:

"After careful scrutiny of the record and due consideration thereof it is the unanimous opinion of the Court that the imputations made against Colonel George R. Dyer are baseless; and that no further action is necessary in this matter insofar as Colonel Dyer is concerned."

"We have carefully considered the action of Major N. T. Robb, Major J. P. Benkard, Captain W. Forbes Morgan, and Captain H. S. Dudley in bringing the charges reflecting upon the character of Colonel Dyer, to the attention of that officer and the regimental board of officers. It was clearly their duty so to do. We find nothing in their conduct reflecting either upon their efficiency as officers or their standing as gentlemen."

STATE OF NEW YORK,

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

ALBANY, January 8, 1908.

I have carefully examined the testimony in this case in full. The findings, recommendations and opinion of the court are concurred in, and I consider no further action necessary.

CHARLES E. HUGHES.

By command of the Governor,

NELSON H. HENRY,
Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, January 10, 1908.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 4. }

Upon the recommendation of the Commanding Officer of the Naval Militia the "Regulations relating to the Uniform of the Naval Militia, 1899," and subsequent orders and parts of orders amending or modifying the same, in so far as they apply to commissioned officers, are hereby revoked and the following regulations for the uniform of commissioned officers of the Naval Militia, New York, are substituted therefor.

By command of the Governor,

NELSON H. HENRY,
Adjutant-General.

UNIFORM REGULATIONS FOR COMMISSIONED OFFICERS OF THE NAVAL MILITIA.

1. All persons belonging to the Naval Militia, New York, must conform strictly to such regulations for uniform as may be published from time to time by proper authority. Every person belonging to the Naval Militia is forbidden to wear any dress or decoration other than that to which his grade or the law entitles him.

2. Supernumerary officers, when placed on duty, shall wear the uniform of the organization to which they are assigned, in accordance with the position and rank they hold therein. When not placed on duty, they, and retired officers, may, on proper occasions, wear the uniform of the organization in which they last served.

3. Officers serving on Courts Martial, Courts of Inquiry, or other military or naval courts or boards, or when attending as witnesses or otherwise before such courts or boards, shall wear the prescribed uniform of their respective grades, unless otherwise ordered.

WAR DEPARTMENT,

WASHINGTON, January 7, 1908.

SIR:

In view of the present and prospective vacancies in the grade of second lieutenant in the Army over and above those required by law for the graduates of the United States Military Academy and the enlisted men of the regular Army, I am authorized by the President to inform you that he will be pleased to name for competition in July next a candidate to be named by you from among members of the organized militia of New York.

This candidate will be authorized to compete with other civilian candidates for a limited number of vacancies under regulations prescribed by the War Department in General Orders inclosed herewith. This order gives in detail the requirements of the examination and all information needed by candidates in advance to enable them to prepare themselves. The following fundamental rules of eligibility are laid down by the Department in conformity with the existing regulations, and in order to secure uniformity among candidates who shall be named by the various governors in response to this invitation.

The candidate must be unmarried; must not be less than 21 years of age or more than 27; must be a citizen of the United States; must be physically qualified to discharge all the duties of an officer in active service; must be free from mental or bodily deformity and of good moral character and habits; must have been a member of the organized militia of your State continuously for not less than two years prior to being named by you, and must have the favorable recommendation of the commanding officer of his immediate organization and of the regimental and brigade commanders when the same exist and are his direct superiors. The candidate, whether officer or enlisted man, may be of any grade.

Early action is urged to the end that the candidate named may have as much time as possible for preparation.

Very respectfully,

ROBERT SHAW OLIVER,

Assistant Secretary of War.

To the Governor of New York,
Albany, N. Y.

WAR DEPARTMENT,

WASHINGTON, January 2, 1908.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 1. }

The regulations published in General Orders, No. 57, March 20, 1907, War Department, regarding the examination and appointment of persons in civil life to be second lieutenants in the Army and the examination of lieutenants of the Army for transfer to the Artillery Corps, having been amended, by direction of the President, to read as follows, are published for the information of all concerned:

I. Boards for the examination of applicants from civil life for appointment to the position of second lieutenant in the Army will be appointed by the Secretary of War, and will consist of five commissioned officers, including two medical officers. The duties of the medical officers will be confined to examining into and reporting upon the physical qualifications of the candidates.

II. Only such vacancies in the grade of second lieutenant in the line of the Army as exist after the assignment of the graduates of the United States Military Academy each year, and as are not required for qualified enlisted candidates, are available for the appointment of civilians. In any year when such vacancies are available they may be filled —

First. By the appointment of honor graduates of institutions of learning at which officers of the Army are detailed as professors of military science and tactics, whose students have exhibited the greatest application and proficiency in military training and knowledge, not to exceed ten for any one year.

Such graduates will not be required to undergo any mental examination, but each must be recommended by the Army officer serving at the time of graduation as professor of military science and tactics at the institution at which the applicant was graduated. The applicants of this class who may be appointed second lieutenants will be so appointed in advance of other appointees from civil life; and their places in the lineal and relative lists of second lieutenants of the Army will be determined at the War Department by lot.

Second. By the appointment of such civilian applicants as may be designated by the President and may pass the prescribed competitive examination.

Third. In the Coast Artillery Corps such vacancies may also be filled by the appointment of mechanical, electrical, or civil engineers who are graduates of the universities, colleges, or technical schools of the country. They may be designated by the War Department and must pass the prescribed competitive examination prior to appointment.

III. No person shall be examined unless he has a letter from the War Department authorizing his examination.

If the candidate has been graduated at an institution where he received military instruction he must present a diploma or a recommendation from the faculty of the institution.

If a member of the National Guard he must present recommendations from the proper National Guard authorities.

If a graduate mechanical, electrical, or civil engineer he must present a diploma of graduation as such from the institution at which he was graduated.

IV. No candidate will be examined who is married, or under twenty-one or over twenty-seven years of age, or who is not a citizen of the United States.

V. Each applicant will first be subjected to a rigid physical examination, and any applicant who fails to pass it will be rejected by the board; but, should he so desire, he will be permitted to undergo the mental examination with the distinct understanding that such examination will not confer upon him any right to appointment should his physical disability finally be regarded as disqualifying. Examination as to physical qualifications will conform to the standard required of recruits and to the requirements prescribed in the War Department General Orders, No. 199, of December 11, 1906, except that any applicant under 5 feet 5 inches in height will be rejected. The physical examination will be made complete in each case, even though a deficiency be discovered, so as to ascertain whether any other defects exist. It is highly desirable that where a candidate is rejected for any physical cause, the cause of rejection should be so clearly established as to be conclusive of the reasonableness and propriety of the rejection, and in cases where physical fitness appears doubtful the board should require the production of such testimony as to the medical history of the candidate and of his family as may be obtainable. A certificate of physical examination by the medical officers of the board will accompany the proceedings of the board in each case.

The moral character of each applicant found physically qualified or who desires to undergo the mental examination notwithstanding his physical defects, will then be inquired into, and any applicant who has not borne a good moral character will be rejected and his examination will cease.

VI. Each applicant who has been found qualified under paragraph V of this order, except as hereinafter provided, will then be examined mentally in the following subjects:

1. English grammar, including orthography, reading, and writing from oral dictation.

2. In his knowledge of arithmetic and his ability to apply its rules to all practical questions; in his knowledge of the use of logarithms and ability to apply them to questions of practice; in his knowledge of algebra, through quadratic equations, and in his knowledge of plane and solid geometry, plane and spherical trigonometry, and elements of surveying.

3. Geography, particularly in reference to the United States and North America.

4. The outlines of general history, and particularly the history of the United States.

5. The Constitution of the United States and the organization of the Government under it, and the elements of international law.

6. Army Regulations, and the drill regulations of cavalry, field artillery, or infantry, as the candidate may elect. The examination in drill regulations will be practical, extending through the schools of the soldier, squad, and platoon, and shall take place in the presence of the board.

7. The probable efficiency and aptitude of the candidate as judged by the examining board and as shown by his knowledge of army and drill regulations acquired by personal study and application, or by experience in a military school, or in the National Guard.

Any graduate mechanical, electrical, or civil engineer who is an applicant for appointment to the Coast Artillery Corps, if he so desires, shall be exempt from all examination in all subjects prescribed in sections 1, 2, 3, 4, and 6 of this paragraph, and in his examination under section 7 his probable efficiency and aptitude will be judged by the examining board on the basis of his diploma and such recommendations, certificates, or other evidence of fitness as may be presented by him.

In awarding marks the board will give to each subject in the examination the relative weight given in the following form. The general average of the candidates will be computed as follows: Mark each question according to its relative weight and reduce the aggregate of marks thus obtained in each subject to a scale of 100. The result will give the percentage of proficiency in the subject. Multiply the percentage in each subject by the number indicating the relative weight of the subject and divide the sum of the products by the sum of the relative weights; the quotient will be the general average.

Example.

No.	Subject.	Per-centage.	Relative weights.	Products of multiplication by relative weights.

VII. Each applicant desiring appointment in the Coast Artillery Corps will so notify the president of the examining board and will in addition to the general examination, as prescribed in paragraph VI, be examined as follows:

1. In his knowledge of mechanics, to include general principles and definitions, laws of motion, parallelogram of forces, constant and variable forces, equilibrium, friction, principle of work, law of energy, relation between heat and work, simple mechanical powers and their application.

2. In his knowledge of electricity, to include theoretical electricity, basis of electrical measurements, including units; Ohm's law, including its application to shunts; electro-magnetism and induced currents; methods of measurement of voltage, current, electrical energy and resistance of apparatus therefor; and primary cells, their installation and care and application to open and closed circuit work.

3. In his knowledge of the general principles of chemistry.

Relative weights as follows will be given to these additional subjects: Mechanics, 3; electricity, 3; chemistry, 2; and these subjects will be considered in making up the general average as hereinbefore provided.

VIII. All applicants will be examined carefully as to their fitness for mounted service, taking into consideration only the degree of proficiency shown by them in riding and horsemanship and their size when so great as to indicate present or future unsuitability for mounted service, and the board will report them by name in three groups as determined by the result of the examination, viz.:

1st. Those considered specially qualified for mounted service.

2d. Those considered qualified.

3d. Those considered not qualified.

IX. No candidate will be passed by the board who shall not have attained a general average of 75 per cent. in all subjects examined upon, and not less than 65 per cent. in any one subject. An applicant who elects to take the additional examination for appointment in the Coast Artillery Corps and who is successful in both the general and additional examinations, but for whom no vacancy is available in the Coast Artillery Corps, or who is successful in the general and fails in the additional examination, will not be considered ineligible for appointment in the cavalry, infantry, or field artillery; but if appointed in any one of the latter arms, his general average will be made up from the marks in the subjects of the general examination only.

X. When the board shall have examined and passed upon all applicants, it will prepare separate proceedings in each case and also a tabulated statement showing the order of their relative merit as determined by the general examination and forward the proceedings with all papers pertaining thereto to the Adjutant-General of the Army. In establishing the order of relative merit, the general average of each applicant will be made up from the average of the marks in all subjects in which he was examined, subject to the limitation expressed in the latter part of paragraph IX.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
 No. 23.

The following rules for the management and care of the United States Magazine Rifle, Model of 1903, caliber .30, are published for the observance and guidance of all concerned:

By command of the Governor,

NELSON H. HENRY,
Adjutant-General.

Directions for the Management, Dismounting, Assembling and Cleaning of the United States Magazine Rifle, Model of 1903, Caliber .30.

1. To open the bolt, raise the handle until it comes in contact with the left side of the receiver, and pull directly to the rear until the top locking lug strikes the cut-off. To close the bolt, push the handle forward until the extracting cam on the bolt bears against the extracting cam on the receiver, and turn the handle down. The piece may be cocked either by raising the bolt handle until it strikes the left side of the receiver and then immediately turning it down or by pulling the cocking piece directly to the rear. The opening and closing of the bolt should each be done by one continuous motion.

2. To charge the magazine, see that the cut-off is turned up showing "on," draw the bolt fully to the rear, insert the cartridges from a clip, or from the hand, and close the bolt. To charge the magazine from a clip, place either end of a loaded clip in its seat in the receiver and with the thumb of the right hand, press the cartridges down into the magazine until the top cartridge is caught by the right edge of the receiver. Pushing the bolt forward after charging the magazine, ejects the clip.

3. When the cut-off is turned down, the magazine is "off," and the arm can be used as a single loader, the cartridges in the magazine being held in reserve. The arm can also readily be used as a single loader with the magazine empty. When the cut-off is turned up, the magazine is "on" which permits the use of the cartridges in the magazine. In magazine fire after the last cartridge has been fired and the bolt drawn fully to the rear, the follower rises and holds the bolt open to show that the magazine is empty.

4. In firing the piece, care must be taken that the bolt handle is not raised by the hand, as unless the bolt handle is fully turned down and closed, a miss fire will result.

5. The safety lock, when turned to the right, which can only be done when the piece is cocked, locks the bolt and firing pin so that pressure on the trigger does not release the firing pin. The safety lock when turned to the left, is inoperative.

6. Protect the front sight as much as possible. The piece must not be dropped under any circumstances as any slight jar may injure the barrel.

7. The rear sight is only to be removed or replaced by the proper person by direction of the Commanding Officer.

8. To open the butt plate cap, insert the rim of an empty cartridge case in the notch in the cap and draw it open. In replacing the oiler and thong case it should always be inserted in the stock so that the leather-tipped cap will be next the butt plate cap. Clean the piece with thong brush and oiled rags as soon as possible after firing. To clean or oil the bore with rags, the thong brush is unscrewed, the rag placed in the rag slot of the thong tip and drawn from the muzzle toward the breech.

PRECAUTIONS.

9. If it is desired to carry the piece cocked, with a cartridge in the chamber, the bolt mechanism should be secured by turning the safety lock to the right. In this position it is important that the safety lock be kept turned fully to the right, since if it be turned to the left nearly to the "ready" position and the trigger pulled it is possible that the sear may not again engage the cocking shoulder. Should this happen the rifle will be discharged upon turning the safety lock fully to the ready position. Under no circumstances should the firing pin be let down by hand on a cartridge in the chamber.

To obtain positive ejection, and to insure the bolt catching the top cartridge in magazine, when loading from the magazine, the bolt must be drawn fully to the rear in opening it.

When the bolt is closed, or slightly forward, the cut-off may be turned up or down, as desired. When the bolt is in its rearmost position, to pass from loading from the magazine to single loading, it is necessary to force the top cartridge or follower below the reach of the bolt, to push the bolt slightly forward and to turn the cut-off down, showing "off."

In case of a missfire it is unsafe to draw back the bolt immediately, as it may be a case of hang-fire. In such cases the piece should be cocked by drawing back the cocking piece.

It is essential for the proper working and preservation of all cams that they be kept lubricated.

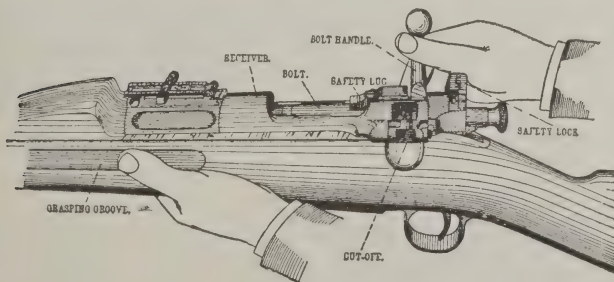

DISMOUNTING AND ASSEMBLING BY SOLDIER.

10. The bolt and magazine mechanism can be dismantled without removing the stock. The latter should never be done, except for making repairs, and then only by some selected and instructed man.

TO DISMOUNT BOLT MECHANISM.

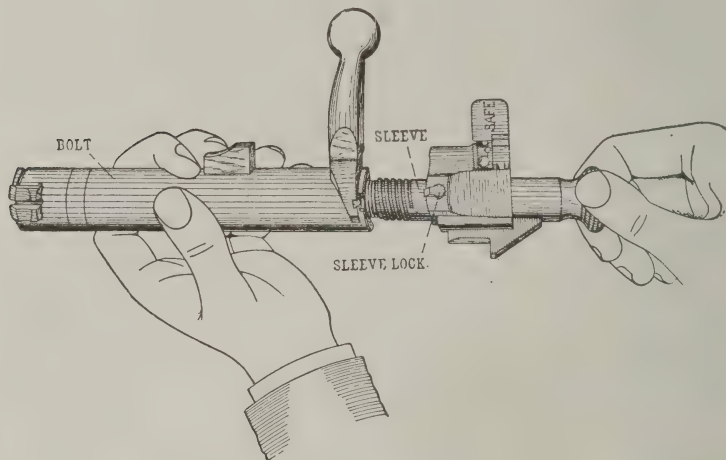

Place the cut-off at the center notch; cock the arm and turn the safety lock to a vertical position, raise the bolt handle and draw out the bolt (Fig. 1).

FIG. 1.

FIG. 2.

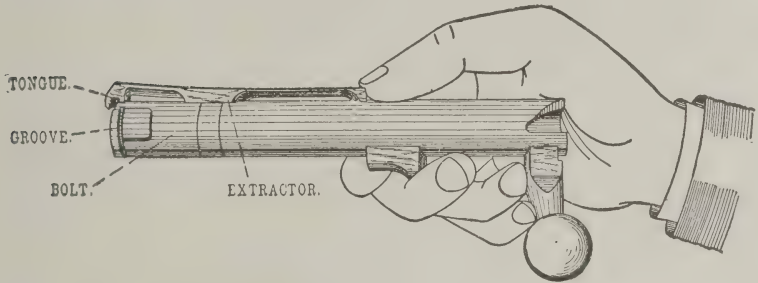

Hold sleeve between forefinger and thumb of the left hand, draw cocking piece back with middle finger and thumb of right hand, turn safety lock down to the left with the forefinger of the right hand, in order to allow the cocking piece to move forward in sleeve, thus partially relieving the tension of mainspring; with the cocking piece against the breast, draw back the firing pin sleeve with the forefinger and thumb of right hand and hold it in this position (Fig. 3) while removing the striker with the left hand; remove firing pin sleeve and mainspring; pull firing pin out of sleeve; turn the extractor to the right, forcing its tongue out of its groove in the front of the bolt, and force the extractor forward (Fig. 4) and off the bolt.

TO ASSEMBLE BOLT MECHANISM.

Grasp with the left hand the rear of the bolt, handle up, and turn the extractor collar with the thumb and forefinger of the right hand until its lug is on a line with the safety lug on the bolt; take the extractor in the right hand and insert the lug on the collar in the undercuts in the extractor by pushing the extractor to the rear until its tongue comes in contact with the rim on the face of the bolt (a slight pressure with the left thumb on the top of the rear part of the extractor assists in this operation); turn the extractor to the right until it is over the right lug; take the bolt in the right hand and press the hook of the extractor against the butt plate (Fig. 5) or some rigid object, until the tongue on the extractor enters its groove in the bolt.

With the safety lock turned down to the left to permit the firing pin to enter the sleeve as far as possible, assemble the sleeve and firing pin; place the cocking piece against the breast and put on mainspring, firing pin sleeve, and striker (see Fig. 3). Hold the cocking piece between the thumb and forefinger of the left hand, and by pressing the striker point against some substance, not hard enough to injure it, force the cocking piece back until the safety lock can be turned to the vertical position with the right hand; insert the firing pin in the bolt and screw up the sleeve (by turning it to the right) until the sleeve lock enters its notch on the bolt.

See that the cut-off is at the center notch; hold the piece under floor plate in the fingers of the left hand, the thumb extending over the left side of the receiver; take bolt in right hand with safety lock in a vertical position and safety lug up; press rear end of follower down with left thumb and push bolt into the receiver; lower bolt handle; turn safety lock and cut-off down to the left with right hand.

CARE OF PARTS.

11. It is advisable to soak the woodwork of the piece with raw linseed oil, rubbing it in with the hand, and boning it with a bone afterward.

Rubbing beeswax into the wood is also very good.

12. Do not rub the blued parts with any scouring material.

13. In putting oil on any bearing surface, use the pin of the oiler in the butt, a match or small brush, applying small quantity.

Before using piece, remove all oil except on bearing surfaces to prevent collection of dust.

14. To remove exterior rust, take a small plain stick of fairly hard wood; moisten the end with oil and rub it back and forth. Do not attempt to use emery cloth or emery paper.

15. Keep the locking lug recess, just in front of the chamber, free from dust and particles of powder.

CLEANING.

16. The following cleaning compound is recommended:

Astral oil (tested and found free from acid), fluid,	2 oz.
Sperm oil	" 1 "
Turpentine	" 1 "
Mix.

17. When cleaning after firing remove the bolt, dip a brush in the cleaning compound and pass it back and forth through the barrel from the breech, allowing the brush to follow the rifling, and being careful to allow the brush to pass out of the muzzle end of barrel before withdrawing it. Then take a small circular flannel rag, about 1½ inches in diameter, and putting it over the knob on the end of the cleaning rod, pass it through the barrel. It may be necessary to use several rags. After this, if the piece is to be put away, pass an oiled rag through the bore. Always clean from the breech.

Oils: Three in one oil; Rangoon (imported) oil; sperm oil (having a teaspoonful of melted lead dropped into a pint of oil to kill the acid). Do not use any vegetable oil or kerosene.

18. In removing a cleaning compound or oil from the bore use a rag moistened with gasoline or a dry, clean rag.

19. In cutting cleaning rags use a wad cutter 1½ inches in diameter.

20. Do not insert any metal rod of any kind in the barrel from the muzzle.

21. Steel or iron cleaning rods must not be used. The proper rod is one of sufficient length to reach from the muzzle to a point about four inches in back of the end of the receiver. This rod to be made of brass or steel covered with wood. The brass brush used on the end of cleaning rod to be of .32 caliber. The rod to have no slot in the end, but instead a small flanged head.

A non-commissioned officer commanding the guard takes the post of an officer commanding the guard, when in column or passing in review.

The adjutant brings the guard to a right shoulder.

The guard marches in review at quick time on the same principles as when mounted.

In saluting the officer of the day, the eyes of the guard are turned toward him by the commands: 1. Eyes, 2. RIGHT, given by the commander of the guard, who adds FRONT when the officer of the day is passed.

[1347674, A. G. O.]

1082. The new guard marches in quick time past the old guard and is brought to eyes right when the trumpeters of the new guard arrive opposite the left of the old guard. The command FRONT is given when the head of the new guard passes the trumpeters of the old guard.

The trumpeters having marched three yards beyond the trumpeters of the old guard, change direction to the right, and, followed by the guard, change direction to the left when on a line with the old guard; the changes of direction are made without command. The commander of the guard halts on the line of the rank of the old guard, allows his guard to march past him, and, when its rear approaches, forms it into line to the left, halts it, establishes the left guide three yards to the right of the trumpeters of the old guard and on a line with its rank, and then dresses his guard to the left.

The new guard being dressed, the commander of each guard in front of and facing the center, commands: 1. Present, 2. ARMS, faces to the front and salutes.

The commanders having saluted, each faces his guard and commands: 1. Order, 2. ARMS.

TO MAKE THE BLANKET ROLL.

101. The blanket roll shall contain the bed sack, blanket, overcoat, extra flannel shirt, canvas trousers (if issued) and poncho. The commanding officer may specify such articles to be omitted as the weather or the nature of the duty render necessary.

To make the blanket roll with the bed sack for infantry and coast artillery:

Spread the bed sack smoothly on the ground; fold the long edge opposite the lacing down underneath in a fold 8 inches wide; then fold the ends over on top of bed sack, each fold to be 6 inches wide. The bed sack as so folded will be the width of the blanket. Fold the blanket once across its length and place it upon the bed sack as folded so that the ends cover one-half of the bed sack, and place the folded ends of the bed sack over the blanket. Spread the overcoat smoothly on the ground open, lining up; spread out the cape smoothly in a semi-circle, the arms stretched out to the right and left to their full extent. Place the flannel shirt and canvas trousers upon the overcoat, folding them so that they are equally distributed along the arms of the overcoat; commencing with the cape, roll the overcoat tightly until the tails are reached, rolling the other articles inside the overcoat. Place the overcoat as thus rolled upon the edge of the blanket farthest from the bed sack and roll the overcoat tightly in the blanket. Continue to roll the blanket in the bed sack, pulling the folded edge of the bed sack over the completed roll and tying the roll with the cords attached to the ends of the bed sack. Tie the cords in a square knot so that as much as possible of the long ends is left free. Fold the poncho lengthwise so that it will be, when folded, 4 inches wide and as long as the length of the poncho and place it along the roll underneath the end cords and then tie the middle cord. Bring the ends of the roll together so that the poncho and the edge of the bed sack are outside and tie the free ends of the two end cords together adjusting the length of the cords to suit the wearer. The wearer slings the completed roll from his left shoulder to his right hip so that the edge of the bed sack is away from the neck.

When the troops are provided with shelter half the roll will be made in accordance with D. R. 486.

All such exempted persons, except those enumerated in subdivision seven, shall be liable to military duty in case of war, insurrection, invasion or imminent danger thereof.

§ 2. Enrollment.—Whenever the governor shall deem it necessary, he may order an enrollment to be made by officers designated by him, of all persons liable to service in the militia. Such enrollment shall state the name, residence, age and occupation of the persons enrolled, and their previous or existing military or naval service. Three copies thereof shall be made; one shall be retained by the enrolling officer, one filed in the office of the town or city clerk in which the enrolled persons reside, one in the office of the clerk of the county in which the enrollment is made, and the original in the office of the adjutant-general of the state. If the governor so direct, such enrollment shall show separately all the sea-faring men of whatever calling or occupation; all men engaged in the navigation of the rivers, lakes and other waters of the state, or in the construction and management of ships and crafts, together with ship owners and their employees, yacht owners, members of yacht clubs and all other associations for aquatic pursuits.

§ 3. Notice of enrollment; exemption claims.—The officer making the enrollment shall, at the time of making the same, serve a notice of such enrollment upon each person enrolled, by delivering such notice to him or leaving it with some person of suitable age and discretion, at his place of residence. All persons claiming exemption must, within fifteen days after receiving such notice, file a written statement of such exemption, verified by affidavit, in the office of the county clerk. Such clerk shall thereupon, if such person be exempted according to law, mark the word exempt opposite his name; and the remainder of all thus enrolled, and not thus found to be exempt, shall constitute the militia of the state, and such clerk shall transmit a copy of such corrected roll to the adjutant-general of the state. The commanding officer of each organization in the national guard or the naval militia and the heads of the fire and police departments in each city or town shall, whenever an enrollment is ordered, file in the office of such county clerk a certified list of the names of all persons in his command or department.

§ 4. Examination of assessment-rolls and poll-lists.—The assessors in each city, village, town or ward, in this state shall allow persons appointed to make such enrollment, at all proper times, to examine their assessment-rolls and take copies thereof, and the clerks of all counties, towns and cities, shall in like manner, at all proper times, allow such persons to examine and copy the poll-lists on file in their offices. All persons shall, upon the application of any person making such enrollment, give the name of and all other proper information concerning any person within their knowledge liable to be enrolled, under penalty of ten dollars for every concealment or false information, or refusal to give the information requested, to be recovered in the name of the people in any court, with costs. The officer making the enrollment shall, within ten days, report all persons who shall fail or neglect to give information to the adjutant-general of the state.

§ 5. Designation and division of the militia.—The militia of the state shall be divided into two parts; the active and the reserve militia; the active militia shall consist of the organized and uniformed military forces known as the national guard, and of the organized and uniformed naval forces known as the naval militia; the reserve militia shall consist of all those liable to service in the militia, but not serving in the national guard or in the naval militia of the state.

§ 6. Commander-in-chief.—The governor of the state, by virtue of his office, shall be the commander-in-chief of the militia of the state, except of such portions as may be at times in the service of the United States. When unable to perform his duties as such, except in cases when the lieutenant-governor or president of the senate, or the speaker of the assembly, under the laws of the state would perform them, the major-general shall command the militia of the state. But when the governor shall, with the consent of the legislature, be out of the state, in time of war, at the head of a military force thereof, he shall continue commander-in-chief of all the military force of the state.

§ 7. Staff of the governor.—The staff of the governor shall consist of the adjutant-general of the state, one military secretary of the rank of major, whose title shall be "military secretary"* to the governor, who shall be appointed by the governor and hold office during his pleasure, and whose term of office shall expire with the term of office of the governor appointing him, and not more than sixteen aides to be appointed by the governor from the commissioned officers of the active militia in active service, and their appointment shall operate as a commission as aid-de-camp but shall not add to the actual grade of the officers so appointed. Officers so detailed shall not be relieved from their ordinary duties, except when actually on duty with the governor. The pay, traveling expenses and subsistence of the military secretary shall be defrayed from the appropriation made by the legislature for the executive department.

§ 8. Power of the governor in case of invasion.—The governor shall have power, in case of insurrection, invasion, tumult, riot or breach of the peace, or imminent danger thereof, to order into the active service of the state any part of the militia that he may deem proper. When the militia of this state or a part thereof is called forth under the constitution and laws of the United States, the governor shall order out for service the active militia or such part thereof as may be necessary, and if the number available be insufficient he shall order out the remainder of the militia or such part as may be necessary. During the absence of organizations in the service of the United States their state designations shall not be given to new organizations.

§ 9. Drafts or volunteers from the militia.—Whenever it shall be necessary to call out any portion of the reserve militia for active duty, the governor shall direct his order to the mayor of any city or the supervisor of any town, who, upon the receipt of the same shall forthwith proceed to draft as many of the reserve militia in his city or town, or accept as many volunteers as are required by the governor, and shall forthwith forward to the governor a list of the persons so drafted or accepted as volunteers.

§ 10. Punishment for failure to appear.—Every member of the militia ordered out, or who volunteers or is drafted under the provisions of this article, who does not appear at the time and place designated by his commanding officer, the mayor or supervisor, within twenty-four hours from such time, or who does not produce a sworn certificate of physical disability, from a physician in good standing, to so appear, shall be taken to be a deserter and dealt with as prescribed in the articles of war of the United States.

§ 11. Organization of reserve militia when ordered out.—The portion of the reserve militia so accepted, shall be immediately mustered into the service of the state for one year, or such less period as the governor may direct, and shall be organized into troops, batteries, companies or naval divisions, which may be arranged in squadrons, battalions or regiments, or assigned to organizations of the active militia already existing. The governor is authorized to appoint the officers necessary to commence or complete any organization thus created. Such new organization shall be equipped, disciplined and governed according to this chapter and the military and naval regulations of the state.

§ 12. Proclamation of state of insurrection.—Whenever any portion of the militia is employed in aid of the civil authority, the governor, if in his judgment the maintenance of law and order will thereby be promoted, may by proclamation declare the county or city in which the troops are serving or any specified portion thereof, to be in a state of insurrection.

§ 13. When articles of war of the United States to be in force.—Whenever any portion of the militia shall be on duty under or pursuant to the orders of the governor; or shall be on duty or ordered to assemble for duty in time of war, insurrection, invasion, public danger, or to aid the civil authorities on account of any breach of the peace, tumult, riot, resistance to process of this state, or imminent danger thereof, or for any other cause, the articles of war governing the army of the United States, the articles for the government of the United States navy, and the regulations prescribed for the army and navy of the United States, so far as such regulations are consistent with this chapter and the regulations issued thereunder, shall be in force and regarded as a part of this chapter until said forces shall duly be relieved from such duty.

As to offenses committed when such articles of war are so in force, courts-martial shall possess, in addition to the jurisdiction and power of sentence and punishment herein vested in them, all additional jurisdiction and power of sentence and punishment exercisable by like courts under such articles of war or the regulations or laws governing the United States army and navy or the customs and usages thereof, but no punishment under such rules and articles which shall extend to the taking of life shall, in any case, be inflicted except in time of actual war, invasion, or insurrection, declared by proclamation of the governor to exist, and then only after the approval by the governor of the sentence inflicting such punishment. Imprisonment other than in guard house shall be executed in jails or prisons designated by the governor for the purpose.

§ 14. Relief from civil or criminal liability; security for costs.—Members of the militia ordered into the active service of the state by any proper authority, shall not be liable civilly or criminally, for any act or acts done by them while on duty. When an action or proceeding of any nature shall be commenced in any court by any person against any officer of the militia for any act done by such officer in his official capacity in the discharge of any duty under this chapter, or an alleged omission by him to do an act which it was his duty to perform, or against any person acting under the authority or order of any such officer, or by virtue of any warrant issued by him pursuant to law, the defendant may require the person instituting or prosecuting the action or proceeding, to file security for the payment of costs that may be awarded to the defendant therein, and the defendant in all cases may make a general denial and give the special matter in evidence. A defendant, in whose favor a final judgment is rendered in an action or a final order is made in a special proceeding, shall recover treble costs.

The governor may direct upon such appeal, an officer to take testimony in the case, and to report his findings, and such officer shall have the same power to take evidence, administer oaths, issue subpoenas and compel witnesses to attend and testify, and produce books and papers and punish their failure to do so, as is possessed by a general court-martial.

§ 78. Oath of office.—Every officer duly commissioned shall, within ten days after his commission is tendered to him, or within ten days after he shall have been notified personally or by mail that the same is held in readiness for him by a superior officer, take and subscribe the constitutional oath of office. Such oath shall be taken and subscribed before an officer authorized by law to administer an oath or some general or field officer or an officer who shall hold the assimilated grade of a field officer, who has taken the oath himself and who is hereby authorized to administer the same. In case of neglect or refusal to take and subscribe such oath within the time mentioned, such commission shall be cancelled by the governor and a new appointment shall be made or a new election shall be ordered to fill the vacancy.

§ 79. Brevet commissions.—The governor may, upon the recommendation of their commanding officers, confer brevet commissions of a grade next higher than the ordinary brevet commissions ever held by them, upon officers of the national guard and of the naval militia in active service for gallant conduct or meritorious service of not less than twenty-five years. He may also confer upon officers in active service in the active militia, who have previously served therein in a higher grade, or who have previously served in the forces of the United States in time of war, brevet commissions of a grade equal to the highest grade in which they previously served. Such commissions shall carry with them only such privileges or rights as are allowed in like cases in the military and naval service of the United States.

§ 80. Supernumerary and retired officers.—Commissioned officers who shall be rendered surplus by reduction or disbandment of organizations or in any manner provided by this chapter now or hereafter, shall be withdrawn from active service and placed upon the supernumerary list. The governor may, upon the recommendation of the major-general or the commanding officer of the naval militia, respectively, detail supernumerary or retired officers for active duty, in which case they shall rank in their grade from the date of such detail, and he may relieve them from such duty and return them to their respective supernumerary or retired list at his discretion.

Any officer rendered supernumerary by the operation of this chapter or by any change or organization made in pursuance thereof shall, if appointed within six months after being rendered supernumerary to an office of the same or a lower rank or grade, be recommissioned without examination with the same date of rank held by him at the time he was so rendered supernumerary. Upon his own request an officer may be rendered supernumerary for the purpose of accepting a detail as an aid.

§ 81. Resignations.—A commissioned officer tendering his resignation before having served five years, if the governor accept it, shall receive an honorable discharge; if he has served five years or more, he shall receive a full and honorable discharge; provided he shall not be under arrest or returned to a military court for any deficiency, or delinquency, and provided further he be not indebted to the state in any manner, and that all his accounts for money or for public property be correct. In computing the time served, service as an enlisted man shall be allowed, and the service is not required to be continuous. If the governor accept the resignation of an officer, who at the time shall be under arrest, under charges or returned to a military court for any offense, deficiency or delinquency, such officer shall then cease to be an officer of the militia, and shall receive a discharge in such form as the governor shall direct, nor shall he be again eligible to receive a commission unless he first re-enlist, as provided in this chapter in the case of enlisted men dishonorably discharged, and until he shall have performed at least seventy per centum of duty in each year under such enlistment for two successive years.

§ 82. Retirement and discharge.—Any officer of the active militia who has reached the age of sixty-four years may be placed upon the retired list by the governor. Any commissioned officer who shall have served in the same grade for the continuous period of ten years, or in the military or naval service of the state as a commissioned officer for fifteen years, or in case of an officer of the naval militia retiring such service may have been in the naval service of the state and the United States combined for fifteen years, provided at least ten years of such service shall have been in the state, may, upon his own request, be placed upon the retired list and withdrawn from active service and command by the governor. Any commissioned officer who has become or shall hereafter become disabled, and thereby incapable of performing the duties of his office, shall be withdrawn from active service and command and placed on the retired list. Any commissioned officer who has become, or who shall hereafter become unfit or incompetent, and thereby incapable of performing the duties of his office, shall be discharged upon the recommendation of his commanding officer or the recommendation of an inspecting officer. Such retirement or discharge shall be by order of the governor, and, in either case, shall be subject to the provisions of this section. Before making such order, a board of not less than five commissioned officers, one of whom shall be a surgeon, shall be appointed, whose duty it shall be to determine the facts as to the nature and cause of incapacity of such officer as appears disabled or unfit, or incompetent, from any cause, to perform military service, and whose case shall be referred to it. No officer, whose grade or promotion would be affected by the decision of such board, in any case that may come before it, shall participate in the examination or decision of the board in such case. Such board is hereby invested with the powers of courts of inquiry and courts martial, and whenever it finds an officer incapacitated for active service, shall report such fact to the governor, stating cause of incapacity, whether from disability, unfitness, or incompetency, and if he approves such finding, such officer shall be placed on the retired list or discharged, as provided in this article. The members of the board shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, be sworn to an honest and impartial performance of their duties as members of such board. No officer shall be placed upon the retired list or discharged by the action of such board, without having had a fair and full hearing before the board, if upon due notice he shall demand it. It shall not be necessary to refer any case for the action of such board arising under this section, unless the officer designated to be placed upon the retired list or discharged, shall within twenty days after being notified that he will be so retired or discharged, serve on the adjutant-general of the state a notice in writing that he demands a hearing and examination before such board. Boards for the national guard shall be appointed by the governor for officers above the grade of colonel, and by the major-general for officers below the grade of brigadier-general; boards for the naval militia shall be appointed by the governor, and shall be composed of officers of such grade or rank as he may determine. The governor may withdraw from active service and command and place upon the retired list any officer who has been twenty-five years in the active service of the national guard, on the recommendation of the commanding officer of his organization, the commanding officer of the brigade, and the major-general, and in the case of officers of the corps of engineers and the coast artillery corps and officers of staff corps and departments, upon the recommendation of the major-general. Vacancies created by the operation of this section shall be filled in the same manner as other vacancies.

§ 83. Examination and discharge of officer.—The governor may, whenever he may deem that the good of the service requires it, order any commissioned officers before a board of examination, to consist of not less than three nor more than five general or field officers, which is hereby invested with the powers of courts of inquiry and courts martial, and such board shall examine into the moral character, capacity and general fitness for the service, of such commissioned officer, and record and return the testimony taken and a record of its proceedings. If the findings of such board be unfavorable to such officer and be approved by the governor, he shall be discharged from the service. No officer whose grade or promotion would in any way be affected by the decision of such board, in any case that may come before it, shall participate in the examination or decision of the board in such case. Failure to appear when ordered before a board constituted under this section, shall be sufficient ground for a finding by such board that the officer ordered to appear be discharged. An officer discharged under the provision of this section shall not be eligible for election or appointment as a commissioned officer in the militia, unless he first reenlists as provided in the case of enlisted men dishonorably discharged, and until he shall have performed at least eighty per centum of duty in each year after such enlistment for three successive years.

§ 84. Dismissal.—An officer who shall have been absent without leave for a period of six months or more shall be dismissed by the governor.

§ 85. Removal.—A commissioned officer cannot be removed from office without his consent, except by the senate upon the recommendation of the governor, the sentence of a general court-martial, or as provided in this chapter.

If it appear to the governor that the power of the county be not sufficient to enable the sheriff to preserve the peace and protect the lives and property of the peaceful residents of this county, or to overcome the resistance to process of this state, the governor must, on the application of the sheriff, order out such military force from any other county or counties, as is necessary.

When an armed force is called out for the purpose of suppressing an unlawful or riotous assembly, it must obey the orders in relation thereto of the civil officer calling it out, and render the required aid. The orders of the civil officer may extend to a direction of the general or specific object to be accomplished and the duration of service by the active militia, but the tactical direction of the troops, the kind and extent of force to be used and the particular means to be employed to accomplish the object specified by the civil officers are left solely to the officers of the active militia.

The president of each court shall, from time to time, report to the officer ordering the court, the names of all such delinquent witnesses, together with the name and place of residence of the person serving such subpoena, and a judge-advocate may sue for and recover such penalties in the name of the people. The keepers and wardens of all city or county jails shall receive the bodies of persons committed by the process or mandate of a military court and confine them in the manner and according to law. Except as otherwise specifically provided in this chapter no fees or charges of any nature shall be demanded or required to be paid by the state or any military court or member thereof or person executing its mandate or process by any public officer for receiving, executing or returning any such process or mandate or for any service in connection therewith, or for receiving or confining a person in jail or custody thereunder.

the major-general for organizations or corps attached to the division, by the commanding officer of a brigade for an organization attached to such brigade, by the commanding officer of the naval militia for organizations of the naval militia as the case may be and by the adjutant-general of the state.

§ 220. Pensions.—Every member of the militia who shall be wounded or disabled while in the service of the state, in cases of riot, tumult, breach of the peace, resistance to process, invasion, insurrection, or imminent danger thereof, or whenever called upon in aid of the civil authorities, shall be taken care of and provided for at the expense of the state, and every such member who shall be wounded or disabled or has been so disabled in the performance of any actual service of this state within ten years preceding the application for a pension under this act in case of riots, tumults, breach of the peace, resistance to process, invasion, insurrection or imminent danger thereof, or whenever called upon in aid of the civil authorities, or while engaged in any lawfully ordered parade, drill, encampment or inspection, shall, upon proof of the fact, as hereinafter provided, be placed on the roll of invalid pensioners of the state, and shall receive, out of any moneys in the treasury of the state, not otherwise appropriated, upon the audit of the adjutant-general of the state and approval of the governor, the like pension or reward that persons under similar circumstances receive from the United States, and in case of any wound, injury or disease causing death, then the widow or minor children of such member of the militia shall receive such pension and reward, from the time of receiving the injuries on account of which such pension or reward is allowed. No officer or enlisted man shall be entitled, while in active service, to make application for or to receive a pension.

§ 221. Proof required; striking from roll.—Before the name of any person is placed upon the roll under this article, proof shall be made under such regulations as the adjutant-general of the state may from time to time prescribe, that the applicant is entitled to such pension. The adjutant-general of the state, with the approval of the governor, shall cause to be stricken from the pension-roll the name of any person, whenever it appears by satisfactory proof that such name was put upon such roll through false or fraudulent representations. The adjutant-general of the state, with the approval of the governor, may increase or reduce, or withdraw any pension, according to the right and justice and the practice in the United States pension office.

§ 222. Pension examiners and examining boards.—The adjutant-general of the state is authorized to appoint pension examiners, whose duty it shall be to inquire into the merits of any claim for pay and care and pension, whether pending or adjudicated, and any person so appointed shall have power to administer oaths, to orally examine witnesses, to issue subpoenas, and to take affidavits and depositions in the course of such examinations. The adjutant-general of the state shall further appoint examining boards, consisting of not more than three medical officers of the national guard or naval militia, who shall under his direction make such examination of claimants as he shall require, and certify the result in such form as he shall prescribe, and any person adversely affected by the report of one medical officer shall be entitled to an examination upon his request before a board consisting of three medical officers.

§ 223. Pay and care when injured or disabled in service.—A member of the national guard or naval militia who shall, when on duty or assembled therefor, in case of riot, tumult, breach of peace, insurrection or invasion, or whenever ordered by the governor, the major-general, or the commanding officer of the naval militia, or called in aid of the civil authorities, receives any injury, or incur or contract any disability or disease, by reason of such duty or assembly therefor, or who shall without fault or neglect on his part be wounded or disabled while performing any lawfully ordered duty, which shall temporarily incapacitate him from pursuing his usual business or occupation, shall, during the period of such incapacity, receive the pay provided by this chapter and actual necessary expenses for care and medical attendance. No claim shall be allowed under this section unless the claimant within thirty days after receiving the injury or contracting the disease or disability upon which the claim is made, notifies in writing the adjutant-general of the state of his intention to make such claim. Where a claim is made under this section the adjutant-general of the state may cause examinations of the claimant to be made from time to time by a medical officer or officers designated for the purpose by the adjutant-general of the state, and he may direct the removal of a claimant to, and his treatment in, an hospital designated by the adjutant-general of the state, and if the claimant refuse to permit any such examination or if he refuse to go to such hospital or to follow the advice given or treatment prescribed for him therein, he shall thereby forfeit and be barred from all right to any claim or allowance under this section. Under this chapter no disability shall be considered temporary which continues for more than ninety days from the date of receiving the injury or of incurring or contracting the disease or disability, and pay and expenses for care and medical attendance for more than the said ninety days shall not be allowed. All claims arising under this section shall be inquired into by a medical examiner or by a board of three officers, at least one being a medical officer, to be appointed by the adjutant-general of the state, upon the application of the member claiming to be so incapacitated. Such medical examiner or board shall have the same power to take evidence, administer oaths, issue subpoenas and compel witnesses to attend and testify and produce books and papers, and punish their failure to do so, as is possessed by a general court-martial. The findings of the medical examiner or board shall be subject to the approval of the adjutant-general of the state, who may return the proceedings of the medical examiner or board for revision and for taking further testimony. The amount found due such member by said medical examiner or board to the extent that the findings are approved by the adjutant-general of the state, shall be a charge against and be paid in the manner provided by this chapter, by the county in which such duty was rendered, in every case where a county is by this chapter made liable to pay for the performance of military duty. In all other cases such sums shall be paid by this state, in like manner as other military accounts are paid.

§ 224. Appeals and rehearing.—The adjutant-general of the state may disapprove the report of any medical examiner or board appointed under the provisions of this article, and determine the claim made upon the merits. He may upon the application of any claimant made within six months after the service of notice on such claimant, or his attorney, of the disapproval or disallowance of his claim or any part thereof, re-open said claim and order a rehearing before another medical examiner or board. A person making a claim under the provisions of this article may appeal to the adjutant-general of the state from the decision or finding of any medical examiner or board within six months after notice of such decision or finding shall be served on him or his attorney, and the adjutant-general of the state shall hear and determine such appeal on the merits and may take testimony in the same manner as upon an original application and may approve, disapprove or modify the findings and decision of any medical examiner or board.

§ 225. Reports of county treasurers; bonds for military funds; funds of disbanded organizations.—Each county treasurer shall report on the first day of March and September of each year, to the adjutant-general of the state, the amount of all moneys received and paid out by him on account of and the amount remaining in his hands to the credit of each military or naval organization, corps or artillery district. The bond now required by law to be given by county treasurers for the faithful discharge of their duties, shall be held to apply to any moneys that may come into their hands under the provisions of this chapter, but no fees or commissions on any such moneys shall be charged, received or retained by any county treasurer. The adjutant-general of the state is hereby authorized and empowered to draw, use and apply to the benefit of the national guard and naval militia any and all moneys and balances remaining in the hands of the several county treasurers of the state, to the credit of any military or naval organization, corps or artillery district which have* been disbanded, or to pay audited bills of disbanded military or naval organizations, corps, or artillery districts from such funds, or from unexpended national guard or naval militia appropriations where balances remain. The several county treasurers of this state are authorized and directed to pay to the adjutant-general of the state, upon his order, all moneys remaining in their hands to the credit of any disbanded military or naval organization, corps or artillery districts. The certificate of the adjutant-general of the state shall be sufficient evidence of the disbandment of any such military or naval organization, corps, or artillery district. The use or appropriation by a county treasurer of any money belonging to the military fund of a military or naval organization, corps or artillery district to any other use or purpose different from that authorized by this chapter, shall constitute the crime of larceny and be punished accordingly.

§ 226. Interest on military funds in the hands of the chamberlain of the city of New York or the several county treasurers of the state.—Any moneys which may have accrued, or which may hereafter accrue, and be on deposit with the chamberlain of the city of New York, or with the treasurer of any county, as interest upon moneys constituting the military funds of the state, or of military or naval organizations, corps or artillery districts located in the

148. Blank forms for discharge and final statements will be furnished by the Adjutant-General's Department, and will be retained in the personal custody of company commanders. Discharge certificates will be used in the discharge of enlisted men and for no other purpose, and will be of three classes: For honorable discharge, for discharge without honor, and for dishonorable discharge. They will be used as follows:

1. The blank for honorable discharge, when the soldier's service has been honest and faithful, in which case he would be entitled to character at least "good." Where the soldier's conduct has been such as to warrant his re-enlistment, his service has been honest and faithful and he is entitled to character at least "good."

2. The blank for discharge without honor, when a soldier is discharged —

(a) Without trial, on account of fraudulent enlistment.

(b) Without trial, on account of having become disqualified for service, physically or in character, through his own misconduct.

(c) On account of imprisonment under sentence of a civil court.

(d) Where the service has not been honest and faithful; that is, where the service does not warrant his re-enlistment.

(e) When discharge without honor is specially ordered by the Secretary of War for any other reason.

3. The blank for dishonorable discharge, for dishonorable discharge by sentence of a court-martial or military commission.

[1380447, A. G. O.]

III. Paragraphs 105, 787, 788, 902, and 928, Army Regulations, are amended to read as follows:

105. The commander of a tactical division or separate brigade may grant furloughs to enlisted men for two months; the commander of a tactical corps, territorial division, or department, for three months, or they may extend to such periods furloughs already granted. Chiefs of War Department bureaus may grant furloughs for three months to enlisted men of their respective corps or departments serving under the exclusive control of themselves or their subordinates or they may extend to that period furloughs already granted to such enlisted men. For a longer period than three months the authority of the War Department is necessary. Permission to delay may be granted to enlisted men traveling under orders as authorized for furloughs. The conditions under which furloughs to soldiers on re-enlistment are authorized will be announced from time to time in orders.

[1379601, A. G. O.]

787. Except as otherwise specially authorized or required by Army Regulations, all official communications from officers and enlisted men of the Army outside of the War Department intended for the Secretary of War or for any bureau or office of the War Department will be in writing and addressed to The Adjutant-General of the Army, who will submit all business, coming to him from the Army, which requires action in the War Department or by the President and which does not come within the jurisdiction of chiefs of bureaus, to the Chief of Staff, to be acted upon by him in conformity to the rules duly prescribed for that purpose by the President or the Secretary of War.

Correspondence of the War Department with the Army will be through or by The Adjutant-General of the Army.

[1379601, A. G. O.]

788. Communications, whether from a subordinate to a superior, or vice versa, will pass through intermediate commanders. This rule will not be interpreted as including matters in relation to which intermediate commanders can have no knowledge, and over which they are not expected to exercise control. Chiefs of War Department bureaus are intermediate commanders between higher authority and the officers and enlisted men of their respective corps or departments, who are serving under the exclusive control of themselves and their subordinates. Verbal communications will be governed by the same rules as to channels as written communications. When necessity requires communications to be sent through other than the prescribed channel, the necessity therefor will be stated.

Communications from superiors to subordinates will be answered through the same channel as received.

Official correspondence between the heads of the different departments of the staff of any command and its commander will pass through the Adjutant-General or Adjutant of the command. Communications to or from a commander and his subordinates will pass through the same channel.

[1379601, A. G. O.]

902. Reports of prescribed inspections of troops, stations, and accounts of disbursing officers under the authority of department or division commanders will be forwarded through military channels to The Adjutant-General of the Army and transmitted to the Inspector-General of the Army. In case irregularities, deficiencies, or misconduct are reported, a commander in forwarding a report will state what remedies he has applied or will apply to correct them, adding any recommendations that he may desire to make. All other reports of inspections will be forwarded directly to the Inspector-General of the Army, except when otherwise specially directed, and all inspection reports not confidential will be filed in his office. The Inspector-General will submit to the Chief of Staff all reports that contain matters requiring correction.

[1379601, A. G. O.]

928. The reports which the Judge Advocate General of the Army may render upon cases received by him, and which require the action of the President, will be transmitted to The Adjutant-General of the Army for record and for submission to the Chief of Staff for the consideration of the Secretary of War and the President. After final action is had by superior authority in such cases, all the papers will be returned to The Adjutant-General of the Army, who, before publishing the action taken, will refer the papers to the Judge Advocate General of the Army for further scrutiny.

[1379601, A. G. O.]

IV. Paragraph 789, Army Regulations, as amended by General Orders, No. 158, War Department, July 29, 1907, is further amended to read as follows:

789. Correspondence between an officer of a staff corps or department and the chief of the War Department bureau in which he is serving, which does not involve questions of administrative responsibility within the supervision of commanding officers outside that staff corps or department nor relate to individual interests or status of a military nature requiring the action of authority outside that staff corps or department, and which is concerned exclusively with the business of that staff corps or department, will pass directly. All business emanating from the bureaus of the War Department requiring the action of higher authority will be submitted to the Chief of Staff for his consideration, either orally in person, or in writing through The Adjutant-General of the Army. In all cases the action of higher authority thereon will be communicated in writing by The Adjutant-General of the Army to those concerned. Matters, however, of a purely civil nature will be submitted by chiefs of bureaus directly to the Secretary of War unless otherwise required by their subject matter.

[1379601, A. G. O.]

V. General Orders, No. 215, War Department, October 22, 1907, is rescinded.

BY ORDER OF THE ACTING SECRETARY OF WAR:

GENERAL ORDERS, }

I. General Orders, No. 101, War Department, May 4, 1907, and paragraph I, General Orders, No. 134, War Department, June 15, 1907, are rescinded.

II. The following instructions in regard to the allowances of small-arms ammunition which are authorized to be expended during the

1. The small-arms target year will begin on January 1 and end on December 31 of each year.

2. Annual allowance.—The annual allowance of small-arms ammunition and materials therefor for the instruction of engineer, cavalry, field artillery, coast artillery, infantry, and other troops will, until further orders, be fixed as specified herein.

(a) The total cost of the ammunition and other ordnance stores for small-arms target practice must be defrayed from the appropriation made annually by Congress for small-arms target practice. For any one year, therefore, the amount appropriated, the cost of the different stores, and the strength of the Army fix the allowance per man.

(b) The annual allowance of small-arms ammunition for target practice, preliminary instruction of the soldier, military exercises and hunting, for officers and enlisted men, during the calendar year 1908 will for convenience be computed on the basis of a monetary allowance; any ammunition or material therefor, except as noted hereinafter and enumerated in paragraph 8 of this order, may be obtained on requisition and expended, provided the total allowance shall not be exceeded during the year.

(c) Officers not on duty with troops and officers and enlisted men on detached service away from their organizations are not entitled to any of the allowances hereinafter authorized unless such officers and enlisted men shall be attached to organizations for the purpose of engaging in target practice and instruction under the orders of the several department and division commanders.

(e) The allowances hereinbefore authorized are intended to provide not only for the purposes stated in section (b) of this paragraph but also for gallery practice, monthly contests at posts, and the issue of twenty rounds a man authorized by General Orders, No. 44, War Department, March 1, 1906. The only additions to the foregoing allowances are those provided for in paragraphs 3 and 9 of this order.

(f) The Ordnance Department will furnish, upon requisition of the ordnance officers in charge of departmental, divisional, and army competitions and of the national match, the small-arms ammunition required, and upon requisition of the team captains, ammunition for use in selecting and training the members of the infantry and cavalry teams for the national match, not to exceed 60,000 rifle ball cartridges for each team and 500 revolver ball cartridges for each member of each team who participates in revolver practice.

(g) The allowances herein prescribed supercede those prescribed in the Small-Arms Firing Regulations.

3. Machine guns.—Thirty-five dollars will be allowed per annum for target practice instruction and drills with each Maxim automatic machine gun in the hands of troops, and, in addition, the monetary allowances prescribed in this order for the officer and enlisted men comprising the machine-gun detachment who have not expended any ammunition or materials therefor in the troop or the company to which they belong. Where such additional expenditures are made for the machine gun the name of the troop or company to which the officer belongs and the names of the several troops or companies and the number of enlisted men belonging to each, whose monetary allowances have been utilized for the machine-gun practice, will be stated on the certificate of expenditures, in order that the expenditures of the troops or companies from which the officers and enlisted men are detached may be properly audited. The savings in monetary allowances of the officer or enlisted men who have not fully expended such allowances in the organization to which they belong will not be available for machine-gun practice. For each such gun at the Mounted Service School and at the Army School of the Line, the Army Signal School, and the Army Staff College the allowance will be seventy dollars per annum.

4. Bench reloading tools will be furnished to post and camp ordnance officers on requisition.

5. Shotguns for hunting purposes will be issued only to troops stationed in Alaska.

6. Gallery practice.—Four gallery practice rifles, .22 caliber, and twenty-five holders have been furnished to each organization. Ammunition for these rifles will be furnished on requisition.

NOTE.—As all the prison guards at the various military posts designated for the confinement of general prisoners are furnished from regular organizations, except at the United States Military Prison, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and the Pacific Branch, United States Military Prison, Alcatraz Island, California, no additional allowance is prescribed for those organizations on account of such duty; but for the prison guards at the military prisons above named an annual monetary allowance of $11.50 is authorized for the entire guard for instruction in the use of the repeating shotgun.

7. Arms for prison guards.—For use in guarding prisoners confined at military posts the Springfield carbine, caliber .45, with the necessary supply of guard cartridges, will be issued upon requisition; but for the United States Military Prison, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and the Pacific Branch, United States Military Prison, Alcatraz Island, California, repeating shotguns are provided.

8. Troops stationed in Alaska.—None of the money or other allowances prescribed in this order will be used for procuring shotgun ammunition in excess of the following amounts:

For Signal Corps troops, 500 rounds for each telegraph station.

For other troops, 1,000 rounds for each company.

9. Empty cartridge cases.—Each troop, company, or other organization will be authorized to expend, in addition to the allowance contained in the table in paragraph 2, section (d), of this order, small-arms ammunition, or materials therefor, to the value of the empty cartridge cases transferred as prescribed hereinafter. The value of such cartridge cases is fixed at 12.7 cents a pound, which figure represents their average value as calculated for a period of ten years. The weights of cartridge cases a thousand are fixed in paragraph 10 of this order. The cases which may be turned in are limited to those pertaining to the ammunition which has been furnished by the Ordnance Department for the magazine rifles and carbines, and for the revolvers, calibers .38 and .45, in the hands of the Army or of the organized militia.

(a) On the completion of the target practice or other authorized occasion for the expenditure of ammunition, and at the conclusion of all competitions, including the practice of Army teams in preparation for the national match, the fired cartridge cases should be promptly turned over and invoiced by the commanding officer of the organization to the acting ordnance officer of the nearest post or camp, after carrying out the following instructions:

As soon as practicable after the completion of the firing, decap the cartridge cases and throw them into water. The cleaning will be much facilitated if this is done immediately after firing. Then thoroughly clean the interior of each case with a brush wiper or a piece of rag on the end of a wiping stick, dry, and pack loosely in empty ammunition boxes.

(b) Acting ordnance officers of posts and camps upon the accumulation of 300 pounds of empty cartridge cases will pack them in ammunition boxes and ship them by freight to the commanding officer of Frankford Arsenal, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, from whom they will receive receipts as authority for dropping these cartridge cases from their property returns, except that in the Philippines Division all empty cases will be invoiced and shipped to the commanding officer of the Manila Ordnance Depot, who will issue the proper receipts therefor. Organizations will save the zinc-lined wooden packing boxes in which the ammunition is received and will pack the empty cartridge cases in these boxes before turning them over to the ordnance officers of posts or camps. Care should be taken that the zinc lining of the boxes is not injured; the lining and zinc cover should be retained in the box when the empty cartridge cases are packed therein. Bandoleers which are to be turned in under the provisions of paragraph III, General Orders, No. 156, War Department, September 26, 1904, will not be packed in boxes containing empty cartridge cases.

(c) The adjutants-general of the various States and Territories and the commanding general of the District of Columbia militia will be permitted to turn in empty cartridge cases and will receive credit therefor to the extent provided for in this paragraph. The empty cartridge cases turned in by the various States and Territories or by the District of Columbia militia should be shipped by the adjutant-general of the State or Territory or by the commanding general of the District of Columbia militia directly to the commanding officer of the Frankford Arsenal, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

11. Accountability for the expenditure of material in target practice:

(a) The various quantities of the stores enumerated in the preceding paragraph which may be expended by any organization armed with the rifle or revolver depend upon its strength and the monetary allowance for the officers and enlisted men of the organization. In computing the total monetary allowance credit may be taken for the monetary allowance of each officer and enlisted man who participated in target practice and field exercises during the calendar year and for the value of fired cartridge cases turned over to the post or camp ordnance officer, provided the total expenditure under these allowances, except for officers and men attached by any organization in any one year shall not exceed the total monetary allowance corresponding to the authorized strength of that organization, plus the allowance arising on account of fired cartridge cases, even if greater numbers did so participate. Thus, if three officers and eighty enlisted men participated in target practice and field exercises, and the authorized strength was only three officers and fifty enlisted men, the allowance, exclusive of that arising on accounts of fired cartridge cases, would be based upon the total monetary allowance for three officers and fifty enlisted men.

Whenever an organization is equipped with machine guns or shot-guns the monetary allowances covering the expenditure of ammunition for machine-gun practice and hunting will be treated separately and the certificate of expenditures (Form No. 19, Ordnance Department) must show, separately, the expenditures under these allowances as distinct from the expenditures made on account of firing with the rifle or revolver.

(b) In order that the property accounts of officers may show that the quantities of small-arms ammunition expended by them are within the amounts authorized, the certificate of expenditures will give the number of officers and enlisted men who participated in target practice, and the stores so expended will be enumerated in detail, giving their cost prices and total values in such a way as to show that the total monetary allowance has not been exceeded. When small-arms ammunition is expended on account of practice with machine guns the serial number of each gun will also be stated on the certificate of expenditures. Ammunition expended in the selection and training of the members of the infantry and cavalry teams for the national match will be accounted for by the team captains.

The allowances of ammunition and the materials therefor for the Army School of the Line, the Army Signal School, and the Army Staff College, and for the Mounted Service School will be expended under the direction of the commandants of those schools, and the amounts so expended will be dropped from the property returns of the ordnance officers at the posts at which these schools are located. The certificates of expenditures will state the quantities of each kind of ammunition expended for these schools and their values.

(c) When officers of the staff corps or departments, or officers and enlisted men on detached service, are assigned to an organization for target practice the certificate of expenditures will give the names of the officers and enlisted men with their ranks and organizations so attached as authority for the additional expenditure.

(d) When ammunition is expended on account of fired cartridge cases turned over to the post or camp ordnance officer the receipt of this officer will be filed with the certificate of expenditures as authority for the additional expenditure. Receipts furnished by post or camp ordnance officers for fired cartridge cases will be accepted as authority for the expenditure of additional small-arms ammunition, or materials therefor. Where such cases were turned in prior to the receipt of this order, credit will be given therefor as provided herein.

(e) The expenditure of small-arms ammunition and materials therefor, by virtue of receipts furnished by post or camp ordnance officers for fired cartridge cases, will ordinarily be made in the calendar year in which the fired cartridge cases were receipted for. If it is impracticable to make such expenditures within the year these receipts may be utilized in the next calendar year only as a basis for the expenditure of the additional small-arms ammunition or materials therefor in accordance with the allowances for the latter year.

(f) When small-arms ammunition is furnished by the Ordnance Department for departmental, divisional, and Army competitions and for the national match, its distribution will be under the direction of the ordnance officers of these competitions and of the national match, and the amounts actually expended will be dropped on the property returns of such ordnance officers, and all surplus ammunition that may have been issued by them will be returned to the Ordnance Department on completion of the competition or match.

(g) The provisions of this order in regard to the expenditures of ammunition does not authorize accountable officers to drop from their property returns any small-arms ammunition, or materials therefor, that was not actually fired.

(h) The expenditure of small-arms ammunition, and materials therefor, for target practice, preliminary instruction of the soldier, military exercises, and hunting will only be made to the extent of the allowances and in the manner prescribed in this order.

(i) When ammunition is reloaded at posts for target practice no entry will be made on the property returns of the reloaded ammunition, the report of the expenditure of the materials used being sufficient.

12. The object in giving a monetary allowance to each organization instead of prescribing the number of rounds of each kind of ammunition that may be expended is to allow discretion to officers controlling the expenditure of the ammunition in regard to the quantities of each kind that may be expended, the only limitation being that the amount expended must not exceed the allowances herein prescribed.

13. All orders or circulars heretofore issued on the subject in conflict with this order are hereby rescinded, but nothing in this order will be construed as modifying the regular courses of practice prescribed, or that may be prescribed hereafter by proper authority.

Prairie, H; Castide, Q; Yankee, F, when operating with the Naval Militia.

The following memoranda of exercises are issued for the Naval Militia and all concerned:

(a) BOAT EXERCISES.

In port.—On signal from "F" boats from all ships, or ships designated, will lower boats for exercise under oars till exercises under sail are ordered, or until the "recall" is hoisted. Boats on return to their ships will be kept down and all hoisted on signal from F at sundown.

Hoisting boats.—At the preparatory signal to hoist boats, just before sundown, all boats will be hauled to their davits and hooked on, and at "colors" will be hoisted together on signal from F.

Lifeboat in port.—On hauling down the signal "man overboard" the lifeboat will be lowered and pulled around the ship and hoisted as quickly as possible. Time will be taken from the time the signal is hauled down until the boats are hoisted and all men are out of the boat and on deck.

Lifeboat at sea.—If the ships are in formation in column when the signal "man overboard" is hauled down all ships will stop and sheer out of column, the second in column sheering to port with a starboard helm, the third in column sheering to starboard with a port helm, etc. Life buoys will be let go as soon as the column has been cleared. The lifeboats will be lowered and pulled around the ship and hoisted as quickly as possible. Time will be taken from the instant of hauling down the signal to the time all boats are hoisted. As soon as the exercise is completed each ship will hoist the affirmative pennant, except the flagship.

Boat inspection.—When signal is made "send boats to F for inspection," each ship will lower and equip all boats and send them as a group to F for inspection. This signal may be varied to include "away armed boats, or boats for distant service, or landing parties." Previous notice may or may not be given.

Signaling.—Signaling may be ordered by F as "signaling exercise." During this exercise each signal hoisted will be repeated by all ships. There will be umpires to observe which ship gets its hoist to the yard-arm first, and that ship which gets the greatest number of "firsts" will be considered as having been best at the exercise. If F directs a particular ship to conduct a signal exercise of a given number of hoists, all ships will repeat each hoist as above described, and the ship getting the greatest number of "firsts" will be judged best.

Scouting.—All ships will be assigned a certain field to cover in guarding the harbor against torpedo attack. On signal, ships will proceed to their stations, the torpedo flotilla being absent to make the attack, between the hours designated. The manner of maneuvering inside his own field will be left to each commanding officer, except that all lights must be extinguished, and no searchlight turned on till the torpedo boat is sighted. When the approaching torpedo boat is sighted, the ship making the discovery will throw her searchlight on the torpedo boat and hold it there for a minute and then throw the beam to an angle of 45 degrees in the air directly above the torpedo boat, at the same time turning on two red lights with her night signal set. The torpedo boat will stop and show two red lights. It is not material at what distance the torpedo boat is discovered, the object of the line of scouts being to make the discovery and send warning to F representing a fleet of battleships in the harbor. If two torpedo boats evade the line of scouts and get inside, the attack will be considered as successful and the defense as a failure.

Target practice.—It is proposed to hold target practice with modern high power guns of 3-inch caliber, equipped with latest sights, etc., on a plan analogous to that held in the U. S. Navy. The number of gun pointers allowed will be one for each fifty of the enrolled registration of each organization. The practice will be preliminary practice as outlined in Gunnery Instructions, 1905, page 216, et seq. The number of rounds allowed will be six for each pointer. The target will be Navy regulation. As all gun pointers will fire from the same type of gun, from same gun platform, the competition will be perfectly fair, and the results will show relative efficiency. It is hoped that this season's work will lead to further work in a more advanced direction.

Compass work.—All ships will be sent out at first opportunity to swing ship for compass errors and deviation table, a copy of which will be sent to F at once.

Torpedo practice.—Torpedo boats, and possibly submarines, will be present during the exercises, and it is expected an opportunity will be given such of the Naval Militia as desire it to witness the firing of torpedoes and the handling of the boats. It is evident that in the short time allowed for the exercises no attempt can be made to instruct in the above, and the opportunities above referred to will only be for observation and general information.

The above is a general outline of what it is hoped to carry out. It remains with the Naval Militia to show to what extent they can co-operate. The program may be somewhat interrupted by the weather.

1. Upon sighting a man-of-war, or another vessel of the Naval Militia, make ship's number, or show distinguishing pennant when of the same fleet.

2. Never pass a senior without asking for "permission to proceed on duty assigned."

3. Never anchor in the presence of a senior without having first made signal and requested "permission to anchor."

4. Never get under way in the presence of a senior without having made signal and requested "permission to get under way."

5. Never spread or bank fires or disable engines for repairs without getting permission so to do from the senior officer present.

6. In the above cases 3, 4, and 5, if the senior officer present has made signal for the maneuver it is to be obeyed on hauling down of the signal of execution.

SPEED.

Standard speed: The speed of the fleet as ordered by the commander-in-chief.

Full speed: A speed one-quarter greater than the standard.

Half speed: A speed one-quarter less than the standard.

Slow speed: A speed one-half less than the standard.

Reserve speed: The highest speed that each ship can make for a short time with boiler power in use.

Steerageway: The slowest speed at which a ship will steer.

NOTE.—Whenever a new speed in knots is ordered by the commander-in-chief, that speed at once becomes the standard, and other relative rates of speed (half speed, slow speed, etc.) change with it. A signal to steam at “slow,” “half,” “full,” or “reserve” speed does not change the standard, however, and these changes in speed will therefore be shown by the “speed indicators” both day and night.

MAN OVERBOARD.

If by night, in case of a man overboard when under way and in formation, the ship will make a steady display of “Z” and fire a signal gun. All the ships astern of the one having the man overboard will also fire a gun and make the same display of “Z,” and will change course, if in column formation, one point (unless in narrow waters), even numbered ships to port, odd numbered ships to starboard, and will stop. It will be the duty of the next two ships astern to lower their lifeboats and assist in the search. When the man has been picked up or the search abandoned the “affirmative” will be displayed by each ship whose boats have been lowered (except the flagship of the commander-in-chief) to show when she is ready for steaming ahead. If the ships are in any other than a column formation they will stop at once upon the signal being made.

If by day, the breakdown flag (N) will be broken and immediately half-masted, but not below the level of the top of the smokestacks, and ships will maneuver thereafter the same as at night.

GETTING UNDER WAY.

NOTE.—Upon signal being made to get under way the “affirmative” shall be hoisted at the fore, half-topmast high, by each ship when hove short and be mastheaded when the anchor is aweigh. It shall be hauled down as soon as the ship is ready to take and hold position in formation.

At night, when getting under way, the “affirmative” (pulsating the upper light) shall be displayed when the anchor is hove short, and so displayed until the ship is ready to take and hold position in formation, when it will be turned off.

The flagship of the commander-in-chief, or senior officer present, will not display the affirmative when getting under way.

ANCHORING.

The affirmative will be displayed, except by the flagship, when the mooring swivel is on and the chains secured.

Should the preparatory signal be made to “anchor in berths previously assigned” or to “anchor in berths previously occupied,” each ship is to go to her berth when the signal is hauled down and anchor independently.

In case a ship arrives at night and is assigned a berth relative to one of the ships at anchor, the latter should be directed to display her forward white truck light until the former anchors. In case the ship designated has guard duty, the red guard light will be temporarily turned off.

SEC. 11. That when the militia is called into the actual service of the United States, or any portion of the militia is called forth under the provisions of this Act, their pay shall commence from the day of their appearing at the place of company rendezvous, but this provision shall not be construed to authorize any species of expenditure previous to arriving at such places of rendezvous which is not provided by existing laws to be paid after their arrival at such places of rendezvous.

SEC. 12. That there shall be appointed in each State, Territory, and District of Columbia, an adjutant-general, who shall perform such duties as may be prescribed by the laws of such State, Territory, and District, respectively, and make returns to the Secretary of War, at such times and in such form as he shall from time to time prescribe of the strength of the organized militia, and also make such reports as may from time to time be required by the Secretary of War. That the Secretary of War shall, with his annual report of each year, transmit to Congress an abstract of the returns and reports of the adjutants-general of the States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, with such observations thereon as he may deem necessary for the information of Congress.

States property so replaced or condemned. When the organized militia is uniformed as above required, the Secretary of War is authorized to fix an annual clothing allowance to each State, Territory, and the District of Columbia for each enlisted man of the organized militia thereof, and thereafter issues of clothing to such States, Territories, and the District of Columbia shall be in accordance with such allowance, and the governors of the States and Territories and the commanding general of the militia of the District of Columbia shall be authorized to drop from their returns each year as expended clothing corresponding in value to such allowance. The Secretary of War is hereby further authorized to issue from time to time to the organized militia, under such regulations as he may prescribe, small arms and artillery ammunition upon the requisition of the governor, in the proportion of fifty per centum of the corresponding Regular Army allowance, without charge to the State's allotment from the appropriation under section sixteen hundred and sixty-one, Revised Statutes, as amended. To provide means to carry into effect the provisions of this section, the necessary money to cover the cost of procuring, exchanging, or issuing of arms, accouterments, equipments, uniforms, clothing, equipage, ammunition, and military stores to be exchanged or issued hereunder is hereby appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated: Provided, That the sum expended in the execution of the purchases and issues provided for in this section shall not exceed the sum of two million dollars in any fiscal year: Provided also, That the Secretary of War shall annually submit to Congress a report of expenditures made by him in the execution of the requirements of this section.

SEC. 14. That whenever it shall appear by the report of inspections, which it shall be the duty of the Secretary of War to cause to be made at least once in each year by officers detailed by him for that purpose, that the organized militia of a State or Territory or of the District of Columbia is sufficiently armed, uniformed, and equipped for active duty in the field, the Secretary of War is authorized, on the requisition of the governor of such State or Territory, to pay to the quartermaster-general thereof, or to such other officer of the militia of said State as the said governor may designate and appoint for the purpose, so much of its allotment out of the said annual appropriation under section sixteen hundred and sixty-one of the Revised Statutes as amended as shall be necessary for the payment, subsistence, and transportation of such portion of said organized militia as shall engage in actual field or camp service for instruction, and the officers and enlisted men of such militia while so engaged shall be entitled to the same pay, subsistence, and transportation or travel allowances as officers and enlisted men of corresponding grades of the Regular Army are or may hereafter be entitled by law, and the officer so designated and appointed shall be regarded as a disbursing officer of the United States, and shall render his accounts through the War Department to the proper accounting officers of the Treasury for settlement, and he shall be required to give good and sufficient bonds to the United States, in such sums as the Secretary of War may direct, faithfully to account for the safe-keeping and payment of the public moneys so intrusted to him for disbursement.

SEC. 15. That the Secretary of War is authorized to provide for participation by any part of the organized militia of any State or Territory on the request of the governor thereof in the enactment, maneuvers, and field instruction of any part of the Regular Army at or near any military post or camp or lake or seacoast defenses of the United States. In such case the organized militia so participating shall receive the same pay, subsistence, and transportation as is provided by law for the officers and men of the Regular Army, and no part of the sums appropriated for the support of the Regular Army shall be used to pay any part of the expenses of the organized militia of any State, Territory, or District of Columbia, while engaged in joint encampments, maneuvers, and field instruction of the Regular Army and militia, but all payments to the militia under the provisions of this section and all allowances for mileage shall be made solely from the sums appropriated for such purposes: Provided, That the command of such military post or camp and the officers and troops of the United States there stationed shall remain with the regular commander of the post without regard to the rank of the commanding or other officers of the militia temporarily so encamped within its limits or in its vicinity: Provided further, That except as herein specified the right to command during such joint encampments, maneuvers, and field instruction shall be governed by the rules set out in articles one hundred and twenty-two and one hundred and twenty-four of the rules and articles for the government of the armies of the United States. The sums appropriated for the organized militia for such joint encampment, maneuvers, and field instruction shall be disbursed as, and for that purpose shall constitute, one fund; and the Secretary of War shall forward to Congress, at each session next after said encampment, a detailed statement of the expenses of such encampments and maneuvers.

SEC. 16. That whenever any officer or enlisted man of the organized militia shall upon the recommendation of the governor of any State, Territory, or the commanding general of the District of Columbia militia, and when authorized by the President, attend and pursue a regular course of study at any military school or college of the United States, such officer or enlisted man shall receive from the annual appropriations for the support of the Army, the same travel allowances and quarters or commutation of quarters to which an officer or enlisted man of the Regular Army would be entitled for attending such school or college under orders from proper military authority; such officer shall also receive commutation and subsistence at the rate of one dollar per day and each enlisted man such subsistence as is furnished to an enlisted man of the Regular Army while in actual attendance upon a course of instruction.

SEC. 17. That the annual appropriation made by section sixteen hundred and sixty-one, Revised Statutes, as amended, shall be available for the purpose of providing for issue to the organized militia any stores and supplies or publications which are supplied to the Army by any department. Any State, Territory, or the District of Columbia may, with the approval of the Secretary of War, purchase for cash from the War Department, for the use of its militia, stores, supplies, material of war, or military publications, such as are furnished to the Army, in addition to those issued under the provisions of this Act, at the price at which they are listed for issue to the Army, with the cost of transportation added, and funds received from such sales shall be credited to the appropriations to which they belong and shall not be covered into the Treasury, but shall be available until expended to replace therewith the supplies sold to the States and Territories and to the District of Columbia in the manner herein provided.

SEC. 18. That each State or Territory furnished with material of war under the provisions of this or former Acts of Congress shall, during the year next preceding each annual allotment of funds, in accordance with section sixteen hundred and sixty-one of the Revised Statutes as amended, have required every company, troop and battery in its organized militia not excused by the governor of such State or Territory to participate in practice marches or go into camp of instruction at least five consecutive days, and to assemble for drill and instruction at company, battalion, or regimental armories or rendezvous or for target practice not less than twenty-four times, and shall also have required during such year an inspection of each such company, troop, and battery to be made by an officer of such militia or an officer of the Regular Army.

SEC. 19. That upon the application of the governor of any State or Territory furnished with material of war under the provisions of this Act or former laws of Congress, the Secretary of War may detail one or more officers of the Army to attend any encampment of the organized militia, and to give such instruction and information to the officers and men assembled in such camp as may be requested by the governor. Such officer or officers shall immediately make a report of such encampment to the Secretary of War, who shall furnish a copy thereof to the governor of the State or Territory.

SEC. 20. That upon the application of the governor of any State or Territory furnished with material of war under the provisions of this Act, or former laws of Congress, the Secretary of War may, in his discretion, detail one or more officers or enlisted men of the Army to report to the governor of such State or Territory for duty in connection with the organized militia. All such assignments may be revoked at the request of the governor of such State or Territory or at the pleasure of the Secretary of War. The Secretary of War is hereby authorized to appoint a board of five officers on the active list of the organized militia so selected as to secure, as far as practicable, equitable representation to all sections of the United States, and which shall, from time to time, as the Secretary of War may direct, proceed to Washington, District of Columbia, for consultation with the Secretary of War respecting the condition, status, and needs of the whole body of the organized militia. Such officers shall be appointed for the term of four years unless sooner relieved by the Secretary of War.

The actual and necessary traveling expenses of the members of the board, together with a per diem to be established by the Secretary of War, shall be paid to the members of the board. The expenses herein authorized, together with the necessary clerical and office expenses of the division of militia affairs in the office of the Secretary of War, shall constitute a charge against the whole sum annually appropriated under section sixteen hundred and sixty-one, Revised Statutes, as amended, and shall be paid therefrom, and not from the allotment duly apportioned to any particular State, Territory, or the District of Columbia; and a list of such expenses shall be submitted to Congress annually by the Secretary of War in connection with his annual report.

SEC. 21. That the troops of the militia encamped at any military post or camp of the United States may be furnished such amounts of ammunition for instruction in firing and target practice as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War, and such instruction in firing shall be carried on under the direction of an officer selected for that purpose by the proper military commander.

SEC. 23. That for the purpose of securing a list of persons specially qualified to hold commissions in any volunteer force which may hereafter be called for and organized under the authority of Congress, other than a force composed of organized militia, the Secretary of War is authorized from time to time to convene boards of officers at suitable and convenient army posts in different parts of the United States, who shall examine as to their qualifications for the command of troops or for the performance of staff duties all applicants who shall have served in the Regular Army of the United States, in any of the volunteer forces of the United States, or in the organized militia of any State or Territory or District of Columbia, or who, being a citizen of the United States, shall have attended or pursued a regular course of instruction in any military school or college of the United States Army, or shall have graduated from any educational institution to which an officer of the Army or Navy has been detailed as superintendent or professor pursuant to law after having creditably pursued the course of military instruction therein provided. Such examinations shall be under rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of War, and shall be especially directed to ascertain the practical capacity of the applicant. The record of previous service of the applicant shall be considered as a part of the examination. Upon the conclusion of each examination the board shall certify to the War Department its judgment as to the fitness of the applicant, stating the office, if any, which it deems him qualified to fill, and, upon approval by the President, the names of the persons certified to be qualified shall be inscribed in a register to be kept in the War Department for that purpose. I announce with deep regret the death of Grover Cleveland.

Mayor of Buffalo, Governor of this State, twice President of the United States, he personified civic virtue and exalted the ideal of public office as a public trust.

And as it is fitting that New York to whom he gave the earlier service which tested and revealed his character should pay to his memory the tribute of esteem due to one of her most honorable and distinguished servants;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Charles E. Hughes, Governor of the State of New York, do request that the flags upon all the public buildings of the State, including armories and arsenals, be displayed at half-mast up to and including Friday, the twenty-sixth day of June, nineteen hundred and eight, and that the citizens of the State unite in appropriate marks of respect.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 48. }

Before a general court-martial which convened at the Headquarters of the 71st Regiment, pursuant to Special Orders No. 175, April 30, 1908, Headquarters Division National Guard, as directed by par. IV, Special Orders No. 62, current series, from this office, and of which Lieutenant-Colonel THOMAS W. HUSTON, 12th Regiment, was president, and Major WILLIAM I. WASHBURN, Judge Advocate, 1st Brigade, judge advocate, was arraigned and tried.

Sergeant Andrew S. Corbett, Company E, 71st Regiment.

CHARGE I: "Disrespect to superiors."

Specification. In this that Sergeant Andrew S. Corbett, Co. E, 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y., he being a duly enlisted man of that regiment, did use the following language to Captain Robert E. Heun, Company I, 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y., to wit:

"You deliberately fixed the list of events so that E Company can't win the Relay Race. I think it's a God damn shame the way you are using our athletes, after all they have done for you this winter."

Upon being informed that a competent man had been employed for that purpose and had done all the work connected with arranging the list of events, he replied:

"That isn't so, you know damned well that you are the chairman of the Athletic Committee, and you did arrange the events and it's nothing but a game to do my company out of the only permanent trophy the regiment has put up in years."

He was then warned that he had gone too far, and that he had got himself into trouble by talking as he had, to which he replied:

"I don't care a God damn what you do about it, I might as well be hung for a sheep as for a lamb; and when I tell Captain Byars about what you have done, and he gets after you, you won't have so much to say. He'll bust up your damned committee."

This at the 71st Regiment Armory, 34th street and Park avenue, New York City, in the State of New York, on the 5th day of March, 1908.

CHARGE II. "Conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline."

Specification. In this that Sergeant Andrew S. Corbett, Company E, 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y., he being a duly enlisted man in that regiment, did use the following language to Captain Robert E. Heun, Company I, 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y., to wit:

"You deliberately fixed the list of events so that E Company can't win the Relay Race. I think it's a God damn shame the way you are using our athletes, after all they have done for you this winter."

Upon being informed that a competent man had been employed for that purpose and had done all the work connected with arranging the list of events, he replied:

"That isn't so, you know damned well that you are the chairman of the Athletic Committee, and you did arrange the events and it's nothing but a game to do my company out of the only permanent trophy the regiment has put up for years."

He was then warned that he had gone too far, and that he had got himself into trouble by talking as he had, to which he replied:

"I don't care a God damn what you do about it, I might as well be hung for a sheep as for a lamb; and when I tell Captain Byars about what you have done, and he gets after you, you won't have so much to say. He'll bust up your damned committee."

This at the 71st Regiment Armory, 34th street and Park avenue, New York City, in the State of New York, on 5th day of March, 1908.

To which charges and specifications the accused pleaded as follows:
 To the Specification, 1st Charge, "Not Guilty."
 To the 1st Charge, "Not Guilty."
 To the Specification, 2nd Charge, "Not Guilty."
 To the 2nd Charge, "Not Guilty."

FINDINGS.

Of the Specification, 1st Charge, "Not Guilty."

Of the 1st Charge, "Not Guilty."

Of the Specification, 2d Charge, as stated, "Not Guilty," but of the following substituted specification as stated, "Guilty."

In this that Sergeant Andrew S. Corbett, Company E, 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y., he being a duly enlisted man of that regiment, did use substantially the following language to Captain Robert E. Heun, Company I, 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y., to wit:

In the presence of the said Robert E. Heun, Company I, 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y., the said Sergeant Corbett, having asked where the relay was placed on the program of events of the games and received the reply from some person other than Captain Heun: "It is the last event; what do you think of that, Andy?" said, "I think it's a damned shame, that is what I think of it," and then to Captain Heun, "You know that I gave you an order of events and Grady gave you another and you told me you would get us together on it, and instead of that you have gone ahead and ignored us altogether and arranged things so E Company have gotten the worst of it," whereupon Captain Heun said to the accused: "God damn it, Andy, I don't want you talking that way and putting that up to me, I did not arrange the events." To which the accused replied: "If you did not, who did?" To which Captain Heun replied: "Your friend, McHugh, did that." To which the accused replied: "You know you are the Chairman of the Athletic Committee, and you did arrange the events and it is nothing but a game to do E Company out of the only permanent trophy the regiment had put up in years. I will see my captain, and get him to withdraw all of the E Company entries from your damned games;" whereupon Captain Heun said to the accused while the latter was walking away, "Look here, Andy, you are going to get into trouble over this thing." The accused then turned and said, "I don't care, I might as well be hung for a sheep as for a lamb."

This at the 71st Regiment Armory, 34th street and Park avenue, New York City, in the State of New York, on the 5th day of March, 1908.

SENTENCE.

To be fined ten dollars ($10.00), and to be reprimanded by proper authority.

The proceedings, findings and sentence having been approved by the convening authority and the record of trial with the opinion of the Judge Advocate on the staff of the Major-General, having been forwarded for the action of the Governor, the following is the opinion (in part) of the said Judge Advocate, which is concurred in, and the action of the Governor thereon:

* * * * *

The Court in acquitting the accused on the charge of "Disrespect to Superiors" and imposing a sentence of only a reprimand and a small fine on the charge of "Conduct to the Prejudice of Good Order and Military Discipline," apparently adopted the arguments of the counsel for the accused that there could be no such thing as disrespect to an officer who both by evidence given and by his own statement was habitually accustomed to use profane language and who, according to the testimony of some witnesses, applied objectionable epithets to the accused. This is not, however, the proper rule. In the military service respect for superiors is essential to the maintenance of discipline and that respect is due and must at all times be given to the commission and to the office which it evidences. The remedy of the subordinate to whom injurious epithets are applied is by complaint through the channel to superior authority, as is provided by R. 11 and not by taking the law in his own hands and attacking his accuser in any form. The words of Col. Winthrop (Winthrop M. L., p. 876) were quoted by the Judge Advocate to the Court and are directly in point:

"A disrespect is aggravated where it is publicly committed; and so of language conveying false imputations. It is no defense to a charge for using such language that the same only states facts or that what was said was deserved by the superior. If a soldier has been aggrieved by his superior he should instead of inveighing against him properly seek redress through military channels."

This language is peculiarly appropriate to the present case because while the Court omits from its findings the statement in the original specification that Captain Heun deliberately fixed the list of events so that Sergeant Corbett's Company could not win the relay race, yet the Court retains in its finding a statement by Sergeant Corbett to Captain Heun in these words:

"You know you are the Chairman of the Athletic Committee and you did arrange the events and it is nothing but a game to do E Company out of the only permanent trophy the Regiment had put up in years."

This statement was made in reply to a statement by Captain Heun that he did not arrange the program, but that one McHugh, a disinterested person, did. This statement found by the Court contains an assertion that the Captain did not tell the truth when he said he did not arrange the order of events, but that they were arranged by another, and beyond this it charges the Captain with arranging the program not in a fair or proper manner, but for the purpose of injuring the chances of the athletes of Company E, a charge imputing dishonest conduct to him.

Captain Heun testified that of all the language set out in the specifications he deemed that the most injurious to him which reflected upon his honesty in arranging the program of the athletic events. The Judge Advocate in summing up called the attention of the Court to this evidence and to the testimony of the other witnesses as to the making of this accusation, which it will be seen the Court incorporates into its findings. The finding of the Court, therefore, as well as the original specifications embody as a fact the imputation by a subordinate to his superior not merely of untruthfulness, but of a distinctly dishonorable purpose to so use his position in arranging an athletic program as to injure certain persons.

Had the Court kept the trial close to this issue much irrelevant testimony would have been omitted, the introduction of collateral issues would have been avoided and the degree of punishment to be awarded would have been measured from the standpoint of a single issue. It remains to notice in this connection the argument of the accused's counsel that Sergeant Corbett in the conversation forming the basis of these charges was making a protest not in reference to a military matter, but in reference to a purely civil affair.

Sergeant Corbett had a perfect right as Chairman of the Athletic Committee of his Company to make a proper and respectful protest to the Executive Officer of the Athletic Games, who was Captain Heun, but the language which embodies a protest is very different from that which is used to make a charge of dishonesty of speech and dishonesty of purpose.

As to the matter being purely of a civil character it is only necessary to consider that the athletic event was one in which only a regiment was interested; that the competitors were drawn from the different companies of the regiment, and that it was held within a regimental armory which according to R. 371 is a military post. To this must be added the fact that the conversation took place in a hall of the armory in the presence of enlisted men and in the hearing of commissioned officers. Athletic events between persons in the military service are frequently held at camps and military posts and those who participate in them under such conditions must govern their conduct to conform to the requirements of military discipline.

In my opinion the proceedings, findings and sentence should receive a technical approval and confirmation. This is to insure an award of some punishment for a violation of military law and not because the action of the Court during the trial or in acquitting on the first charge is commended, nor because the sentence is deemed adequate.

Respectfully,

W. W. LADD,
Judge Advocate.

Executive Chamber, Albany, N. Y., August 21, 1908.

The proceedings, findings and sentence of the Court are hereby approved and confirmed and the sentence will be carried into execution.

492 APPENDIX "B;" ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S REPORT.

ALBANY, Septmeber 22, 1908.

GENERAL ORDERS, }
 No. 56. }

I. An annual clothing allowance to each organization of the organized militia or National Guard is herewith fixed for the ensuing fiscal year, October 1, 1908, to September 30, 1909.

II. The amount of a clothing allowance to an organization will be based upon the enlisted strength of an organization on September 30, 1908, at the rate of ten dollars ($10) per man.

III. Commanding officers or quartermasters of organizations will anticipate the requirements of their commands and requisitions will be forwarded quarterly on or before the first of October, January, April, and July.

Requisitions to receive due consideration and the prompt issue of property must be received in the Adjutant-General's office, Albany, within one month of the commencement of each quarter.

IV. The money allowance of clothing required for in the requisition for the first or second quarter must not exceed half the total original sum placed to the credit of an organization on September 30th. Subsequent quarterly requisitions, however, may be estimated upon the unexpended balance to the credit of an organization from a previous quarter.

V. The money value of the clothing allowance is considered ample to meet all requirements for properly uniforming the enlisted strength of an organization provided the commanding officer thereof will use due judgment in the preparation of such requisitions and that proper care is taken of property when received. It must be clearly understood that the clothing allowance to any organization for any one year cannot be carried over to a subsequent year, therefore the unrequired allowance to an organization will lapse at the close of the fiscal year.

VI. Organizations which at their own expense furnish a distinctive full-dress uniform will be allowed the same money allowance for clothing which may be expended for such other articles included in the clothing allowance as required, and if properly uniformed, for such other articles of clothing as are included for service use in General Orders No. 108, War Department, June 29, 1908.

VII. Change of organization: In case of an organization being transferred from one arm of the service to another special consideration will be given in supplying the change of dress with such modifications of the annual clothing allowance as would appear proper and just.

VIII. Issue of clothing, uniforms, etc., to new organizations: Upon the muster in the service of an organization the enlisted mustered strength and men enlisted subsequently during the concurrent fiscal year, will be supplied with service uniform complete without the same being charged against the annual clothing allowance.

The articles of service uniform to be considered in this paragraph will include the blanket, olive drab breeches, olive drab service coat, service hat, service hat cord, leggings, overcoat, and poncho.

IX. This uniform clothing allowance contemplates the carrying by organizations of articles of clothing in excess of that required for immediate use. Quartermasters will keep a list of articles of clothing on hand noting the schedule of sizes. In regimental organizations company commanders should be required to note the time of receipt of articles of clothing and should carry only such property as required to uniform the enlisted strength of their respective companies. All surplus clothing should be turned in to the regimental quartermaster, noting the date of issue. It should then be immediately inspected by the quartermaster, scoured, cleaned and repaired if necessary, and if found serviceable placed with other property for issue.

The schedule of sizes of clothing is now of such wide latitude that requisition for special sizes will hardly be found to be necessary. Slight alterations in the issue of property can be made by the organizations and the expense considered a legitimate charge against the Military Fund of an organization.

X. All other articles of clothing not included in the clothing allowance will be considered a proper charge against the Military Fund of an organization. Requisitions for such articles will be honored and considered as a cash purchase, but before issue is made a remittance in cash will be required in order that such property issued for cash sale may be replaced in stock. In case an organization shall desire to have issue of property made a charge against its Military Fund such action is permissive, but the method of procedure to be followed will be as in operation under section 17 of the Militia Act as set forth in General Orders No. 38, June 22, 1908, Adjutant-General's office. The organization will receive memorandum covering the charge for such property, but the issue will not be made until remittance is received.

XI. The issue of clothing upon requisitions will be made from stock on hand under old specifications until the same is exhausted. An estimate of charge will be made in accordance with contract price.

XII. Articles included in clothing allowance:

Blankets.—Wool, standard; wool, light.

ALBANY, *October 13, 1908.*GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 60.

The following circular from the War Department, amending the Regulations of the War Department, governing the Organized Militia, is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

CIRCULAR, }
No. 6. }
WAR DEPARTMENT,
DIVISION OF MILITIA AFFAIRS,
WASHINGTON, September 5, 1908.

The act of Congress approved May 27, 1908, amending the act, entitled "An act to promote the efficiency of the militia, and for other purposes," approved January 21, 1893, necessitates the following amendments to the Regulations of the War Department Governing the Organized Militia, which are published for the information and guidance of the organized militia of the United States.

Paragraph of the Militia Regulations are amended as follows:

Act of May 27, 1908. 8. "Section 1. That the militia shall consist of every able-bodied male citizen of the respective States and Territories and the District of Columbia, and every able-bodied male of foreign birth who has declared his intention to become a citizen, who is more than eighteen and less than forty-five years of age, and shall be divided into two classes: The organized militia, to be known as the National Guard of the State, Territory, or District of Columbia, or by such other designations as may be given them by the laws of the respective States or Territories; the remainder to be known as the Reserve Militia: Provided, That the provisions of this act and of section sixteen hundred and sixty-one, Revised Statutes, as amended, shall apply only to the militia organized as a land force."

"§ 3. That the regularly enlisted, organized, and uniformed active militia in the several States and Territories and the District of Columbia who have heretofore participated or shall hereafter participate in the apportionment of the annual appropriation provided by section sixteen hundred and sixty-one of the Revised Statutes of the United States, as amended, whether known and designated as National Guard, militia, or otherwise, shall constitute the organized militia. On and after January twenty-first, nineteen hundred and ten, the organization, armament, and discipline of the organized militia in the several States and Territories and the District of Columbia shall be the same as that which is now or may hereafter be prescribed for the Regular Army of the United States, subject in time of peace to such general exceptions as may be authorized by the Secretary of War: Provided, That in peace and war each organized division of militia may have one inspector of small-arms practice with the rank of lieutenant-colonel; each organized brigade of militia one inspector of small-arms practice with the rank of major; each regiment of infantry or cavalry of organized militia one assistant inspector of small-arms practice with the rank of captain, and each separate or unassigned battalion of infantry or engineers or squadron of cavalry of organized militia one assistant inspector of small-arms practice with the rank of first lieutenant: Provided also, That the President of the United States in time of peace may, by order, fix the minimum number of enlisted men in each company, troop, battery, signal corps, engineer corps, and hospital corps: And provided further, That any corps of artillery, cavalry, and infantry existing in any of the States at the passage of the act of May eighth, seventeen hundred and ninety-two, which, by the laws, customs, or usages of the said States, have been in continuous existence since the passage of said act, under its provisions and under the provisions of section two hundred and thirty-two and sections sixteen hundred and twenty-five to sixteen hundred and sixty, both inclusive, of title sixteen of the Revised Statutes of the United States, relating to the militia, shall be allowed to retain their accustomed privileges, subject, nevertheless, to all other duties required by law, in like manner as the other militia."

"§ 4. That whenever the United States is invaded or in danger of invasion from any foreign nation, or of rebellion against the authority of the Government of the United States, or the President is unable with the regular forces at his command to execute the laws of the Union, it shall be lawful for the President to call forth such number of the militia of the State or of the States or Territories or of the District of Columbia as he may deem necessary to repel such invasion, suppress such rebellion, or to enable him to execute such laws, and to issue his orders for that purpose, through the governor of the respective State or Territory, or through the commanding general of the militia of the District of Columbia, from which State, Territory, or District such troops may be called, to such officers of the militia as he may think proper."

"§ 5. That whenever the President calls forth the organized militia of any State, Territory, or of the District of Columbia, to be employed in the service of the United States, he may specify in his call the period for which such service is required, and the militia so called shall continue to serve during the term so specified, either within or without the territory of the United States, unless sooner relieved by order of the President: Provided, That no commissioned officer or enlisted man of the organized militia shall be held to service beyond the term of his existing commission or enlistment: Provided further, That when the military needs of the Federal Government arising from the necessity to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrection, or repel invasion, can not be met by the regular forces, the organized militia shall be called into the service of the United States in advance of any volunteer force which it may be determined to raise."

"§ 7. That every officer and enlisted man of the militia who shall be called forth in the manner hereinbefore prescribed, shall be mustered for service without further enlistment, and without further medical examination previous to such muster, except for those States and Territories which have not adopted the standard of medical examination prescribed for the Regular Army: Provided, however, That any officer or enlisted man of the militia who shall refuse or neglect to present himself for such muster, upon being called forth as herein prescribed, shall be subject to trial by court-martial and shall be punished as such court-martial may direct."

"§ 8. That the majority membership of courts-martial for the trial of officers or men of the militia when in the service of the United States shall be composed of militia officers."

"§ 11. That when the militia is called into the actual service of the United States, or any portion of the militia is called forth under the provisions of this act, their pay shall commence from the day of their appearing at the place of company rendezvous, but this provision shall not be construed to authorize any species of expenditure previous to arriving at such places of rendezvous which is not provided by existing laws to be paid after their arrival at such places of rendezvous."

"§ 13. That the Secretary of War is hereby authorized to procure, by purchase or manufacture, and issue from time to time to the organized militia, under such regulations as he may prescribe, such number of the United States service arms, together with all accessories and such other accouterments, equipments, uniforms, clothing, equipage, and military stores of all kinds required for the Army of the United States as are necessary to arm, uniform, and equip all of the organized militia in the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, in accordance with the requirements of this act, without charging the cost of value thereof, or any expense connected therewith, against the allotment of said State, Territory, or the District of Columbia, out of the annual appropriation provided by section sixteen hundred and sixty-one of the Revised Statutes as amended, or requiring payment therefor, and to exchange, without receiving any money credit therefor, ammunition or parts thereof suitable to the new arms, round for round, for corresponding ammunition suitable to the old arms heretofore issued to said State, Territory, or the District of Columbia by the United States: Provided, That said property shall remain the property of the United States, except as hereinafter provided, and be annually accounted for by the governors of the States and Territories as required by law, and that each State, Territory, and the District of Columbia shall, on receipt of new arms or equipments, turn in to the War Department, or otherwise dispose of in accordance with the directions of the Secretary of War, without receiving any money credit therefor and without expense for transportation, all United States property so replaced or condemned. When the organized militia is uniformed as above required, the Secretary of War is authorized to fix an annual clothing allowance to each State, Territory, and the District of Columbia for each enlisted man of the organized militia thereof, and thereafter issues of clothing to such States, Territories, and the District of Columbia shall be in accordance with such allowance, and the governors of the States and Territories and the commanding general of the militia of the District of Columbia shall be authorized to drop from their returns each year as expended clothing corresponding in value to such allowance. The Secretary of War is hereby further authorized to issue from time to time to the organized militia, under such regulations as he may prescribe, small arms and artillery ammunition upon the requisition of the governor, in the proportion of fifty per centum of the corresponding Regular Army allowance, without charge to the State's allotment from the appropriation under section sixteen hundred and sixty-one, Revised Statutes, as amended. To provide means to carry into effect the provisions of this section, the necessary money to cover the cost of procuring, exchanging, or issuing of arms, accouterments, equipments, uniforms, clothing, equipage, ammunition, and military stores to be exchanged or issued hereunder is hereby appropriated out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated: Provided, That the sum expended in the execution of the purchases and issues provided for in this section shall not exceed the sum of two million dollars in any fiscal year: Provided also, That the Secretary of War shall annually submit to Congress a report of expenditures made by him in the execution of the requirements of this section."

"§ 15. That the Secretary of War is authorized to provide for participation by any part of the organized militia of any State or Territory on the request of the governor thereof in the encampment, maneuvers, and field instruction of any part of the Regular Army at or near any military post or camp or lake or seacoast defenses of the United States. In such case the organized militia so participating shall receive the same pay, subsistence, and transportation as is provided by law for the officers and men of the Regular Army, and no part of the sums appropriated for the support of the Regular Army shall be used to pay any part of the expenses of the organized militia of any State, Territory, or District of Columbia while engaged in joint encampments, maneuvers, and field instruction of the Regular Army and militia, but all payments to the militia under the provisions of this section and all allowances for mileage shall be made solely for the sums appropriated for such purposes: Provided, That the command of such military post or camp and the officers and troops of the United States there stationed shall remain with the regular commander of the post without regard to the rank of the commanding or other officers of the militia temporarily so encamped within its limits or in its vicinity: Provided further, That except as herein specified the right to command during such joint encampments, maneuvers, and field instruction shall be governed by the rules set out in articles one hundred and twenty-two and one hundred and twenty-four of the rules and articles for the government of the armies of the United States. The sums appropriated for the organized militia for such joint encampment, maneuvers, and field instruction shall be disbursed as, and for that purpose shall constitute, one fund; and the Secretary of War shall forward to Congress, at each session next after said encampment, a detailed statement of the expenses of such encampments and maneuvers."

"§ 16. That whenever any officer or enlisted man of the organized militia shall upon the recommendation of the governor of any State, Territory, or the commanding general of the District of Columbia militia, and when authorized by the President, attend and pursue a regular course of study at any military school or college of the United States, such officer or enlisted man shall receive from the annual appropriation for the support of the Army, the same travel allowances and quarters or commutation of quarters to which an officer or enlisted man of the Regular Army would be entitled for attending such school or college under orders from proper military authority; such officer shall also receive commutation and subsistence at the rate of one dollar per day and each enlisted man such subsistence as is furnished to an enlisted man of the Regular Army while in actual attendance upon a course of instruction."

"§ 20. That upon the application of the governor of any State or Territory furnished with material of war under the provisions of this act, or former laws of Congress, the Secretary of War may, in his discretion, detail one or more officers or enlisted men of the Army to report to the governor of such State or Territory for duty in connection with the organized militia. All such assignments may be revoked at the request of the governor of such State or Territory or at the pleasure of the Secretary of War. The Secretary of War is hereby authorized to appoint a board of five officers on the active list of the organized militia so selected as to secure, as far as practicable, equitable representation to all sections of the United States, and which shall, from time to time, as the Secretary of War may direct, proceed to Washington, District of Columbia, for consultation with the Secretary of War respecting the condition, status, and needs of the whole body of the organized militia. Such officers shall be appointed for the term of four years unless sooner relieved by the Secretary of War.

"The actual and necessary traveling expenses of the members of the board, together with a per diem to be established by the Secretary of War, shall be paid to the members of the board. The expenses herein authorized, together with the necessary clerical and office expenses of the division of militia affairs in the office of the Secretary of War, shall constitute a charge against the whole sum annually appropriated under section sixteen hundred and sixty-one, Revised Statutes, as amended, and shall be paid therefrom, and not from the allotment duly apportioned to any particular State, Territory, or the District of Columbia; and a list of such expenses shall be submitted to Congress annually by the Secretary of War in connection with his annual report."

Sec. 8, act of May 27, 1908.

44. All public property issued to the organized militia shall remain the property of the United States, except as hereinafter provided, shall be receipted for by the governors of the States and Territories and the commanding general of the militia of the District of Columbia, and shall be accounted for annually by said governors and commanding general as required by law under such regulations as the Secretary of War may deem necessary to protect the interests of the United States. If the disbursing officer is a member of the organized militia and participated in the encampment thereof, he can be paid, for the time actually consumed by him in making payment to the officers and men and in the preparation of his accounts for submission to the proper administrative officers of the War Department (notwithstanding such payment is made after the encampment), the pay of his rank or grade, not to exceed the time fixed by law within which he is required to prepare and transmit his accounts, which in this case would appear to be twenty days, and pay should not be allowed for any greater time after the encampment.

92. Every disbursing officer must send to the Chief, Division of Militia Affairs of the War Department, before the expiration of twenty days after the end of the month to which it relates, an account current (Form No. 1, Militia) of all moneys received and remaining on hand during the month. This account current will be made in duplicate, one copy of which with all vouchers will be forwarded to the War Department, as stated above, and the other one retained by the disbursing officer for his future protection. With the account current will be forwarded all orders of commanding officers and other papers upon which a disbursing officer accountable relies to have himself relieved from responsibility for funds placed to his credit.

The accounts will be referred by the Chief of the Division of Militia Affairs to the bureaus to which they pertain, for administrative examination, and be transmitted by the latter, through the Division of Militia Affairs of the War Department, to the accounting officer of the Treasury for settlement.

107. Blank forms for rendering accounts and returns as required under the provisions of these regulations may be obtained by application to the Chief, Division of Militia Affairs of the War Department, upon requisition therefor: the cost of all such forms to constitute a charge against the allotment of the State, Territory, or the District of Columbia of the appropriation provided by section 8 of the act of May 27, 1908.

119-d. If, for any reason, the full clothing allowance is not drawn by any State, Territory, or the District of Columbia in any fiscal year, when so entitled, the savings thereof will be available to cover issues of other military supplies authorized by section 8 of the act approved May 27, 1908.

146-a. Members of organizations temporarily absent from their home stations may be attached, by order of competent military authority of the State or Territory, to other organizations of the State or Territory for inspection, and the inspecting officer in submitting his report to the War Department will give credit for the presence of such members in his inspections of the latter organizations, noting the circumstances by remarks in his report.

223. The nomination of the governor or general commanding must, in each case, be accompanied by the following papers: An affidavit of the nominee, stating his age, citizenship, and length of service in the organized militia, and agreeing, in case the course is once entered upon, to attend and pursue the course of study at the school designated, and to be bound by and conform to the rules and discipline imposed by its regulations; a certificate of a medical officer of the organized militia, or of any other physician in good standing, showing the physical condition of the nominee, and a certificate from the colonel of the regiment, or other satisfactory person, as to the good moral character and preliminary educational qualifications of the nominee.

If the number of militia officers nominated by the governors of the various States be in excess of the number that can be accommodated at the schools designated, the number authorized from each State will be in proportion of the strength of its organized militia.

224. Each militia officer attending a school must provide himself, at his own expense, with the proper uniform of his own State, Territory, or District, and with the required text-books. He shall wear his proper uniform during recitations.

225. The expense to the Government on account of militia officers attending service schools is limited to travel allowances, commutation of quarters, and subsistence. Militia officers can not be furnished with quarters in kind.

For subsistence each militia officer will be paid $1 a day while in actual attendance at a school. 226. The attendance of officers of the organized militia pursuing a course of study at a service school shall be certified to by the commanding officer or by the commandant. If officers attend all sessions of a school during the month the certificates shall cover the entire month. The inclusive dates of all absences shall be stated in the certificates and these certificates will be filed with the officers' accounts for commutation of quarters and subsistence. The first account will also be accompanied by a copy of the authority under which the officers reported at the school.

227. All nominations must reach the War Department not later than September 1 and must be limited to those who have been members of the organized militia at least one year. The details of officers, and the posts to which they are to report, will be announced by October 1. The detail will be for a three-year course and each officer will be assigned to a post where the school pertains to the arm of the service to which he belongs.

228. Upon notification that he has been assigned to a particular post, a militia officer shall at once report by letter to the commanding officer, who shall give him information as to the time he should report for instruction and inform him on such other matters as may be necessary. The officer shall report at the post on the designated date, and shall be admitted to the school without examination.

229. The course of instruction for militia officers at garrison schools shall be the same as that for officers of the Army, and they shall receive certificates of proficiency in such subjects as have been satisfactorily completed by them.

230. A militia officer having successfully completed the prescribed course for a term shall be ordered to his home, and his commutation of quarters and allowance for subsistence shall cease until the beginning of the next term, when he will again be ordered to the same post, and will thus continue until the entire course is completed. He shall be excused from the practical instruction which does not take place during the term for theoretical instruction, but may, under the authority of the department commander and at his own expense, take part in the exercises of the troops in other periods of the year. He shall, both during a term and between terms, keep the commanding officer of the post informed of his address.

231. A militia officer found deficient in any subject may, in the discretion of the department commander, be re-examined. If still deficient he shall be reported to the War Department with a view to the withdrawal of the authority to attend the school. Any officer showing neglect of his studies or a disregard of orders may, upon the recommendation of the commanding officer, be deprived of the privilege of further attendance at the school.

232. Department commanders shall submit at the end of each garrison school term, a report of the work accomplished by each militia officer, together with a specific recommendation as to whether or not the officer should be allowed to continue the course at the next school term.

257-a. When the militia is called into the actual service of the United States, or any portion of the militia is called forth under the provisions of this act, their pay shall commence from the day of their appearing at the place of company rendezvous, but this provision shall not be construed to authorize any species of expenditure previous to arriving at such places of rendezvous which is not provided by existing laws to be paid after their arrival at such places of rendezvous. Sec. 7, act of May 27, 1908.

263. The majority membership of courts-martial for the trial of officers or men of the militia when in the service of the United States shall be composed of militia officers. Sec. 6, act of May 27, 1908.

Against Apaches in Arizona and New Mexico, 1885 and 1886. The operations of officers and enlisted men who served with Troops C, E, F, and L, 3d Cavalry, from Fort Davis, Texas, and detachment of Troop M, 3d Cavalry, from Camp Peña, Colorado, Texas, in June and July, 1885, in preventing hostile Apache Indians from entering the State of Texas, form part of this campaign.

Against Sioux in South Dakota, November, 1890, to January, 1891. The operations of the command of Lieutenant Colonel Edwin V. Sumner, 8th Cavalry, on the Cheyenne River, South Dakota, from November, 1890, until January, 1891, and of Troops F and G, 8th Cavalry, which proceeded from Fort Yates, North Dakota, to the camp of Sitting Bull at the time of the skirmish which resulted in the death of that Indian, form part of this campaign.

In such minor campaigns as involved marches, camps, and bivouacs by troops actually in the field and operating against hostile Indians.

The question of the issue of Indian campaign badges for service in campaigns other than those herein designated by name will, in each case, be decided on its merits, upon individual application:

(c) Spanish campaign badge: For service on the high seas en route to, or ashore in—

Cuba, between May 11, 1898, and July 17, 1898.

The fact of service in any one of these three expeditions will be certified to by the commanding officer of the organization in which such service was rendered.

(e) China campaign badge: For service ashore in China with the Peking Relief Expedition, between June 20, 1900, and May 27, 1901.

2. An officer or enlisted man of the Army who rendered, while an officer or enlisted man of the Navy or Marine Corps, service that would have entitled him to a campaign badge had it been rendered as an officer or enlisted man of the Army, is entitled to such campaign badge.

3. A contract surgeon or dental surgeon is entitled to a campaign badge only for services rendered by him in campaign as an officer or enlisted man.

4. Service as a veterinarian of cavalry or field artillery is, for the purpose of the award of campaign badges, considered as if rendered as a commissioned officer.

6. Only one Indian campaign badge will be issued to an officer or an enlisted man, notwithstanding the fact that service may have been rendered in more than one Indian campaign.

7. Where the service of a person has not been honorable subsequently to the campaign for which a badge is claimed, he will not be listed for such badge. If the service of any person subsequently to the date of his being listed for a campaign badge shall not be honorable, the proper commanding officer will notify the Adjutant-General of the Army in order that the badge may be withheld.

The following information, relative to the cash purchase of ordnance stores from the Secretary of War by rifle clubs which are affiliated with the National Rifle Association, is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

EXTRACT FROM A LETTER FROM THE ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE, WAR DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, DATED DECEMBER 27, 1907, ADDRESSED TO THE ADJUTANT-GENERAL, STATE OF NEW YORK:

"The provisions of the Act of Congress approved March 2, 1905, which authorize the sale of ordnance stores for the use of rifle clubs affiliated with the National Rifle Association, are such as to require that sales of that character must be made under the same conditions as are similar sales for cash of articles for use of the organized militia, viz: on request of the Governor of the State; hence it is impossible for the Department to make any other office than the headquarters of the militia of the State the medium of such purchases.

It is believed, however, that the procuring of spare parts and appendages for arms sold to rifle clubs would be facilitated and that the clerical work of correspondence involved thereby would be lessened materially if each club should procure from the Governor of the State a reasonable quantity of spare parts for the rifles and appendages thereto, in order to make provisions for future contingencies.

There is inclosed herewith a list of such parts and appendages, with prices of each, showing the quantities that it is thought would be sufficient for one year's supply for necessary repairs.

Very respectfully,

W. P. HALL,

Adjutant-General.

SIR: Referring to the provision contained in the Army Appropriation Act approved March 2, 1907, published in General Orders, No. 48, War Department, series of 1907, that it shall be the duty of the Secretary of War, whenever a new type of small arms shall have been adopted for the use of the regular army, and when a sufficient quantity of such arms shall have been manufactured, to constitute an adequate reserve for the armanent of any regular and volunteer forces that it may be found necessary to raise in case of war, to cause the organized militia of the United States to be furnished with small arms of the type so adopted, with bayonets and the necessary accouterments and equipments, including ammunition therefor, and that issues thereof shall be made in the manner provided in section 13 of the Militia Law of January 21, 1903, I am directed by the Secretary of War to inform you that on or about February 16, 1908, the Ordnance Department of the army will be prepared to begin the issue to the militia of the United States magazine rifles, model of 1903, chambered for model of 1906 ammunition, in exchange for the Krag-Jorgensen rifles and carbines now in the hands of the militia. It is expected that all ammunition for the new rifle that is manufactured after April 15 next, will be available for the exchange of any balances of the old caliber .30 ammunition in the hands of the militia, and for issue as called for under the provisions of section 1661 of the Revised Statutes, as amended.

In order, however, that the militia of the several States and Territories and of the District of Columbia may secure early practice with the new arm in competition for the selection of teams to participate in the National Match of 1908, the Department is ready to supply immediately to the State of New York, on application of the State authorities, not exceeding 100 of the new rifles complete with bayonets and spare parts, and ball cartridges, caliber .30, model 1906 at the rate of 500 rounds for each rifle, in partial accomplishment of the provision of the act of March 2, 1907, the balance of the exchange to be effected as indicated in the preceding paragraph.

Application for this advance supply of arms and ammunition for the use of the troops of your State should be made at the earliest date practicable.

Very respectfully,

(sgd) W. P. HALL,
Adjutant-General.

The following instructions relative to the assembling of the 1907 gun sling on the rifle are published for the information and guidance of all concerned, and Circular, No. 64, War Department, December 15, 1905, is rescinded:

ASSEMBLAGE.—The sling is made up of four parts, the long strap, the short strap, and two keepers. To assemble it, the plain end of the long strap is passed through the larger keeper, then through the metal loop of the short strap, passing from the undressed to the dressed side of the latter, then back through the larger keeper, forming the arm-loop, dressed side out. The same end is then passed through the smaller keeper, through the upper sling swivel from the butt toward the muzzle, and back through the smaller keeper, the arm-loop being completed by engaging the claw of the long strap in the proper holes in the other end of same.

The size of the arm-loop is adjusted to suit the individual who is to fire the piece, the loop being drawn through the upper swivel until the claw comes well up toward the upper swivel. The claw end of the short strap is then passed through the lower swivel from muzzle to butt and brought up and engaged in the proper holes in the long strap, drawing the sling taut. This gives the parade position of the sling.

To adjust it for firing or carrying, the claw of the short strap is disengaged and re-engaged in the proper holes of the short strap, no change being necessary in the adjustment of the arm-loop.

The authority conferred upon the Secretary of War by section 4 of the act of Congress approved June 22, 1906, amending section 1661 of the Revised Statutes, to relieve a State or Territory from further accountability for United States property in the hands of its militia that has been lost or destroyed through no fault or neglect, or that has become unserviceable or unsuitable from use in service, extends to property so lost or destroyed or rendered unserviceable or unsuitable prior to the passage of the act cited, and which has not been accounted for otherwise. The provision in said section that the money value of stores lost or destroyed by reason of carelessness or neglect on the part of the militia shall be charged against the allotment of the State or Territory under section 1661 of the Revised Statutes, as amended, applies to losses due to such causes that occurred before the passage of the act of June 22, 1906, as well as to such losses occurring thereafter, provided that the property so lost or destroyed has not been accounted for otherwise. WAR DEPARTMENT,

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF OF ORDNANCE,

WASHINGTON, May 7, 1908.

Chief, Division of Militia Affairs,

Office of the Secretary of War.

SIR:

1. This Department has been conducting experiments with various kinds of powder for use in the model of 1903 musket chambered for model of 1906 ammunition. These experiments have conclusively demonstrated that any powder containing nitroglycerine is injurious to the barrel of the musket, and on this account a pure gun cotton powder has been adopted for service.

2. The powder at present being used is known as pyrocellulose, and the accuracy life of the musket with such powder is from two to three times as great as with the nitroglycerine.

3. It is requested, therefore, that the Governors of the various States be informed of this, and that this Department cannot approve of the use of any but pure gun cotton powders in the musket which has just been issued.

Very respectfully,

WILLIAM CROZIER,

Brig.-Gen., Chief of Ordnance.

IMPERIAL AND ROYAL,
AUSTRO HUNGARIAN EMBASSY,

WASHINGTON, April 22, 1908.

EXCELLENCY:

A Jubilee of the Emperor and the 6th meet of the Austrian Shooting Societies will take place at Vienna from the 28th of June to the 7th of July of this year.

The program of the occasion has been modeled after the great shooting matches in Switzerland, France and Italy and pursuant to the decision of the countries which took part in the 11th international match at Zurich in 1907, the city of Vienna has taken charge of the 12th international fire-arm and revolver match.

The Central Committee charged with the organization of the arrangements believes it may all the more count upon the participation of foreign countries in the rifle match, as it will be combined with a memorable homage paid by the Austrian riflemen to His Imperial and Royal Apostolic Majesty on the occasion of the jubilee of the 60th year of his reign.

546 APPENDIX "B;" ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S REPORT

Accept, Excellency, the expression of my most distinguished high consideration.

The following communication received from the War Department, Washington, is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

WAR DEPARTMENT,
DIVISION OF MILITIA AFFAIRS,

WASHINGTON, June 20, 1908.

THE ADJUTANT-GENERAL,
State of New York,
Albany, N. Y.

SIR:

1. Referring to the provisions of Section 8 of the Militia Act approved May 27, 1908, information is given that issues of arms, accessories, accoutrements, equipments, uniforms, clothing, equipage, and military stores of all kinds required for the Army of the United States as are necessary to arm, uniform, and equip all of the organized militia in the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, sufficiently for active duty in the field (Section 14 of the Act approved January 21, 1903), for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1908, will be made pro rata among the States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, on the basis of the organized enlisted strength of the militia as shown by the inspection reports of the United States Army officers for the fiscal year 1907-1908. It is estimated that this will enable requisitions for issues to be honored by the War Department up to an amount approximating $19 a man for the organized enlisted strength as shown by the last reports of the United States Army inspecting officers.

2. The methods followed in making and filling requisitions will correspond as nearly as practicable to the methods used in furnishing supplies to the Regular troops, and requisitions will be submitted on the regular forms furnished by the various supply bureaus of the War Department. Separate requisitions will be submitted for articles required for under each act. All requisitions for militia supplies will be transmitted through the Chief of the Division of Militia Affairs.

3. In all cases in which the United States Army inspecting officers have reported in their inspections for the fiscal year 1907-1908 that the organized militia of the State, Territory, or District of Columbia, inspected by them are sufficiently uniformed for active duty in the field, the clothing allowance to each such State, Territory, and the District of Columbia, will be fixed for the fiscal year 1908-1909 at the sum of $8.33½ per man of the organized enlisted strength of the militia of said State, Territory, and the District of Columbia, as entered in the reports of the United States Army inspecting officers, respectively, for the fiscal year 1907-1908.

This clothing allowance will include all articles mentioned in the annual clothing allowance for the regular service, as published in the last annual War Department order in regard thereto, with the exception of articles pertaining to or constituting a part of the dress and full dress uniforms, but including ponchos. See General Orders, No. 140, War Department, series of 1907.

4. In case, for any reason, the full clothing allowance is not drawn by any State, Territory, or the District of Columbia in any fiscal year, the savings thereof will be available to cover issues of other military supplies authorized by section 8 of the Act approved May 27, 1908.

5. Twenty-five per cent. of the annual allowance of ammunition for the Regular Army will be issued to the States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, according to the organized enlisted strength as shown by the last inspection reports of the United States Army officers, on requisitions duly made out and submitted by the States to the proper supply Department of the War Department, through the Chief of the Division of Militia Affairs.

An additional twenty-five per cent. of ammunition will be issued on other requisitions, similarly submitted, provided the reports of small-arms firing of the troops in the State, Territory, and the District of Columbia, made on Form No. 15, Militia, copies of which should accompany the requisitions, gives evidence, satisfactory to the Secretary of War, that the ammunition previously issued has been judiciously expended.

6. Uniform insignia will be issued by the War Department to the individuals of the organized militia of the States, Territories, and the District of Columbia qualifying under Special Course "C," Small-Arms Firing Regulations; insignia will also be issued to those individuals of the organized militia of the various States, Territories, and of the District of Columbia who qualify under the Regular Army course, the value of the insignia to be charged under section 1661, Revised Statutes.

7. In future inspections of the militia by United States Army inspecting officers, members of organizations temporarily absent from their home stations may be attached by order of competent military authority of the State, Territory, and the District of Columbia, to other organizations of the same State, Territory, and of the District of Columbia, for inspection purposes, and the inspector in submitting his report to the War Department will give credit for the presence of such members in his inspection of the latter organizations, noting the circumstances by remarks in his report.

The following information and instructions relative to water proofing tentage is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

I. A liquid composition furnished by Messrs. John Boyle & Co., 112 Duane Street, New York City, for the waterproofing and mildew-proofing of tents has been satisfactorily tested in the office of the Adjutant-General. This liquid may be applied with brushes with the apparent results of not only improving the general appearance of the canvas but also of rendering waterproof, tents previously almost un-serviceable.

II. The following can be considered an estimate of the amount of material necessary to waterproof the various styles of tents:

Wall tents.....	5 gallons.
Wall tent fly.....	2 gallons.
Conical tent.....	8 $\frac{1}{4}$ gallons.
Hospital tent.....	11 gallons.
Hospital tent fly.....	4 $\frac{1}{2}$ gallons.
Shelter tent half.....	$\frac{1}{2}$ gallon.

The liquid is applied with brushes; should it be too thick an addition of a small quantity of turpentine will thin it sufficiently. The liquid is furnished in 5 gallon cans or in barrels, cost price being 75c. per gallon.

III. The Commanding Officers of organizations may secure this liquid direct from the manufacturers or through the channel of the Adjutant-General's Office, upon requisition, in such quantities as may be required to treat all tentage, where such treatment would seem justifiable. The cost of the waterproofing composition will be considered a proper charge against the Military Fund of the organization.

By command of the Governor,

NELSON H. HENRY,

Adjutant-General.

1. "That the vacancy created in the Militia Council by G. O. No. 46, A. G. O., c. s., relieving Captain John F. O'Ryan, 1st Battery, F. A., from duty as a member, be not filled at the present time."

The following opinion of the Judge Advocate on the Staff of the Major-General commanding Division National Guard, which opinion is concurred in, is published to the National Guard and Naval Militia, for the information and guidance of all concerned:

HEADQUARTERS DIVISION NATIONAL GUARD, NEW YORK.

STEWART BUILDING, 280 BROADWAY,

NEW YORK CITY, September 26, 1908.

Adjutant-General,Division National Guard, N. Y.

Sir:—I return herewith the papers transmitted to me in connection with the claim of Major * * *, Inspector-General, 4th Brigade, for pay for duty performed by him under two special orders issued by the Commanding Officer Division directing him to inspect certain property of the 74th Regiment reported unserviceable.

As the services were rendered before the present Military Law took effect reference will be made to the language of the Military Code of 1898 which so far as material to the present inquiry is reproduced in the Military Law now in force.

The question submitted concerns the creation of an obligation against the State and according to settled rules of statutory construction the various provisions of the Act must be considered together and not separately and so read as to give force and effect to all provisions relating to the same subject.

The portions of the Military Law directly bearing upon the present inquiry are as follows:

M. C., Sec. 19. (M. L. 22). "No officer of the militia shall incur any expenses whatsoever to be paid by the State except such as are authorized in this chapter without first obtaining the authority of the Governor."

M. C., Sec. 151. (M. L. 210). "Each officer and enlisted man ordered for duty by the Governor or under his authority by the C. O., N. G., or the C. O., N. M., shall receive the duty pay herein specified for every day actually on duty."

M. C., Sec. 155. (M. L. 214). "Any commissioned officer assigned to special duty by the Governor or under his authority shall be paid duty pay for the time actually employed * * *. Judge Advocates shall be paid for services in bringing any suits provided for in this chapter * * * such compensation as shall be approved by the Governor. All staff officers shall be paid duty pay for special services ordered by competent authority with the approval of the Governor."

These provisions are framed in entire accordance with two well-known facts: First, that the National Guard is not a paid body, and second, that the expenses of the Guard must be kept within the limits of the annual legislative appropriation.

As to the first, it is sufficient to say that the M. C. clearly contemplates the rendition of service without pay as the general rule and the receipt of pay as the exception. Whenever, therefore, a claim for pay is presented the burden is on the party asking for it to bring himself clearly under some provision of law authorizing its payment.

To keep expenses within the limits of the appropriation, it is essential that there should be some one central authority to distribute funds and limit disbursements. This authority the M. C. vests in the Governor.

In the present instance the orders of detail simply directed Major * * * to inspect certain property reported unserviceable. They contain nothing to show that they were issued by special authority of the Governor previously obtained, nor do they contain anything to show that they were intended to authorize a claim for pay.

To meet this situation it is urged that the authority of the Governor is to be implied from the language of R. 107 which provides that "Inspections having in view the condemnation of property will be made by inspectors on the staff of the Major-General or by officers especially designated by the C. O., N. G." It is argued that the Regulations are issued by the Governor under the authority conferred on him by M. C. 186 (M. L. 255) and that he has by this language given a continuing authority or approval to the Major-General to detail officers to inspect unserviceable property, that such detail is special service and being rendered with the authority of the Governor carries with it the right to pay.

In the first place R. 107 has no connection with or relation to pay for duty. It is one of several sections found in Article 7 of the Regulations entitled "Inspectors." These contain provisions as to the manner of making inspections and of reporting thereon, but not one word as to pay of the officers performing these duties. As a matter of fact the Regulations do not assume in any part to regulate payment for services, but leave that matter to be dealt with entirely according to the provisions of the Military Code.

If it is true that the authority thus given in R. 107 to make such details as the present carries with it a right to receive pay, why is it not equally true that like authority is given by the Governor to all commanding officers to order details carrying pay under the broad provision of section 48 of these same Regulations issued by him, which is in these words, "C. O. may within the limits of their command assign officers to temporary duty with organizations other than their own or to staff duty." Here is a broad and continuing authority to make details including not merely the commanding officer of Division but the commanding officers of brigades, regiments and all other distinct organizations. It comes from the Governor to the same extent that the provisions of R. 107 come from him. If the Governor's authority given in the Regulations to make a detail is sufficient to carry with it a claim for pay, it is manifest that serious embarrassment in controlling the expenses of the National Guard must ensue. In fact the question of the amount to be expended for pay which the Legislature intended should be determined by the Governor has been completely taken away from him. No such result ever could have been intended by the framers of the Regulations. The only fair construction of the sections of the Regulations relating to details is that they relate simply to details and leave the questions of pay to be determined entirely by the provisions of the Military Code. That construction is the only one that is in harmony with the underlying principle that approval of the expenditure by a central authority is necessary to keep disbursements within the limits of the State appropriation. The authority to make details given in R. 107 and elsewhere in the Regulations is not sufficient approval or authority by the Governor of the performance of special duty to carry with it the right to pay. The approval of the Governor to be sufficient must be such as shows that it contemplated payment for the services authorized to be performed. A few words may be said here as to the proper method of procedure to be followed under M. C. 155 and M. L. 214. It is a general rule that where expense is to be incurred by a public officer upon the consent or authorization of another public officer, such consent or authorization must be obtained before the work is done or service is performed (People Graham vs. Studwell, 91 App. Div. 469). This rule is particularly applicable to the situation presented under §§ 155 and 214. The intent of the statute in requiring the authority or approval of the Governor is clearly to keep expenses within the limits of the appropriation and it is for him to say whether duty shall be with pay or whether it shall be performed without giving any claim for pay and in the interest of orderly administration he should speak and act before the services are performed.

No definition of the words "special duty" or "special services" used in these sections, is given. It was intended to give the Governor a discretionary power to deal with the varying circumstances of the many cases that must necessarily be presented to him. It may, however, be remarked that the determination of what is and what is not "special duty" within the meaning of this section necessarily involves a consideration of the general policy of the State that services in the National Guard are presumed to be rendered without pay as affected by the special facts of each case. The natural meaning of the word "special" is also to be had in mind. Webster defines it as "extraordinary" and in the Century Dictionary it is given as "of exceptional character, amount or degree." It is material, therefore, to consider whether the service to be performed is such as is ordinarily incident to the duties of the office. If so, the presumption is that the officer undertook to perform them without charge when he assumed his commission and this is equally true of ordinary details whether by the officer's immediate commanding officer or by superior authority, for, as has been said, every officer contemplates that he may from time to time be ordered to perform duties that belong to another officer. The nature and extent of the duty to be performed and how far it imposes a serious burden upon the individual and affects him in his ordinary relations of life, is also necessarily a proper and material subject for consideration. But the mere fact that the duty to be performed is a detail duty ordered by the commanding officer of division or other officer is not of itself sufficient to authorize pay. The Governor's approval or authority is essential.

In the present instance the claimant for pay was required to perform duty which properly pertained to the functions of his office of inspector. It is clearly the functions of such officers to examine and report upon property reported to be unserviceable. The services he rendered did not cover any extended period of time. They were performed at his home station and the property inspected belonged to an organization which formed part of the brigade with which he was serving. In my opinion such services are not "special duty" or "special services" within the meaning of M. C. 155 and M. L. 214.

The conclusions which I have reached in respect to the case submitted are as follows:

The mere detail of an officer by the commanding officer, Division National Guard pursuant to special authority given in the regulations, as e. g. in R. 107, or pursuant to the general authority in R. 48, is not in and of itself the authority and approval of the Governor contemplated by M. C. 155 and M. L. 214, as necessary to the allowance of pay for special duty.

It is part of the general duty of an inspecting officer to examine and report upon property represented as unserviceable and the detail of such an officer by the Commanding Officer, Division National Guard, to make such an inspection at his home station of property belonging to an organization of his own brigade requiring but a limited period of service, is not special duty within M. C. 155 and M. L. 214.

Adjutant-General Division, N. G., N. Y.

SIR:—With the communication from the Commanding Officer, Co. K, 47th Regiment, to the Adjutant-General, which is referred to me, there is enclosed a pay check for $8 to the order of * * * for services at Fort Wadsworth in June last, and the request is made that this check be canceled and a duplicate be issued payable to the Commanding Officer of the company for the reason that * * * has disappeared and cannot be located and that previous to his tour of camp duty he was issued an olive drab shirt and a pair of tan shoes on his written agreement to pay for the same out of his camp pay, their value being $5.15; and, further, that he is in debt to his company for dues to an amount exceeding eighty-five cents.

The right to pay is a right given by statute of this State, and the power to regulate pay, as has been said by the Supreme Court of the United States (United States v. Williamson, 23 Wall. 411), belongs to the legislative branch of the Government and not to the executive branch.

Where an officer or enlisted man performs services for the doing of which the State by statute promises to give pay, he has a vested right to receive this compensation and such right "is property in the same sense in which tangible things are property and is equally protected against arbitrary interference" (Cooley Const. L., p. 517). The State owes a debt to the officer or enlisted man of which he cannot be deprived except by due process of law.

If an officer or enlisted man is indebted to the State at the time when his claim for pay accrues, then the case is presented of mutual or counter claims, and the rule of law laid down by Mr. Justice Story as applicable to the United States under similar conditions is here in point: "The United States possess the general right to apply all sums due for such pay and emoluments to the extinguishment of any balances due to them by the defendant on any other account, whether owed by him as a private individual or as chief engineer. It is but the exercise of the common right, which belongs to every creditor, to apply the unappropriated moneys of his debtor, in his hands, in extinguishment of the debts due to him" (Gratiot vs. United States, 15 Peters, 336).

But this right of set-off is limited by its terms to claims existing in favor of or against the officer and enlisted man and the State. The State has no right to set off against their claims any indebtedness they may owe to others. It can only set off and deduct such amounts as they owe to the State itself (Tagart's Case, 17 Ct. Cl. 322; Hedrick's Case, 16 Id. 88).

In the case now under consideration the indebtedness of the enlisted man for clothing is a claim in favor of his company, to which he promised to make payment therefor. His indebtedness for dues is a claim in favor of the Civil Association of his company. Neither of these claims is in favor of the State and, therefore, the State cannot offset them to the enlisted man's right to receive his pay.

Action in these matters cannot safely be taken by following as authority the customs and usages of the United States Army under Military Law 256, because the practice pursued in the Army is based upon explicit statutory provisions. Thus it is provided by Section 1766 of the United States Revised Statutes that "No money shall be paid to any person for his compensation who is in arrears to the United States until he has accounted for and paid into the Treasury all sums for which he may be liable." It was further enacted by a provision in the Appropriation Act of July 16, 1892 (27 Stat. L. 177), that "the pay of officers of the Army may be withheld under Section 1766 of the Revised Statutes on account of an indebtedness to the United States admitted or shown by the judgment of a court but not otherwise unless upon a special order issued according to the direction of the Secretary of War."

There is no such statutory provision in force in this State, and in its absence all questions of withholding pay must be determined by the general principles of law which I have stated.

There is no authority for withholding pay upon the ground that an enlisted man is indebted to his Civil Association, nor upon the ground that he is indebted to his company or to any person. The indebtedness must be to the State itself. O. D. 234 to 238, as amended by General Orders 19, Adjutant-General's Office, 1904, contain detailed provisions as to making up payrolls, but give no authority for entering thereon a charge for any indebtedness even to the State itself.

With respect to judgments of military courts so far as they impose fines for military offenses, they are, in my opinion, claims in favor of the State and against the individual which may be set off against any pay due him. It is to be noted, however, that delinquency courts impose judgments called fines for dues of the Civil Association. While such a judgment is in form in favor of the State and apparently for a debt due the State, it is quite clear that the State is not the beneficial owner of the money, for when recovered it is to be paid over to the Civil Association, to be spent by it upon its own audit and as its own funds. The right of the State to offset such a claim may, therefore, in the absence of express statutory authority, be considered open to question.

The right to offset an indebtedness to the State arising with respect to public property is covered by Military Law 169, which contains an express provision that "it shall be deducted from any pay or allowance due or to become due from him to the State."

If it is desired to regulate the subject of offsetting against pay the fines of delinquency courts, other indebtedness to the State, the Civil Association or others, it should, in my opinion, be done by amendment of the Military Law. One reason for this conclusion is that the right of offset with respect to public property is covered by express provision of the Military Law, and if it is attempted to cover the right of offset to pay for any other matter by a Regulation, there is room for the argument that as the Military Law contains an express provision for an offset in one case (that of public property claims), that is an implied prohibition of an offset in any other case. This and all other questions can be obviated by placing the amendment in the law itself and not by attempting to accomplish it by provisions in the Regulations. It is, of course, understood that such an amendment can be drawn so as to extend the right of set-off to delinquency court fines covering dues to Civil Association and indeed it may be made to cover other matters, as the express statutory authority will supersede the limited right of set-off as it exists by the general rules of law.

The request of the Commanding Officer, Company K, 47th Regiment, cannot be granted. As the Adjutant-General is officially advised that Private * * * cannot be found, his pay check should be retained.

Respectfully,

WM. W. LADD,
Judge Advocate.

NEW YORK CITY, September 26, 1908.

Adjutant-General Division, N. G., N. Y.

SIR:—From the communication of the Adjutant-General to the Commanding Officer Division transmitted to me it appears that there have been presented to him the proceedings of a Board of Audit of Company K, 10th Infantry (15th Separate Company) held January 17, 1908, at which there were present the First Lieutenant of the company and the Assistant Surgeon. The Captain of the company had been detailed pending action on his resignation and there was a vacancy in the office of Second Lieutenant. The situation which existed in January has continued down to the date of the communication, and attention is invited to the fact that the long delay in discharging the obligations of the company is most unfortunate and most embarrassing.

Both under Military Code 158 and Military Law 217 the Board of Audit of an organization is composed of the line officers "of the organization." It is entirely plain that the Assistant Surgeon is not a line officer of the organization. At the proceedings of the Board there was present, therefore, but one officer of the organization.

In an opinion delivered in April, 1905, I had occasion to examine the question as to the validity of a Board of Audit similarly constituted and reached the conclusion that a single member could not sit, act and discharge the duties of such a Board within the requirements of the law. This opinion was adopted and promulgated in Circular No. 2, Adjutant-General's Office, 1905.

The proceedings of the Board of Audit to which reference is now made are, therefore, of no legal effect whatever, and from a legal standpoint the vouchers presented with them to the Adjutant-General are to be regarded and treated as if they had never been before any Board of Audit.

As the "approval" of the Adjutant-General required by both the present Military Law and the preceding Military Code is limited to action on claims passed upon Boards of Audit, he cannot, in my opinion, give any such approval to the claims now referred to.

Boards of Audit are not merely formal bodies. Their action is not perfunctory or ministerial. On the contrary, the word "audit" implies the exercise of judgment and discretion (People vs. Supervisors, 83 App. Div. 51; People vs. Barnes, 114 N. Y. 317; People vs. Commissioners, 149 N. Y. 26).

It is a general rule of law that where a statute regulates and defines the manner in which obligations can be created against a municipality or against the State, no legal liability can be created except in compliance with the statutory requirements (Walton vs. Mayor, 26 App. Div. 76; Kane vs. City, 88 Id. 542; Lewis vs. City, 106 App. Div. 454; Swift vs. Mayor, 83 N. Y. 528). So where the comptroller of a municipal corporation is empowered to draw his warrant in payment of claims against it which have been approved by an auditor, he has no authority to issue his warrant until after the auditor's approval has been given (People vs. Flagg, 17 N. Y. 584; People Outwater vs. Green, 56 Id. 466; People Brown vs. Green, 56 Id. 476; People Lanigan vs. Mayor, 70 N. Y. 454).

In the present instance the Military Code and Military Law clearly contemplate a careful scrutiny and examination of all claims by a Board composed of the officers of the organization. And afterwards it requires the claims to be submitted to the scrutiny of the Adjutant-General as a further safeguard against there being any allowance of a claim not sanctioned by law.

The action of the Board of Audit of an organization is a substantive part of the statutory scheme regulating the disbursement of State funds, and where it is lacking the Adjutant-General, in my opinion, is not authorized to approve the claims.

The present Military Law continues the same language in this particular as was used in the preceding Military Code and requires the membership of the Board to be restricted to "officers of the organization." This is the same phraseology as is used in the sections regulating the eligibility to vote at elections to fill offices, and it has always been so construed as to exclude detailed officers. I am fully impressed with the difficulties and embarrassments of the situation now existing, but as the power of detail cannot be exercised I see no escape from it except by permanently filling the vacant company office so as to bring the case within the ruling in Circular No. 2 above referred to.

Relief cannot be afforded merely by construction of the statute; for, as I have pointed out, the words qualifying membership of the Board are that the officers must be "of the organization," and if these words are to permit detailed officers to sit they must receive a like construction in the sections regulating the qualifications of electors to vote for commissioned officers. This would work a serious departure from long-established usage.

If such cases as the present recur with frequency, it may be deemed desirable to so amend the provisions of Military Law 217 so as to permit the detail of officers to fill absolute or temporary vacancies in a Board, with the limitation, perhaps, that such vacancies should have existed for a definite period of time before any detail is made.

HEADQUARTERS DIVISION, NATIONAL GUARD, NEW YORK,
STEWART BUILDING, 280 BROADWAY,

NEW YORK CITY, October 5, 1908.

Adjutant-General Division, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—My opinion is asked whether a man dropped because he cannot be found can be taken back into the service, and, if so, how?

The dropping and taking up from dropped of enlisted men is now covered by sections 100 and 101, Military Law, which so far as the question submitted is concerned are expressed in the same language as sections 76 and 77 of the former Military Code.

The authority for dropping is contained in section 100 in these words: "An enlisted man who shall remove his residence to such distance from the armory of his organization or the armory post or district at which he is detailed to serve as to render it impracticable for him to perform his duties properly or who after due diligence cannot be found may be dropped from the rolls —."

It will be observed that this section deals with two classes of cases, (1) an enlisted man who removes his residence to such distance from his armory as to render it impracticable for him to perform his duty, and (2) an enlisted man who after due diligence cannot be found.

Section 101 which gives authority to take up from dropped speaks only of "an enlisted man dropped by reason of removal." These are exactly the same descriptive words as are used in section 100 to designate one of the two classes of cases covered by that section. These words occur twice in section 101, showing that their use is not fortuitous.

Reading the two sections together it is plain that the authority to take up from dropped was confined to such enlisted men as have been dropped "by reason of removal." No such authority exists as to enlisted men dropped because they cannot be found.

A distinction is made between the man who when changing his residence does so either by giving notice of the change or in such an open manner as to permit of the ready ascertainment of his whereabouts and the man who so alters his place of abode as to conceal his whereabouts and make it impossible to ascertain it after reasonable search. The difference in the treatment of the two cases is that in the first case where the removal is for a change of residence the man afterwards re-enters the service by being taken up and it is provided that men "taken up shall receive credit for the time served before having been dropped," but where a man is dropped because he cannot be found the withholding of authority to take him up deprives him of any right to the benefit of his previous service.

It remains to consider whether an enlisted man dropped because he cannot be found may re-enter the service by enlistment. There is no prohibition against this in Military Law 95 which regulates enlistment. Mention is made of men who have been expelled or dishonorably discharged or discharged without honor or discharged by reason of disbandment or discharged for physical disability, but the section is silent as to men dropped because they cannot be found.

It remains to consider R. 393 which is in these words:

"Enlisted men discharged by dishonorable discharge, by dropped, by expulsion or by reason of having been convicted of felony, from the National Guard or the Naval Militia of this or any other state, or from the army or navy of the United States, shall not be enlisted until the disability shall have been revoked by the proper authority."

So far as this refers to men dropped for removal of residence it is effective in that their disability may be removed by their being taken up. I do not see however how this paragraph can be applied to enlisted men dropped because they cannot be found, for such persons cannot be taken up from dropped and thus relieved from disability. Nor is provision made in any part of the Military Laws or Regulations for their relief. The paragraph must, therefore, be restricted in its operation to those cases of dropped men for the relief of whose disability express provision is made, i. e., those dropped for change of residence.

It remains to notice the theory upon which the cases of enlisted men dropped by reason of removal have been disposed of. The action of dropping in their cases has been considered not as a discharge but simply as a removal of the name from the roll. The very fact that the statute permits the dropped man to re-enter the service by simply restoring his name to the roll without requiring any new contract to be signed is the foundation for the theory that the existing contract has not been cancelled but is still subsisting. So the provision for taking such men up from dropped is an implied prohibition against their re-entering the service in any other manner.

But in the case of men dropped because they cannot be found there is no provision for taking them up, consequently there is no implication of a continued liability under the contract of enlistment and no implied prohibition against their re-entering the service in some other manner.

The situation, therefore, of men dropped because they cannot be found is that they cannot re-enter the service by being taken up since there is no provision to that effect and inasmuch as there is no provision to that effect there is no implied prohibition against their re-entering the service in any other lawful manner. They cannot be allowed their previous term of service because as has been already said that allowance is secured only to persons who are taken up from dropped by reason of removal of residence.

I am, therefore, of the opinion that enlisted men dropped because they cannot be found may re-enter the service by enlistment, but their previous term of service cannot be allowed to them.

Respectfully,

WILLIAM W. LADD,
Judge Advocate.

No. 8. }

WASHINGTON, September 16, 1908.

DIVISION OF MILITIA AFFAIRS,

Paragraph 185, Regulations of the War Department Governing the Organized Militia, is amended to read as follows, and is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

185. Hereafter when any portion of the organized militia of any State, Territory, or the District of Columbia participates in the encampment, maneuvers, and field instruction of any part of the Regular Army, under the provisions of section 15 of the act of January 21, 1903, they may, after being duly mustered by an officer of the Regular Army, be paid at any time after such muster for the period from the date of leaving the home rendezvous to date and return thereto as determined in advance, both dates inclusive, and such payments, if otherwise correct, shall pass to the credit of the paymaster making the same.

The officer of the Regular Army who makes the muster prescribed herein will, in connection therewith, make a careful inspection of the personnel and report specifically as to whether the troops are by training, discipline, armament, uniform, and equipment, prepared for active duty in the field, and if not, in what respects they are deficient. The muster rolls will have entered opposite the name of each enlisted man the date of his enlistment, and no enlisted man will be mustered for pay who has not been a bona fide member of the organization for at least six months prior to the date of the encampment, maneuvers, or exercises, or has not had equivalent service in the Army, Marine Corps, or organized militia of the United States, or who has not been a student at an educational institution at which military instruction is given, and who has not received elementary instruction of recruits prescribed as requisite by the War Department.

The muster and inspection prescribed herein will be made as near as practicable at the close of the joint encampment, maneuvers, or exercises, and at a time that will interfere as little as possible with the execution of the program of instruction.

[1622, D. M. A.]

BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF WAR:

E. M. WEAVER,
Lieutenant Colonel, Coast Artillery Corps;
Chief of Division.

By command of the Governor,
NELSON H. HENRY,
Adjutant-General.

ALBANY, November 6, 1908.

The following circular from the Division of Militia Affairs, War Department, Washington, is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

CIRCULAR, }
No. 9. }
WAR DEPARTMENT,
DIVISION OF MILITIA AFFAIRS,
WASHINGTON, September 30, 1908.

I. The following instructions relative to the use of the appropriation provided by act of Congress, approved May 27, 1908, and the statement of the allotment of that appropriation, are published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

1. In accordance with the authority granted by section 13 of the act approved January 21, 1903, as amended by the act of May 27, 1908, the Secretary of War authorizes the issue to the organized militia of the States, Territories, and District of Columbia, of military supplies and small-arm and artillery ammunition to the total values indicated in the table on page 3 of this Circular.

2. The amounts herein recorded are based on the enlisted strength reported by officers of the Regular Army at the last annual inspection under section 14 of the act approved January 21, 1903.

ISSUE OF AMMUNITION.

3. The allowance for ammunition as indicated in the following table is expendable only in the manner provided by paragraphs 194*a* and 194*b*, Regulations of the War Department Governing the Organized Militia, as follows:

194*a*. Twenty-five per cent of the annual allowance of ammunition for the Regular Army will be issued to the States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, according to the organized enlisted strength as shown by the last inspection reports of the United States Army officers, on requisitions duly made out and submitted by the States to the proper supply department of the War Department, through the Chief, Division of Militia Affairs.

194*b*. An additional twenty-five per cent of ammunition will be issued on other requisitions, similarly submitted, provided the reports of small-arms firing of the troops in the State, Territory, and the District of Columbia, made on Form No. 15, Militia copies of which should accompany the requisitions, give evidence, satisfactory to the Secretary of War, that the ammunition previously issued has been judiciously expended, the issues made hereunder being without charge to the State's allotment from the appropriation under section 1661, Revised Statutes, as amended.

In no event can the total allowance for ammunition be exceeded, but any portion or all of said allowance, if not utilized for ammunition, may be expended in the procurement from the department of other military stores and supplies.

ISSUE OF CLOTHING.

4. Under section 8 of the act of May 27, 1908, amending section 13 of the act of January 21, 1903, the States and Territories and the District of Columbia become entitled to the benefit of an annual clothing allowance in accordance with the conditions set forth in paragraph 119*b*, Regulations of the War Department Governing the Organized Militia, as follows:

119*b*. Whenever it appears from the reports of United States inspecting officers, as required by section 14 of the act of January 21, 1903, that the organized militia of a State, Territory, or the District of Columbia, is uniformed for active duty in the field, an annual clothing allowance of \$8.33 $\frac{1}{3}$ per man of the organized enlisted strength of the militia will be fixed by the Secretary of War in accordance with the authority conferred upon him by section 8 of the act of May 27, 1908, and thereafter issues of clothing to such States, Territories, and the District of Columbia shall be in accordance with such allowance, and the governors of the States and Territories and the commanding general of the District of Columbia militia are authorized to drop from their return each year as expended clothing corresponding in kind and value to such allowance.

The States and Territories which become entitled to this clothing allowance as set forth above will be notified by the Department of that fact by letter and issues under such clothing allowance will thereupon become a charge against the amounts apportioned in the following table under the heading "Supplies." The provision of section 8 of the act of May 27, 1908, permitting the governors of the States and Territories and the commanding general of the District of Columbia militia to drop from their returns each year clothing corresponding in value to the clothing allowance does not become operative until a State or Territory or the District of Columbia is in the enjoyment of the clothing allowance as set forth above.

In all other cases obsolete and unserviceable clothing can be eliminated only after inspection and condemnation in accordance with the provisions of section 4 of the act approved June 22, 1906, amending section 1661, Revised Statutes.

As the clothing allowance only becomes operative when it appears from the annual inspection that the militia is properly uniformed for active duty in the field, it is essential that prompt and effective steps be taken to secure the necessary uniform clothing prior to these inspections. To this end there is available the funds apportioned under the heading "Supplies" in the following table, and such portion of the allowance for ammunition as remains unexpended.

The issue of clothing by the War Department to the organized militia under the act of May 27, 1908, does not in any way preclude the use as heretofore of the amount allotted for "Arms, Equipments, and Camp Purposes" from the appropriation provided by section 1661, Revised Statutes, as amended by the act approved June 22, 1906, in obtaining additional articles of clothing.

The apportionment to the States, Territories, and the District of Columbia of the two million dollars ($2,000,000) appropriated by section 8 of the act of Congress, approved May 27, 1908, amending the act of January 21, 1903, is made as follows:

II. In accordance with the recommendation of the Chief of Ordnance, the following instructions relative to the purchase of ordnance stores by the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, for the use of the organized militia, as authorized by section 17 of the act of Congress approved January 21, 1903, and for the use of rifle clubs under the provisions of the act of Congress approved March 3, 1905, are published for the information and guidance of the organized militia:

1. Whenever any State, Territory, or the District of Columbia desires to purchase small arms, their parts or appendages, the commanding officer of Rock Island Arsenal and the commanding officer of Springfield Armory are authorized to make sales of these articles on direct application to them by the governor of the State or by an officer of the organized militia of the State designated by the governor, and by the commanding general of the militia of the District of Columbia. Similarly, the commanding officer of Frankford Arsenal is authorized to sell upon like applications, and for the same purposes, small-arms ammunition and its components; and the commanding officer of Rock Island Arsenal, personal and horse equipments and their components.

2. Applications to the commanding officers of the arsenals named to make purchases of the above-named articles will state that the articles desired are for the use of the organized militia of the State making the application, or for the use of a rifle club organized under the rules promulgated by the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice and approved by the Secretary of War. Whenever funds accompany such application, Form No. 147, Ordnance Department, will be accomplished to show that payment has been made and that the articles purchased are for the purposes herein stated, and this form will be signed by the governor, or by the officer of the organized militia of the State making application in his name, or by the commanding general of the militia of the District of Columbia.

3. Whenever it is desired to make purchases of the above-mentioned articles at arsenals other than those named, or to make purchases of other articles of ordnance property at any arsenal, application will be made as indicated in paragraph 2 directly to the Chief of Ordnance, and if the sale is authorized ten per cent will be added to the selling price to cover the cost of transportation from the manufacturing arsenal to the selling one, except in cases where such transportation is not involved.

4. Price List No. 1879, revised May 20, 1908, gives the prices at which small arms and hand arms, small-arms ammunition, personal equipments, horse equipments, and miscellaneous articles for the use of troop, battery, and company organizations are furnished. Price List No. 1889 gives the prices of ordnance and ordnance stores comprising the 3-inch field guns and all the artillery material (including ammunition) therefor. Price List No. 1890 gives the prices of ordnance and ordnance stores comprising the 3-inch W. I. saluting and machine and automatic guns, and all material (including ammunition) therefor. With the exception of rifles, carbines, and revolvers, the cost of packing is included in the prices given. The prices do not include cost of transportation to the address of the purchaser, but delivery will be made to the railroad station or express office nearest the arsenal making the sale, as desired, without extra charge. The prices covering the cost of packing boxes and arm chests for the magazine rifle, model of 1903, are given in Price List No. 1879, and those covering the cost of packing revolvers are given herewith: For 1 revolver, 25 cents; for 2, 50 cents; for 3, 75 cents; for 4, $1; for 5 to 10, $1.25; for 11 to 15, $1.50; for 16 to 20, $2; for 21 to 25, $2.50; for 26 to 30, $3; for 31 to 35, $3.50; for 36 to 40, $4; for 41 to 50, $4.25.

5. Applications for the purchase of ordnance and ordnance stores should describe the articles desired in accordance with the nomenclature established in the price lists referred to in the preceding paragraph.

Remittances in payment for articles of ordnance property should be by draft made payable to the order of the commanding officer of the arsenal making the sale and drawn on a national bank located conveniently for purposes of collection. When a different description of articles, or a different method of remitting funds, is followed, delay may result in shipment of the articles purchased.

6. When application is made to the Chief of Ordnance for the purchase of ordnance property, it is preferable to postpone the making of remittances until notification of the amount due is received by the purchaser from the commanding officer of the arsenal who may be authorized to make the sale. On the receipt of the notification, remittances will be made by the method indicated in the preceding paragraph.

7. Sales of ordnance stores to individual members of the organized militia of a State are not authorized. [D. M. A., 1740.]

III. The following paragraph is added to the Regulations of the War Department Governing the Organized Militia, and is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

231a. Postgraduate work at garrison schools is in no sense a regular course of study at any military school or college of the United States, and militia officers who have completed the regular three-year course at a garrison school can not, under the provisions of section 16 of the act of January 21, 1903, as amended by section 10 of the act of May 27, 1908, be authorized to engage in such postgraduate work. ALBANY, November 17, 1908.

CIRCULAR, }
No. 35. }

I. The following communication from the War Department, Division of Militia Affairs, is published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

WAR DEPARTMENT,
DIVISION OF MILITIA AFFAIRS,

WASHINGTON, November 13, 1908.

The Adjutant-General,
State of New York, Albany.

SIR:

There has been presented to the Department for decision, the question whether reports of surveying officers of the militia in connection with articles of clothing which have been found to be unserviceable or unsuitable for use in the military service, and which have been recommended for destruction should be forwarded to this office for presentation to the Secretary of War for his action prior to the destruction of the clothing.

In connection with this matter, I am directed by the Assistant Secretary of War to inform you that it would appear to be the evident intent of the law (Section 4 of the Act of June 22, 1906, amending Section 1661 of the Revised Statutes) that the procedure necessary to be followed in connection with the examination of unserviceable or unsuitable property in the hands of the militia, is:

1. The appointment of disinterested surveying officers of the organized militia by the Governor of the State.
2. The forwarding of all reports of surveying officers directly to this office for presentation to the Secretary of War for his directions as to what disposition, by sale or otherwise, shall be made of the articles surveyed.

In the case of unserviceable clothing, the law required that the findings of the surveying officers shall be presented to the Secretary of War for his directions before it can be destroyed legally, as well as in the case of other property. It will be necessary, therefore, to forward all reports of surveying officers including those relating to unserviceable clothing to this office for presentation to the Secretary of War for his action before final disposition of the clothing can be effected.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) E. M. WEAVER,
Lieut.-Colonel, General Staff Corps,
Chief of Division.

II. Accountable officers who have submitted property for the action of an inspecting or surveying officer, shall take no action relative to disposing of same except by proper authority.

By command of the Governor:

NELSON H. HENRY,
The Adjutant-General.

No. 92. }WAR DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, November 23, 1908.

The following instructions relative to the preparation and execution of reports of survey of ordnance property, and to the action of surveying officers thereon, are published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

1. Paragraph 720, Army Regulations, authorizes the destruction of the following classes of property on the approved recommendation of a surveying officer: (a) Clothing infected with contagious diseases; (b) stores that have become so deteriorated as to endanger health or injure other stores; (c) unserviceable property of no salable value.

2. With respect to ordnance property classified under class (c), a surveying officer can act only upon utterly worthless articles constituting the personal equipment of a soldier, horse equipments, and target materials and supplies, the cost price of which does not exceed $100 in the case of mounted organizations and $50 in other cases, but he cannot act on horse equipments issued to officers. The personal equipment of a soldier, horse equipments, and target materials and supplies are defined in Ordnance Price List No. 1879, revised May 20, 1908, and constitute all articles of Class IX, and section 7 of Class X, as published in that price list.

3. Small arms, parts of small arms, appendages for small arms, and small-arms ammunition are not a part of the personal equipment of a soldier within the meaning of paragraph 720, Army Regulations.

4. When utterly worthless articles of ordnance property in a mounted organization have a cost price exceeding $100, the surveying officer is not authorized to recommend their destruction, but such property must be placed before an inspector for final disposition. A similar requirement applies to dismounted organizations, to commanding officers of ordnance establishments, and to post ordnance officers, when the cost price of the utterly worthless articles of ordnance property exceeds $50.

5. The unserviceable ordnance property referred to in paragraph 2 of this circular may be destroyed on an approved recommendation of a surveying officer, but a surveying officer is not authorized to recommend that such property be sold, turned into a depot, or used for post purposes, and if the property should be disposed of by any of these methods the approved recommendation of an inspector must be obtained. When horse equipments issued to officers below the grade of major become unserviceable, they should be placed before an inspector for the disposition authorized by paragraph 1537, Army Regulations.

6. Whenever meat cans and cups made of tin become unserviceable solely by the removal of the tin they are not considered as utterly worthless and cannot, therefore, be placed before a surveying officer with a view to their destruction, but must be placed before an inspector as required by Circular No. 40, War Department, July 25, 1906.

7. When a surveying officer acts on property that has become unserviceable, and which has no salable value, he will state in his finding whether the condition of the property resulted from fair wear and tear in the service. If its condition resulted from other causes he will state what such causes were.

8. Whenever the destruction of the personal equipments of a soldier, or leather horse equipments, is authorized on the approved recommendation of a surveying officer, all rings, buckles, and other trimmings of brass will be cut off before the property is destroyed, and turned over to the post ordnance officer. The certificate of the officer witnessing the destruction will contain a statement to the effect that these articles have been removed and turned over to the post ordnance officer for shipment to one of the ordnance establishments indicated in paragraph II, General Orders No. 62, War Department, March 28, 1906.

9. When a report of survey is submitted recommending the dropping of property from the return of the accountable officer without charging the responsible officer with the value of the property, such report will show that the damage to or loss or destruction of the property was occasioned by unavoidable causes and without fault or neglect on the part of the responsible officer. In this respect the report of survey will conform to the requirements of paragraph 687, Army Regulations.

10. When a survey is made on the loss of small arms, the report must show whether or not the arms were stored at the time of the loss in arm racks or arm lockers furnished by the Ordnance Department for their safe-keeping, or were being used at the time in the performance of military duty. In all cases the report must show clearly whether or not every possible precaution was taken for the safe-keeping of the arms. In this connection attention is called to the provisions of Circular No. 83, War Department, October 15, 1908.

11. Whenever ordnance property is lost in consequence of the desertion of an enlisted man, a surveying officer will report on the missing property, but its value cannot be charged against the deserter in the absence of an approved report of survey to that effect.

NEW YORK CITY, December 18, 1908.

Adjutant-General Division, N. G., N. Y.

SIR:—The question submitted is whether where an enlisted man has served the full term of his enlistment and has applied for an honorable discharge to which he is entitled, it can be withheld solely because he is indebted to the Civil Association of his Company for dues.

It is provided by M. L. 103 which relates to the granting of discharges that "An enlisted man who continues in service after the expiration of his term of enlistment or re-enlistment shall in case he desires a discharge give fifteen days notice in writing of application therefore to the officer authorized to grant the same and such officer may in his discretion grant such discharge forthwith or hold the same until the expiration of said fifteen days. An enlisted man shall be held for service until his discharge is granted and issued and delivered."

There is nothing in this section nor indeed in any section of the M. L. or R. which gives any right to withhold an enlisted man's discharge solely because he is indebted to his Civil Association.

The Civil Association may expel its enlisted members for violation of its By-Laws (M. L. 254), or it may collect its dues through the action of a Delinquency Court (M. L. 138), but it has not been given authority to compel payment of its dues by the withholding of a discharge which a member is otherwise entitled to receive as a matter of right.

Respectfully,

WM. W. LADD,

Judge Advocate.

HEADQUARTERS, DIVISION NATIONAL GUARD, STATE OF NEW YORK,

CAPITOL, ALBANY, April 3, 1908.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York:

Sir.—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of yours of the 30th ultimo with copy of communication from the Chief of Division of Military Affairs, War Department, and in reply thereto to furnish the following information:

What is the average amount of time, in hours, of instruction per man, during the last years?

Since the act of Congress of January 21, 1903, there has been required of each organization at least 24 drills per year and six days of field service unless excused by the Governor. Taking the past year 1907, which is a fair example, as a guide the members of the National Guard of this State devoted to their duties, each, at least 242 hours during the year, as specified below.

Positive figures as to time consumed by the members of the National Guard of this State cannot be given, without any doubt whatsoever the estimate made above is well within the actual figures. Officers give much more time to their duties than there is taken into consideration below.

Indoor Instruction.

There were in 1907 in the National Guard 242 subdivisions, which had during the drill season on an average, each 29 drills.

The duration of each drill is ordered and certified to be at least one and a half hour. Taking into consideration the time necessary to prepare for the drill and to resume civilian garb not less than one half hour, it is just to say that each drill consumes two hours. Many last longer. Officers and non-commissioned officers necessarily must give more time, and there are the reports, etc., and the officers and non-commissioned officers schools, once and twice, respectively, at least in a month. It is safe to say that this adds to the average per man one hour, making the time so far three hours per man per drill, without taking into account the time of going to and from the armory, which is in almost all cases considerable. Twenty-nine drills, each of three hours, as set forth above, is 87 hours per man.

Armory small arms or gallery practice during the drill season is required of each man once a month for six months; many men practice two, three and four times a month and therefore seven months may properly be considered. The time consumed in this is the same as for the general drill, or seven times three hours, total 21 hours per man.

Some of the drills reported above, are in reality out door affairs, for instance memorial day parades, which consume twelve or more hours each, and should increase (as about all organizations turn out for memorial day), the time devoted by 16 hours.

This makes the time consumed in indoor drills, in round figures 124 hours per man at least per year.

Field Instruction.

Every organization of the National Guard is required to perform, unless excused by the Governor, a tour of field service each year. In 1907 one hundred and fifty-five of the two hundred and forty-two subdivisions of the National Guard were on field service, each for eight days, except one battery which was on duty for twelve days.

Taking eight days as a tour, would be 192 hours. It is perhaps proper to say, as all organizations do not have field service every year, that one-half of this time should be allowed to each subdivision, which would make the average time consumed 96 hours for each and all.

Many organizations have volunteer field service of one, two, three and more days, for which it may be proper to allow on an average for each man of the guard two hours.

For the field small arms practice, which takes place after the indoor instruction, one day is prescribed for each organization. Some regiments camp out and consume more time. The average time consumed is however taken as one day, that is about 16 hours per man.

Then there are the days set apart for supplementary practice in the marksman class, in the sharpshooter class, in the expert class and in the distinguished expert class. As not all rifle ranges afford an opportunity to practice in the last two classes, travel becomes necessary and there should be allowed for this duty on an average for each member of the Guard at least four hours. This would make in time consumed for field small arms practice on an average per man, 20 hours. In 1907, there qualified as marksmen 9,233, as sharpshooters 1,272, as experts 995, as distinguished experts 527 men.

The time given to outdoor service, or field service, would, therefore, be per man not less than 118 hours.

The other questions asked I have not the means and records to answer.

I enclose G. O. 10, 1907, and G. O. 1, and Circular 1, 1908, these headquarters, which to some extent verify the estimate made above and may be of interest and assistance to the War College.

Respectfully,

(Signed) CHAS. F. ROE,
Major-General.

The camp ground being surrounded by high board fence, sentries were posted only at the two entrances. The guard detail consisted of one lieutenant as officer of the day and guard, one sergeant, three corporals, seven privates, and one musician, and owing to the lack of space was mounted and relieved without ceremony.

The number of officers and men present for duty averaged 680.

Under the supervision of Captain Everett Fowler, Tenth Infantry, acting for the citizen's committee of Kingston, the camp had been prepared as far as possible prior to the arrival of the troops. Streets had been layed out, mess tables erected, sinks made and screened, electric lights installed, and everything done which could be in advance. Captain Fowler is entitled to commendation for the zeal and ability displayed by him in connection with this duty, and thanks are due the citizens of Kingston for the many courtesies extended and for the measures taken by them to make the tour a pleasant one.

The health of the command was excellent, and the conduct of the men, so far as known, was good, only one or two minor complaints having been heard.

Respectfully,

SIR.—I have the honor to submit my report of the condition as to sanitation of Camp Clinton, Kingston, N. Y. The tour of duty from May 29 to June 1, 1908, was gone through with, without mishap. The physical condition of the men was excellent, the few cases of illness reported at the hospital tent were trivial in nature. On my inspections I found the camp well policed, water was excellent in quality and unlimited in quantity. Sinks were looked after in satisfactory manner. As to food the quality of meat, bread, etc., was choice and of high grade. No little praise is due the citizens of Kingston, especially Captain Fowler of Company M., for their untiring efforts to make things pleasant and agreeable and comfortable to both officers and men. Assistant Surgeons, Captains Kroeber and Crispell aided materially with Hospital Corps in keeping health of men in good condition.

Respectfully,

H. E. SMITH,
Surgeon.

APPENDIX "E"

Reports of the Commanding Officers of the Provisional Regiments of the 8th, 9th and 13th Artillery Districts, and of the 47th and 71st Regiments of Infantry on the Service of their Respective Commands in Co-operation with the Regular Army in Coast Defense Exercises.

HEADQUARTERS EIGHTH COAST ARTILLERY DISTRICT, N. G.,
N. Y., PARK AVENUE AND NINETY-FOURTH STREET.

NEW YORK, June 25, 1908.

Adjutant-General, S. N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following report of the tour of duty performed by this command at Forts Totten and Schuyler, N. Y., from June 13 to June 20, 1908:

In compliance with G. O. No. 22, c. s., A. G. O., Regimental Headquarters and one battalion consisting of five companies reported for duty at Fort Totten and one battalion headquarters and three companies reported for duty at Fort Schuyler.

The regiment (provisional) assembled at its Armory June 13, 1908, at 9 A. M., and marched out at 9:17 A. M., arriving at the foot of East Ninety-sixth street at 9:27 A. M., when it embarked on the Steamer Tolchester. The steamer left Ninety-sixth street at 9:49 A. M., and arrived at Fort Totten at 10:50 A. M., where that part of the command assigned to that post was disembarked.

The companies assigned to Fort Schuyler arrived at 11:10 A. M. A detail of one non-commissioned officer and three privates from each company under command of the Eighth District Quartermaster preceded the regiment to the forts on June 12th, and arriving there early in the morning with tentage, etc., established camps.

Cook shacks, mess halls and latrines for each company had been constructed prior to June 13th, therefore the troops upon arrival at their several stations had comparatively nothing to do.

The camp police was exceptionally good throughout the entire tour of duty. Discipline and courtesy greatly improved since last year and attributable largely to the excellent example set by the regular soldiers.

Officers and men were anxious to learn and volunteered for duty at the guns and stations whenever at liberty. The health of the command was excellent.

Camp was broken at Fort Schuyler at 8:30 A. M., and at Fort Totten at 8:30 A. M., June 20th, after which a thorough police of the camp grounds was made, when the command embarked on the Steamer Tolchester at 12:15 P. M., at Fort Totten, arriving at Ninety-sixth street at 1:25 P. M., and at the Armory at 1:40 P. M., when it was dismissed.

The average strength of the command throughout the week was 481 officers and men present being 82 per cent.

In conclusion I beg to state that the tour was eminently successful and satisfactory, officers and men intelligent and enthusiastic, and the instruction imparted by the regular officers of great value.

I would respectfully make the following recommendations. That the detail of a non-commissioned officer and not less than five privates from each company precede the command twenty-four hours for the purpose of making camp. That strong leather gloves be issued to each gun detachment.

That this command be designated to perform a tour of duty each year and that the period be extended to two weeks.

In making this last recommendation, I also voice the sentiments of both officers and men as to the necessity for a longer period of instruction each season.

I beg to include my report to the G. O. Eastern Artillery District of New York as part of this report.

I enclose herewith G. O. No. 5 and 6 these headquarters.

Respectfully,

E. F. AUSTIN,
Colonel, C. A. C., Commanding.

III. The utmost care must be taken to keep the kitchens and appurtenances in proper condition.

All kitchen waste will be placed in covered receptacles, and these will be collected and emptied at a designated place, washed and disinfected. The sanitary rules prescribed in "Camp Sanitary Regulations, Fort Totten," will be strictly complied with.

Commanding officers are personally charged with the enforcement of the provisions of this paragraph.

IV. In addition to the regular old guard fatigue detail for camp limits other than company streets, each company under the supervision of a commissioned officer will at fatigue call, pass over the full extent of its allotted ground and with the necessary rakes, brooms, etc., make a thorough police.

V. The officer of the day, accompanied by company commanders, will inspect the tents, kitchens and sinks twice daily.

After each inspection the officer of the day will report the result of his inspection to the commanding officer.

VI. Neatness and order in camp are of great importance and must be maintained.

A lack of care regarding the disposition of clothing, bedding and equipment will not be permitted.

The interior of the tents will be maintained in a state of scrupulous cleanliness.

All tent walls will be raised and all clothing, bedding and blankets will be exposed to the sunlight daily immediately after reveille when the weather permits.

Tents will be dressed immediately after reveille. Walls will be left raised or guy ropes loosened and the canvas wrapped around the center pole until recall from drill at 10 A. M.

VIII. Unless relieved on account of sickness, officers or enlisted men will not be excused from attending any drill, field exercise or duty.

IX. When outside their tents, officers and enlisted men will at all times appear in proper uniform. When the service coat is worn, it will invariably be buttoned throughout. It should be worn by officers at all times. Shirt sleeves must not be rolled up while in ranks. Suspenders must not be worn over the service shirt when the coat is not worn.

X. Olive drab uniform will be worn until reveille, Wednesday, June 17th, and canvas from that time until "Recall" on the night of the 19th.

XI. Cheering and hand clapping at parades and guard mounting is prohibited.

XII. The attention of all officers is invited to G. O. Nos. 3 and 4 c. s. H. Q. Eastern Artillery District of New York.

By order of Colonel Austin.

EBEN E. ACKER,
Captain, C. A. C.,
Adjutant.

HEADQUARTERS EIGHTH COAST ARTILLERY DISTRICT, N. G.,
 N. Y., PARK AVENUE AND NINTY-FOURTH STREET.

FORT TOTTEN, N. Y., June 20, 1908.

Adjutant, Eastern Artillery District of New York:

SIR.—I have the honor, in compliance with G. O. No. 4, c. s., Headquarters Eastern Artillery District of New York to submit the following report upon the tour of duty of this command at Forts Totten and Schuyler from June 13 to 20, 1908:

The companies were assigned to batteries in compliance with G. O. No. 2, c. s., Headquarters Eastern Artillery District of New York. Major H. C. Wilson being in command of the companies assigned to Fort Schuyler.

The regiment (provisional) arrived at Fort Totten at 10:50 A. M., and at Fort Schuyler at 11:20 A. M., June 13th.

The camp grounds selected at both posts were most admirable and well adapted to the needs of an artillery reserve.

The programme as laid down in G. O. No. 4, c. s., Headquarters Eastern Artillery District of New York was followed except that in almost every instance it was found feasible to permit the troops of this command to practice at the guns at an earlier stage than was anticipated.

In this connection I would invite attention to the fact that this is the first season that the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-ninth and Thirty-second companies have acted as artillery; the Twenty-fifth company having been recently mustered into service and the Twenty-ninth and Thirty-second companies having acted as supports last year.

The following field and staff officers were assigned to duty as follows, and during the battle command exercises performed their several duties while the second relief (Eighth Coast Artillery, N. G., N. Y.) was on duty:

Colonel Austin as battle commander; Major Wilson as fire commander; Schuyler fire command; Captain Acker as communication officer, battle commanders station; Captain Badenhausen as search light officer, battle commanders station; Captain Taller as communication officer, Totten fire commanders station; Captain Davis as search light officer, Totten fire commanders station; Lieutenant Farrington as communication officer Schuyler fire commanders station; Lieutenant Christian, search light officer, Schuyler fire commanders station; Lieutenant Gray as communication officer, Schuyler fire commanders station.

The instruction imparted by the regular officers to these officers in their various duties was of great value, and deeply appreciated, as was the instruction given the company officers and men in the stations and at the guns.

The splendid example set by the regular soldiers had a marked effect upon the courtesy and discipline of this command, which I believe will be lasting, judging by the results shown following the service at Fort Totten in 1907.

After breaking camp a thorough police of the grounds, kitchens and latrines was made.

In conclusion I would respectfully make the following recommendations: That this command be designated to perform a tour of duty at Forts Totten and Schuyler each year and for a period of not less than two weeks.

That camp be made by a detail of one non-commissioned officer and not less than five privates from each company, under command of the quartermaster, twenty-four hours previous to the arrival of the troops.

That tentage, cots, field ranges, etc., be furnished and kept at the post for use of the National Guard troops. This would save trouble and the expense of transportation.

That a permanent sewerage system for the camps be established, and the latrines at Fort Schuyler be located near the company camps.

That the kitchens be remodeled, so that the roof slants away from the door and that they be furnished with a wire screened serving window and serving counter.

Respectfully,

E. F. AUSTIN,
Colonel, C. A. C., Commanding.

HEADQUARTERS NINTH COAST ARTILLERY DISTRICT, N. G., N. Y., 125 WEST FOURTEENTH STREET,

NEW YORK, June 29, 1908.

Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—In compliance with orders, I have the honor to forward the following report of tour of camp from June 13th to 20th inclusive, at Fort Wadsworth, N. Y.:

The various companies in the Ninth District Coast Artillery assembled at its home station, Fourteenth street near Sixth avenue, at 7 A. M., Saturday, June 13th. The regiment left the armory 7:45 A. M., in field service uniform, without ammunition. The regiment marched to the Staten Island Ferry, foot of Whitehall street, New York city, and embarked on the 8:45 boat for Staten Island. The organizations reached Fort Wadsworth at 10:56 A. M. The several companies were immediately assigned to their company streets, and work of the week begun.

June 13. The day was spent in drawing rations and setting camp in order.

June 14, A. M. The companies were divided into small parties, all of which were personally conducted through the position finding stations, etc., by officers and non-commissioned officers of the regular army. In the afternoon the organization was mustered by Lieutenant-Colonel S. E. Allen, a review preceding that ceremony. June 15, A. M. Was spent in forming company nomenclature and use of the guns, the range sections, receiving at the same time theoretical instruction at the position finding stations and emplacement.

June 15, P. M. Same as A. M.

June 16. Was spent in fire command and battery drill.

June 17. Battle and fire command drill.

June 18, A. M. Attack on harbor by simulated squadron, calibration fire. Call to arms at 8 o'clock.

June 18. In the afternoon, same as morning.

June 18. At night, the same as morning.

June 19. The same as June 18. In the afternoon troops were paid by the United States Government.

June 20. Camp was struck at 8 A. M. Troops left for home station 10:30 A. M. Reached home station at 1 o'clock.

On June 19, 9:30 P. M., while one of the war phases was on, a sad accident occurred, causing the death of Privates John Walz and George Harvey, Sixteenth company, Ninth Coast Artillery District. As far as I can learn from a personal investigation, the cause of the accident was the premature explosion of an eight-pound bag of black powder while being placed in the breech of a six-inch gun at Battery Mills. It was the duty of Private Walz to carry the powder from the stairway leading to the magazine and place it in the breech. It was the duty of Private Harvey, after each time the gun was fired, to swab the chamber and clean the breech. It appears that Private Harvey had swabbed the chamber and was cleaning the mushroom of the breech block when Private Walz placed the powder in the breech and was pushing it home when the explosion occurred. It is presumed that as the pole of the swab was too short to reach the full length of the gun (the extension not having been affixed), there was a spark of burning residue which had not been removed by the swab, and as the swab was drawn created a draft that brought the burning fragment into the breech, which ignited the powder as soon as placed therein. I refrain from expressing any opinion as to the responsibility, either from ignorance or carelessness of the officers or men, for the reason that I being a member of the Board of Inquiry appointed by Lieutenant-Colonel S. E. Allen, U. S. A., and said Board having investigated the accident, made its findings, and same have been forwarded to the War Department. I can but express my regret at the sad accident.

Our instructions by the regular army officers were most thorough, and the courtesy shown to us by them was all that could be desired. It is the universal expression of all concerned that the tour was a success in every way, and I recommend that the companies in the Ninth Coast Artillery District be permanently assigned to the several batteries at Fort Wadsworth. And further recommend that the companies be assigned for a tour of duty each year.

Attention is called to the fact that the tentage assigned to this district is in very poor condition. There are few, if any, tents that do not leak in a storm. Some have been worn into holes, and I report that in my judgment is unserviceable.

Respectfully,

W. F. MORRIS,
Colonel, Commanding Ninth C. A. D.

HEADQUARTERS NINTH DISTRICT, C. A. C., N. G., N. Y.,

NEW YORK CITY, June 29, 1908.

The Adjutant-General, S. N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to report in connection with the joint exercises of the militia and United States Army that the several companies of this district participated therein from June 13th to the 20th, inclusive, and during this period were stationed at Fort Wadsworth in the Southern Artillery District of New York.

There can be no doubt that the officers and men of this district, have not only benefited greatly as a consequence of their association with the regulars, but that they have positively enjoyed every moment of the experience.

The District Commander requested reports from all the officers of this district at the conclusion of the exercises and further requested suggestions in connection with future exercises. The principal suggestions made by the undersigned was the restriction of the firing interval to stated limits when black powder charges are used. At Battery Mills where two men of the Sixteenth Company were mortally injured, there appeared to be no restriction in connection with rapidity of fire. Further a suggestion was made that the case enclosing black powder charges be made of asbestos or material of that character that would in a measure prevent the instantaneous combustion of the charge should it be placed in contact with sparks or burning residue. Further that regular commissioned officers acting as instructors be qualified through actual experience with the particular arm in use, rather than by reason of their general knowledge of coast defense armanent. Further, that no exercises be held at batteries that have not been in actual commission for at least one month previous to the arrival of visiting militia. Further, that no regular enlisted man be detailed to act in conjunction with militia, who has been in the service of the United States less than one year.

The necessity for the exercises being held annually cannot be too strongly recommended.

Respectfully,

FRANKLIN W. WARD,

Major, 9th C. A. Dist., N. G., N. Y.

For details of accident which resulted in death of privates of the 16th Co., vid. enclosure. There were many heat prostrations in the march home from Fort Wadsworth to St. George on June 20th, that were not recorded. They were stimulated and put on cars and quarter-master wagons and rode to ferry. Two cases were sent to Smith Infirmary, S. I., two were sent to St. Gregory Hospital and one to Hudson Street Hospital. All were able and did leave hospitals before 5 p. m., June 20th. To date there have been no sequelae reported or discovered. The tentage of this organization is generally in sufficiently poor condition to warrant the comment of the Medical Department. I think it would be beneficial for the Medical Department to have its own tentage issued to it and to be able to control the use of it.

I Certify that the above report and record is correct.

HEADQUARTERS HOSPITAL CORPS, NINTH COAST ARTILLERY DISTRICT, N. G., N. Y., 125 WEST FOURTEENTH STREET,

NEW YORK, June 23, 1908.

The Surgeon, Division N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—In this inclosure, I have the honor to make a more detailed report than is permitted on form 69, of the accident which occurred at Fort Wadsworth, N. Y., on June 18th, which resulted in the deaths of two privates of the Sixteenth Company, C. A. C., N. G., N. Y.

A board of investigation was convened by S. O. No. 75, Fort Wadsworth, June 19, 1908, at this date, I do not know the findings of that board, but it is sufficient for our surgical viewpoint, to know that the agents producing the traumata, were explosive force and fire. There was no evidence of any of the injuries having been due to missiles of any description.

The accident occurred about 9:40 P. M., June 18, 1908, at Battery Mills, which was about one-eighth of a mile from the hospital of the Ninth Coast Artillery District. The Hospital Corps bugle sounded, and Captain Dearborn, assistant surgeon, with two litter squads, a sergeant and a corporal, Hospital Corps, started for the site of the accident. The clothing of privates Waltz and Harvey was found to be burning, and these men, with private McDowell, were lying prostrate on the ground. The flames were extinguished and it was immediately apparent that the former two were seriously injured. They were conveyed at once to the Regimental Hospital, as was also private McDowell by a third litter squad. I wish here, to commend the alacrity and splendid discipline of the corps at this time. The patients were in the hospital with the four surgeons and full corps at work in less than five minutes after the accident occurred. In the hospital the patients were stimulated, and their extensive wounds dressed, and splints applied. They were then at once conveyed in the post ambulance to the post hospital, which Dr. C. I. Wertenbaker, Acting Post Surgeon, had in readiness for their reception. The patients were in the operating room of the post hospital about twenty minutes after the accident occurred.

On examination, private McDowell was seen to have no injuries, and to be suffering from mild shock and syncope. Dr. Corde, Sergeant, First Class, Hospital Corps, was detailed to attend to him, and he was able to leave the hospital for duty early next morning. Captain Maloney, Assistant Surgeon, Ninth Coast Artillery District, Captain Davis, Assistant Surgeon, Forty-seventh Regiment, who kindly volunteered his aid, and Dr. Wertenbaker, with a detail from the corps of the regulars and the Ninth Coast Artillery District, went to work on private Waltz. Major Cherry, Surgeon, and Captains Dearborn and Kellogg, Assistant surgeons, of the Ninth Coast Artillery District, with similar assistants as above, attended to private Harvey.

Private Waltz had a traumatic amputation of the right forearm at the elbow joint, severe burns of the face, chest, left forearm and severe contusion of the right shoulder. Both eyeballs were severely burned, and injured, totally destroying the sight. All burns were badly powder marked. At the site of accident it was at first thought that private Waltz was dead — and later, it was evident that he was dying. He was in profound shock and dyspnoeae, probably from carbonic acid gas poisoning, as the loss of blood was slight from primary, and there was no secondary hemorrhage. His wounds and burns were carefully cleansed and dressed. He was actively stimulated, heat applied and given enervato and hypodermoclysis of hor salini solution. He never reacted nor regained consciousness and died at 12:20 A. M., June 19th.

Private Harvey had a compound fracture of left forearm, upper third, all parts below fracture being badly mangled, severe burns of face, neck, left arm, chest, left side, left thigh and leg, and discrete patches of burning, less severe, of right arm and forearm and right thigh and leg. The face, neck and left arm were badly charred. Both eyeballs were severely burned and injured, totally destroying sight. All burns were badly powder marked. Though his injuries were more extensive than those of private Waltz, his shock was not so profound. He struggled continually and displayed a wonderful vitality. He was actively stimulated, and given morphine and atropine by "hypo." His burns were cleansed and dressed in solution of picric acid and gauze. The fracture was reduced, some fragments of forearm and hand excised, and forearm packed in towels saturated with hot 1-3000 bi. Chloride solution and splint applied. Enemata of hot salini solution and whiskey were given. After an hour the quality and strength of pulse improved somewhat. Two surgeons and detail of four men from corps remained constantly with patient, and heart stimulants and morphine were given as indicated. The patient showed a tendency to struggle constantly. Water was dropped into his mouth every fifteen minutes. On June 19th two nutrient enemata were given. He was catheterized in forenoon and 3vi of urine drawn from bladder. Towards noon temperature started to ascend and pulse to accelerate and weaken, and patient died at 5:40 P. M., June 19th, probably from internal congestion and shock. There was no secondary hemorrhage and patient never regained consciousness.

Waltz was known to be a Catholic, and Harvey's religion unknown. Religious attention was summoned and arrived before patients died (Rev. Father Cronin and Mr. Grannis).

I wish to express the sincere appreciation of all concerned to Dr. Wertenbaker for his energetic aid, kindness and courtesies, and also to Captain Davis of the Forty-seventh Regiment.

Respectfully,

WM. S. CHERRY,

Major and Surgeon.

On June 19th, I received telegraphic orders from Lieutenant-Colonel George Albert Wingate, Adjutant-General, Division, National Guard, New York, these orders did not state that the board should meet at the State arsenal.

The meeting was held there and copies of the hospital records of the post were made, the medical officer on duty at the time of the accident was interviewed and the gun and emplacement where the accident occurred was inspected.

I would respectfully request information as to whether any further steps should be taken in the matter, previous to receiving applications under M. L. 220, 221, 222, 223.

HEADQUARTERS THIRTEENTH COAST ARTILLERY DISTRICT, N. G.,
 N. Y.; ARMORY, CORNER SUMNER AND JEFFERSON AVENUES, BOROUGH OF BROOKLYN, N. Y., July 28, 1908.

Adjutant-General, S. N. Y.:

SIR.—Pursuant to your letter of instruction dated July 25th, I have the honor to report that having been designated by G. O. No. 11, the co-operate with the United States Army in coast defense exercises, June 13th to 20th, the companies of this district acted under orders attached hereto, viz.: G. O. No. 9, Headquarters Thirteenth Coast Artillery District, N. Y., N. Y.; G. O. No. 37, Headquarters Southern Artillery District of New York, U. S. A.; G. O. No. 56, Headquarters Southern Artillery, District of New York, U. S. A.; G. O. No. 25, Headquarters Fort Hamilton.

The provisions of these orders so far as applicable to the Thirteenth Coast Artillery District of New York, were carried into full effect.

In regard to the practice at a post so near the home station, I still adhere in an even more marked degree to my previously expressed opinion, that the best work is not so secured and that Plum Island presents better facilities; indeed this is evidenced from the fact that the United States sends its coast artillery companies from Fort Hamilton to Plum Island for artillery practice.

Also the large number of visitors to a home post is detrimental to good work.

In addition to this, I am of the opinion that calibration firing should be done by the United States troops at convenient times when the National Guard is not present. It is very slow work and should in no wise result in a charge against the State allowance as it is solely of benefit to the station and takes much time which could be more beneficially employed by State troops. I think this view is shared by Colonel Harris, the District Commander.

The attention, given by all United States officers to the general instructions, is very fully appreciated by all my officers and men, and the general benefit derived by having the company camps placed alongside of those of the regular army has most beneficial results.

Respectfully,

DAVID E. AUSTEN,
Col. C. A. C., Commanding Thirteenth C. A. C.

HEADQUARTERS SOUTHERN ARTILLERY DISTRICT OF NEW YORK.

FORT HAMILTON, N. Y., *April 19, 1908.*GENERAL ORDERS, }
No. 37.

The following scheme for calibration firing as used at Fort Hancock, N. J., during the fall of 1907, is published for the information and guidance of all concerned in the Calibration firing scheduled to take place at posts in this district in June, 1908. All officers are cautioned to familiarize themselves with the orders and instructions herein referred to.

Scheme for Calibration firing as used at Fort Hancock, N. J., during the fall of 1907.

The object of this firing is to determine the dispersion of fire of each gun of a battery at a mean range (6000 yards) as compared with one gun of the battery taken as the standard and to adjust range scales so as to correct for such dispersion. (Reference Gunnery, par. 12.) The scheme of fire contemplates firing several shots from each gun at a fixed target, using the same elevation and sight deflection throughout.

Preliminary Tests and Adjustments.

The following tests and adjustments should be made by an officer, the Battery Commander satisfying himself as to correctness of results. Reports as to same should be submitted to the Fire Commander in advance of any firing.

1. Accuracy of plotting board. Take three positions of target, near center of board and extremes respectfully each at range of about 6,000 yards, and calculate trigonometrically each range.

2. Test each P. F. and adjust for level, and azimuth. (Ord. Pamp. Warner-Swasey, D. P. F.)

3. Test gun platform for accuracy in level, particularly when gun is laid in general direction of fire to be used for tests.

(Note.—Whenever drill is prescribed the regular troops will attend and assist the reserves in every way possible in becoming familiar with their duties. When a company is present it will execute the drill, for a few minutes,—the reserves looking on,—then the reserves will execute the drill, each regular soldier being an instructor in his particular duties. During the week of the exercises, post commanders should suspend the privilege of visiting the fortifications, and, during the phases, unauthorized persons should be excluded from that part of the reservation included in the sphere of operations.)

BOROUGH OF BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 30, 1908.

Adjutant-General S. N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit herewith the reports of my Battalion Commanders on the tour of duty of this command in the joint army and militia coast defense exercises, June 12 to 20, 1908.

Advance party as prescribed in paragraphs 50 and 51 G. O. 44, War Department, was sent to each post twenty-four hours in advance of the battalions.

The tour was instructive and very satisfactory and all appreciate efforts of regulars in our behalf.

In my report to the District Commander I recommended that a full regiment is needed at each fort to fully form an out post line; also that the supports from one post be sent to attack the other.

Respectfully,

HENRY C. BARTHMAN,

Colonel.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BATTALION, FORTY-SEVENTH INFANTRY,
N. G., N. Y.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 22, 1908.

Adjutant, Forty-seventh Regiment Infantry, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to make the following report of the tour of camp duty performed by the Second Battalion of the Forty-seventh Regiment, N. G., N. Y., at Fort Wadsworth, Staten Island, N. Y., June 13th to 20th, inclusive:

In compliance with instructions from General Headquarters National Guard, N. Y., this command left its armory on the morning of June 13th at 9:30 o'clock, and proceeded by trolley cars to South Ferry and by ferry boat to the borough of Manhattan, and thence by municipal ferry boat to Staten Island and and thence by trolley cars to Fort Wadsworth, arriving at 12:30 P. M.

It struck camp at 9 A. M., June 20th, in compliance with orders from General Headquarters National Guard, and left camp at 11 A. M., returning by the same route as was taken to camp. It reached its home station at 1:30 P. M., where it was dismissed.

Drills were held in accordance with Special Orders No. 29, Fort Wadsworth, New York.

June 14. Muster of the battalion, preceded by a review.

June 15th, A. M. Extended order school of the squad to include normal attack and instruction in guard duty.

June 15, P. M. This drill, also evening parade, omitted on account of a very heavy rain storm.

June 15th, 8 P. M. Lecture by instructors.

June 16th, A. M. Extended order school of the company and construction of hasty entrenchments.

June 16th, P. M. Company advance and rear guard duty and patrol and outpost duty.

June 16th. Evening parade.

June 16th, 8 P. M. Lecture by instructors.

June 17th, A. M. Extended order (school of the battalion) and taking up position for defence of the fort.

June 17th, P. M. Troops in battle and practical problems.

June 18th, A. M. At "Call to Arms" position was taken up to repel whatever landing parties were ordered by the District Commander to make a landing. Recall at end of phase.

June 18th, P. M. Same as A. M.

June 18th, 5 P. M. Lecture by instructors.

June 18th, 7:40 P. M. Same as A. M.

June 19th, A. M. Same as June 18th A. M.

June 19th, 1:30 P. M. The United States Paymaster paid the battalion the regular United States Army pay for the tour of camp.

June 19th, P. M. Same as June 18th, A. M.

The discipline of the battalion throughout the week was excellent. There was no breach of discipline and the conduct of the battalion in this respect was very satisfactory.

The policing of the camp was satisfactory in every way, particularly the policing of the kitchens. The food was of excellent quality, sufficient in quantity, well cooked and well served. I heard no complaint whatever about the food during the entire week.

Guard mount was held every evening at 6:30 o'clock. Sentries were posted at all the reservation gates on Richmond avenue to enforce the provisions of special order No. 31 in regard to visitors.

The health of the men was generally good. There were no accidents and no serious illness in the battalion.

The ceremonies at evening parade and guard mount and the review were satisfactory, considering the large number of recruits in the battalion.

The weather was all that could be desired, except Monday afternoon and evening when it rained very hard.

Remarks.—The officers generally showed great interest in their work and were always ready and willing to perform any duty assigned them. The staff departments were very ably and satisfactorily handled throughout the week.

From my observation I hardly think that one week is sufficient to get the practical knowledge that is required. I respectfully recommend that the camp tour be two weeks every year instead of one week every two years.

In closing my report I desire to express my appreciation for the many courtesies shown by Lieutenant-Colonel S. E. Allen and all the officers at the post and to Lieutenants Telford and Cooper, Twelfth Cavalry U. S. A. for the many suggestions offered by these officers during the camp tour.

Respectfully,

HARRY BEAM BALDWIN,
Major Forty-seventh Regiment Infantry, N. G., N. Y.

HEADQUARTERS FORTY-SEVENTH REGIMENT, INFANTRY, N. G.,
N. Y., ARMORY, MARCY AVENUE AND HEYWARD STREET.

BOROUGH OF BROOKLYN, N. Y., June 29, 1908.

Adjutant, Forty-seventh Regiment, Infantry, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to make the following report of the work of the First Battalion in the joint army and militia coast defense exercises at Fort Hamilton, June 13 to 20, 1908.

Pursuant to G. O. No. 15, Forty-seventh Regiment, c. s. assembly was sounded at 9 A. M. June 13th and soon after the battalion, accompanied by the Colonel and his staff boarded the trolley cars and one hour later reached Fort Hamilton.

A detail from the battalion under Lieutenant R. L. L. Warner preceded the battalion by 24 hours with the camp equipage, for the purpose of preparing the ground, erecting the tents and having the noon mess ready for the troops on their arrival, all of which were faithfully carried out.

After seeing that the men were properly cared for I, together with the officers of the battalion, called on Lieutenant-Colonel Ludlow for the double purpose of reporting our presence and paying our respects. I was informed at this meeting that guard mount would be ten minutes after retreat during our tour of service and that I would have to furnish the bulk of the guard, orders for which would reach me later. On receipt of this order I was to detail the officer of the day and officer of the guard, sergeants, corporals, musicians, and privates daily, making a daily total of thirty-eight.

Pursuant to G. O. No. 56, Headquarters, Southern Artillery District of New York, progressive extended order drills from the squad to battalion were held on the first three days of the period, after which the battalion took up positions for the defense of the fort from a land attack. I found that a battalion would be entirely too small for practical work, as I had to employ every man not actually on guard duty to cover the territory constituting the land approaches to the fort.

I was practically fortunate in having two instructors from the Military Academy assigned to my staff during this period, Lieutenants Howzs and Schnyder. These gentlemen, at my request, gave a number of lectures to the officers and non-coms. on hasty entrenchments, outpost and picket duties, and a practical lesson to the officers in map making, all of which were of great benefit to my command.

While I was successful in preventing the enemy from piercing my lines and captured a number of his men, I should have failed to do so but for the fact that I had two machine guns, manned by my own men to aid me.

I am of the opinion that these joint exercises are of inestimable value to the National Guard, as they not only bring our men in close contact with the discipline and courtesy of the regular forces, but also afford an opportunity for work and instruction on a larger and grander scale than that offered by our armories, or even at the State grounds at Peekskill.

I would respectfully recommend that a machine gun be assigned to every infantry regiment, and that a squad in each company of the same be instructed in its use.

Also, that one or more map-drawing boards be issued to each organization, that the lessons received in this important branch of our work may be carried out to completion.

I would further recommend that field desks be made an article of issue and each unit be supplied with one.

Respectfully,

THOS. E. JACKSON,

Major, First Battalion.

HEADQUARTERS SEVENTY-FIRST REGIMENT, N. G., N. Y., PARK

Adjutant-General, S. N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to forward herewith copies of the reports made by the officers of the Seventy-first Regiment, as required by paragraph 49, G. O. 44, War Department, c. s., on the joint field exercises at Forts Totten and Schuyler, June 13 to 20, 1908.

Respectfully,

W. G. BATES,

Colonel.

HEADQUARTERS SEVENTY-FIRST REGIMENT, N. G., N. Y., PARK
AVENUE AND THIRTY-FOURTH STREET,

NEW YORK, June 30, 1908.

Adjutant, Eastern Artillery District, Fort Totten, N. Y.:

SIR.—In compliance with paragraph No. 49, General Orders No. 44, War Department, I have the honor to make the following report of the field exercises of the Seventy-first Regiment Infantry, N. G., N. Y., at Forts Totten and Schuyler, June 13th to 20th, inclusive.

In compliance with orders from Headquarters National Guard, this command left its armory on June 13th at 8:30 A. M., and embarked on the steamer Rosedale, foot of East Twenty-fourth street, at 9 o'clock. The Second Battalion, Major Bruch in command, and Companies A, F, K and M, were detailed for duty at Fort Schuyler, and reached there about 10:40. The First Battalion, Major Linson and Companies D, C, G and H; and the Third Battalion, Major Beekman and Companies B, E and I, detailed for duty at Fort Totten, reached there at 11:20. I had previously detailed Lieutenant-Colonel J. H. Wells in immediate command of the two battalions at Fort Totten. I was detailed as inspector of infantry supports, while not being relieved from duty as commanding officer of the regiment.

Camp was struck at Fort Totten and Fort Schuyler at 8:30 A. M., on June 20th and the steamer Rosedale was taken, at 11:30 to New York, with the First and Third Battalions, taking the Second Battalion aboard at Fort Schuyler. The regiment reached its home station at 1:30 P. M., where it was dismissed.

The baggage of the regiment was sent by wagon from the armory to Forts Totten and Schuyler with the advanced party ordered in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 51, G. O. 44, War Department, and returned in the same manner.

Drills.—Drills at both forts were held in accordance with orders issued by Colonel Whistler and Lieutenant-Colonel Blunt, respectively.

At Fort Totten, owing to the fact that a certain amount of ground outside of the post could be used for drill purposes, the morning drills took the character of problems and were exceedingly instructive and interesting. The afternoon drills were held, with the exception of Monday, for officers and noncommissioned officers. The evening drills, beginning on Tuesday night, were held from 8 o'clock for at least an hour and were usually from two and one-half to three hours. These drills were also very instructive and interesting.

Owing to the limited amount of ground available for drill purposes at Fort Schuyler the battalion there was not able to make as much use of problems, in the way of drills, as at Fort Totten. As was natural with any regiment going into field exercises of a new and untried kind, a number of errors were made and the value of the drills was the rapidity with which the errors were corrected and a want of repetition of the same errors. It was remarkable the quickness with which the officers and men learned what was required of them and adapted themselves to the novel situation. The regiment was particularly fortunate in the ability and caliber of the officers assigned to it by the War Department for the purposes of instruction and observation. It was owing to their interest and valuable suggestions that so much was accomplished. The officers detailed were Major Hearn, C. A. C., Captain Darrah and Lieutenant Honeycutt, Field Artillery. Unfortunately Captain Darrah was ordered away on Wednesday morning very suddenly. Captain Williams, C. A. C., was instructor in guard duty, and Major Campbell, instructor of Camp.

At Fort Schuyler, Captain Tibbetts, Regiment Infantry and Lieutenant Stillwell were detailed as instructors of drills. The thanks of the entire regiment is due to these officers for making the drills as successful as they were.

Discipline.—The discipline of the regiment throughout the week was excellent. There were no serious breaches of discipline. The conduct of the regiment in this respect was very satisfactory, the camp being very quiet every night.

Policing.—The policing of the camp proper was thoroughly satisfactory during the entire week. The policing of the kitchens was only fair to good.

Food.—I heard no complaint whatever about the food during the entire week. Detailed reports are made by the officers in immediate command of the troops.

Guard Duty.—As has been the custom of the regiment in the past, men who had never been in camp and junior noncommissioned officers were detailed for guard duty, with the usual result. The improvement from day to day and relief to relief was very marked.

Health.—The health of the men was generally good and there were fewer men sick in quarters or excused from duty than usual. There were one or two operations, in one case for appendicitis.

Ceremonies.—The parade at 5:15 P. M. was satisfactory during the entire week, showing a marked improvement from day to day, and the same may be said of guard mounting. I saw the guard mounted at Fort Schuyler on Wednesday and it was fair.

Weather.—The weather was as nearly ideal during the entire week as possible. There was a heavy rainstorm on Monday afternoon which caused parade to be omitted, but outside of this rain the weather left nothing to be desired.

Remarks.—The officers generally showed great interest in their work, careful study, and an intelligent comprehension of their duty. All of the staff departments were thoroughly satisfactory in every way. There was a desire on the part of every one to perform all duty required, in a willing and earnest manner. The work was severe and trying and taxed the strength of men and officers much more than any tour of camp instruction that I have seen, but all work was done most cheerfully and with alacrity, the men and officers at all times showing the greatest possible interest in the different duties which they performed.

All of the picket outposts at Fort Totten were connected with headquarters by a system of field telephones. Much of the work was done by enlisted men of the regiment. Seven men being detailed for this purpose. Owing to the few men available for the land defense of the post a telephone system of this kind was absolutely necessary.

A detailed map of the country immediately surrounding the post was made by enlisted men of the regiment under the supervision of Captain Greene, Regimental Adjutant. Copy of the map has been forwarded in the sub-reports.* This shows that in a National Guard regiment men can always be found for almost any work that may be required.

A working uniform should be provided for the infantry as well as for the cavalry and artillery. It is impossible to keep the service uniform neat and clean when it is worn continually for field work and men should not be required to go through swamps and water with the same uniform in which they have to do guard duty, and evening parade. A khaki or canvas uniform should be issued for the use of the infantry in the field.

Recommendations.—I would renew my recommendation of two years ago that regiments be ordered into camp every year instead of every other year.

I would also recommend that the number of searchlights at Forts Totten and Schuyler be largely increased, and that a duplicate light be kept in some sheltered position for immediate use, if the one that is in use should become disabled.

I also think that there should be a number of small searchlights that could be operated by the pickets for the purpose of searching. It sometimes happens that a light is turned away from a suspicious object at a most inopportune time.

In my opinion the number of companies assigned for the land defense at Fort Totten were altogether too few. There should be at least a regiment of twelve companies detailed for this work.

In addition there should be at least two batteries of field artillery, or eight quick firing guns assigned to the land defense in addition to those already mounted. It would also be a wise precaution to assign at least four machine guns to the land defense, to be operated by the infantry supports.

To Colonel G. N. Whistler, Commanding Officer of the Eastern Artillery District, is due the great success of the field exercises. He has the clearest conception of any officer that I have ever met of the limitations and capabilities of the National Guard and the arrangement of drills and exercises by him were progressive, instructive, and, to my mind, the very best that could have been devised. He was very ably seconded in his efforts by Captain H. H. Sheen, the Post Adjutant. To Lieutenant Clark, Post Quartermaster, the thanks of the regiment are due for the able manner in which the camp site was prepared, kitchens, lavatories, etc., being erected before the arrival of the regiment. Everything possible was done to make the troops comfortable and contented in camp.

Respectfully,

W. G. BATES,

Colonel.

THIRTY-FOURTH STREET AND PARK AVENUE,

*The Adjutant Eastern Artillery District, Fort Totten, N. Y.
(Through Military Channels):*

SIR.—I have the honor to report in compliance with Par. 49, G. O. 44, W. D. c. s. that in order to participate in the joint exercises June 13–20, 1908, a detachment of this regiment comprising the First and Third Battalions arrived at its station, Fort Totten, N. Y., about 11 A. M., June 13, 1908, and proceeded into camp. The command was under canvas and fed before 1:30 P. M. On June 14th, at 10 A. M., it was mustered by Colonel Whistler, U. S. A., commanding the Eastern Artillery District. Drills in advance and rear guard and in outpost work were held from 8 A. M. to 11 A. M. on June 15, 16, 17 and 18, and on June 19 in extended order. The companies were drilled in close order under the supervision of Captain Darragh, U. S. A., from 1:30 to 2:30 in the afternoon of June 15th. Schools for officers and non-commissioned officers were held daily under the supervision of the field officers and also by Major Hearn, Captain Darragh and Lieutenant Honeycutt of the United States Army.

The guard was mounted every day during the tour of duty and the entire command paraded every afternoon.

On the evenings of June 17, 18 and 19, from 8 o'clock to 11 o'clock, the Third Battalion, Major W. S. Beekman, was detailed as the outposts, and the First Battalion, Captain E. J. Flack, as reserve. Major W. H. Linson was detailed as special duty with the attacking party by the commanding officer.

An outpost, No. 8, was established at the cable landing, consisting of a sergeant, a corporal and six privates of the guard, at night each man counting for five, and commanded by an officer.

Seven additional outposts were established (see map).

Entrenchments and barbed wire entanglements marked by wooden signs, surrounded the reservation (see map).^{*} All trees and underbrush were supposed to have been cleared outside the reservation, and all wooden buildings on the post which would interfere were razed, second and third lines of defense were entrenched and all brick buildings were prepared for defense.

On the morning of June 17th the outposts were placed in position and instructed in their duties, and in the afternoon all officers and non-commissioned officers were taken over the ground and the reserves instructed as to the shortest path to follow in reinforcing, companies being designated to reinforce at certain points, and as to the method of reinforcing. A field gun, manned by regulars, was placed at outpost No. 1, which commanded the shores, the road from Garrisons and the causeway. A searchlight on the Long Dock swept Little Bay, the battle searchlight and a searchlight at No. 4, Little Neck Bay, and that at No. 1 swept the swamp and causeway. The attacking party consisted of two mine companies under the command of Captain Carter, United States Artillery Corps.

On the evening of June 17th at about 9:50, a feint in boats was made between No. 4 and No. 6. Company C, Captain Jenkins, was sent to reinforce the outpost at No. 5. Both parties fired on each other. The main attack was delivered at No. 1 and No. 2. Company D, Captain Flack, reinforced No. 1, and Company H, Captain Wells, reinforced No. 2. Company G, Captain Maslin, occupied the trenches at the inner line of defenses on account of a report that No. 2 had been captured. Investigation found this to be untrue, however, an unpire having been called for at No. 2, who gave the enemy the west end of the bridge at the causeway, No. 2 having been too heavily reinforced for the enemy to force its way onto the reservation.

On the night of June 18th no attack was made although No. 1 and No. 3 called for reinforcements, and Nos. 4, 5 and 6 fired occasionally on strange boats which passed.

On June 19th, at about 9:30 P. M., No. 3 telephoned to my headquarters that about twenty men (which would represent a force of 400), had landed at Levitt's Dock and were seen approaching the causeway. It was afterwards learned that this report was false, but too late to afterwards use all the reserves to prevent the enemy landing a force near No. 5; shortly after this No. 6 and No. 5 reported a large launch in Little Neck Bay. This report was confirmed by a man stationed on the crosstree of the flag-staff. The searchlight, however, failed to pick up a second launch and boats containing a force of 300 men, who, by a dash, succeeded in landing near No. 5. They were repelled, however, by the supports and by reinforcements consisting of Companies C and G, with Companies D and H still in reserve about 200 yards away, ready to take up the second line of defense at that point if necessary. Part of the supports fired on a force of about 300 men who remained in boats, and Company C fired alternate volleys on the landing party and to prevent the others from landing. An umpire was called for at this stage and he decided that the force of 300 had landed, but that my force had been properly distributed to prevent the capture of the post. Recall was sounded and hostilities ceased.

On the afternoons of June 18th and 19th the call to arms was sounded. The battalions were assembled under arms, the reserve was at its station in about one minute and ten seconds each time and the outposts in from three to five minutes.

Field telephone stations were established at Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6 communicating with my headquarters. The local telephone was used for communication with the Battle Commander, No. 7, the searchlight on the Long Dock and the Post guardhouse; No. 5 communicated with me by messengers. The entire system of field telephones was installed and operated by a corporal and eight men, all expert electricians and part of this command. This work was entirely satisfactory, except as to repeating of messages on several occasions when the operators changed the wording and led to some confusion in the operating of the searchlights. This, however, came from inexperience in this sort of work; there was much improvement on the last night.

During the morning drills, Captain Green, Regimental Adjutant, with a detail of enlisted men experienced in topographical work, surveyed the country adjacent to the reservation and prepared a map. Major Beekman and Lieutenant Perrine assisted materially in this work.

On June 20th, at 8:30 A. M., the general was sounded, and at about 11 A. M. this command embarked at the Long Dock and returned to its home station.

I cannot commend too highly the faithful, intelligent work done by the officers and men of this command. The discipline was excellent, and the night work was particularly noticeable by the lack of noise and the splendid fire discipline.

The work of Major William S. Beekman was particularly noteworthy. His efforts were untiring and much credit is due him for the excellent work done by the outposts.

Discipline throughout the command was most excellent. All calls for duty were promptly and willingly responded to. There were no arrests and few minor casualties. The health of the command was excellent. Improvements in drills and parades was marked each day, as well as in the general set-up and bearing of the men.

The guard was well instructed by Captain Williams, United States Artillery Corps, and the privates of the guard were made to repeat from time to time the General Orders.

A large share of credit is due to the army officers, detailed as instructors. Their uniformly courteous treatment and the interest shown in our work did much, in addition to their instruction, to make this tour of camp duty the most profitable this regiment has had.

The camp is well situated on grass land having an incline toward Little Neck Bay, and no ditching of tents was necessary.

The method of handling garbage and waste material can perhaps be improved on, but time will develop some better way.

This detachment was not large enough to properly protect the post. It would, in my opinion, require not less than one full regiment of infantry and four batteries of light artillery as supports. I would recommend, therefore, that an entire regiment hereafter be sent into camp at Fort Totten.

The regiment should have at least two automatic guns and half of one company should have full instructions and drills in the handling of these pieces.

Each man should have an extra uniform, preferably of khaki, for change after drills, particularly in wet weather. The health of the men demands this.

Not less than three additional searchlights for the use of the supports should have been provided. The 13-inch light was practically useless.

The kitchens are improperly ventilated, and if the troops had remained in camp for a much longer period, would soon have become very foul. In my opinion the kitchens should have floors of tongued and grooved hard pine or maple, and be elevated above the ground sufficiently to allow a free circulation of air underneath the entire structure and for policing. The drawings submitted herewith show the design for an improved kitchen.

The tables in the mess tents unless it is intended to cover the tops with oil-cloth, should be rebuilt so as to have openings between the boards all the way through, and these openings should be at least three-eighths inch wide. As they are built now, the boards have shrunk leaving an opening in which food lodges and becomes foul. It is almost impossible to clean out these cracks. In case of storm, canvas should be provided to entirely enclose the mess tents.

The sinks were satisfactory, except that from a sanitary standpoint they would be very much improved if the galvanized iron lining of the latrines was made with a flat rim under which the wood front would fit tight up. All wood in contact with the latrines should be painted not less than three coats of lead and oil all over and kept painted. The seats should be finished with the third coat enamel; it is much easier to keep clean.

The almost total absence of flies was noticeable and had the policing of the kitchens and sinks been attended to, as it was the last two days of the tour, I doubt very much whether there would have been any at all. A barrel of lime should be kept at all times at the sinks.

I would recommend that the two battalions of Naval Militia be utilized as the attacking party on this post. They are used to handling boats, which the infantry is not. It would be a most useful drill for them. They could leave their home station after business hours and return the same night.

Respectfully,

J. HOLLIS WELLS,
Lieutenant-Colonel Commanding.

Adjutant, Eastern Artillery District, Fort Totten, New York:

SIR.—I have the honor in accordance with paragraph 49, G. O. 44, W. D., to report on the participation of the 1st and 3d Battalions of this command in the Coast Defense Exercises, as follows:

The work was of the greatest value and exactly suited to the state of instruction of the men but would soon be outgrown. The interest of every member of the regiment this year was intense and sustained, but the scope of the operations is so restricted that I doubt if this interest could be maintained for more than two such tours of duty. To the bulk of the men the probability of war is remote and the advantage of being stationed near their homes and business in time of war is, to them of little present importance. The greater magnitude and variety of the manoeuvres at Pine Plains and the greater importance given to them by the newspapers will I think make them more attractive and men will enlist in regiments assigned to the mobile army rather than those assigned as coast artillery supports.

Where so much has been done for the welfare and instruction of the supports it seems almost out of place to make any suggestions but I think the following, if carried out might increase the value of the work:

1. A short daily resume of the work of the preceding day should be given with free criticism and discussion of general results and individual errors. The officers of this regiment are not over sensitive and will gladly submit to criticism in order that they may improve their work.

2. An officer and detachment should be detailed immediately on arrival to make plans for placing the post and batteries in a state of defense; something was done in this line this year but it was not sufficient. Maps should be made showing where entrenchments, wire entanglements, etc., are to be placed and where cover for the enemy and obstructions to the fire of the defense are to be removed. A boat boom made of condemned submarine cables or similar material stretched along the entire shore in 6 or 8 feet of water should be shown on the plans and the trenches should be more carefully placed to enfilade the boom and wire entanglements. A second line of trenches and entanglements should be stretched across the point north of the parade ground so that if an attack, strong enough to drive back the defense should be made on the southerly portion of the reservation the defense could fall back on this line and prevent the enemy from obtaining possession of the houses immediately in rear of the batteries. Sketches showing all these things should be supplied to all officers of the defense and should be explained to the noncommissioned officers. The attack should be supplied with such portions of the information as would be necessary. As much of these trenches, etc., as possible should be indicated on the ground in such a way that they would be appreciated by the enlisted men. The small sign boards used this year were not sufficient.

3. All available machine guns should be brought into use. If the Colt automatics will not fire blanks they could be used as single loaders and their fire indicated by swinging a lantern over them. If Gatlings are available they should be used.

4. The attack should be more substantially represented. More boats should be used. The Naval Militia has a large number of launches and cutters which might be borrowed. Search lights should be extinguished when fired on at short range by boats and this advantage given to the attack. The defence was too easy.

5. Some instruction in messing should be given. The regiment has no enlisted cooks but if instruction were given to quartermaster sergeants it would be of great advantage.

6. The maps supplied this year did not give sufficient detail and a detachment under my direction filled in the topography on the maps supplied as per copy herewith.* More detailed topographical maps should be supplied. It is possible that they could be obtained from the engineer school formerly stationed at the post.

7. The kitchens should have windows on all four sides. The band kitchen did not have a screened door and it was hot and poorly ventilated. The cook and kitchen detail could not look out and it was difficult to make them stay in the kitchen and keep the door shut.

A bathhouse for officers situated near their latrine would be appreciated.

Respectfully,

CARLETON GREENE,

Captain, 71st Infantry, N. G. N. Y., Adjutant.

Lt. Col. J. H. Wells, commanding 1st and 3d Battalions, 71st Regiment at Fort Totten from June 13th to June 20th 1908:

SIR.—I have the honor to report on my service with the Seventy-first Regiment Infantry, as follows:

I reported at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory, New York city, at 8:30 A. M., on the morning of June 13th and took command of the First Battalion. I proceeded with the regiment to Fort Schuyler where the Second Battalion went into camp, the First and Third Battalions then proceeded to Fort Totten and went into a regimental camp. The only work outside of making camp on this first day was regimental parade.

On Sunday, June 14th, the work consisted of camp sentinel duty and the parade.

On Monday, June 15th, the First Battalion made an attack against Fort Totten from the land side, the fort being defended by the Third Battalion. The First Battalion after a long march was able to reach the fort without any opposition.

On Tuesday, June 16th, the First Battalion took the defensive position against a land attack, the Battalion was disposed with the reserve of one company on the road leading out of the fort and at the pickets and a line of sentinels covering the entire front, the Third Battalion was discovered proceeding along the edge of the woods at the front of our left. Instead of crossing the swamp, they went clean around and attacked our right which was placed behind a stone wall and able to defend the position in good shape.

On Wednesday, June 17th, the Second Battalion proceeded the First Battalion out of camp. The First Battalion followed with an advance and rear guard formation but did not come in contact with Third Battalion to engage it. The return to camp was made with positions reversed, the First Battalion leading and the Third Battalion chasing it. The Third Battalion got in contact with the rear guard of the First Battalion and compelled the First Battalion to take up a position of defense. On the afternoon of this day, the officers went over the ground with Lieutenant-Colonel Wells to learn the location of the different posts to which the companies of the Third Battalion had been assigned in case of the call to arms and the numbers of these posts as the First Battalion had been assigned to the parade ground to act as reserve. My duty with the First Battalion ended this afternoon as I was relieved from command of the First Battalion and directed to proceed with Captain Carter of the Regular Army to represent the supports in the night attack. I proceeded with Captain Carter on the evenings of June 17th, 18th and 19th and as directed by orders I made my reports to the Inspector of Supports, Colonel W. G. Bates on the mornings of June 18th, 19th and 20th.

On Saturday morning, June 20th the battalion with the rest of the regiment broke camp and returned to the armory where it was dismissed. The work of the week was along different lines from those taken up by the regiment at any previous camp and I believe that this week was one of great profit as regards the practical work of infantry regiment.

SIR.— I have the honor to report in compliance with paragraph 49, G. O. 44 W. D. c. s. that during the joint exercises June 13–20, 1908, my duties were commanding officer Second Battalion, Seventy-first Regiment, N. G., N. Y. stationed at Fort Schuyler, New York.

In my opinion the exercises have been very beneficial to the Seventy-first Regiment, especially in experience and instruction in advance and rear guard, patrol, outpost and picket duty.

The following recommendations are submitted for consideration in connection with future exercises:

1. That at least two infantry battalions be stationed at Fort Schuyler during future exercises, one battalion not having sufficient strength to properly demonstrate the problems.

2. That the War Department make a permanent assignment and specific designation of infantry organizations to coast artillery posts as infantry supports, thereby enabling the National Guard organizations so assigned to become familiar with the terrain, their stations, duties and disposition in case of actual service. Knowledge that such service would be near the homes and business of the men would undoubtedly have a marked beneficial effect upon recruiting, re-enlistments and general efficiency of the organizations so designated.

Respectfully,

SIR.— I have the honor to report, in compliance with paragraph 49, G. O. 44 W. D. c. s. that during the joint exercises, June 13–

20, 1908, my duties were those of commanding officer of Third Battalion.

In my opinion the exercises have been of unexceptional benefit to all of the officers and members of the regiment present. The problems laid out by the Regular Army officers detailed to the infantry supports were very interesting, instructive and beneficial.

The following recommendations are submitted for consideration in connection with future exercises:

That all special orders to company commanders should be issued through battalion commanders; that schools or lectures be held each afternoon for officers and noncommissioned officers; that night exercises should be held on alternate nights, instead of on successive nights; that officers and noncommissioned officers should be criticized after each exercise; that a working uniform of kahki should be supplied to the enlisted men for the work incidental to the manoeuvres.

Adjutant Seventy-first Regiment N. G., N. Y.:

SIR:— I have the honor to report on the work of the quartermaster's department in the service of the regiment at Forts Totten and Schuyler for the tour of duty on June 13–20, inclusive, as follows:

The camp equipment and officer's baggage was transferred direct from the armory to the forts by means of vans. Those to Fort Totten were accompanied by two battalion quartermasters, the quartermaster sergeants of each company and a detail of three men from each company. Those to Fort Schuyler were accompanied by one battalion quartermaster, a quartermaster sergeant from each company and a detail of three men from each company of that battalion. Both wagon trains entered the forts in proper form the day before the arrival of the various battalions. Much work had been done by the details. At Fort Schuyler many tents of the battalions were erected, and at Fort Totten the entire headquarters tents were erected before the arrival of the First and Third Battalions.

The same course was pursued on our return except we found it was necessary to use the detail after the wagons were loaded. Both trips were made in four hours to and from the forts, i. e., each way.

I cannot give too much praise to the work of the battalion quartermasters, quartermaster sergeants and the privates who were detailed for the quartermaster's work by their commanding officers.

Although the mode of transportation was somewhat different from that suggested in the orders, I think this demonstrates that much labor and time is saved by transporting the camp equipment direct to the forts in the way of handling and rehandling over the usual mode of transportation.

The Adjutant, Seventy-first Regiment, N. G., N. Y., New York, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor herewith to submit a report, as per Par. 49, G. O. 44 W. D. c. s., relative to the commissary department during the tour of duty of the Seventy-first Regiment, N. G., N. Y., at Forts Totten and Schuyler, June 13–20, 1908.

The regiment arriving on the posts found in readiness for them cooking shacks, the openings covered with wire netting to keep out the flies; lighted by electricity, with running water near. Also mess tents capable of seating about sixty, containing tables and benches; five large galvanized iron garbage cans were also supplied to each company, which was removed daily by the post scavenger. The post commissaries had rations ready and were delivered to the companies immediately upon their arrival at the post, including ice. This completeness of arrangements and the help and assistance rendered by the officers of the post to the regiment during the exercises made possible the success of the camp, and more particularly I would like to call attention to the kindness and help given this department by Lieutenant Clarke at Fort Totten, and Lieutenant Fisher at Fort Schuyler, and their post commissary sergeants.

The companies on arrival set up their ranges immediately and were having their first meal inside of an hour and a half. The evening meal was ready at 6 o'clock, and from that time on all the meals were served promptly at mess call, there being no delay of any kind that I could ascertain throughout the entire regiment.

It is naturally to be supposed that the non-commissioned officers of a National Guard regiment, who have so little opportunity to learn from actual experience, would not immediately grasp the situation, but at a school which I held of the quartermaster sergeants on Sunday evening, I found they had all learned their duties and were taking good care of their companies, and as they had all made savings of rations at the end of the week and there being no complaints about the meals, I recommend that the company quartermaster sergeants should be highly commended for proficient duty.

The Government rations were of excellent quality, but as the regiment was only in camp for a week and as it is not practical to take full advantage of commutation of the rations for this short time, the State allowance of 40 cents per day for officers and 20 cents for enlisted men was found necessary. This must be particularly so of a regiment that goes to camp only once every one or two years, there being a number of necessary supplies and materials to be purchased which would last for a much longer period than a week, and yet will not last over one or two years.

The employment of civilian cooks seems to be the only satisfactory arrangement for the National Guard. It would be impossible to get men to enlist for two years just to cook for a week at camp. The prevailing rate of wages of these civilian cooks is $2.50 per day. The State of New York allows $1.60 per day, the difference being paid by the companies. I would recommend that commutation of the State allowance be permitted to be used toward the payment of this addition of wages to the civilian cooks.

If the regiment should be ordered to joint exercises again at Fort Totten, I would recommend that the time be extended to two weeks, and that the members of the regiment be permitted to serve as much time in the two weeks as they could spare from their business. I believe if this arrangement could be made, 90 per cent. of the regiment would do duty, sometime during the two weeks.

Respectfully,

CLARENCE F. TRUE,
Captain and Commissary,

Adjutant, Seventy-first Regiment, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to herewith submit my report for the tour of camp at Fort Totten, New York, June 13th to 20th inclusive, having been assigned on June 16th by the Battle Commander of the Eastern Coast Artillery District, as Chief of the Bureau of Security and Information for the safekeeping of all records and map chart, the movement of the enemy's fleet and land forces, determining conclusions of the enemy's position by various messages, telegrams and 'phone information sent in by imaginary friends and parties from points along the line of the enemy's position.

When receiving this information, my deductions were transmitted to the battle commander for the purpose of securing our position with supports at battery and outposts, charting and showing on map the relative situation of the hostile fleet and land forces.

In accordance with the plan of battle laid out for the batteries and supports, I observed by information received, the course pursued by the battle commander in defense of Totten and Schuyler.

I would suggest that in all camps of instruction, such a bureau be established for the security of the command, and to impart information to all concerned. In addition to this report, I was requested to make a report to the battle Commander of the Eastern Coast Artillery District, turning over all records and map, which was complied with before leaving camp, I was informed that a blueprint of chart would be sent to the regiment for further study.

Respectfully submitted,

Adjutant, Seventy-first Regiment, N. G., N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to make the following report upon the tour of duty of the Seventy-first Regiment, N. G., N. Y., at Fort Totten, N. Y., June 13th to 20th, 1908, as instructed by G. O. No. 44, War Department.

No accidents or illnesses were reported en route and the general condition of the command upon entering camp was excellent.

The camp site had a gentle slope, was well covered with grass, and the soil sufficiently porous to make ditching of tents unnecessary. This was well demonstrated by the fact that during a hard rain lasting most of the afternoon of the 15th inst. water did not run into the tents. The single exception being the hospital tent, the site of which was low and did not afford sufficient drainage; however, its proximity to the post hospital, the reason for selecting the site, more than offset this slight disadvantage. If the tent had been provided with a board floor the little water that ran in would have caused no inconvenience.

The cooks' shacks, especially those recently constructed, did not seem to have sufficient light or air. In the new ones the "hand-out window" has been omitted, the door is solid and they are provided with an opening properly screened extending down from the roof for about eighteen inches on three sides, which affords ample egress for foul air but does not give sufficient light nor is there provision for the entrance of fresh air when the door is closed. The older shacks are properly provided with screens but the boards in the walls of most of them have shrunk leaving cracks of sufficient size to allow flies to enter. The fact that the screen doors were left open at least half the time, in spite of almost constant warning, would suggest that some automatic means of closure be adopted. The kitchens generally were kept clean and the garbage properly placed in the cans provided, but it was almost impossible to impress the colored cooks with the importance of keeping the cans covered. It is worthy of note that the general cleanliness of the kitchens, the care of refuse and an attempt to do things on a proper sanitary basis was most apparent in the one company kitchen presided over by a white cook. The same observation was made by Colonel Whistler in reference to the kitchens of the Eighth Regiment. In some of the shacks quantities of wood were stored thus offering a place for the accumulation of filth.

The tops of the mess tables were made of tongue and grooved plank which had shrunk leaving spaces in which refuse collected thereby making it difficult to keep the tables in proper condition.

Empty but unwashed milk bottles were left by the men around all of the mess and kitchen shacks. They attracted flies and were unsightly as well as unsanitary.

The wash-troughs used by the men answered every purpose, but would be easier to keep clean and there would be less water spilled under them if they were covered with sheet zinc.

The design and construction of the latrines was excellent; they were unusually free from odor, and on the whole kept in good condition. There was considerable difficulty, however, in keeping sufficient water in the receptacles and also in having lime put in them regularly. The drawback to the system was the unavoidable dependence upon a civilian scavenger who was careless in handling the hose used in pumping out the latrines; varying quantities of fecal matter was spilled on the ground in this way.

The proper disposal of garbage and waste matter was excellently done by the quartermaster's department at the post.

An abundant supply of good water was at all times available by hydrants conveniently placed in the lower part of the camp.

On a tour of duty requiring as much work as the one just ended the men should be provided with one complete change of clothing, both outer and underclothing. Fortunately no bad weather was encountered, but if rain had come up during the manœuvres, many colds would have developed as a result of having to continue on duty in wet clothes. A number of men wore low shoes in spite of the warnings of company officers, and as a result developed blisters on the heels.

The habits of the men could not have been better. No case of intoxication or misconduct of any sort was brought to my attention.

The food supply was abundant, well prepared and for the most part properly protected from flies. The ice-boxes were kept in good condition at all times.

No case of contagious or preventable disease developed during camp and the small number of men reporting for minor ills was in marked contrast to the number reporting for similar conditions at Peekskill two years ago.

Congenial surroundings and interesting work which kept the men occupied, best explain this very satisfactory sick report.

A case of dislocation of the shoulder occurred during the manœuvres on the 15th inst. Prompt attention was given by the assistant surgeon present and no ill effect has followed the injury. There were no other accidents of consequence.

Based upon the above observations I respectfully offer the following recommendations:

I. The hospital tent should be provided with a sectional wooden floor which should form part of the permanent equipment. Men having to remove shoes and stockings should not stand on the damp ground, furthermore hospital supplies would be better protected in case of heavy rain.

II. Screen doors should replace the solid ones in the new cook shacks and all the shacks should be provided with a large screened window. The cracks in the walls should be closed or screened. The screen doors should be provided with a spring hinge which would insure their being kept closed.

III. Proper care of garbage and garbage cans will probably never be secured as long as we are dependent upon civilian cooks. Negroes are especially undesirable as it is very hard to impress them with the importance of cleanliness and the necessity for protection against flies.

IV. The tops of the mess tables should be made of plain boards, and cracks of considerable width left in order to prevent the collection of particles of food and soapsuds.

V. The men should be required to properly cleanse all milk bottles and other receptacles for food used by themselves and put same in designated place.

VI. The wash troughs proper and the shelves on either side should be covered with sheet zinc.

VII. A box or barrel containing lime should be placed in each latrine and a given quantity thrown into the receptacle daily. One man should be detailed each day to accompany the scavenger on his rounds and should be required to see that sufficient water is placed in the receptacles after they are pumped out, and that the proper amount of lime is thrown into them. He should also see that no fecal matter is spilled on the ground during or after the pumping, and if any is spilled, to have it removed and the spot covered with lime.

VIII. One complete change of clothing, both service uniform and underclothing would add greatly to the comfort of the men and probably be the means of preventing much sickness in case of continued bad weather. For these reasons and from a hygienic and sanitary point of view, I strongly recommend this additional equipment. No man who has not provided himself with high shoes should be taken to camp.

Respectfully,

W. A. DOWNES,

Regiment, N. G., N. Y.*

OF

Captain Jacob W. Miller, Commanding Naval Militia.

APPENDIX "F"

Report of Captain Jacob W. Miller, Commanding Naval Militia.

HEADQUARTERS NAVAL MILITIA, N. Y., U. S. S. GRANITE STATE, FOOT NINETY-SEVENTH STREET, NORTH RIVER,

NEW YORK, October 23, 1908.

The Adjutant-General, General Headquarters, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following report concerning the operations and condition of the Naval Militia, N. Y., for the year ending September 30, 1908.

2. In my last annual report I stated that it was advisable to return the U. S. S. Newark to the Navy Department, and under your authority, and that of the Navy Department, she was sent to the navy yard, New York, on March 7, 1908. The Wasp was substituted for the Newark on May 14, 1908. The advantages of this smaller steamer over a large one, both from financial and professional points of view, have been proved by experience with her during the past months, as will be shown by the various reports submitted herewith.

3. On May 28, 1908, the Naval Militia participated in the obsequies in connection with the transfer of the remains of Governor George Clinton from Washington to Kingston, New York, opening the official receipt of the remains in this State by a national salute from the Wasp off the Battery, New York. On the following day the Wasp headed the Flotilla, which included United States ships, torpedo boats and submarines, and conveyed the remains of Governor Clinton to Kingston. I enclose herewith, marked "Appendix I," report of Navigating Lieutenant John H. Barnard, First Battalion, N. M., N. Y., relative to this duty. I further annex, as "Appendix II," copy of letter

The Second Separate Division cruised with the U. S. S. "Sandoval" under State orders on Lake Ontario, August 8th to 15th (inclusive of Lieutenant W. J. Graham of my staff), with out of a strength of 793. The reports of these ordered tours of duty, from Commander R. P. Forshaw, of the Second Battalion, Lieutenant E. N. Walbridge of the Second Separate Division, Lieutenant J. H. Barnard of the First Battalion, are herewith annexed, marked, respectively, Appendix IV, Appendix V and Appendix VI.

I would respectfully request that if consistent the thanks of the Governor be extended, through the Navy Department to Commander C. C. Marsh, U. S. N., and his officers, for courtesies extended to the Naval Militia of the State while cruising on board men-of-war.

I further call attention to the standing of gun-pointers shown in Commander Forshaw's report, as compared with that of the other States; and with the general average of a large number of men in the Navy, and also to the extraordinary record of Gun
Captain C. G. Purdy, Third Division, First Battalion, N. M.,
N. Y.

The reports of Lieutenant R. Raynor, Lieutenant E. C. De Kay, and Lieutenant S. Taintor, First Battalion, on independent cruises on the "Wasp," are also attached, marked Appendices
VII, VIII and IX; also the annual reports of Lieutenant E.
N. Walbridge, Second Separate Division, and of Lieutenant
E. C. Sornborger, Third Separate Division.

In addition to the ordered cruises, many volunteer tours without pay, were made on the "Wasp," "Aileen" and "Sandoval," viz.:

"Wasp."

May 14th, transfer of vessel from Navy to the State.

May 16th, officers practice in handling ship.

May 17th, same.

May 23-24, same.

June 19, 20, 21, conducting battalion sailing race. Also for drill and instruction every week-end, up to and including Saturday, October 11th.

"Aileen."

During season this vessel made 20 cruises, and steamed approximately 2,900 knots, in which 65 officers and 725 men took part.

"Sandoval."

October, 1907, cruise to Big Sodus bay.

May 30, 1908, same.

During the season several cruises along the south shore of Lake Ontario. On August 20th vessel inspected by the Commander-in-Chief. (See Appendix J, and C. O. reports.)

6. The usual Small Arms Practice returns are attached, marked "Appendix X," and I desire to particularly call your attention to the showing made by the Second Separate Division, it having made the figure of merit score of 68.12, ranking 13th in the State. The division should be commended for its success.

7. During the year the Governor approved the new uniform regulations for officers of the Naval Militia.

8. The semi-annual returns to September 30, 1908, are forwarded, and they show a gain for the Naval Militia, over return for 1907, of 85; the enlistments in the Second Battalion, Brooklyn, having increased by 75, and the enlistments in the Third Separate Division, Buffalo, by 20. The First Battalion shows a loss of 10, the Second Separate Division, Rochester, remaining stationary. The semi-annual returns to March 31, 1908, however, showed a strength of 743, the United States Government return to June 30, 1908, showed 793, and the present returns give a total of 803, by which you will observe the steady increase in our force.

9. I would respectfully call attention to the absolute necessity of increased funds for uniforms and equipments for the Naval Militia to meet the needs of the increased strength; and earnestly trust that appropriations by the Legislature may be enlarged accordingly.

APPENDIX I.

July 27, 1908.

*Captain J. W. Miller, Commanding N. M., N. Y., U. S. S.
"Granite State," Foot W. 97th St., New York City:*

SIR:— I have the honor to submit the following report upon the duty performed with the U. S. S. "Wasp," under the instructions of the commander-in-chief, and of yourself, in connection with the transfer, for reinterment at Kingston, of the remains of the late General George Clinton, first Governor of this State and a former Vice-President of the United States.

This duty began with taking a position by 9 A. M. Thursday, May 28th, in the Hudson river a little to the southward of the middle of a line from the P. R. R. Co.'s Jersey City terminal to Pier A., N. R., whence minute guns were fired from the time the body left Jersey City on the U. S. Revenue Cutter Manhattan, until the start of the land escort from Battery Park towards the city hall.

Late that afternoon it was suddenly decided to deliver the body to the "Wasp" at our regular anchorage off West One Hundred and First street, this city instead of keeping it in state all night at the city hall. To accord therefore with the arranged ceremonies, and by assent of the committee of the descendants of General Clinton, the body under the army guard of honor, was received without gun salute, which was postponed until the next morning.

At 7 A. M. the next day the "Wasp" was anchored at the upper Ellis island anchorage and joined a few minutes later by the U. S. S. Scorpion and four destroyers of the Third United States Torpedo Flotilla under command of Lieutenant-Commander Fahs, U. S. N. Prior to 8 A. M. there were received on board Lieutenant-Governor Chanler, together with Adjutant-General Henry, Colonel Marvin and Major Moore of the Governor's staff, Lieutenant-Commander Fry of your staff and also the committee of the descendants of the late General Clinton.

At 8 A. M. with the State flag half-masted at the fore and the national colors at half mast, there was fired a Governor's salute of seventeen guns, after which with the foregoing colors at half mast, the "Wasp" convoyed by the five vessels of the torpedo flotilla, proceeded up the river towards Kingston.

At the request of authorities along the river there was, prepared a schedule of the time at which it would be attempted to pass a number of important places on the way to Kingston and this schedule was accurately maintained. Beyond Esopus Island the U. S. S. Hist and two sub-marines, which had proceeded us, were overtaken and added to the column which anchored off Kingston Point at 4:12 P. M., where the committee of descendants were landed and where that evening the army guard of honor went ashore after which a guard from the Wasp's crew was maintained by the body.

At 1:25 p. m. the next day the tugs from Kingston, with the army guard of honor, came alongside to take on board the body, together with the Lieutenant-Governor and staff, and by them, there was also sent ashore to participate in the land escort an infantry detail under command of Lieutenant (J. G.) Macfarlane. When the tugs left the ship there was fired a Vice-President's salute of 19 guns, all flags were mastheaded and the State flag hauled down.

After the conclusion of the ceremonies ashore, Gen'l Henry returned on board and was received with a salute of 11 guns. A little later Lieutenant-Governor Chanler returning on board, the State flag was hoisted at the fore and a salute of 17 guns fired.

The following morning at 9:30, got under way and returned to anchorage off West One Hundred and First street.

It is with pleasure that I can conclude by acknowledging the extreme courtesy of all of those with whom this duty occasioned contact, the hearty co-operation of Lieutenant-Commander Fahs and his command, and the excellent support of the officers and men of this detail.

Very respectfully,

JOHN H. BARNARD,

Navigating Lieutenant N. M., N. Y.,

Commanding First Battalion & U. S. S. Wasp.

The Commanding Officer of the First Battalion will designate not exceeding five officers (including the commanding officer), and forty-seven enlisted men as the crew of the WASP for this Tour of Duty. Corps and ratings of this detail shall be as the Commanding Officer of the First Battalion may prescribe. The detail for the U. S. S. WASP will be made up, as far as possible, from officers and men who have not performed cruise duty under pay in the current year. The Commanding Officer of the WASP will report to Commander C. C. BROOKLYN, N. Y., September 1, 1908.

Captain J. W. MILLER, Commanding N. M., N. Y., U. S. S. Granite Slate, foot West Ninety-seventh street, N. Y.

SIR.—I have the honor to report that in obedience to G. O. No. 29, A. G. O., and G. O. No. 14, Headquarters N. M., N. Y., the Second Battalion, the Third Division, First Battalion, and the Third Separate Division, N. M., N. Y., all under my command as senior officer present, performed a tour of duty afloat on board the U. S. S. "Prairie," Commander A. A. Ackerman, U. S. N., commanding, from August 8th to 16th, both dates inclusive.

There were present: Second Battalion, 17 officers, 229 men; First Battalion, 3 officers, 49 men; Third Separate Division, 5 officers, 54 men.

Transportation to and from the "Prairie" was furnished by Rear Admiral Goodrich, U. S. N., commanding New York Navy Yard, and all detachments reported alongside the "Prairie" between 8 and 8:30 P. M. on Saturday, August 8th.

A list of the officers and men and their ratings having previously been furnished the commanding officer of the "Prairie," her executive officer, Lieutenant-Commander W. P. Scott had station billets prepared and each division of the Naval Militia was immediately marched to its part of the ship and the station billets served out. Each officer was at the same time assigned his quarters, and instructed as to his routine duties, outside of the special drill routine.

The "Prairie" got under way about 10 A. M. for Gardiner's bay via East river and Long Island sound. At 4:30 P. M. the "Prairie" picked up a detachment of officers and men of the Connecticut Naval Militia off New Haven, Conn., and anchored at 9:30 P. M. in Gardiner's bay.

By agreement with Lieutenant Beach, commanding detail of the Connecticut Naval Militia, his officers and men were placed under my command, and the officers and men were assigned to duty without regard to the state organizations, the officers being assigned to duties corresponding to their grades in the regular service, Lieutenant K. L. Martin, Second Battalion, N. M., N. Y., being assigned to additional duty as navigator.

There were assembled at Gardiner's bay the U. S. S. "Yankee," Commander C. C. Marsh, U. S. N., commanding, senior officer present, with a detachment of Maine, Massachusetts and Rhode Island Naval Militia on board; the U. S. S. "Prairie" with New York and Connecticut Naval Militia; torpedo flotilla; U. S. S. "Hist" and submarine flotilla; U. S. S. "Machias," Connecticut Naval Militia; U. S. S. "Wasp," First Battalion, N. M., N. Y.; U. S. S. "Gloucester" and U. S. S. "Incas," Massachusetts Naval Militia, and on Wednesday the U. S. S. "Portsmouth," New Jersey Naval Militia.

All the exercises of the week were prescribed by Commander C. C. Marsh, U. S. N., who was in command of the manoeuvres.

Signal exercises were constant, and there were in addition three stated signal periods each day with flag, ardois and searchlight, and during these periods a record was kept of the accuracy and promptness in making and receiving signals, and as far as returns have been received from the flag ship, the Signal Division of the Second Battalion, N. M., N. Y., Lieutenant A. I. Perry, commanding, was first in signal drills.

Up to the time of the target practice on Wednesday, the Naval Militia were constantly exercised at the Morris tubes, and drill and instruction with three-inch rifles.

Boats were available at all times for the instruction of the Naval Militia, when it did not interfere with other drills. Opportunity was given to a large number of officers and men to visit and participate in the runs of the torpedo boats and submarines.

Sunday was spent in shaking down and laying out the work for the coming week.

On Monday, August 10th, the fleet got under way at 9 A. M., and exercised in squadron evolutions until 2:15 P. M.

On Tuesday, August 11th, the U. S. S. "Yankee" got under way at 9 A. M. and had target practice with the Maine, Massachusetts and Rhode Island Naval Militia, and the other vessels of the fleet exercised in boats, signals and Morris tube work.

On Wednesday, August 12th, the U. S. S. "Prairie" got under way at 5:30 A. M. and stood out on the target range, and had target practice with the New York, Connecticut and New Jersey Naval Militia. The guns used for the practice were three-inch rifles, the target being anchored at a range of 1600 yards, the speed of the ship 10 knots. The practice was held under actual service conditions, and under the personal supervision of Lieutenant Owen Hill, U. S. N., and Lieutenant R. T. Hodgkins, Gunnery Officer, Second Battalion, N. M., N. Y.

The results of the practice showing the gun pointers and the hits per gun per minute are attached.

The best individual score (13.04) was made by Gun Captain C. G. Purdy, First Battalion, N. M., N. Y., and the best team score (10.80) was made by Gun Captain C. E. Finken and Seaman W. S. Finken, Second Battalion, N. M., N. Y. The best average battalion score (8.096) was made by the Second Battalion, and the best State average of any Naval Militia present (8.18) was made by the New York Naval Militia. Attention is called to the fact that this is the best score that has ever been made by any Naval Militia organization.

On Thursday, August 13th the U. S. S. "Dolphin," flying the flag of the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, came in and anchored during the morning watch. During the forenoon Assistant Secretary Newberry paid official visits to the U. S. S. "Yankee" and U. S. S. "Prairie." Later in the forenoon the commanding officers of all the vessels present reported on board the "Dolphin" in obedience to signals, at which time the assistant secretary took occasion to compliment the New York Naval Militia upon their excellent work at target practice.

At 11 A. M. the U. S. S. "Aileen," Captain J. W. Miller, N. M., N. Y., commanding, stood in and anchored. After paying his respects to the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, the commanding officer, N. M., N. Y., called upon the commanding officer of the U. S. S. "Yankee," in charge of the Naval Militia manoeuvres, inspected the New York Naval Militia on board the U. S. S. "Prairie" and U. S. S. "Wasp," and the "Aileen" got under way and stood out at 3 P. M.

At 4:30 P. M. an interstate twelve-oared cutter race was held between the Naval Militia organizations present, which was won by a crew from the Second Battalion, N. M., N. Y.

Friday, August 14th, the fleet got under way at 8:00 A. M. and stood out for squadron evolutions, the Naval Militia officers, as before, having an opportunity of handling the ship. During these evolutions "man overboard" drill was held. About 3 P. M. fleet stood in and anchored in their former positions.

During the evening the officers on the "Prairie" and the Naval Militia officers on board gave a band concert to the officers of the fleet, at which time the Governor of Connecticut visited the ship.

The fleet began to disperse during the morning watch on Saturday, August 15th, the various vessels leaving at such times as suited their convenience. The U. S. S. "Prairie" got under way at 1:10 P. M. and went to New London and disembarked the detachment of Connecticut Naval Militia, and started for New York around the eastern end of Long Island, anchoring at Tompkinsville about 8 A. M., Sunday, August 16th. The New York Naval Militia disembarked about 10 A. M.

In addition to the other drills and instructions, the officers of the Naval Militia were given such instruction in navigation as the character of the cruise would permit.

The relations between the officers and men of the "Prairie" and the officers and men of the Naval Militia were most cordial. The mess arrangements aboard the ship were excellent.

The officers under my command performed their duties in a manner satisfactory to me; the conduct of the men was excellent, the few slight derelictions of duty reported were caused by innocent skylarking, and there were no cases of serious illness reported. The above remarks as to the conduct of the Naval Militia officers and men apply equally to the Connecticut detachment, the detachment from the First Battalion and the detachment from the Third Separate Division as well as to the men of my immediate command.

Commander C. C. Marsh, U. S. N., commanding the U. S. S. "Yankee," in charge of the manoeuvres, was anxious at all times that the drills should be of such character, as would be of the greatest benefit to the Naval Militia organizations; and that Commander Ackerman and the officers under his command were untiring in their efforts to instruct the Naval Militia on the "Prairie" is best evidenced by the fact that the New York Naval Militia present on this ship won in all of the interstate competitions.

I have the honor to recommend a tour of duty afloat each year for the New York Naval Militia.

Respectfully,

R. P. FORSHEW,
Commander Second Battalion, N. M., N. Y.

QUARTERS SECOND SEPARATE DIVISION, N. M., N. Y., NEW YORK STATE ARMORY,

ROCHESTER, October 30, 1908.

Captain J. W. MILLER, *Commanding Naval Militia, New York,
U. S. S. Granite State, New York City:*

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following report relative to the tour of duty of the Second Separate Division, N. M., N. Y., for the year 1908, pursuant to orders No. 48 A. G. O. and general orders No. 18 C. O., N. M., dated July 31, 1908:

The division embarked on the U. S. S. "Sandoval" with two cutters in tow late at night on August 7, 1908, and proceeded to Chaumont bay, arriving there at 10 A. M. on the 8th. This day was spent in making camp and establishing suitable mooring for the ship, the location selected being known as Long point and Long bay, a part of point Peninsula. During the following days details in pulling boats performed reconnaissance duty in the head waters of Chaumont bay and about the outlying islands, together with the harbors of Sackett's and Henderson, the ship participating in the duty. A map of these waters showing this work is hereto attached. Our base of supplies was Chaumont. The entrance to Chaumont bay, between point Peninsula and Pillar point is about fourteen miles from the entrance to the St. Lawrence river at Tibbett's point. This bay affords a large expanse of navigable waters and would form a desirable naval base. The bay can be reached by the New York Central lines at two points, Chaumont and Three Mile bay.

Fifty-one enlisted men and four officers participated in this tour of duty. The usual routine of camp was carried out but the greater part of the time was devoted to reconnaissance work. The camp was laid out in the form of a circle the centre of which was used for a drill and mustering ground. The proximity of the ship's mooring afforded an opportunity to light the camp with electricity from the ship's dynamo, an expedient which was successful to the extent of amply lighting the tents and grounds.

The ship's crew was messed aboard the ship and the remainder of the division on shore.

The health of the men in camp was uniformly good except for trifling ailments which are set forth in the report of the assistant surgeon which is hereto attached. There was no accident of note either to men or property.

On the morning of August 15th we broke camp and transferred tentage and gear to the ship, took the two cutters in tow and proceeded to Oswego, arriving there in the afternoon of the same day. The following morning cleared for Charlotte harbor arriving at the home station that afternoon August 16th.

Respectfully,

E. N. WALBRIDGE,

REMARKS.

The surprisingly large number of demands for medical attendance is not due to any unusual amount of sickness or casualty in camp, but to the fact that it could be obtained conveniently and gratuitously. Probably not one of the men listed above would have consulted a physician if he had to pay for it.

I Certify that the above report and record is correct.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BATTALION, N. M., N. Y., U. S. S.

NEW YORK, August 20, 1908.

Captain J. W. MILLER, Commanding Naval Militia, New York,
GRANITE STATE, FOOT W. NINETY-SEVENTH STREET.

U. S. S. Granite State, Foot W. Ninety-seventh St., City:

SIR.—In accordance with the order of the C. O., First Battalion, I have the honor to submit the following report upon the duty performed on board the U. S. S. "Wasp," under my command, August 8th-16th, both inclusive.

Character of duty.—Combined manoeuvres with the naval militias of New Jersey, Connecticut and Massachusetts on board the U. S. S. "Portsmouth," "Machias," "Gloucester" and "Inca" and the militias of the last two states, together with those of New York, Rhode Island and Maine on board the U. S. S. "Prairie" and "Yankee," together with a flotilla of torpedo boats and one of submarines.

Rank, rating and number of those participating.—1 navigating lieutenant, 1 lieutenant and engineer, 1 lieutenant, J. G., signal officer, who performed the combined duties of executive officer and signal officer, 4 chief P. O., 2 P. O., 18 seamen, 9 firemen and 2 musicians. During several days of this tour service was performed on board by the paymaster and by the assistant paymaster of this battalion.

Itinerary.—Left anchorage near West Ninety-seventh street this city at 8 A. M., August 8th and proceeded through Long Island sound and Plum gut to Gardiner's bay anchoring in berth assigned at 9:15 that night. During Tuesday 11th, got under way with the fleet and exercised in squadron evolutions. Wednesday evening left fleet and proceeded to Greenport for fresh water, rejoining fleet Thursday noon. During Friday again got underway with fleet and exercised in squadron evolutions. Saturday at 9 A. M., on conclusion of exercises in Gardiner's bay, proceeded to New London and allowed militia members of the crew shore liberty until 6:30 P. M. and at 7:15 that evening got underway and returned through Long Island sound to New York anchoring in usual position at 7:15 A. M., Sunday, August 16th.

Character of drills, exercises and instruction.—In accordance with a complete watch quarter and station bill, all of the above, together with the seven shipkeepers and the three cooks and servants were stationed for ship routine, quarters, fire and collision and assigned to boats for abandon ship. In accordance with programme arranged by Commander C. C. Marsh, S. O. Commanding, competitive signal work was carried on two hours each fore and afternoon, and while the squadron was underway a life boat from every ship was dropped to pick up a life buoy, pull once around their ship and hoist in competition against the boats of the other ships. In addition to the boat work involved in squadron routine the several boats crews were exercised under oars and the crews of the two larger boats were exercised under sail. Individual instruction was also given whenever opportunity served in the chains, at the wheel, and with the ping-pong outfit.

Advantage was also taken of the one opportunity afforded to place ten of our men on board a torpedo boat where they were shown the boat and its equipment and witnessed the firing of a torpedo.

The navigating officers of the several vessels assembled were given an interesting and instructive example in the compensating of compasses by the compensation of the standard compass of the "Machias."

In the squadron manoeuvres the few officers on board and the signal men were fully occupied in the handling of a vessel in squadron and gained much experience therefrom. In this connection and in judging the outcome of the signal competition credit must be given those on the "Wasp" for the handicap under which they worked on the small bridge space of this vessel and limited to the one set of signal flags. The latter fact often required the flags of one hoist for make up in the next, while the restricted space crowded those signalling and those handling the vessel. Again, too, those on the "Yankee" and "Prairie" had weight boxes through which a signal was hoisted with ease and dispatch by the fall of a weight attached to the halliards.

Barring a sprained ankle sustained by one man going ashore on liberty and a couple of skinned palms by too rapid lowering of the life boat no sickness or mishap marred the week's tour, and the continued interest of all concerned amply repaid everyone for the considerable work involved.

Respectfully,

JOHN H. BARNARD,

Navigating Lieutenant, First Battalion, N. M., N. Y., late Commanding U. S. S. "Wasp."

APPENDIX VII.

FIRST DIVISION, FIRST BATTALION, N. M., N. Y., U. S. S.
GRANITE STATE, FOOT WEST NINETY-SEVENTH STREET,

NEW YORK, July 29, 1908.

*Commanding Officer, First Battalion, N. M., N. Y., U. S. S.
Granite State, Foot West Ninety-seventh Street, New York:*

SIR.—In compliance with General Order No. 15, I have the honor to submit the following statement of a cruise performed on board U. S. S. "Wasp," June 6th to 14th, 1908, inclusive.

The complement was as follows: 1 lieutenant; 1 lieutenant, junior grade; 2 ensigns; 1 chief boatswain's mate; 2 boatswain's mates, first class; 1 gunner's mate, first class; 1 chief master-at-arms, acting; 1 chief yeoman, acting; 1 hospital apprentice; 4 quartermasters, acting; 1 bugler; 1 gun captain, first class; 3 gun captains, second class; 1 chief machinist; 25 seamen; 5 firemen.

These men served during the entire period.

In addition thereto there was one lieutenant and paymaster for two days and one seaman for five days.

The itinerary was as follows: June 6th to Huntington harbor, June 7th to New London harbor, June 8th to Edgartown harbor, June 9th to Newport, June 10th at anchor in Newport, June 11th to Greenport harbor, June 12th target practice in Gardiner's bay, June 13th to Hempstead harbor, June 14th to home station.

While in Huntington harbor the men were assigned to boats. All boats were called away and inspected as to the condition and completeness of the gear. During the afternoon after leaving Huntington harbor, the crew was assigned to stations for collision quarters, general quarters, and fire quarters, and subsequently thereto fire drills and collision drills were held.

The crew exercised daily fire quarters, collision quarters, and general quarters, with the exception of June 9th and 10th. On June 10th, while at anchor in Newport, arrangements were made with the torpedo station and the members of the crew were given an opportunity to attend torpedo instruction, which was most valuable. The starboard watch was sent ashore in the morning and the port watch sent ashore in the afternoon.

Respectfully submitted,

RUSSELL RAYNOR,

Lieutenant.

APPENDIX VIII.

FIRST BATTALION, NAVAL MILITIA, STATE OF NEW YORK,
SECOND DIVISION, U. S. S. GRANITE STATE,

August 3, 1908.

Commanding Officer, First Battalion, N. M., N. Y., New York City:

SIR.—In compliance with G. O. No. 15, First Battalion, N. M., N. Y., I beg to submit the following:

A. Character of duty.—Second division practice cruise.

B. 1 navigating lieutenant, 3 days; 1 gun captain, first class, second division, 2 days; 46 members of the second division for 8 days; 1 lieutenant (J. G.), 1 ensign, 1 gun mate acting ensign; 2 G. C. first cl.; 2 G. C., second cl.; 39 seamen; 2 seamen sixth division; 5 members fifth division; 1 C. M. A. and 1 hospital steward; 2 cooks and one steward. The regular complement being 7, composed of 1 pilot, 1 machinist, 2 firemen, 2 seamen, 1 bos. mate.

C. Itinerary:

Saturday, July 11th.—Left station 2 P. M., anchored 6:30 P. M. in Huntington harbor, L. I.

Sunday, July 12th.—Left Huntington 11:30 A. M., anchored 11:30 P. M. in New London, Conn.

Monday, July 13th.—Left New London 11 A. M., anchored 4:30 P. M. in Newport, R. I.

Wednesday, July 15th.—Left Newport 10 A. M., anchored 5 P. M. in Greenport, L. I.

Saturday, July 18th.—Left Greenport 8:30 A. M., anchored 5:30 P. M. in Oyster Bay, L. I.

Sunday, July 19th.—Left Oyster Bay 6:30 A. M., anchored 11:30 A. M. at Ninety-seventh street station.

D. Exercises, drills and instructions:

Exercises.—Every day at evening quarters I had the deck force double time, three or four times around the ship. I also allowed swimming each evening the weather permitted; the hoisting of ashes with the arrangements on board gave daily exercise to half the deck force including petty officers who took their turn at this work.

Drills.—All drills were carried out as nearly as possible in conformity with United States Navy regulations. Quarters at 9:30 each morning when the ship and crew were thoroughly inspected. Fire quarters every day, sometimes twice. Used four hose lines for this work. General quarters, followed by gun drill, consisting of practice by all hands with Morris tube every day and continued whenever men were not specially engaged in other work. Collision drill, using spare hammock cloths as mats and two hands from each part with hammocks for stuffing any hole in hull. Coxswains and one other to all boat falls. Abandon ship followed above, the various duties at this drill being assigned to proper acting ratings. Did not actually abandon ship with all hands confining this practice to "Away All Boats" which was done five times during the cruise. Lifeboat drill was done by the lifeboat crew of each watch both at anchor and under way; the latter being successfully done in considerable sea on Long Island sound the eighteenth. Used the first dinghy on port davits as lifeboat with crew of four. Picked up buoy from full speed in four minutes.

Instructions.—Routine, lookout, lifebuoy, steering, signalling and general attention to neatness of men and ship. Men heaving the lead and dummy, whenever not at some special drill. Had a seaman at the wheel continuously, although I assigned four permanent quartermasters and rated the pilot C. Q. M. As the two seamen from the sixth division could not signal, this work was done by the four Q. M.'s directed by officer of the deck, using the signalmen on the bridge as messengers, where they could learn by observation. The crew became very proficient in seamanship, such as both booms and both gangways going down with the anchor, getting away all boats in seven minutes, etc.

The night watches were handled by the four quartermasters and an anchor watch of four; the watch officers doing tours of twenty-four hours in succession beginning at 5:00 A. M. As we anchored each night I ordered a special port routine, which proved very satisfactory.

Respectfully,

ECKFORD C. DE KAY,
Lieut. J. G., Comdg. Second Division.

APPENDIX IX.

August 6, 1908.

Commanding Officer, First Battalion, N. M., N. Y.:

SIR.—In compliance with G. O. No. 15, I have the honor to report that the fourth division assembly on board the U. S. S. "Wasp" Saturday, July 25th at 1 p. m., ready for their eight days tour of duty as ordered. In addition to the complement from this division, which consisted of two officers and thirty enlisted men, the following details from other divisions reported as follows: First division, 3 enlisted men; second division, 1 officer and 2 enlisted men; fifth division, 1 officer, 1 machinist,

2 days, 1 machinist, 3 days and 4 firemen; signal division, 6 men; hospital division, 1 officer, 1 petty officer and 1 man; P. O. staff division, 1 chief petty officer.

Owing to repairs made in engine-room prior to start, steam had been blown off the boilers and some delay was experienced. Departure was taken, however, about 3 p. m. Watch quarter and station billets had been made and given out before the date of departure and each man in the crew had his station before leaving at fire quarters, abandon ship, general quarters and arm and away and collision drill.

The run was made to New London, Conn., without stop, where the ship was anchored on Sunday morning, about 7 a. m. During the night run the crew were all exercised and given instructions in their duties — such as steering, lookouts, heaving the lead, stations under way, log line, etc.

Sunday, the twenty-sixth, was spent at anchor; the ship was inspected at morning quarters and instruction given to all hands in port routine, signalling, etc. Everything was put in condition.

On Monday at 8 a. m. the ship was gotten under way for Edgartown, Mass., where she anchored about sundown. During this run instruction was given at general quarters, and other station drills by the men off duty. Lifeboat was lowered and instruction given in getting away sharply.

The "Wasp" remained at anchor in Edgartown harbor from Monday evening until Thursday mid-day. This was made necessary by reason of Averill, machinist, leaving for New York; also by the departure of Lieutenant Brooks, the engineer officer, for Boston. Under these conditions it was deemed advisable by the undersigned not to steam, although plans had been made to do so.

This interval was used to exercise the men thoroughly with small boat work — both under sails and oars. Subcalibre target practice was started, but stopped on account of anchorage, which was not favorable. Craig, machinist, having arrived from New York, the run was made immediately to Vineyard Haven for water, and after lying at anchor in the harbor Thursday night, course was laid Friday morning at 9 a. m. for Menemsha for target practice. Heavy fog prevented this run, however, and the ship was brought to anchor in Falmouth bay for three hours, and again in Tarpaulin cove for the night on account of above weather.

On Saturday, August 1st, start was made at 6 A. M. for Huntington harbor, which was reached at 9:30 P. M. same date. During this run weather was unfavorable for any target practice, being alternately fog and strong northeast storm. Departure from Huntington was made for New York on Sunday morning at 6 A. M., and destination reached about noon.

The cruise was somewhat marred by the lack of engine-room force; also by unfavorable weather conditions, which prevented target practice the last two days. The signalmen had good practice with both the navy and international hoists, signals being exchanged wherever possible both naval ships and coast signal stations.

I inclose attached a report from Lieutenant Brooks in charge of engines; also list of stations and ratings of the crew; together with copy of bill of fare for each meal during cruise.

Respectfully submitted,

STARR TAINTOR,

Lieut. N. M., N. Y., Commanding.

APPENDIX X.

July 27, 1908.

Captain J. W. MILLER, Commanding, N. M., N. Y., U. S. S.

Granite State, Foot West Ninety-seventh Street, New York:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following report upon the following volunteer tours of duty upon the U. S. S. "Wasp" under my command while commanding the First Battalion.

May Fourteenth.

Character of duty.—Transfer of vessel to State of New York and moving same from United States Navy Yard, Brooklyn, to berth near Ninety-seventh street, North river.

Number, rank and rating of those participating.—Two lieutenants, 1 chf. B. M., 1 G. mate, 3 G. capt., first class, 3 sea and 7 petty officers and men of the navy detailed as shipkeepers.

Itinerary.—Navy yard to anchorage off West One Hundred and First street, Manhattan.

Character of drills and exercises.—None.

The transfer of the vessel consisted of her tender by the acting commandant to Lieutenant-Commander A. B. Fry of your staff, ordered to represent to Governor, who receipted for the vessel and its equipment. Repairing on board with the commandant the navy commission pennant was hauled down and Lieutenant-Commander Fry turning the vessel over to my command, I hoisted the New York Naval Militia pennant.

From the Whitney basin into the East river and down towards Governors Island the vessel was assisted by a navy yard tug, after which I proceeded to an anchorage near the First Battalion pier at West Ninety-seventh street.

May Sixteenth.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BATTALION, N. M., N. Y., U. S. S. GRANITE STATE U. S. S. WASP, FOOT WEST NINETY-SEVENTH ST.,

NEW YORK, October 14, 1908.

The Commanding Officer, Naval Militia, New York:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following report upon the work of the First Battalion during the twelve months from October 1, 1907, to October 1, 1908.

Changes in command.—At a meeting of the officers on September 21, 1907, Commander W. B. Franklin announced that his resignation had been tendered to take effect so soon after the completion of his ten years' service on November 10, 1907, as his property accounts were approved, and that he had applied for, and obtained leave of absence until his resignation was accepted.

In the absence from the State of Lieutenant-Commander MacDonough Craven, the command devolved upon Navigating Lieutenant J. H. Barnard, by whom the work of the winter drill season was laid out as covered by General Order No. 11, of which a copy was forwarded to your headquarters.

On October 15, 1907, Lieutenant-Commander Craven returned and assumed command in the absence of Commander Franklin, on leave, until January 30, 1908, when Commander Franklin's resignation was accepted, after which he commanded as lieutenant-commander, commanding, until the acceptance of his own resignation on March 23, 1908.

From that date the command again devolved upon Lieutenant Barnard until I was sworn in on July 31, 1908.

Property changes.—The possession of the U. S. S. Newark seeming to threaten the retention of the U. S. S. Granite State, led to an earnest request that the former be returned to the Navy Department as being inadequate as an armory, and too expensive in operation on account of the large coal consumption, to permit such benefits of frequent instruction afloat as would be afforded by a vessel of smaller coal consumption.

In compliance with this request, efforts were made which resulted in the return of the U. S. S. Newark and the decision of the Navy Department to leave the U. S. S. Granite State as the armory of this battalion.

Later there was obtained for this command the U. S. S. Wasp, which was turned over by the Navy Department to the State of New York on May 14th, and on the same day assigned to this command.

Duty performed.—During the winter season the schedule of drills and instruction laid down in the above mentioned order was carried out and from the date of receipt of the Wasp, until and including Sunday, October 11th, this vessel was in use for drill and instruction every week end except that of July 4th and 5th.

Included in the duty performed on the Wasp, was the summer tour of this command, which was performed by the several line divisions in turn with the exception of the Third Division, which division performed its duty on board the U. S. S. Prairie, during the department's mobilization of Naval Militias in Gardiner's Bay.

On each of the cruises of the Wasp there was sent a detail from the Engineer's Division to work the engines, and a detail from the Signal Division, from the Hospital Corps, and from the Musicians.

In addition to the above duty on the Wasp a detail from the battalion, commanded by Lieutenant Barnard, manned this vessel for duty in connection with the transfer to Kingston, of the remains of General George Clinton, a former Governor of this State and a former Vice-President of the United States.

Reports from officers assigned to command the Wasp on the above tours of duty have been forwarded to your headquarters, and form part of this report.

Gains and losses.—From the semi-annual returns it may be seen that the strength of the command has been maintained during a year of unsettled and changing command. With the opportunities now first afforded in the Wasp for the class of instruction so greatly desired, another twelve months should show a desirable increase.

Practical improvements.—Too great stress cannot be laid upon the improvement in officers and men due to the use of the Wasp during this past summer. Each of the several divisional commanders have had several tours of duty in command of this vessel, their several junior officers have had the responsibilities and experiences of deck duty, while their petty officers and men have had corresponding duties to perform unaided.

Special commendation.—In conclusion two special performances need recognition. The first is the performance of the Third Division in target practice on board the U. S. S. Prairie, when Seaman Frederick G. Purdy of that division, made a record of 13.04 hits per minute, far exceeding the performances of any militiamen of any State to date. The second was the signal work of the Wasp, during the department manœuvres, when the members of Lieutenant Mac Farland's division, for four hours each day, and in general work throughout all hours, fully held their own in competition with signal men working on roomy bridges, with several sets of flags instead of but one, and, on the same ships, with special hoisting gear. The result of this competition has not yet been published, but it is confidently expected that the Wasp will stand high, if not first.

Very respectfully,

A. E. KALBACH,
Commander, N. M., N. Y.

APPENDIX XIII.

HEADQUARTERS SECOND BATTALION, N. M., N. Y.,
BROOKLYN, N. Y.,

BROOKLYN, October 20, 1908.

Captain J. W. MILLER, Commanding Naval Militia, New York,
U. S. S. Granite State, New York City:

SIR.—I have the honor to transmit herewith report of the Second Battalion, Naval Militia, New York, for the past year.

The armory was formally opened on March 21st by His Excellency, Governor Charles E. Hughes.

During the past year recruiting has gone on at a rapid rate, and our net gain since January 1, 1908, has been seventy-six, and from reports received from commanding officers of divisions and departments the prospects are that we will have a still further increase before the end of the year.

The small arms practice of this battalion has been greatly handicapped this year by the closing of Creedmoor, and it is hoped that we will have a range somewhat nearer our home station for the coming year.

On May 26th the battalion, together with the First Battalion, went to Sea Girt, N. J., for its annual small arms practice, and considering the long distance we had to travel, the state of weather, etc., did remarkably well, capturing the second and third figure of merit prizes.

The Third Division of this battalion won the inter-divisional Secondary Battery match on board the Aileen on October 3d, with a score of six hits.

The battalion paraded in honor of the opening of the Brooklyn subway on May 1st, and also on Memorial Day, May 30th.

The cruise of this battalion took place on board the U. S. S. Prairie from August 8th to 16th, report of which has already been forwarded.

The U. S. S. Aileen was overhauled at the Navy Yard this year, and made her first trip on June 24th. During the season she has made twenty cruises and steamed approximately 2,900 knots, in which sixty-five officers and 725 men took part.

The cutters, whaleboats, and steam launches of the battalion were used extensively during the season, and much benefit was derived in this branch of the work.

In connection with our work on the Aileen, I find that on account of our increasing strength that she is far too small for our use, and would, therefore, request that a larger vessel be placed at our disposal.

In connection with the annual appropriation for the Naval Militia by the State, I would recommend that this be increased, as I find it is impossible to properly run this battalion on its share of the money appropriated.

I regret to announce the death of Assistant Surgeon James S. King, which occurred suddenly on October 9th. Dr. King had been a member of this battalion since June 25, 1898, and during that time served the battalion faithfully and well, and the battalion and the Naval Militia at large have lost an officer whose place it will be hard to fill.

Respectfully,

R. P. FORSHEW,
Commander Second Battalion, N. M., N. Y.

In view of the time consumed in the transfer of the U. S. S. "Sandoval" from New York to Lake Ontario, the drill season at the Summerville Armory was extended through the month of October, 1907. Several short cruises to Big Sodus Bay were made during this time. The U. S. S. "Sandoval" was put out of commission on November 20th and moored for the winter in the basin adjacent to the Naval Militia Armory.

The Naval Division, in conjunction with the National Guard companies and the Third Regiment staff quartered in the new State armory, Rochester, took part in the opening exercises of the new armory which occurred on Thanksgiving Eve, 1907. The Division gave its annual reception at the new armory on New Year's Eve.

The winter drills of the Division began January 7th and continued on Tuesday evenings until May 26th. On May 18th the "Sandoval" was docked on the marine railway at Ogdensburg, an inspection being made by Lieutenant-Commander O. W. Koester, U. S. N., who was detailed by the Navy Department to inspect said vessel relative to work required to continue her in the service to which she was assigned. A report of the repairs made and authorized was subsequently forwarded.

On May 30th the Division participated in the Memorial Day parade as escort to the G. A. R. On this date a cruise was made with the U. S. S. "Sandoval" to Big Sodus Bay. Orders issued at this time provided for drills at the Summerville armory which were continued through the season, terminating with the celebration of the seventeenth anniversary of the mustering in of the Division on September 29th at the Summerville armory. During the summer months the Tuesday-night mess of the organization was successfully kept up.

The Division participated in the tour of cruise duty from August 8th to 15th, inclusive, pursuant to General Orders No. 34, dated Albany, N. Y., July 13, 1908, a report of which is made a part of this report.

On the 28th and 29th of August the General Small Arms Practice at the Bushnell's Basin rifle range took place, seventy-eight members of the organization qualifying out of a total of eighty. Inspecting officers for this practice were Lieutenant Russell Raynor and Ensign W. B. Waite, N. M., N. Y.

The Annual Muster and Inspection was held at the Summerville armory on the evening of September 14th, under the supervision of the captain commanding the Naval Militia. Out of a total strength of eighty-five, eighty-four were present.

During the season several cruises have been made with the U. S. S. "Sandoval," traversing the waters of the south shore of Lake Ontario and the St. Lawrence river, and entering every port from Lewiston on the Niagara river, to Ogdensburg. On the occasion of the State Volunteer Firemen's Convention at Oswego, August 20th, the U. S. S. "Sandoval" being at Oswego Harbor, His Excellency, the Governor of the State of New York, made a visit to and inspected the ship.

On August 24th, Commander A. E. Culver, U. S. N., made an inspection of the "Sandoval" at her moorings at Summerville, this inspection being made by direction of the Secretary of the Navy.

Under orders issued, a Board of Survey inspected the steam launch No. 119, also her boiler and engine, on August 1st. This same board subsequently inspected the pulling boats with gear loaned to the Division by the Navy Department. At this writing it is understood that the Navy Department has assigned steam launch No. 466 to the Division, but said launch has not as yet been received. I would respectfully urge the allotment to the Division of two pulling boats with gear, also that four one-pounders with field and deck mounts be authorized.

The condition of the uniforms and the supply of uniforms on hand make it urgent that requisitions for uniforms be approved and that old and unservicable uniforms be condemned.

The Tuesday night mess of the organization has been successfully kept up during the summer months at the Summerville armory. The arrival of the "Sandoval" has brought about an increased interest in the work of the organization. The Division now stands, under the new Military Law, wanting one officer and two men to complete a separate division of maximum strength. During the year Lieutenant (J. G.) Wm. J. Graham has been commissioned on the staff of the captain commanding Naval Militia, New York, which I appreciate as a favorable recognition of the Naval Militia at the western end of the State.

During the seventeenth anniversary banquet of the Division, held on the evening of the twenty-ninth inst., the following telegram was received and read: "New York, September 29, 1908. Lieutenant E. N. Walbridge, Rochester, N. Y. Congratulations on highest score figure of merit Naval Militia, 68.12. Thirteenth place in State. J. W. Miller."

Respectfully,

E. N. WALBRIDGE,
Lieutenant.

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following report of the Third Separate Division, N. M., N. Y., for the year ending September 30, 1908;

U. S. S. SANDOVAL AND CAMP OF THE 2ND SEPARATE DIVISION, NAVAL MILITIA, N. Y., AT LONG POINT, CHAUMONT BAY, LAKE

Drills were taken up on Monday, September 23, 1907, under Order No. 1, 1907, and were omitted for two weeks, from December 22, 1907, until January 4, 1908. From the latter date they were continued each week, except one until August.

The division was not drilled under arms until January 13th, as uniforms had not been received until about that date, and I did not deem it advisable to send the men on the floor under arms and ununiformed.

From and including October 7, 1907, until August 7, 1908, there were forty-one drills held, which were divided as follows:

Seamanship	7
Infantry	26
Seaman and infantry	5
Small boat drills	3

On the evening of Saturday, April 11, 1908, the division was invited by the commanding officer of the Seventy-fourth Regiment, N. G., N. Y., to participate in the parade and review of that regiment by the Governor and Commander-in-Chief of the State of New York, Charles E. Hughes. The division was assigned to the Third Battalion as the Fourth Company and took part in the parade and review in that position.

On June 26, 1908, I received from the Navy Department three 30-ft. cutters, two 30-ft. whaleboats, an 18-ft. dinghy, and a 36-ft. steamer, with oars, sails, spars and other equipment. As soon as the boats could be brought around to the State yard, where arrangements had been made for temporary storage, the men were drilled each week in boat work, and a series of week-end and Sunday trips arranged for instruction and drills.

The principal trouble with the present arrangement is that there is no proper shelter for the boats and equipment, and on account of the location of the State canal repair yards, it consumes too much time getting to and from a cruising ground where boat work and manœuvres can be properly conducted. It is absolutely essential for the well being of the division and the good of the service that an adequate boathouse and dockage be provided at the earliest possible date, so located that the boats' crews can reach the point where they are to manœuver with as little delay as possible. Such a boathouse is also necessary for the proper care and protection of the boats and their equipment and gear and other government property now in the possession of this division.

On the evening of July 28, 1908, the Annual Muster and Inspection of the division was held, the Inspecting Officer being Captain J. W. Miller, Commanding N. M., N. Y.

In compliance with G. O. No. 11, H. N. M., N. Y., on August 7, 1908, the division left its quarters and proceeded to New York and there joined the U. S. S. "Prairie," where I reported to Commander R. P. Forshaw, N. M., N. Y., with a strength of fifty-four enlisted men and five officers. The tour of duty on board the above named ship continued until August 15, 1908, and the division returned to its quarters on Monday, August 17, 1908. Regular drills were suspended from August 17, 1908, until further orders, but boat work has been continued as far as possible since that date.

Pursuant to S. O. No. 34, August 21, 1908, H. N. M., N. Y., the division proceeded to Fort Niagara under command of Lieutenant (j. g.) T. W. Harris, where small arms practice was held on the government range at that post. There was present four officers and forty-three enlisted men, the division was accompanied by Major H. L. Beck of the Seventy-fourth Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

The Regular Army officers at Fort Niagara materially assisted the officers and men of the division during the practice.

The total number of drills and parades from September 30, 1907, to October 1, 1908, were forty-five.

Pending other arrangements the division has quarters in the armory of the Seventy-fourth Regiment, N. G., N. Y., and have the privilege of the drill floor for all infantry, artillery and signal drills. It is the expectation to show a marked improvement in general seamanship and signal work as well as in infantry drill before the close of the coming season.

Before closing this report I desire to call your attention to the courteous treatment which has been accorded this division by the officers and members of the Seventy-fourth and Sixty-fifth Regiments, N. G., N. Y. They have at all times shown a desire to assist us, and the officers and men of this division are certainly indebted to both of the above named organizations.

Respectfully,

E. C. SORNBORGER,

Lieutenant.

FURTHER REQUIREMENTS.

New armories are required as follows:

At Albany, for Troop B, National Guard.

The administration building of the Forty-seventh Regiment armory at Brooklyn, N. Y., should be reconstructed. It is too small to provide for the accommodation of a regiment. This portion of the building is old and constantly in need of repair.

New buildings should be erected at Newburgh, Mount Vernon and Auburn.

The recommendations of the Commission made in former reports regarding new armories are renewed, and it is further recommended that the Legislature be requested to make the necessary appropriation.

GENERAL REMARKS.

New armories at Syracuse and Oswego were completed during the year and are now occupied by the organizations stationed at these points.

Plans and specifications are being prepared for a new administration building at Olean, and extensive alterations to the drill hall. The present administration building was originally a frame residence with brick veneer, which is fast going to decay. It is most urgent that it be replaced by a substantial structure.

Plans and specifications for a new armory at White Plains under the appropriation made at the last session of the Legislature for the purpose were prepared by the State Architect, bids advertised for and received. All bids exceeded the appropriation, were rejected, and the plans and specifications are now being revised with a view to readvertising within the amount of the appropriation.

Under the provisions of Chapter 473, laws of 1908, the lands and premises situated at Creedmore, Long Island, known as the "Creedmoor Rifle Range", was transferred to the jurisdiction and control of the State Commission in Lunacy as a site for the Long Island State Hospital.

Chapter 209, laws of 1908, authorized the Armory Commission to obtain for the State options for the purchase of such lands as may be necessary for a field rifle range to replace the Creedmoor range at a cost not to exceed three hundred thousand (300,000) dollars, and directed that the Commission should make a report of its proceedings to the Legislature of 1909. The Armory Commission inspected sites reported upon by a board appointed by G. O. 41, A. G. O., 1907, to examine into the practicability of establishing a new rifle range in the vicinity of Greater New York, and after considering all of the properties brought to their attention, taking into consideration the question of safety, accessibility and cost of transportation, it was decided at a meeting of the Commission held on December 26, 1908, that the site at Blauvelt, Rockland County, N. Y., was best suited for the purposes, and it was further decided at this meeting to take options on the properties comprising this site and to recommend to the legislature the purchase of the same.

Respectfully,

F. A. McNEELY,
Secretary.

APPENDIX "I"

To the Report of The Adjutant-General.

REPORT

OF THE

Chief of Bureau of War Records of the Adjutant-General's Office for 1908.

APPENDIX "I"

Report of the Chief of Bureau of War Records of the Adjutant-General's Office for 1908.

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, STATE OF NEW YORK, ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE,

BUREAU OF RECORDS OF THE WAR OF THE REBELLION.

ALBANY, November 17, 1908.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York:

SIR.—I have the honor to report on the Bureau of War Records for the year 1908 as follows:

Bureau of Records.

The force employed is engaged in preparing an alphabetical index of all the New York Volunteers of the War of the Rebellion on record in the office; five large letters, M, P, R, T and W, require to be completed; then it will be necessary to typewrite the whole alphabet from the pencil copies and then to bind the typewritten copy.

Of the Militia Regiments which were in the United States service for short periods during the War, the records of twenty regiments are required and can be obtained only from the auditor for the War Department on payment of the expense, which is estimated to amount to $3,000.

Calls for information as to the service of New York Volunteers are constantly received, numbering on an average twenty per day. One man is kept more than busy to reply to these requests. When a rumor passes through the land that the State has or will grant a pension or the United States increase or award new pensions, the Bureau is flooded, and it has become necessary to have replies to such requests printed. There will not be an end to these calls for information while soldiers of the War of the Rebellion are living, and not even when they all have departed this life.

Bureau of War Relics.

This collection of relics of wars of the United States, principally of the War of the Rebellion, is now well housed, arranged and securely taken care of. It is of great interest to the visitors of the Capitol, and is visited in the course of the year by thousands; over 40,000 registered this current year. This number, however, does not represent all, for naturally many register as man and wife and children, and some do not take the trouble to register.

The resting place of the colors, carried by the Sons of New York, should be better lighted.

Relics are still received in fair numbers, usually after the donors have inspected the hall and room where those already received by the State are exhibited.

General Remarks.

There is on hand quite a large number of records of soldiers of the State who took part in the War of 1812. These it is suggested should be treated as those of the War of the Rebellion have been.

There is also a mass of records of the Militia of the State on hand. It would be well and no doubt profitable to assort, arrange, properly file and index them.

Respectfully,

FRED PHISTERER,
Chief of Bureau.

Report from the Major-General Commanding the Division National Guard on General Small Arms Practice at Sea Girt, N. J

HEADQUARTERS DIVISION NATIONAL GUARD, NEW YORK,

NEW YORK CITY, June 2, 1908.

The Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to forward herewith approved the report of Lieut.-Colonel Thurston, Ordnance Officer in charge on the general small arms practice of the organized Militia of this State at Sea Girt, N. J.

Major-General.

HEADQUARTERS NATIONAL GUARD, NEW YORK,
STEWART BUILDING, 280 BROADWAY,

NEW YORK CITY, June 1, 1908.

Adjutant-General, Division National Guard, N. Y., Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to report that the General Small Arms Practice of the organizations attached to Division Headquarters (except the First Battalion, Field Artillery, and the Field Hospital), and the organizations of the First and Second Brigades, Co. "I," Tenth Regiment, and the Naval Militia, located in New York city and Brooklyn, took place at Sea Girt, N. J., in compliance with G. O. 18, A. G. O., G. O. 7, Div. N. G., and G. O. 7, Naval Militia, during the month of May on dates prescribed in G. O. 7, and the practice was completed on Tuesday, May 26, 1908.

Transportation was furnished by the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Central Railroad of New Jersey, under contracts made by the Adjutant-General, State of New York, the details of which were under my charge.

Owing to the high cost of transportation, I requested each commanding officer to order to Sea Girt during the general practice only those officers and enlisted men who were required to practice, and I refused to transport company servants unless their transportation was paid by the organizations. The above request was complied with by every organization except the Seventh Regiment, who transported to and from the Range thirty Field Musicians, who were not required and did not practice.

The attendance was remarkably good and the discipline as a whole excellent.

The practice passed off without incident or accident, except the accidental wounding of a marker on May 15th, previously reported. The wound inflicted was dressed on May 26th by the surgeon of the Naval Militia, who reported it to be almost healed and needing no further attention.

The following table shows the number of men transported to and from the Range at Sea Girt, N. J., by the two transportation companies mentioned above:

The Brooklyn organizations were transported by the Pennsylvania Railroad from Brooklyn to Jersey City on their annex ferry, for which an additional charge of 10 cents per man was made. The Second Battalion, Naval Militia, furnished their own transportation (Navy Yard tug) from their armory in Brooklyn to Jersey City, for which no charge was made, a saving of $27 for the transportation of this organization is noted.

I endeavored to economize in every manner and employed only the necessary markers and clerks, and required the organizations to do their own scoring under proper supervision. In some organizations this system was unsatisfactory, and I do not think it should be continued in the future except in case of an emergency, such as the present year.

The Governor having granted permission for the use of the Creedmoor Rifle Range for organizations armed with the pistol, on May 7th the Field Hospital and the First Battalion, Field Artillery, practiced at Creedmoor on that date. The cost of scorers, in this case, was also saved.

With the money furnished by the Adjutant-General, I paid all the markers and clerks employed at Creedmoor and Sea Girt on the 26th instant, and forwarded approved vouchers to the Adjutant-General with a check for the balance on the 27th instant.

Scorers and clerk's payroll, May.....	$2,202 00
Markers payroll, May.....	1,914 00
Scorers payroll, Naval Militia, June....	167 00
Markers payroll, Naval Militia, June...	160 00
	<hr/> $4,443 00
1908.
Creedmoor payroll	$64 00
Sea Girt payroll	2,548 50
	<hr/> $2,612 50
Saving	<hr/> $1,830 50 <hr/>

The thanks of the State are due Brigadier-General Bird W. Spencer, General Inspector of Rifle Practice, State of New Jersey, in charge of the Sea Girt Rifle Range, together with all his subordinates and employees for extremely courteous treatment.

The only damage reported in the transportation of troops to and from Sea Girt by either railroad was the accidental breaking of two panes of glass, both in the same car.

The various organizations, with the exception of the Naval Militia, brought with them and expended all of the 30-cal. ball cartridges, for the 1898 model rifle, and turned in to me any balance that remained or drew from me a sufficient quantity to complete their practice. A statement of the ammunition issued to the organizations on the Range was furnished to the Assistant Adjutant-General, State of New York, on May 27th, and the balance of the ammunition shipped to me at Sea Girt, to complete the practice, has been ordered returned.

Respectfully,

N. B. THURSTON,
Ordinance Officer.

HEADQUARTERS DIVISION NATIONAL GUARD, NEW YORK,
STEWART BUILDING, 280 BROADWAY,
NEW YORK CITY, September 22, 1908.

The Adjutant-General of the State, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to forward herewith for your information the reports by Lieut.-Colonel Thurston, Ordnance Department, on the rifle teams representing the State in the National Match, the McAlpin Trophy Match and the Dryden Trophy Match.

Respectfully,

CHARLES F. ROE,
Major-General.

HEADQUARTERS DIVISION NATIONAL GUARD, NEW YORK,
STEWART BUILDING, 280 BROADWAY,

NEW YORK CITY, September 16, 1908.

*Adjutant-General, Division National Guard, New York. Albany,
N. Y.:*

SIR.—I have the honor to report that in compliance with verbal instructions received from the commanding officer, Division National Guard, I organized and prepared a team to represent the State of New York in the National Match, for a trophy known as the National Trophy, authorized by an act of Congress, to be competed for annually by teams of twelve, representing the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and the National Guard of each State and the District of Columbia. Authority to organize this team was granted the commanding officer, Division National Guard, by the Governor of the State, in G. O. 14, A. G. O., 1908.

Owing to the fact that the range at Creedmoor was closed on October 8, 1907, no open competition for places on the team could be held, and I selected the members of the 1907 team and invited about twenty-five other officers and enlisted men, who were personally known to me to be good shots, and these officers and enlisted men practiced at Sea Girt, New Jersey, during the months of June and July, at the end of which time I selected the officials, team and alternates mentioned below:

Captain.

Lieut.-Colonel N. B. Thurston, ordnance officer, Division N. G., N. Y.

Adjutant and Range Officer.

Captain William H. Palmer, ordnance officer, 7th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

Coach.

Post ordnance sergeant George H. Doyle, 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

Spotter.

Captain Arthur E. Wells, Company "H," 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

Teams and Alternates.

Captain Arthur Kemp, Company "H," 74th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.; Second Lieutenant Damase J. Cadotte, Company "F," 74th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.; First Lieutenant Lynn W. Thompson, staff, 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y.; Private Daniel C. Meyer, Company "C," 7th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.; Commissary Sergeant Francis J. Loughlin, N. C. S., 12th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.; Battalion Sergeant Major Charles M. Smith, N. C. S., 12th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.; Captain Robert E. Heun, Company "I," 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y.; First Sergeant Leo F. Knust, Company "E," 7th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.; Sergeant C. B. Spies, Hospital Corps, 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y.; First

Lieutenant William B. Short, Ordnance Department, 1st Battalion, F. A., N. G., N. Y.; First Sergeant Francis X. O'Connor, Company "C," 7th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.; Private John D. Thees, Jr., Company "B," 7th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.; Captain William J. Underwood, Company "G," 7th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.; First Lieutenant, Julius T. Westermann, Company "K," 71st Regiment, N. G., N. Y.; First Sergeant, James F. Dowling, Company "F," 12th Regiment, N. G., N. Y.

The fact that no range was available in the vicinity of Greater New York was a serious handicap to the team, added to which was the fact that for the first time the men used the United States Magazine Rifle, model 1903, with 1906 ammunition.

Such practice as could be obtained at Sea Girt, N. J., was held after a long railroad ride in the morning, to a majority of the team, and practice had to close at 4 o'clock P. M. to enable the team to return to New York.

Every facility was offered the team by Brigadier-General Bird W. Spencer, General Inspector of Rifle Practice, State of New Jersey, Colonel Reid, Colonel Libbey, Major Price and the other officials connected with the Sea Girth range.

The thanks of the team are also due Captain Harlee and other members of the United States Marine Corps team, who were encamped on the Sea Girt range during the practice of the team and who rendered every assistance in their power to the officers and enlisted men composing the team.

The officials and team left New York for Camp Perry, Ohio, at 8 o'clock P. M. on Wednesday, August 19, 1908, over the West Shore railroad in the private Pullman car "Vermont," in which car the team was quartered during its stay at Camp Perry, Ohio.

The New Jersey State team left on the same train in the private Pullman car "Rainbow" and entertained the New York team at breakfast on August 20th and supper on August 26th, General Spencer refusing to accept any compensation for these meals.

The team arrived at Camp Perry, Ohio, on Thursday, August 20, 1908, at 5 o'clock P. M. I reported the arrival of the team and presented my credentials to Lieutenant-Colonel R. K. Evans, Fifth Infantry, U. S. A., executive officer of the match.

The team obtained such practice as it could on the two preliminary days set aside for this purpose, Friday, August 21st and Saturday, August 22d, and as a result of this practice I selected from the fifteen men composing the team and alternates twelve officers and enlisted men, whose scores are appended hereto, to represent the State of New York in the competition.

The scores aggregate 2,773 and the team finished twentieth.

Fifty teams competed, consisting of five service teams and representatives from forty-five States and Territories, embracing the entire country.

Taking into consideration the handicaps above mentioned, I consider the team did remarkably well under the circumstances.

The first stage of the match was begun on Monday, August 24th, at 8 A. M., with 200 yards slow fire, followed by 200 yards rapid fire, followed by 600 yards slow fire. On Tuesday, August 25th, at 8 A. M., slow fire at 800 yards was taken up, followed in the afternoon by skirmish firing. On August 26th, at 8 A. M., 1,000 yards slow fire was taken up and the match was completed at 11 o'clock A. M.

The team left for their home station on the private car above referred to at 5:20 P. M., on Wednesday, August 26th, and arrived in New York city without casualty or sickness at 5 P. M., on Thursday, August 27th, and was officially disbanded.

The conduct of the officers and enlisted men, as usual, reflect the highest credit on their organization and the State, and I desire to express my appreciation of the uniform courtesy accorded me by the entire team.

I desire to call attention to the increasing interest in rifle practice all over the country, as evidenced by the rapid progress of teams who only a few years ago were not considered worthy of attention in this competition and who are now forging their way to the top.

It is absolutely necessary, if the prestige of this State is to be maintained with other States, that a suitable range in the vicinity of New York city be obtained at the earliest possible moment.

The total expense of the team which I have disbursed is $2,261.60. I used every endeavor to be economical, but the large sum required by transportation to and from Sea Girt, N. J., and the expense of subsistence was rather more than I anticipated.

The arrangements for the comfort of the team, I am sure, was appreciated by all.

Respectfully,

N. B. THURSTON,

Ordnance Officer, Captain, New York State Team, 1908.

HEADQUARTERS DIVISION NATIONAL GUARD, NEW YORK,
STEWART BUILDING, 280 BROADWAY,

NEW YORK CITY, September 21, 1908.

*Adjutant-General, Division National Guard, New York, Albany,
N. Y.:*

SIR.— I have the honor to report that in compliance with verbal instructions received from the commanding officer, Division National Guard, I organized a team to represent the State of New York in the McAlpin Trophy Match, for a trophy known as the McAlpin shield, and in the Dryden Trophy Match for a trophy known as the Dryden Trophy, both to be competed for annually, by teams of eight, representing the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and the National Guard of each State and the District of Columbia, ten shots each at 200, 600 and 1,000 yards.

The authority under which this team was organized was approved by the Adjutant-General of the State on August 4, 1908, and the team was to be made up as far as possible from those who were eliminated from the competition in the National Trophy.

The above matches were shot at Sea Girt, New Jersey, during the joint meeting of the New Jersey and New York State Rifle Associations, and were shot on September 9 and 11, respectively.

I selected the following officers and enlisted men to represent the State in both matches:

Lieutenant-Colonel N. B. Thurston, Ordnance Officer, Division National Guard, N. Y., Captain.

Major Edward B. Bruch, Seventy-first Regiment.

Captain A. E. Wells, Seventy-first Regiment.

Captain George W. Corwin, Ordnance Department, Seventy-first Regiment.

Lieutenant W. B. Short, Ordnance Department, First Battalion, F. A.

Post Ordnance Sergeant George E. Bryant, Ordnance department, Twenty-third Regiment.

Post Ordnance Sergeant George H. Doyle, Ordnance Department, Seventy-first Regiment.

First Sergeant F. X. O'Connor, Company "C," Seventh Regiment.

Private H. E. Crall, Company "G," Seventh Regiment.

The team with the exception of Captains Wells and Corwin reported to me at the Beach House, Sea Girt, N. J., on Monday, September 7th and were quartered there until Saturday morning, September 12, at which time the team disbanded.

The team was unsuccessful in both matches, principally owing to lack of practice with the new 1903 model rifle, with which they shot, and although the score in both matches, made by the team exceeded all previous records, the phenomenal shooting of all the teams with the new rifle caused them to be defeated.

The McAlpin Trophy was shot for, on Wednesday, September 9th, the record being 1023 points, and resulted as follows:

Ohio	1078
United States Infantry	1074
United States Marine Corps	1052
United States Cavalry	1040
New York	1026
New Jersey	1011
District of Columbia	990
Maryland	984

Although the New York team exceeded all previous records by 3 points, as will be seen above, they finished fifth.

The match for the Dryden Trophy, conditions which were similar to the McAlpin Trophy match, was shot for on Friday, September 11th. The record in this match being 1001 points and resulted as follows:

United States Marine Corps	1089
Ohio	1079
United States Infantry	1062
New Jersey	1058
United States Cavalry	1052
Maryland	1048
New York	1034
District of Columbia	900

Although the New York team beat the previous record by 33 points as will be seen above, they finished seventh.

In conclusion I desire to say that the officers and enlisted men who composed the team are some of the strongest in this country and no excuse for their defeat is made other than that noted above.

The total expense of this team, which I have disbursed is $278.90.

Respectfully,

N. B. THURSTON,

Ordinance Officer.

Reports of Major Frederick A. Wells, 23rd Regiment, Infantry, and of Major Lewis Balch, Retired, on Duty at Pine Camp, Jefferson Co., N. Y.

HEADQUARTERS TWENTY-THIRD REGIMENT INFANTRY, N. G.,

YORK CITY,

December 26, 1908.

Brid.-Gen. NELSON H. HENRY, Adjutant-General, S. N. Y., Capitol, Albany, N. Y.:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit the following as a report of my observation, while on duty at Pine Camp, Jefferson county, N. Y., June 30, to July 15, 1908, Under S. O. 111, A. G. O., June 29th c. s.

Received S. O. 111, at 12:30 P. M., June 30, 1908, and immediately arranged details for departure that night, on the 11:20 P. M., train via N. Y. C. R. R.

At 11:15 telegraphed Major-General F. D. Grant, U. S. A., at Pine Camp that I would report to him July 1st, upon the arrival of the train.

Arrived at Pine Camp station July 1st at 10 o'clock, and reported to Captain A. J. Boley, A. G., at Pine Camp, who immediately assigned to me an orderly, a mount and quarters; General Grant at that time being out of camp, I was unable to report to him in person, but did so later in the day when he returned to camp. Was assigned to duty as an umpire, per G. O. 13, Headquarters Company I, July 2d.

From July 1-14, six problems were ordered to be worked out, during which I was assigned to all of them, as follows:

Problem No. 6, circular 15, July 1-2.

Problem No. 7, circular 16, July 2-3.

Problem No. 8, circular 21, July 9-10.

Problem No. 9, circular 24, July 13.

Problem No. 10, circular 25, July 13-14.

Also attended the different schools and lectures ordered by headquarters between the problems.

My assignments were as follows:

First Battalion, First Infantry, N. G., N. Y.

Fourth Infantry, N. G., Md.

Twenty-fourth United States Infantry, "Inspection of outposts," Third Infantry, N. G., P.

Second Battalion, First Infantry, N. G., N. J.

Second Infantry, N. G., N. H.

Second Infantry, N. G., C.

Thirteenth United States Cavalry.

Fifteenth United States Cavalry.

During the daytime when no problems were ordered, I visited the different drill grounds, of the various organizations, and observed the methods of instruction, the efficiency, etc., of the officers and men of other states. Also took part in the map maneuvers under the instruction of Major Barth and Captain Walton, U. S. A.

The problems generally were of a similar character, consisting of day and night attacks, greater attention being given to the night attacks. In a few instances trenches were ordered dug, when the men had scarcely enough tools to complete their work, and had it not been for the sandy character of the ground, a lying trench, much less a kneeling trench, could scarcely have been dug in time to be ready for the defence; however, this seemed to be within the contemplation, for when the actual attack began, all were apparently ready, so far as the practical needs went. As to the details of the theory of the digging, disguising, etc., of the trenches, there was great need of instruction, not only in one organization, but in all states as well.

Officers and men alike with few exceptions, seemed to fail to appreciate the practical situation, so far as cover was concerned; all seemed bent upon observing the minute details of the close order drill, and in doing so, lost sight of the importance of cover and disguise, and the attainment of the final result. Perhaps, however had these organizations been given entrenching tools, a realization of their importance, their uses, etc., would have awakened and developed in their minds a true seriousness of the situation, sufficient to have overcome the defects.

My assignments to the regular organizations from time to time, afforded an opportunity for comparison between the regular troops and the militia.

The former although not made up wholly of enlisted men with experience, certainly had the advantages of having officers in command whose experience was most valuable and instructive, while with the latter, many officers had no field or camp experience whatever, in which case men relied upon their own resources, which in many cases excelled the efforts put forth by the weak attempts of the officers; in almost every instance the men were willing and alert, and displayed a zeal which exceeded the intelligence of the officers, but which was all lost when confronted with the experience and teaching of their opponents, the regulars. Officers in many cases stood in the open during the firing without realizing that they were not only exposing themselves, but also their commands, and their positions as well as rifle and artillery fire.

Much valuable time was lost in some instances, discussing the manner in which trenches should be dug, disguised, etc.; some of the officers did not know how it should be dug, themselves; these same officers in the close order drill were very proficient.

The loading and unloading of wagons seemed to lack also the necessary instruction. Some organizations would place the nearest articles at hand on the wagon, and when this article was needed it was almost impossible to find it without confusion and trouble, when the command was going into bivouac. Many men who were tired and hungry, lost the opportunity for rest, and were compelled to wait for their meal unnecessarily, by reason of the lack of instruction in this particular work.

These observations were not confined to one state or to one organization, but a general observation, upon which is based the opinion for the following suggestions:

First.—That entrenching tools be constituted as part of the equipment of every infantry organization. That instruction be given in digging trenches.

Second.—That instruction be given by all commands, in map reading, sufficient to enable an officer to conduct his command to its destination with the greatest of dispatch, and with the minimum of danger to exposure.

Third.—That these subjects be constituted part of the lines of the examinations of all officers and noncommissioned officers for promotions.

Respectfully,
 FREDERICK A. WELLS,
Major Twenty-third Infantry, N. G., N. Y.

ONE HUNDRED AND SEVEN WEST FORTY-THIRD STREET,
 NEW YORK, N. Y., July 20, 1908.

To the Adjutant-General, State of New York:

SIR.—In accordance with paragraph 2 of Special Orders No. 90, headquarters S. N. Y., I proceeded to Pine Camp, Jefferson county, N. Y., and reported to Major-General F. D. Grant, U. S. A., for special duty, on Saturday, July 13, 1908, having taken advantage of the headquarters of the Twelfth United States Infantry leaving New York city the night of June 12, to travel with it.

Being directed by General Grant to report to the chief surgeon of the camp, I did so and received instructions to report the following morning for assignment to duty and so reporting was assigned to the sanitary division under the sanitary inspector, Major Woodruff, Medical Corps, U. S. A., and began work at once.

Quarterming with the Twelfth United States Infantry, and it, with a battalion of the Fifth United States Infantry and the Twenty-fourth United States Colored Infantry, being formed into the Second Infantry Brigade, by the request of Lieutenant-Colonel Bowen, Eighteenth United States Infantry, commanding the brigade, I was assigned by General Orders No. 5, headquarters camp of instruction, June 16, 1908, paragraph 2, a copy of which is inclosed (inclosure A), as chief surgeon of the Second Infantry Brigade and assumed the duties thereof.

In pursuance of Field Orders No. 1, Headquarters Brown Force, June 17, 1908, a copy of which is inclosed (inclosure B), I proceeded with the command on a maneuver outlined as conveying a train of 120 wagons carrying supplies, ammunition and treasure, which would probably be attacked by cavalry and artillery belonging to the blue force, on June 18, 1908. There was assigned as the medical contingent of the brown force, Captain George P. Peed, Medical Corps, United States Army, commanding ambulance, and to the ambulance company, Captain Edwin Hodges, Medical Department, S. N. Y., Twenty-third New York Infantry, Captain E. L. Fiske, Medical Department, Mass. V. M., Sixth Massachusetts Infantry, Captain S. P. Williams, Medical Department, M. V. M., Eighth Massachusetts Infantry, Captain A. C. Williams, Medical Department, M. V. M., Second Massachusetts Infantry, one N. C. O. and six privates of the Hospital Corps, Twenty-third New York and one N. C. O. and six privates of the Hospital Corps, Second Massachusetts. All but Captain Hodges and the detail from the Twenty-third New York, reported promptly on the morning of the eighteenth. Captain Hodges explained afterwards in writing, upon being called on by myself, that he had mistaken the brigade headquarters, had reported to the First instead of the Second Brigade, that from there he had gone to the field hospital and then proceeded to hunt for the brigade, but not finding it, returned to his camp.

The brigade conveying a train, nothing more of medical instruction was attempted than placing the ambulance in a protected place on one side of the road near water, as the action was confined to the advanced guard, this not giving enough for field work with litter bearers and dressing stations. A report was submitted to the chief surgeon of the Camp of Instruction, a copy of which is inclosed (inclosure C).

On June 22d, I attended a maneuver which consisted in an invading force (blue) trying to capture the quartermaster and commissary stores at the railroad spur. The Twenty-third New York and First Battery New York, were intrenched, with the Twelfth United States Infantry as the defending force (brown).

The Assistant Secretary of War being in camp, I had the honor of calling to pay my respects.

The 25th of June marked the end of the first period of the camp and the New York and Massachusetts troops of all arms having gone, the First Vermont, Second New Hampshire and First New Jersey Infantry with the Essex troop of New Jersey, took their places. The militia troops in camp formed the First Infantry Brigade, the New York Cavalry, with the detachments of the Eleventh, Thirteenth and Fifteenth United States Cavalry making the cavalry brigade.

On the 4th of July a salute was fired at noon and the day was given over to athletic sports. In the evening fireworks were set off at the headquarters of the camp.

The 5th of July ended the second period of the camp, the Second Connecticut, Fourth Maryland, Third Pennsylvania and the Boston Cadets, a battalion being the militia troops forming the First Infantry Brigade.

The 9th of July there were two night problems carried out. To the north of the camp, at Stirling, the Third Pennsylvania and Second Connecticut went into bivouac, while about two miles to the eastward, the Boston Cadets and Fourth Maryland were in bivouac. These two forces were to march before daylight and join issue. Southerly from the camp, at Feltz's Mills, the Twelfth and a battalion of the Fifth Infantry were in bivouac, while on little Hop Back, the Twenty-fourth with artillery were awaiting attack. I visited all camps with Colonel Glenn and Captain Johnson in their automobile that evening. Night marching with an attack at dawn was carried out.

Drills, maneuvers and other exercises filled the time until the 15th of July, when in pursuance of a General Order from camp headquarters the Camp of Instruction came to an end. On the fourteenth and fifteenth instants, all troops, except a battalion of the Twenty-fourth Infantry and the quartermaster and commissary depots, had left camp.

Taking the morning train on the fifteenth I reached New York that evening.

During the first period, 15th to 25th of June, about 6,000 troops were in camp. In the second and third periods, about 5,000 each, making approximately about 15,000 troops of all arms during the tour.

Terraine.—Pine Camp, some six to eight hundred feet above sea level, is situated north of the Black river in Jefferson county, N. Y., west of the Rome and Ogdensburg railroad; Watertown being southwesterly from it twelve miles, Ogdensburg, northerly about twenty-five miles and Carthage six miles southeasterly. At the situation of the camp the country is barren, this barren land reaching about three miles northerly, about three miles east, four miles west and a half mile southerly, bordering on the Black river. A high hog-back rises on the southerly side which was taken for the headquarters of the camp. The camp site is nearly level, falling slightly to the eastward. Just before the large cavalry camps, east of the regular cavalry camps, the ground dropped over twenty feet, rising slightly again before reaching the river. Outside the limits stated above, cultivation begins.

Other than where the camps stood, the surface is rolling, wooded with scrub oaks and in places pine. The remains of large pine trees are seen in stumps all over the plain. In addition to and including the grounds near camp, the troops had for maneuvering a territory measuring about ten by twelve miles of which but from six to eight miles were in actual use. Outside of the camp limits described above, the country became more rolling and better adapted for maneuvers. Attention is asked to the contour map inclosed (inclosure D).

Character of soil.—Sand, gradually changing to a sandy loam outside the tract. Sand said to be from ten to thirty feet in depth.

Vegetation.—Scrub-oaks, pine, maple, poplar and whortelberry bushes with a coarse grass are the chief vegetation. There is no sod, the grass not having any firm grip upon the sand. Consequently the surface features are frequently changed by the high winds.

Water.—The water served the camp was excellent in quality and in sufficient quantity. It was taken from two large springs found near a small stream about the third of a mile east of the railroad crossing at the point where the spur was run in for the quartermaster and commissary depots. These springs were impounded and the water pumped by a gasoline engine through a four-inch pipe to large standpipes placed at convenient points to all the different camps. From these standpipes it was piped to the head of company streets, to bath houses and to watering troughs. But once was the supply intercepted and that lasted but a few hours. A battery, marching in at night, broke a feed pipe leading to the stand pipe for the First Infantry Brigade, and no water could be had in the early morning in that part of camp.

Disposal of wastes.—Garbage, collected from the company and other garbage cans twice daily, was hauled to pits dug to the northward of the cavalry camps on a small hill, the southerly face of which led to a small ravine. These pits were fifteen feet in diameter, four in number, three having cones of stone in the center, a pipe leading up from the apex of each cone, and being so constructed as to aid the draught when fire was made. As these pits were not sufficient to handle the garbage, another was dug, no cone for draught being built in it. The method used for all was to lay the fire of cord wood if procurable, the logs being laid gratewise in one-half of the pit, the wood coming near to the top of the pit, making about four feet of fuel. On this the raw garbage was thrown, to the amount of two to six tons, when the fire was lighted. The water mixed with the garbage prevented the lower layers of logs from burning and so insured draught. As soon as the garbage began to dry, it caught fire, the water gradually evaporated and when the fire burned out, nothing remained but ashes, tin cans and bottles. When the pit cooled, these were shoveled out on the hill side and preparations made to repeat the process. The pit without the cone worked equally well as those with them, but the sergeant in charge said he thought it took longer to burn out.

Examination showed combustion equal in all the pits. The fires were laid so the prevailing wind would carry the smoke from the camp. The ordinary kitchen sinks were not allowed, the garbage cans, with covers, taking their place. A sink for wash water, screened and covered, the wash water not including greasy water which was thrown into the garbage cans, was allowed, the sandy soil permitting rapid seepage (inclosure E).

The McCall incinerator was used for human excreta. Between the lines of camps, space would be reserved for the incinerators, those for officers being on the south side of the camps. For the men to incinerators were one for each battalion, three to a regiment, each one fitted with three stacks, two "pits," (using the term for the pans and fire grates for solid excreta) to the stack, each pit having four seats, the lids of which were held down by springs, if all were in use at the same time twenty-four seats would be available. Two urinals, metal boxes with screens and covers, were attached by means of pipes to each pit, giving a total of twelve urinals. Regiments were encamped so that the headquarters of one would be backed by the headquarters of the other, and the same arrangement was followed with the incinerators.

Excepting for the hour after breakfast, it was designed to have but half the seats in any incinerator in use at the same time in order that firing could be done systematically. It may be stated the destruction of human excreta in these incinerators is complete, and their use at Pine Camp was in the main satisfactory. The construction of the buildings was faulty, and that of the incinerators not strong enough. There was some nuisance from odors which is a matter easily remedied.

The incinerators are designed to burn wood, and to insure destruction of odors, before the main fire is lighted, one of charcoal should be made in the grate for this purpose almost under the stack. As soon as this charcoal fire was well under way, the fire in the main pit should be lighted, causing all odors from the contents of the pans to be thoroughly deodorized before they passed up the stack. To insure complete destruction, the fire should be a hot one and kept at full blast until the process of incineration is complete. When hotly burning, by means of valves, the urine in the urinals is allowed to trickle into the pans where the fecal matter is already burning, and is thus evaporated. Unless there is a deodorizing fire, when the urine is allowed into the pans, the smoke gives off a sickening odor. Unfortunately no charcoal was in the fuel issue, and while the odors were lessened by building a fire in the charcoal grade, it was not always sufficient to prevent all smell.

This defect can be easily remedied, and if the incinerators are placed in a permanent camp, while better construction could be required, arrangements could be made for the use of coal, or coal and oil, giving a hotter fire than with wood. In such case, however, further arrangements would be necessary to consume the smoke before it was let go from the stacks. (Inclosure F.)

The covers of the seats being kept tight by springs and the urinals being screened as well as covered, prevented flies from getting at the contents of either, a most important item.

Drainage.—Owing to the porosity of the soil and the measures described above for the disposal of wastes, no drainage was attempted and practically none was necessary, the surface within twenty minutes after a heavy shower being clear of all water. If the camp was made a permanent one, the question of drainage would have to be met so as to avoid all sinks. The waste water from the bath houses drained into sinks, as well as the kitchen waste water as has already been mentioned. As the land falls slightly to the east, drains could be carried to intercepting ones on the southern aspect of the camps and these into the outlet drain to the Black river. But either filtering beds or other disposal works would have to be constructed before discharge into the stream, Watertown taking its water supply from Black river, and the expense would be great.

Winds, rain and temperature.—The prevailing wind during the camp tour was southwest, and judging from the bend of trees, it is likewise at other seasons. From that quarter came the hurricane suffered on the 14th of June, as well as all the gales and heavy rains during the month. It is to be regretted that no meteorological record was kept, but when I was informed of the fact, it was too late to get proper instruments for the keeping of such records. The direction of wind, rain and times of, were noted, but the amount of rainfall was not measured nor was the temperature recorded. My note book shows rain on June 14, 15, 19, 23, 25, 28, 29; July 4, 7, and 13, or ten days in the month's camping. Rain at night on June 19, 23, and 28; July 4, 7 and 13, total six nights. On the 14th of June in the afternoon a tornado with heavy rain struck the camp, blowing down all mess tents, which had canvas on the frames, and most of the tents. Other heavy winds, reaching the dignity of gales, were noted on June 19th, at night, and on July 7th and 11th. The last gale blew down a number of tents in the Second Connecticut.

As for temperature I find note, on June 20th, 25th and 29th, cool; 15th, 16th and 30, cold; 18th, 19th, 20th and 27, warm; 19th and 23d, hot. On July 4th and 5th, cool; 8th, cold; 6th and 14th, warm; 1st, 2d, 3d, 7th, 9th, 10th and 11th, hot, making a total days noted cool 5, cold 4, warm 7, hot 9. With but two exceptions the nights were uniformly cool, sometimes cold. The advantage of such temperature is marked. Men can stand almost any degree of heat during waking hours, if at night it is cool enough for refreshing sleep. But two cases of heat exhaustion came to my notice and neither was severe.

Sickness.—The total number of the Second Infantry Brigade was 1,242. The sick reports from June 20th to July 14th, footed up a total of 468. Necessarily all of these were not different men and the majority of cases were venereal. The loss of effectives by sick report was very small. No serious cases were encountered.

General remarks.—The plain where camps were pitched having periodically been burned over, has a layer of black sand, made black by the addition of charcoal ground find by the action of the sand, of from eight to ten inches deep. This makes the camp a very dirty one, and one more destructive to clothing than were the soil clean sand, and the dirt adds materially to discomfort. Another factor against the site as a permanent camp ground may be said to be the sudden high winds which are liable to do great damage to the tentage, to say nothing about the harm to personal effects. And these heavy gales are stated by inhabitants to be quite frequent. In the month of duty we experienced two, which blew tents down and a third which kept many awake over half the night fearing trouble. While nothing can be said against the camp on hygienic or sanitary grounds, much may be stated on military grounds, but that part of the subject is left to others to report upon. The camp ground would prove, from extreme cold, untenable in the late autumn and winter months, unless permanent barracks were erected. This would naturally entail drainage.

While the troops in camp were kept steadily at work, the result was beneficial and that too much was not required of the men is shown in the small sick list. And many told me they had enjoyed the experience even though it called for hard work, and that they felt as if much instruction had been given. The only ceremony with troops during the whole tour was guard mounting.

I am indebted to Colonel Bowen, commanding the Second Infantry Brigade, to Lieutenant-Colonel Ames, commanding the Twelfth Infantry, to Major Woodruff, Medical Corps, U. S. A., sanitary inspector and to Captain Peed, Medical Corps and Dr. Tyler, contract surgeon, for many courtesies.

I desire, sir, to thank the commander in chief for my detail, which has proved of great personal benefit.

I have the honor to remain sir,

Very respectfully,

LEWIS BALCH,

HEADQUARTERS SECOND INFANTRY BRIGADE, CAMP OF INSTRUCTION, PINE CAMP,

JEFFERSON COUNTY, N. Y., June 20, 1908.

To the Chief Surgeon, Camp of Instruction:

SIR.—In compliance with your instructions received this date, that I furnish your office with a written report of the work of the medical department in the maneuver exercises of the 18th instant, for the brown force of which I was chief surgeon, I have the honor to submit the following:

In the afternoon of June 17, 1908, I received Field Orders No. 1, headquarters brown force, announcing assumption of command of brown force by Lieutenant-Colonel W. H. C. Bowen, Eighteenth Infantry, and announcing the staff, in which I was designated as chief surgeon.

Also same date and time, Field Orders No. 2, headquarters brown force, date June 17, 1908, 4:45 P. M., stating objects of march, time of moving of column, composition of column and that all officers would report on arrival at "Twenty-third" for instruction.

Also extract Circular No. 4, Headquarters Camp of Instruction giving medical detail for brown force.

Thursday morning, June 18, 1908, I reported for duty to Col. Bowen at 6:30 A. M. The column moving at 6:40 A. M. I joined it with Captain Peed, M. C., U. S. Army in charge of ambulance, Captain E. L. Fiske, Sixth Infantry, M. V. M., Captain F. P. Williams, Eighth Infantry, M. V. M., Captain A. C. Williams, Second Infantry, M. V. M., and 1 N. C. O. and 6 privates, hospital corps, Second Infantry, M. V. M., Captain Edwin Hodges, Twenty-third Infantry, N. G., N. Y., with 1 N. C. O. and 6 privates, hospitals corps, failed to report.

When the command reached "Twenty-third" I went forward for instructions and heard the dictation for the order for the further march. As the command was guarding a convoy, its evident purpose was not to bring on an action but to repulse any attacks that might be made, so the ambulance train was kept at the head of the convoy and following part of the main body. In case of action, the two junior medical officers were detailed to the firing line for primary dressings and the ambulance was to take station in such place as would furnish some protection as well as water if possible. It was agreed with the commanding officer, that in case of casualty, we having but few bearers, the need of a litter would be made known by signal.

When the first check came at Hubbard's Corners, the ambulance was in station behind a hill by the side of the road and near a house where there was a well of cold and clear water. No visual pollution of ground water was seen. The barnyard, further up the hill, was distant over 350 feet, and the soil being sandy, any seepage that might flow toward the well would be well filtered.

The column moved forward again at 10 to 10:30 A. M., but was sent back by command of the umpires to the last position behind the hill. Before another advance could be made, recall sounded and officers were ordered forward to hear the remarks of the umpires.

The evening of the 18th instant, I received a memorandum from the office of the chief surgeon, dated June 17, 1908, relating to the use of diagnosis tags and the handling of a supposed wounded man. Also an extract from Mason's Handbook, pertaining to the duties of medical officers in the field and in action.

Not hearing from Captain Hodges, Twenty-third New York, I called on him the evening of the 19th and requested an explanation in writing as to the reasons why he failed to report for duty. His statement is inclosed and attention is asked to it.

When again serving as chief surgeon to one of the contending forces, the instructions contained in the memorandum from the chief surgeon's officer, received the evening of the 18th instant, will be strictly carried out.

I have the honor to remain, sir,

Very respectfully,

LEWIS BALCH,

Major, Med. Dept. S. N. Y.

Chief Surgeon, Second Brigade Infantry.

Report of Captain F. C. Harriman, 12th Regiment, Infantry, Commanding Detachment on Practice March from New York City to Albany, N. Y.

HEADQUARTERS TWELFTH REGIMENT INFANTRY, N. G., N. Y.,
ARMORY, SIXTY-SECOND STREET AND COLUMBUS AVENUE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15, 1908.

Adjutant-General, State of New York, Albany:

SIR.—I have the honor to submit to you the following report of a practice march made by a detachment from the Twelfth Regiment which left on the morning, Saturday, September 5th, at 9:30 o'clock. This detachment left the Sixty-first street entrance of the Twelfth Regiment Armory at 9:30 o'clock A. M., carrying in the new pack straps a blanket, poncho, and shelter half, together with the pins and sticks. Also a blouse and underclothing were carried in this pack, and the rifle was attached, butt in the air. Beside the pack the men carried their haversacks, mess kits, canteen, and extra underclothing. The field equipment for cooking, together with the commissary supplies, were carried in my automobile, which followed the detachment after an interval of about half an hour.

The first halt was made at One Hundred and Twenty-third street after forty-five minutes marching, where a rest of fifteen minutes was taken. After that a rest of ten minutes was taken every hour. At Kingsbridge some of the men complained of their feet and a halt was made and a foot powder consisting of Talcum powder, boric acid and some sort of zinc powder was shaken into the shoes and seemed to relieve the burning sensation.

Yonkers was reached at about 1:30 o'clock, where we stopped for lunch, leaving at about 3 o'clock.

We arrived at Irvington at twenty minutes to six, where a halt was made to enable the automobile to come up, as it had been some time since we had seen it. After waiting until a quarter past seven the automobile appeared and it was found that they had taken the wrong road and had gone away around the Sawmill valley and had then come around by the wrong road. We then marched to Miss Helen Gould's place on a line between Irvington and Tarrytown, where we were granted permission to camp for the night. Shelter tents were pitched and our dinner was cooked over patent Gem alcohol stoves, which we carried with us for emergency use when dry wood could not be secured. The men immediately were ordered to take off their boots and soak their feet in a solution of rock salt dissolved in water for at least fifteen to twenty minutes, after which they had their supper, and before turning in rubbed themselves down with a solution of alcohol, witch hazel and wintergreen. Breakfast was eaten at about 7 o'clock in the rain, and camp was broken and the march was resumed at 8:30 o'clock. The poncho was draped over the butt of the gun and acted not only as a protection to the man but as a protection to the rifle. Lunch was eaten at Croton at about 1 o'clock. Leaving there at about 2 o'clock we arrived in Peekskill at the old canteen in back of what was the Young Men's Christian Association when the State Camp was there, at about 8 o'clock. We camped in the canteen where we had previously received permission to spend the night. We were unable that night to procure any steaks or meat for our dinner, as the stores were closed, and had to satisfy ourselves with a cold supper of bread and some bologna which was picked up in Peekskill by the automobile.

Monday morning we started at about half past six and took the road down to Annsville. Arriving at the bottom we discovered that the automobile instead of going down the other way, as instructed, had tried to follow us down this very rough and steep road, and had stuck fast in the sand. After an hour's effort, which nearly exhausted the men, the machine was pulled out of the sand and after great difficulty was taken down the hill and out on the Annsville road. Breakfast was had at the foot of the road, where water was procurable. The march was resumed at about 9 o'clock. We stopped at Red Hook for lunch at about 1 o'clock, resuming the march at 2 o'clock, arriving at Wappingers Falls at about 8 o'clock.

The man in the automobile had been instructed to go ahead and make arrangements for a camping place and through poor judgment had selected a spot in the middle of the public park, permission having been granted by the trustees of the village. The shelter tents were all pitched and we would have offended the local people generally if we camped elsewhere, and we were practically obliged to camp there. This interfered materially with the proper rubbing down and soaking of the feet, as a crowd insisted upon standing around and watching us.

Leaving Wappingers Falls at about 7:30 o'clock we marched three miles the other side of Poughkeepsie and there went into camp in a barn, as we were stiff for want of sleep and the cold. The feet were thoroughly soaked and the men thoroughly rubbed down, and dinner was served at about 4 o'clock, everyone going to sleep at about 6 o'clock. The next morning we were up at 2 o'clock and had coffee and bread, getting under way at 3:30 o'clock. We marched until about 8 o'clock with ten minute intervals of rest every hour, when breakfast was served, after which the march was continued, a stop being made for lunch at 1 o'clock, resuming the march at 2 o'clock. Hudson was reached at about 10:30 o'clock, where we went into camp in the Armory of the Twenty-third Separate Company, F, of the Tenth Regiment. The distance covered this day (Tuesday), was approximately forty-three miles.

Wednesday morning we left Hudson at 8:30 o'clock, the men in high spirits after their long march of the previous day, and marched with ten minute intervals of rest every hour until 1 o'clock, when lunch was served at Newton Hook. Starting again at 2 o'clock we marched until 7:30 o'clock when dinner was served and the march continued at 8:30 o'clock, arriving in Albany at twenty minutes past twelve, A. M., Friday, when we immediately proceeded to the Armory of the Second Battalion of the Tenth Regiment, to camp there. The distance covered this day was approximately thirty-five miles, making in the last two days a distance of seventy-eight miles.

The condition of the men physically was better than when they left New York. Every man who started finished, with the exception of Private W. Schmelzer, whose feet gave out at Poughkeepsie. From that point on he rode in the automobile and helped with the cooking.

The detachment consisted of nine men and the man in the automobile, as follows:

Name.	Occupation.	Age.
Captain F. C. Harriman.....	Assistant Treasurer.....	37
Quartermaster Sargeant Jas. Connors.....	Armorer.....	42
Corporal William Horn.....	Carpenter.....	27
Corporal Mark Bailey.....	Elevator Starter.....	33
Private Manwell Bayher.....	Asst. Manager Emigration League of America.....	19
Private Thomas McEntee.....	Truck Driver.....	18
Private Joseph Roche.....	Machinist.....	21
Private Albert Newman.....	Truck Driver.....	19
Private W. Schmelzer.....	Automobile Cleaner.....	19
Private W. Carroll.....	Chauffeur.....	19

From the above you can readily see that this detachment was not made up of picked man, and in fact Privates McEntee and Bayher were recruits who had very little experience.

The main reason of the success of the march was attributable in my estimation to the fact that the hands were absolutely free and the chest was unconstricted, allowing the men to breathe naturally and swing their arms, thereby properly exercising the chest muscles as they walked. Also the treatment of the feet, namely; soaking them every night in salt water, putting the foot powder in the boots, covering the bottom of the inside of the socks with common soap and being careful to cover any blisters, before the skin was rubbed off, with surgeons plaster, thereby stopping the chafing and allowing them to go on.

In my estimation a larger party could easily have made this march in the same time, provided the men had the same enthusiasm and the same care of the feet and the proper rubbing of the muscles was taken, and also the proper food eaten.

The diet on the march was varied as much as possible, the men having fresh meat every day. Breakfast consisted nearly every day of either bacon and beans, bread and coffee, or bacon and eggs and bread and coffee. Lunch consisted of tomatoes and eggs, with bread and coffee. Dinner consisted of steak or chops with prunes, bread and coffee, sometimes potatoes, and sometimes corn and tomatoes mixed.

Without exception the men were enthusiastic about the way the load was carried, and not a single man complained about a chafing shoulder or back, and the arms and shoulders were in such good condition that after the end of one long march the men amused themselves by chinning themselves on the beams in the barn where we happened to be, which showed that the shoulders and arms were in good condition.

On the last night, on the way to Albany, the atmosphere was very damp and chilly, but owing to the pack being up and down the spine the men were very comfortable and did not desire to take them off when we rested every hour. When the armory was reached in Albany after marching seventy-eight miles in forty-five hours, the men stood around with the members of the Tenth Regiment, many of them forgetting to remove the packs from their backs, proving conclusively that it was not very much of a burden for them to carry much weight this way.

Very respectfully,

F. C. HARRIMAN,

Captain, Twelfth Regiment Infantry, N. G., N. Y.
